IT would seem as if we had been fulfilling the beautiful words of Pope—"Do good by stealth, and blush to find it fame." It is most gratifying to find so many evidences that our fame is spreading at a rapid rate by the quiet good we are doing in regulating and lowering the prices of WALL PAPER, BLINDS, PICTURES, and other HOUSEHOLD DECORATIONS.

A FEAST OF GOOD THINGS has been prepared for the Exhibition Week. Every Department of our BIG BAZAAR bristles with Bargains, and is crowded with New and Novel Goods, gathered together from all parts of the globe. Satisfactorily Settled.

Harvest Home.

A grand harvest Home Festival will be held in the Grange Hall, North Monaghan, on Tuesday October 1st. An excellent tea and programme is being prepared, together with everything which will tend to make the festival a success. 2d

A Heavy Porker.

Messrs. Brown Brothers, breeders of registered Shropshire sheep and Berkshire pigs, North Monaghan, shipped yesterday to Green River the first prize Berkshire boar at the Central Exhibition. When placing it on board the cars it weighed 833 pounds, a figure which should disprove the idea in some people's mind that Berkshire pigs are not large enough.

Result of an Upset.

While the funeral of the late Mrs. Fry was passing the C.P.R. station yesterday, a horse driven by Mr. Wm. Torpy, of Douro, took fright at an engine and bolted. The buggy was upset and Mr. Torpy and his companion, Mr. Alex. McNeil, one of Peterborough's oldest residents, were thrown out. Mr. Torpy's face was badly cut and scraped and his shoulder and chest hurt, but fortunately the old gentlemen escaped injury.

A Disputed Fare.

Two hackmen got into trouble yesterday. G. English has just joined the ranks of the cabbies, and at the station yesterday got possession of a lady's check and trunk, while the lady herself drove up town in another hack. English then refused to give up the trunk until paid his fare, claiming that the lady should have been his passenger. Finally the matter was settled by reference to the Chief of Police.

A Day of Drunks.

There was an unusually large number of drunks on the streets last night, and several of the worst were gathered in by the police. At the court this morning Coe. Ryan, Wm. Adams and Ernest Laplante were each fined $2 and costs. In Ryan's pockets when arrested the police found two pistols, which he explained he intended to sell at a variety shop but found it closed, and on the way home he got full. He was let off with a warning.

St John's Exhibition Entertainment.

The refreshment enterprise conducted by the ladies of St. John's on Wednesday and Thursday, was a most satisfactory success. In the matter of excellent meals, substantial but daintily served, and accompanied with fine music, the patrons of the ladies have abundant reason to be delighted, and the financial outcome was also good, the satisfactory sum of $165.50, clear of expenses, being the report of the treasurer. The expenses were $15.72.

Sabbath School Services.

There will be an open meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school tomorrow afternoon, instead of the Auxiliary Review Service, commencing at half past two. Addresses will be delivered by Mr. Isaac Richardson, who has just returned from a visit to England; Capt. Cunningham of the Salvation Army, formerly a pupil of the school, Serg. Maj. Rundle and others. Sacred solos and duets will be rendered. Singing by the pupils of the school. You are welcome.

A Painful Accident.

Dr. Boucher was the other day called out to Douro to attend the seven-year-old son of Mr. George Shannon, one of whose legs had been cut off by a mower. The little fellow in some way got in front of the mowing machine being operated by his father, and the knives almost separated the leg above the ankle. Dr. Boucher amputated the injured part. The little fellow was very weak from loss of blood, no effort having been made to stanch the flow until the doctor arrived.

Annual Meetings.

The annual meetings of the Peterborough Curling and Skating Rink Co., and the Peterborough Curling Club, will be held in the rink on Charlotte Street, on Tuesday evening next, October 1st. The Skating Company meeting will commence at eight o'clock and the Curling Club meeting at nine o'clock. Stockholders and members are requested to attend. 3d75

The Corporation Treat.

One of the 'C' boys" who took in the corporation treat at the drill shed after the corner-stone laying on Thursday, remarked to the EXAMINER :—"Say, you ought to give John Craig a puff for the way he served the lunch. John had his arrangements perfect and could have fed more than he did. The quality of the lunch, too, was not of the "hand-out" character usually served at such large gatherings. It was all first class, and served in good style. John's the boy to get up dinners for the people every time," and that's just what all the volunteers and firemen thought, though the EXAMINER omitted to mention it before.

A Brakesman Hurt.

At the C. P. R. station this forenoon Mr. Cole, a brakeman who was only on his second trip, met with an accident which, he may thank Providence, did not result more seriously than in painful flesh wounds. He was on a freight train backing down the siding, and the car on which he stood struck another car standing on the track. The shock threw him off and he fell on the rails with his legs across. By a fortunate chance the wheels instead of passing over his legs shoved them off the rails and only pinched the fleshy part. The injury is of course very painful, the flesh being badly lacerated, but no bones were broken. The young man was taken to his home in Havelock on the 11:30 train, which came along shortly after accident.

The Forester's Hall Dedication.

Court Peterborough No 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, will publicly dedicate their new hall in the Snowden block, Simcoe street, on Thursday, Oct. 10th. The Right Worthy High Chief Ranger, Bro. Edward Towe, of London, Bro. U.M. Stanley M.D., of Waterford, chairman of the Medical Board, will be present and conduct the interesting and impressive ceremonies, assisted by the officers of the Court. A tea and entertainment will be held in connection with the dedication. Tea will be served from 5.30 to 7.30 o'clock, and at eight o'clock the dedication ceremony will take place, after which addresses will be delivered by Bros. Lowe, Stanley and others. A choice programme of vocal and instrumental music, readings, etc., will be rendered by the best local talent. The public are cordially invited to attend. Tickets 25c.

A Comprehensive Reception.

The school room of the Charlotte Street church was the scene of a pleasant affair last evening, which it is intended shall be made of annual occurrence. The Ladies' Aid Society tendered a reception to the officials of the quarterly board and the trustees, the teachers of the Sunday School, the officers of the Endeavor Society, and the members of the choir, and also tendered a farewell to Mr. Geo. A. Morrison and family, who leave town in a couple of weeks for the Pacific coast. After a choice tea had been partaken of by the sixty or more people present, the chairman of proceedings, Rev. S. J. Shorey, called upon Mrs. Morrow, chairwoman of the Ladies' Aid Society ; Miss Neil, chairwoman of the Endeavor Society ; Mr. Wm. Clarkson, Recording Steward of the quarterly board ; Mr. O. C. Rowes, Superintendent of Sunday School ; and Mr. A. L. Davis, leader of the choir, for short addresses. The remarks of each referred to their particular department of the church work. Mrs. Morrow and Miss Neil delivered the first speeches of their lives with eloquence and effectiveness, and made very interesting addresses. The addresses were interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, comprising vocal duets by Mr. Pearce and Mr. Davis, Mrs. Logan and Mr. Davis, and the Misses Stevens ; also instrumental solos by Miss Clark and Mr. Schneider. A feature of the evening was the farewell to Mr. Morrison. Mrs. Brooks on behalf of those assembled in a neat address expressed the regret they felt at the approaching departure of Mr. Morrison and family, but wished them every success in their new home. Mr. Morrison made a suitable and feeling reply. The very pleasant entertainment was brought to a close about half past eleven o'clock.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

The attendance on the closing day of the fair was not very large, but a considerable crowd assembled to witness the speeding in the ring, the contests for special prizes which furnished some rattling sport. There was however, a very good attendance to witness the closing heats of the 2.45 trot for the "Citizens" purse of $100, for horses that had not beaten 2.45. For the sake of reference the report of the whole race is included.

The entries were Ed. Brown's "Lady B.," W. Clancey's "Royal Jim," J. J. Daly's "Essie D." R. Croft's "Billy C," and Mitchell's "Livery Maid."

FIRST HEAT—"Maud B" took the lead with Essie D. next, Billy C. who was third crept into second trotting, but he broke and lost his place and the three horses came up pretty well bunched in the following order, Maud B., Billy C. and Essie D. Time 2.44½.

DEAD HEAT.—This was a beautiful race, the struggle between Royal Jim and Essie D. being a see-saw throughout. On the home stretch, Billy intruded on the party and the three horses came trotting under the wire, straight as a string—a dead heat with the three—Time, 2:45.

SECOND HEAT—This was also a beautiful race Maud B's chances were pretty fair till the back stretch of the last half when she broke, Royal Jim and Essie D. made a game trial for first place, but Royal Jim under Harry Winch's vigorous guiding, got there. Harry drives for love of the sport and to keep the game going, and he handled Royal Jim in a royal way, making every pound of muscle tell. Time of this heat, 2:45.

THIRD HEAT — This heat was a game struggle between Royal Jim and Essie, the former leading the first half, but the mare gaining the lead at the half ; but Jim shook her off and kept his lead. Meantime Billy C. was getting in his work, and scored a first; Royal Jim second and Essie D. third. Time 2:50.

FOURTH HEAT—This was a game go between Royal Jim and Billy C., the latter however winning ; Royal Jim second and Maud B., third. Time, 2:45½.

FIFTH HEAT—This warm-up ended with a first place to Billy C., a second to Royal Jim and a third to Maud B. Time, 2:44.

The following additional heats were trotted on Friday morning.

SIXTH HEAT.—This heat was between Maud B, Essie D, and Royal Jim. Maud however came first under the judges' eye, closely followed by Royal Jim and Essie D, in this order—Time 2.44½

SEVENTH HEAT.—This was a procession, with Royal Jim as drum major and Maud B, Essie D and Billy C in the rear. Time 2.45.

EIGHTH HEAT.—This was the decisive "go" of the race, and it went to Royal Jim first, Billy C. second and Maud B. third, these horses Royal Jim and Billy C. being declared winners of the race and the prizes. The time of the last heat was 2.45.

Following is the full of the summary of the race :—

Royal Jim	4	0	1	2	2	1	1
Billy C.	3	2	3	1	1	4	2
Essie D	2	3	0	4	3	3	3
Maud B.	1	4	2	5	3	1	2
Livery Maid	5	5	5	4	4	5	dr.

The race thus went to Royal Jim first, Billy C. second, and Maud B. third.

THE BREWERY CUP TROT.

The entries for this race were as follows :

Lady Bell—(McGill).
Royal Ned—(Dickinson).
Phil Rysdick—(F. J. Daly).

FIRST HEAT—In this heat the race was between Lady Bell and Royal Ned, the Lady leading till the home stretch when Ned passed her and reached the wire first.

THE SECOND HEAT was a literal walk over for Royal Ned ; he won as he pleased, thus winning the heat and the race, Lady Bell second and Phil Rysdick third.

FARMERS' TROT.

THE SIXTH HEAT of the farmers trot was run off to-day, and it proved to be a procession, Rip Vanwinkle taking first, Livery Maid second money but fourth place and Billy C. second place and third prize.

THE GENTLEMENS' PRIZE

for a purse of $100, divided in three prizes, under saddle, best three in five, brought out Dickenson's King Dodds, Lexington and Wild Deer and Tierney's chestnut. The three first won in the order named, in three straight heats.

HARDWARE MERCHANTS' PRIZE.

This was open to driving horses, speed to be considered. The speed test was a half mile dash, and the winners were R. Croft, first and Robert Pollock, second.

Parade of Prize Animals.

The parade of prize animals brought forth a splendid show of beautiful horses of all classes and a fine display of cattle. Among the latter a team of trotting oxen drawing a democrat wagon, created considerable amusement.

The open trot for the Hotelkeeper's purse of $200—$100, $60 and $40, was contested by J. Hickey's Rip VanWinkle,— Curtis' Valentine, A. P. Morgan's Mayflower and Jas. Baptie's Boxer.

In the first heat Valentine led the first half, but breaking, Boxer over hauled him and took first place, Mayflower second and Valentine 3.

The second heat was between Rip VanWinkle, Valentine and Boxer, Mayflower winning, with Boxer second and Rip VanWinkle third.

The third heat, Mayflower and Boxer and Rip VanWinkle made a big try to first, which fell to Rip, Boxer second and Valentine third.

The fourth heat brought first place to Mayflower, second to Boxer, and Rip Vanwinkle third.

The fifth heat left the honours to Valentine first, second to Mayflower and third to Boxer.

The sixth heat was trotted pretty well in darkness, the horses and drivers having everything to themselves.

When the horses came in there were vigorous complaints of running from several of the drivers, and after consultation the judges gave their decision in favor of Rip Vanwinkle first, Boxer second, Mayflower third and Valentine fourth.

The completion of the race was postponed till Saturday afternoon.

The following is a summary of the heats trotted :—

Rip Vanwinkle	4	3	1	3	4 1
Valentine	3	4	3	4	1 4
Mayflower	2	1	4	1	2 3
Boxer	1	2	2	2	3 2

The best time made was 2 42

Shortly after noon exhibitors began to remove their exhibits, and after the parade of the prize animals there was a stampede and in a short time the grounds were deserted, the exhibition building dismantled and the place left to the baseball match and the closing heats of the open trot.

The Baseball Match.

A baseball tournament was arranged as an attraction for the exhibition, and four clubs were entered. However, only two of them came to time, the Athletics and Association nines playing for the cup Friday afternoon. It was about as unpleasant a day for playing ball as one could imagine. Following is the score :—

A HARMLESS LUNATIC

THE HAMILTON MYSTERY SOLVED AT LAST.

Policeman Hawkins' Victim was James Douglas of Streetsville—How he was Identified—His Asylum Record.

HAMILTON, Sept. 30.—The mystery connected with the stranger who met his death on Thursday morning at the hands of Constable Hawkins is a mystery no longer. His identity has been solved.

JAMES DOUGLAS,

the murdered man was a tramp lunatic. This is the briefest description that can be given of him. He has had two or three attacks of insanity, and within the past two years he has been confined for different periods in the asylums of London, Guelph and Toronto. Whenever he is under the insane spell he has a disposition to wander. He was on one of his aimless wandering tours when he reached Hamilton a week ago Friday. His eccentricities were those of a crazy man, not those of a criminal.

CONSTABLE HAWKINS

despatched a harmless lunatic, not an escaped convict. As the relatives of the deceased seemed disinclined to give a candid statement as to his malady, a reporter went to Toronto Sunday morning and called at the Provincial Lunatic Asylum and obtained full particulars in regard to the deceased's confinement in that institution.

James Douglas, farmer of Streetsville, was received in the Toronto asylum Nov. 17, 1887, and was discharged July 25, 1888, having been there just eight months eight days. The point that the doctors call special attention to was an entry made when the patient left. That entry read as follows: "Was taken out by relations, contrary to the superintendent's advice."

The body was identified Saturday by Mr. James Douglas of Streetsville, who was reading a paper in Toronto, came across the account of the Hamilton tragedy and concluded it was his cousin. He took the first train to Hamilton, viewed the body and recognized it as his cousin at once.

The deceased was well off, having a farm of his own. He had received a fair education and had been a bookkeeper both in Streetsville and Toronto. A short time ago he left Streetsville to visit his brother in Missouri, and from thence he went on to Detroit to visit another brother, who is a physician in that city. Mr. Douglas attributes his cousin's insanity to an accident that happened him when a boy. He was cutting wood in the bush and had his toe cut by the axe. The accident gave him great pain and one of the joints of the toe was taken out, making the toe about an inch shorter than the corresponding toe on the other foot. In later years he was troubled by excessive pain in his leg, hip and side, and he attributes this to the chopping accident. His friends think his insanity had its origin in this way.

From other sources it was learned that the deceased being unfit to conduct his farm it was rented and the stock sold off. It was only a short time ago that his cousin, James J. Douglas of Streetsville, sent him $200 while he was in Detroit visiting his brother. It is said that while he was in Detroit he had the money stolen out of his bedroom, and since that time he has always carried a revolver.

THE GUINEA'S POWER.

A GIGANTIC PURCHASE BY TWO ENGLISH SYNDICATES.

Control Secured of Many United States Industrial Enterprises—Elevators, Flouring Mills and Breweries Gobbled Up.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30—The expenditure of $50,000,000 by two English syndicates for the control of an extraordinary aggregate of industrial enterprises in the United States was completed here Saturday. Levy Mayer, a well-known lawyer, was one of the agents in the great purchase. A pair of London corporations, headed by the present Lord Mayor of London, Sir Henry S. Isaacs, are the buyers. The syndicate includes a great number of British bankers and trustees of large estates in the United Kingdom. No business was acquired for them which has not paid at least 12½ per cent. a year for the past five years.

Grain elevators, flour mills, and breweries have been the favorite investments. The management of each enterprise will be intrusted to American directors, subject to the control of a general board. There is no combination. Each enterprise is operated separately.

Hostile legislation it is learned has been cleverly evaded. The alien law of Illinois prohibits any sale of real estate to foreigners. It was designed to prevent the acquirement of farms in Illinois by a certain British landlord for "rent renting" purposes. The syndicate got around this statute by having the ownership of necessary real estate incorporated, and then acquiring the stock of the company which legally is "personal," not "real" property. Some members of the buying committee left Chicago Saturday evening, en route to the Northwest and intending to go from there to Omaha and Kansas City, where further purchases are being considered.

The titles of the following properties have already been turned over to the syndicates: The Bemis and McAvoy breweries of Chicago; the Wacker and Birk breweries of Chicago; the Albany brewery, Albany, N.Y.; the Jones brewery, Detroit, Mich.; the Hauck brewery, Newark, N.J.; the Trefz brewery, Jersey City; the United States breweries, New York; a portion of the stock of the Schoenhoff brewery of Chicago; the Star elevators of Minneapolis, 75 in number; the G. W. Vandusen system of Rochester, Minn., 80 in number; the Cargill Bros. elevator system of Minnesota and Dakota; the Baltimore breweries, Baltimore, Md.; F. Brastadt Hancock iron mines, Hancock, Mich., and the Rochester breweries, Rochester, N. Y.

Arrangements for the following are also concluded: The F. J. Dewes brewery of Chicago; the Pillsbury flouring mills, Minneapolis; the Syracuse brewery, Syracuse N. Y. Negotiations for two extensive elevator systems in Chicago are well advanced but not yet consummated.

The City Contract Company of London, capital $50,000,000, and the Trustees and Executors Company of the same city, capital $37,500,000, are the corporators or syndicates making the purchases. Both are reputed to be among the most solid British institutions. Trusted agents first made lists of desirable properties. The next step was to obtain contracts binding the owners to sell for a certain sum, and a history of their property for 10 years back accompanied by a bank deposit to guarantee expense of an investigation. Expert examinations by English accountants followed, then came a report from an advisory committee sent to the ground, and lastly the work of the buying committee.

The examining or advisory committee came over in July, and consisted of D. G. Macrae, editor of The London Financial Times, H. H. Shanks of London, and several other gentlemen. The buying committee was headed by Thomas Stewart and Leigh Marshall. Secrecy of the most binding character has been observed hitherto.

THE DREADED SMALL-POX.

Hundreds of People May Have Contracted the Disease.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—An outbreak of small-pox which may prove quite serious has been reported to Dr. Porter, of the Lake View health office. The patient is John Welter, aged 14, the son of wealthy parents. The Welter family has just returned from Luxembourg, via Havre, where, on Sept 14, small-pox being reported, young Welter was vaccinated. The family sailed on the steamer Gasogne and landed at New York Sept. 21. The next day the family having passed quarantine, started west on a Delaware and Lackawanna train and a breaking out was noticed on young Welter's face. It was thought then that it was a case of measles. At Buffalo they changed and took a Michigan Central train and arrived in Chicago on Sept 25. The same day the boy was taken to his home in the northern limits of the city. A local physician was called in, who watched the case for a couple of days and then concluded it must be small-pox. There is no doubt but that hundreds of persons between New York and Chicago have contracted the disease, while no attempt was made to isolate it in Chicago for two days, and in the meantime the boy traveled the streets and came in contact with many persons. Dr. Wickersham thinks the quarantine officers in New York were very careless to allow the case to escape their notice.

The Marmora Tragedy.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 30.—Peter Davis, who is accused of the murder of William Emery in Marmora on Sept. 19, was arrested and lodged in jail Friday. The Police Magistrate on Saturday morning remanded him for a week.

Capt. Jones Died of His Burns.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 30.—W. R. Jones, general manager of the Edgar-Thomson Steel Works, died Saturday night of injuries received in the terrible accident at that plant Thursday. His death was a surprise. He took a sudden turn for the worse and died in a short time. Capt. Jones had a world-wide reputation in iron and steel circles.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

YORK, Pa., Sept. 30.—A boiler in a quarry at Wrightsville exploded with terrible force Saturday. Mrs. Lemuel Barnes was killed instantly. Her head was blown from her body. Her husband had his skull fractured and cannot live. A small building was blown to atoms. Fragments of the boiler were thrown two blocks. Nothing but a hole in the ground marks the spot where the boiler stood.

By the treaty between Italy and King Menelek of Shoa, the latter engages to communicate with other powers only through Italy.

The crew of the Spanish vessel captured by Riffians off the Morocco coast have been released.

Ex-Queen Natalie arrived at Belgrade yesterday. Her presence was totally ignored by the Government officials but she was received most enthusiastically by the crowds that thronged the streets through which she passed.

The Louisiana State Auditor in a report to the Governor says that over $700,000 of State bonds which were in Major Burke's charge when he was State Treasurer have not been accounted for.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

DISASTROUS MINE EXPLOSION IN PRUSSIA.

Ten Persons Killed and Many Injured—Boulanger Issues Another Manifesto—The Rotterdam Strike.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—An explosion of fire-damp occurred Saturday in a colliery at Homberg-on-the-Rhine, in Rhenish Prussia. Ten men were killed and several were injured. Some of the injured men will die.

An explosion in the artillery laboratory at Spandau Saturday injured 10 men and 42 women.

Another Expedition to the North Pole.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Dr. Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, is organizing an expedition to the North Pole. Twenty thousand pounds have already been subscribed toward the venture, and additional funds will be forthcoming.

The Rotterdam Strike.

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 30.—The labor troubles at Rotterdam increases, and the immense shipping business of that port has for the time being been transferred to Amsterdam. This movement is in the nature of a lockout, so far as the original strikers are concerned, but the strike is nevertheless certain to spread and will probably extend to Amsterdam. The chances of its success are by no means as good as were the chances of the London strikers, as those of Rotterdam have very little, if any, public sympathy; neither are they favored with the good will of the police, as was the case in London.

Thus far very few acts of violence have been reported, but the people of Hull, Eng., treated to a sensation Saturday, which were gives evidence of the existence at the Dutch port of a spirit of violence among the strikers which the authorities have failed to note. A few days ago a steamer sailed from Hull for Rotterdam and reached her destination after the strike took place. She was unable to discharge her cargo and finally cast off from her dock and returned to Hull. Upon her arrival home the body of a Rotterdam customs officer was found in her hold. An inquest was held and in the absence of full testimony the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death, though there is very little doubt that the dead official was the victim of exasperated strikers.

The masters have consented to negotiate with the striking dockmen.

Boulanger Out in Another Address.

PARIS, Sept. 30—Gen. Boulanger has issued an address to the electors of Montmartre, in which he says they have replied to the iniquitous charges of the Senate by electing him to the Chamber. The Government finding its trickery of no effect had resorted audaciously to the annuling of votes. This, the General declares, was an act of sheer brigandage. The rights of the electors and their privileges had been trampled under feet. The Republicans ought to see that the rights of the voters were restored.

President Carnot received the members of the Commercial Congress Saturday. In a speech he referred to the happy result of the elections. He said the destinies of Republican France are now assured. It behooved the Chambers to attend less to speculative politics and to devote themselves to practical business and pacific developments.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Arrival of Hon. Mr Laurier—A Paramour Pummelled—Carr Granted Bail.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—The doctors have been unable to extract the bullet which Louis Deas lodged in Mike Birtle's brain on Friday morning. Birtle is still unconscious and his chances of recovery are slender.

Nothing new has been learned of the two men who took French leave of Governor Green along with Slemin's captive.

Hon. W. Laurier arrived in the city yesterday morning. He will address a public meeting in the pavilion this evening.

In the Court of General Sessions Saturday the trial of William and Michael Spellman was concluded, the prisoners being found not guilty. For the defence Mr. Murphy called Mrs. Nelson of the Model Lodging House, mother-in-law of the prisoner William, who testified that last September she saw a large roll of postage stamps in the possession of Michael Spellman. He gave her the roll and in March of this year, when he was leaving her house, she gave him the roll. Judge Macdougall having reviewed all the evidence, the jury retired and after an absence of eight minutes returned a verdict of not guilty.

On Saturday three men were working at a new building at Polson's ironworks when the scaffold gave way and two of the men fell to the ground, a distance of 35 feet. The third man managed to cling to a ladder and escaped unhurt. The injured men are Thomas Bird, 207 Bellwoods-avenue, and James Macey, 92 Davenport-road. The former sustained a compound fracture of the right thigh and Macey sustained internal injuries.

Chief Justice Galt has granted bail in the case of John Carr, in jail at Brockville for a murder alleged to have been committed near Ogdensburg, N. Y., and an order has been issued for his release in his own recognizance of $1000. This practically secures the absolute liberty of the prisoner as the prosecution against him has been dropped by the Attorney General, the supposed murdered man having turned up.

A highly sensational episode occurred at No. 9 Beverley-street about 8 o'clock last evening, the parties being George W. Graham, a well known business man in Aurora; his wife, to whom he has been married but five months and Charlie Gillespie, who is said to be agent for a stove and furnace foundry. Mr. Graham came to town on Saturday and learned that his wife would probably visit No. 9 Beverley-street on Sunday evening to meet Gillespie. The intimation proved correct; Mr. Graham was there on time. At about 8 o'clock Mr. Graham, accompanied by a friend and a private detective of this city repaired to No. 9, and getting inside the domicile found Gillespie and Mrs. Graham together in a room which the former claimed was his lodging place. A very lively scene followed the infuriated husband and his friend attacking Gillespie in quite vigorous style. In the melee the furniture and the other contents of the apartment were turned topsy-turvy. Graham and his friend, feeling that they had administered condign punishment, left the premises and also left the recreant wife to condole with her bruised paramour. Graham will apply for a divorce.

Four mill operators were rowing at Pittsfield, Mass., yesterday afternoon when the boat overturned. Alfred Ford, aged 24, and Piron Champine, aged 23, were drowned. The other two were rescued.

The Bulgarian loan contract with an American syndicate has been cancelled, the parties having disagreed on the details.

Most of the foreign delegates to the International American Congress have reached Washington.

A boy named Egan shot and killed a colored man named Joseph Rose at Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs Friday night. Rose was intoxicated and catching a boy named Ashby he held his back against a hot stove. Egan tried to release Ashby, but failing ran out of the depot, procured a revolver and shot Rose through the breast.

A VERDICT AGAINST BOTH.

The Federal and Civic Governments Blamed for the Quebec Disaster.

QUEBEC, Sept. 30.—In the inquest into the cause of death of the victims of the late disaster Saturday afternoon the jury after three hours' deliberation returned this verdict:

"That the said Richard Leehy was found killed on Sept. 20, 1889, under the debris of his dwelling through injuries received on the head and fracture of the superior portion of the vertebral column, caused by the avalanche of a portion of the cliff opposite the dwellings on the east side corner occupied by one Frederick Carlsan and on the west side by the late Thomas O'Farrell. Furthermore the jurors are of the opinion that it appears by the evidence that the several persons whose names are mentioned in the said evidence were found killed under the debris caused by the said avalanche, that the death of the said Richard Leehy and of some other persons is due to the gross and culpable negligence of the Federal authorities of the Dominion in not taking the necessary precautions by not building the buttresses recommended to the authorities by the City of Quebec's Engineer in his report of the year 1880.

That Joseph Kemp was taken alive out of the said debris on the morning of Sept. 24 of the year aforesaid, that he died on the evening of the same day, and that his death is due to the gross negligence of the municipal authorities of the City of Quebec in not procuring and furnishing the requisite implements to extricate him, and furthermore they say that more lives would have been saved had such implements been secured. They say also that for that reason too much time was lost in extricating the dead."

The road which is being constructed over the fallen rocks and immediately under the threatening portion of the cliff is considered very dangerous by the authorities who are building it, but they say that they cannot leave that part of the city without communication with the city and that the city is not responsible for the damage caused by defects existing in the Federal Government's properties. Thus hundreds of lives will be daily exposed to immediate death when good management would have made the city comparatively secure.

The body of Richard Maybury, sr., was extricated Saturday from under the ruins. The scalp was smashed in, the body horribly mutilated and in such a state of decomposition that it had to be cothined instantly.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Gotham "Green Goods" Men Have Lots of Good Canadian Money.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Mr. J. M. Graham, general manager of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway, is here. He says his road has no interest in the Great Northwest Central and does not want any. The Northern Pacific and Manitoba will end temporarily at Brandon. The route beyond that has not yet been decided upon.

Sir John Thompson and Hon. C. H. Tupper left Saturday afternoon for Nova Scotia, where they will open the Eastern Counties Agricultural Societies' exhibition and visit one or two of the chief cities and delivered political speeches.

Commissioner Sherwood of the Dominion police has received a letter from the New York police headquarters, stating that acting on information received from him they had shadowed certain crooks suspected of being connected with the "green goods" trade, and after having carefully noted their habits took a quiet opportunity of searching the premises to which the parties resorted. Here they found no green goods but discovered a heap of circulars and a quantity of brand new good Canadian bills of various denominations amounting to several thousand dollars in value. These bills had all the requisite signatures and were ready for circulation, but how these gentlemen became possessed of them unless they were stolen is, says Mr. Sherwood, a mystery. These were intended either as decoys or as samples to work from.

CHARITY AND BROTHERLY LOVE.

Sermon By Layman.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

If all mankind practised charity and brotherly love the world would be a paradise. If even those who profess to be Christians would practice charity and brotherly love the world would be very differently from what it is to-day, more people would be friends and peace and goodwill would take the place of hatred and strife, but notwithstanding the examples of kindness and brotherly love set us by Christ, notwithstanding His teaching and notwithstanding the two thousand years presence of the Bible, the animal nature of men and women continues to override their spiritual nature and they are just as full of hate and uncharitableness as they ever were, and they would do a fellow Christian harm instead of a benefit, whilst some of them would scarcely let him live. They profess the love of Christ but they are full of evil passions and envy. If they do wrong and are convinced they have done a wrong, they will not acknowledge their error and do right. They set up an inquisition of their own in order to persecute those who do not please them, and if they could they would destroy their peace and comfort and make their lives miserable. They use all the dangerous means of the tyrants and then conceal their intentions and vow their love of the truth. They know not the meaning of the words charity and brotherly love. They keep up a semblance of Christianity, but they do not know what Christianity means. They will not practice the golden rule, to do by others as they wish others to do by them. Their actions are governed by selfishness and personal considerations alone. They act as if the world was made for them and that no one else had any right to live in it. If they do wrong they must not be told of it. Like the members of the inquisition, they practice persecution when kindness would do more good. They act as if no one had a right to live but themselves and woe awaits those who happen to cross their path or to question their supremacy. It is a word and a blow, but the blow come first. If the world were ruled by such as these it would be dark and dreary and hard to live in, and

HAPPINESS WOULD NOT BE KNOWN.

When you see a fellow mortal going on the downward track,
And you gently urge him onward when you could have held him back;
Don't be surprised my friend if at some not distant day
You should find the world is helping you in just the self-same way.

And when in selfish pride and scorn a careless word you throw,
That blots the fair name of another forever here below;
Remember, though the road is long, it will always give a turn,
And the coals you place for others' feet, your own may chance to burn.

When fortune beams upon your path, with a radiance superfine,
And you should pass by as strangers "the friends of Auld Lang Syne"
Don't fret if when the cash's are turned—for all scales turn you know—
They happen, did though it may seem, to pass you by just so.

And when you spend your earthly life in one long search for self,
Soul at last is laid, in silent state and pomp, upon the shelf,
Your hero's in fighting for your gold, shall find no time to weep—
You sowed no crop of love or tears, no love or tears you reap.

But there is a better side to this question. People are not all bad or disagreeable. They love kindness in others and they practice kindness themselves. Their presence brings sunshine and comfort, and they make the world happier and better than it was before. The number of such persons, it is true, are few, but their presence and conduct make some poor heart better, and they do some good. Their examples may be like the light of a lamp standing away out on the plain, which only illuminates a small space around, but if it serves to save even one unfortunate from danger, and serves to encourage some who feel how selfish the world is, some good has been accomplished and some heart has been made glad. Although there are many unworthy persons whom kindness will not influence, and there are many also who are deserving of encouragement, but who are neglected and passed by because of the faults and shortcomings of others. Such are made to suffer, and oftentimes to worse than suffer, and are made to feel that the word kindness is a mere empty sound. The parable of the good Samaritan and the man lying by the wayside, is a good example of this. While those who loved their own comfort passed him by, one man was found like the solitard lamp, whose heart was filled with charity and brotherly love, and whose good deed will even now serve to influence men to better actions. It is difficult to limit the effect of even one good action. The heart of man is not all bad, and is susceptible of kind and generous feelings. The efforts of the philanthropist to stem the tide of vice and misery, is worthy of all praise, and does good, but it is overridden by wickedness and folly. It serves however, to show that vice is an evil, and that the practice of vice leads to disappointment and sorrow. It shows that charity and brotherly love are necessary to peace and happiness; and that the man or woman who will not strive to bring peace and comfort to others, is not only unchristian in himself, but takes pleasure in doing injury when to do well would be better. The world will never be better so long as professing Christians refuse to practice charity and brotherly love. Our Lord while on earth, set the examples of Christian love and kindness, and if his professing followers would do His will in this respect, the earth would be full of goodness and mercy.

TAKE AN EXAMPLE OF UNKINDNESS

and one of kindness to show the effects of each. A man and his wife of exemplary habits lived in a quiet part of the country, far away from the busy haunts of life. They had one son, who had been trained in the knowledge of honesty and industry. He knew very little of the ways of the world and of its temptations and vices. He was possessed of talent and he felt that his future vocation was to be away from the old home. Like all young men he was ambitious of future success, and he could not see why he should not do as well as others had done before him. So it was arranged that he should go out into the great world to seek his fortune. The last night of his stay was passed in talking of his early departure and he assured his fond parents that they need have no uneasiness about him, and that come what would, he would bring honor and not disgrace upon them. And the parents believed that he would do so. They all rose early and preparations were soon made for his departure. The last words were spoken, the last prayer was uttered and the last kiss was given and he went his way, bidding good bye to father and mother and all the boyish places of his peaceful old home. His parents stood at the gate and watched him until he was out of sight. And before the house was lost to view he took his last look of what he might never see again. And he saw father and mother still standing where he left them. His first feelings of separation were full of loneliness and sorrow, but he tried to keep up a brave heart by thinking of the good times before him. He never dreamed of failure, for he, in his inexperience, thought that if any one could do well it would surely be himself. He meant to take a first place in business and to this end he directed his steps to a great city, little thinking of the risks and misfortunes which so often befall young men and women going there. When there he looked around at the turmoil and bustle and strife which he saw, and for a short time he felt confound and disappointed and wished himself at home again. He and wondered what they were doing and if they were thinking of him. He thought of his old play grounds and of the old orchard where he had so often gathered fruit and of the shady trees under which he had so often sat and he could almost hear the songs of the birds as they sat in the branches overhead. But he said he must now think of other things, and be prepared for the busy life which was before him. He was successful at first, but false friends gathered around him, who soon brought him into trouble and sorrow. By their means he lost his situation and then came his danger. With no kind friends to guide him he fell. He was too proud to tell his parents, who, had he done so, would have saved him, and had his former employer been but charitable and kind he might have retraced his steps and still done well. But no brotherly love was shown him and no kind words greeted him. His way was dark and dreary and his downward course was sure and speedy, and his old father and mother never saw their son again. A little timely kindness and care might have saved him. Now, take the other side of the picture. A boy was once in the employ of a merchant; for some cause he was discharged, he had got into company with some bad young men, whose influence over him had been the means of leading him astray. After his discharge they persuaded him to join them in robbing the store, making him their guide in doing so. The merchants wife had been very kind to him, more like a mother than anything else. The to, felt very unhappy and depressed at the prospect before him and on the day preceding the night when the robbery was to be effected, he could not resist the temptation to walk by the store, over which the family resided. The woman saw him and noted his sorrowful appearance, and she called to him to come in; she took him by the hand and told him how sorry she was for him and asked him to spend the day with her which invitation he gladly accepted. He told her of the plan to rob the store and he asked her to forgive him for the part he had been led to take in it. She readily did so and during that day and night, telling him that she would get him back into his old place again. A promise which was fulfilled, and the boy was saved, and was grateful and became a useful and honorable man, such was the effort of a little charity and Christian love. Again, a young woman, of reputable parents, was employed as manager of one of the departments in a large store, where she was greatly trusted and highly esteemed. In an unfortunate moment she committed an act of dishonesty. Her employer was a kind hearted man who had daughters of his own. He thought of them and wondered what might be before them in their journey through life. Who could tell? So he spoke kindly to the young woman and expressed his sorrow for what she had done, but said he would pass it over and treat her again as before. She was humble and grateful for his kindness and she repaid his confidence and friendship by an honest life devoted to his service. She afterwards married a worthy man and filled a high position in society. She never forgot the great service which had been done her, and she made it her duty so do by others as had been done by her, and many were those who prayed for her and who welcomed her presence among them. Now, how different and how deplorable would have been the condition of this woman had she been in the power of some of our would-be Christians, who falsely pretend to be that which they are not, and whose delight seem to consist in oppressing and persecuting those who need their assistance and who are trying to do well. Like the persecutors of old the pain and the misery of others bring them more satisfaction than their happiness and peace. They are the real enemies of that holy religion which teaches forgiveness and kindness, and they hate and persecute those who do better than they.

She stood at the bar of justice,
A creature wan and wild,
In form too small for a woman,
In features too old for a child,
For a look so worn and pathetic
Was stamped on her pale young face,
It seemed long years of suffering
Must have left that silent trace.

"Your name," said the judge, as he eyed her
With kindly look yet keen,
"Is Mary McGuire," if you please, sir,
"And your age?"—"I am turned fifteen."
"Well, Mary," and then from a paper
He slowly and gravely read,
"You are charged here—I'm sorry to say it—
With stealing three loaves of bread.

"You look not like an offender,
And I hope that you can show
The charge to be false. Now, tell me,
Are you guilty of this or no?"
A pas ionate burst of weeping
Was at first her sole reply,
But she dried her eyes in a moment,
And looked in the judge's eye.

"I will tell you just how it was, sir.
My father and mother are dead,
And my little brother and sisters
Were hungry and asked me for bread.
At first I earned it for them
By working hard all day,
But somehow times were bad, sir,
And the work all fell away.

"I could get no more employment;
The weather was bitter cold,
The young one cried and shivered—
(Little Joanny's but four years old)—
So what was I to do, sir?
I am guilty, but do not condemn,
I took it, was it stealing?—
The bread to give to them."

Every man in the court room—
Gray-beard and thoughtless youth—
Knew, as he looked upon her,
That the prisoner spake the truth.
Out from their pockets came kerchiefs,
Out from their eyes sprang tears,
And out from old faced wallets
Treasures hoarded for years.

The judge's face was a study—
The strangest you ever saw,
As he cleared his throat and murmured
Something about the law.
For one so learned in such matters,
So wise in dealing with men,
He seemed, on a simple question,
Sorely puzzled just then.

But no one blamed him or wondered,
When at last these words they heard,
The sentence of this young prisoner
Is, for the present, deferred.
And no one blamed him or wondered
When he went to her and smiled,
And tenderly led from the court room,
Himself, the "guilty" child.

STARTLING EVIDENCE

Of the Cure of Skin Diseases When all Other Methods Fail.

Psoriasis 5 years, Covering Face, Head and Entire Body with white scabs. Skin red, itchy, and Bleeding. Hair all gone. Spent hundreds of Dollars. Pronounced Incurable. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I thought the disease would leave a very deep scar, but the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. I know of a number of different persons who have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and all have received great benefit from their use.

Constable Hawkins' Victim not yet Identified - Ambitious City Notes

HAMILTON, Sept. 28.—The body of the man who was shot in the Young-street boarding house Thursday Morning by Constable Hawkins still remains in the charnel house of the City Hospital awaiting identification. Many people viewed the corpse yesterday for this purpose but none were able to identify the strange man or give any clue to his name or previous history. The body has been photographed and copies of the photograph will be sent to the police bureaus of the large cities in Canada and the United States. The police are of opinion that the man was an escaped criminal, while others believe he was a forger fleeing from justice. The police commissioners had a conference yesterday morning as a result of which Constable Hawkins was placed under arrest awaiting the result of the inquest. Hawkins was set at liberty on Chief McKinnon becoming security for his presence when called upon. The only notable mark about the body which might lead to the man's identification is a scar on the left foot, evidently the result of an old bullet wound, and the large toe on the same foot is much shorter than the average.

The coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Pottruff of Harrisburg who was killed on the Grand Trunk Railway on Wednesday evening returned a verdict to the effect: "That Jane Pottruff came to her death by being killed by an engine attached to a freight train on the G.T.R. The jury exonerates the railway company and its employes from any blame whatever."

Messrs Helm and Millar of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway are pushing affairs in connection with the road at a lively rate. They have registered plans for right of way all along the proposed line and are buying up property on the route. They tried to purchase Carroll's Point but Mrs. Carroll did not wish to sell so they said they would expropriate the property and let arbitrators decide on the price to be paid.

Alderman Griffith in company with his daughter and Miss Wylie was driving from the fair grounds to his home when the horse got frightened and ran away. The occupants were all thrown out on the road. The ladies escaped with a few insignificant bruises but Mr. Griffith had a rib broken besides being badly bruised and shaken up.

Wonderful success attended the Great Central fair all through this week and on closing day about 15,000 people were on the grounds. It being children's day the majority of these were school children with their parents. The largest crowd for some years passed through the gates Thursday, the number being over 35,000.

The funeral and interment of the late Mr. Joseph Kemp took place from the Hotel Dieu Hospital yesterday afternoon and was attended by all classes of the community. The services in St. Patrick's Church were very imposing, after which the cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery.

Canadian Coal.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 27.—McLeod Stewart, president of the Canadian Anthracite Coal Company, is here on his way home from a visit to San Francisco and other cities on the Pacific coast in connection with a market for shipment for coal. Mr. Stewart while here presented a letter of introduction from the Lord of the Admiralty to Admiral Heneage and the result of the interview is that an immediate trial of the capabilities of this coal will be made on the men-of-war with a view to its being adopted on the Pacific naval station. The merit of this coal is that it is a smokeless fuel and can be sold cheaper than Welch coal, which is used by the navy now.

Listowel Cheese Fair.

LISTOWEL, Sept. 27.—At the cheese fair held here yesterday 14 factories boarded 2150 colored and 1530 pale cheese, mostly August. All the August was sold, 350 pale at 10½, 1910 colored at 10 cents. Six buyers were present.

A Blaze at Barrie.

BARRIE, Sept. 28.—A fire broke out about noon yesterday in the store of Danford Roche & Co., drygoods merchants, originating in connection with the furnace in the cellar. The store was slightly scorched and the stock somewhat damaged by smoke and water. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Committed for Trial.

SARNIA, Sept. 28.—Yesterday morning J. H. Bragg and Jack Mulholland were sent up for trial on a charge of stealing $25 worth of carpenters' tools. Bragg keeps a second-hand store and the goods were found in his place. Mulholland was arrested and implicated Bragg, claiming that the latter told him where to get the tools.

I CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

The Bookkeeper of a Chicago Firm Suspected of Crookedness.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. The firm of Gibbs, Parish & Co., which was forced to apply for a receiver on Aug. 31 on account of a mistake of their bookkeeper in figuring up the assets of the firm, has notified the police to arrest Harry F. Clifford, the man who, it was at first thought, had merely made a clerical error. It has been discovered, it is now alleged, that Clifford took some of the money. It is said that Clifford's shortage, as nearly as can be ascertained, is $30,000. It is alleged that he has fled. The police are sending a description of him to the principal cities. His alleged embezzlement and flight has aroused fresh suspicions on the part of the members of the firm. Some time ago the store of the firm, together with its books, were destroyed by fire, and the suspicion now is that it was a case of incendiarism, the fire being set for the purpose of destroying the books, with whatever evidence of dishonesty they may have contained. It is in the new books that the shortage above mentioned is shown.

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever.—Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.—C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until within a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier.—Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, three bottles of this medicine, have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye.—Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored, and she can now look steadily at a brilliant light without pain. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky.

Scotch Goods.

There has just been opened out at the City Clothing Store, per steamer "Alcides," direct from Glasgow, the contents of five packages of merchandize. These goods are splendid samples of the good old Scotch manufacture. They consist of material for fall and winter overcoating, suitings, and trouserings of the newest patterns. Having been brought out direct by us, from the "old sod," we can assure the public that the prices will be found unusually low. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The Great Attraction of the Fair.

The visitors to the Central Exhibition, especially householders, are particularly reminded that the most interesting place in town to visit is Hawley Bros' tea store, George street, where they will find the most splendid stock of pure fresh teas, at the lowest prices to be found in the Midland District. Bought wholesale at cash prices. These teas are good as gold and cheap as clay. Also a superb stock of fragrant coffees, and a fine stock of elegant glassware.

A Pleasing Sunday Service.

The Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school room was well filled Sunday afternoon, the occasion being an open session of the Sunday school. Interesting and profitable addresses were delivered by Sergt. Major Rundle, Capts. Cunningham, of the Salvation Army, and Mr. I. Richardson. Appropriate singing by the children of the school under the leadership of Mr. Stephens, added much to the afternoons service. Miss Ostrom rendered a sacred solo with effectiveness. Miss Mollie Lunsden presided at the piano. The whole affair passed off very successfully and was a pleasant break in the usual services of the school.

Fresh Arrivals.

At St. Andrew's Hall.

Saturday evening the Sons of Auld Scotia who meet together for social intercourse in St. Andrew's Hall indulged themselves in a good deal of pleasant congratulations over their comfortable quarters. Considerable improvements had taken place since some of them had met in the new hall, and the active efforts of the furnishing committee did not fail to attract attention. The president, Mr. Chas Cameron referred to the efforts being made to bring the celebrated Balmoral Choir to Peterborough under the auspices of the Society, and requested the secretary to explain the nature of the negotiations that had taken place with them so far. The secretary gave a synopsis of the correspondence held with the New York agent of the choir and stated that as no reply had been received to his last letter making them a final proposition, nothing definite could be done about the matter that evening. The president then said that he had much pleasure in informing the meeting that he had received from Mr. John Elder, of San Francisco, a fine portrait of himself in highland costume, and he felt sure the society would appreciate Mr. Elder's kindness. He also referred to the gift of six nicely framed pictures from J. R. Stratton, Esq., M.P.P., which would add greatly to the adornment of the hall. The Secretary also said he had received from Mr. Adam Hall a present of three cuspidors for use in the Committee room. It was then moved by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. Alexander Stewart, that the thanks of this meeting are due and are hereby tendered to Messrs. John Elder, J. R. Stratton and Adam Hall for their very useful and appropriate gifts to the Society. The motion was unanimously carried and the meeting broke up.

Welcome to the D. O.

The Salvation Army people began a four days' "hallelujah kick-up," as the captain termed it, on Saturday. The occasion was a harvest thanksgiving and welcome to Staff Capt. Marshall and his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall returned from their wedding tour the other day, and made their formal bow to the people Saturday night. The barracks was tastily decorated with harvest products. Over the platform an evergreen arch was built, on which was seen blazoned the inscription, "Welcome to the D. O. and Mrs. Marshall." Between the pillars were evergreen festoons ornamented with fruits, flowers and vegetables, while about the walls were placed samples of every product of the field and orchard, including the abnormal pumpkin and the redolent onion. The whole work of decoration appeared to have been carefully and artistically done, and reflected credit upon those whose hands were engaged in the work of love and praise. The proceedings began Saturday evening. The Cobourg brass band arrived on the five o'clock train and took part in the parade at night. At the barracks the services were conducted by Staff Captain Marshall. The customary order of services was gone through with, the special features being the addresses of "Hell-fire Jim," a converted railroad engineer named Jas. Squier who was sometimes so drunk while on duty that he could not see the signals; and "Drunken Bill" Chisholm, who was at one time said to be the worst man within twelve miles of Cobourg. Captain Mutton, also of Cobourg, also delivered an impassioned address. Chief interest was centred in Mrs. Marshall, who had previously sat demurely and silently on the front seat. In a few words the Staff Capt. told of his marriage, and said Mrs. Marshall could best introduce herself by a song. Then the young lady came forward, slung the ribbon of her guitar over her shoulder, and began a charming Salvation song in an equally charming voice. Mrs. Marshall is a petite, pleasant-looking little woman and possesses a sweet, clear voice, that evidently pleased her audience Saturday night. She sang again and then spoke for a few minutes in an exhorting way to sinners. The services were continued yesterday by a street parade at seven o'clock in the morning, and services at 11, 3 and 8 o'clock. To-night there is a wedding supper and grand jubilee, and the proceedings will be terminated to-morrow evening.

Hotelkeepers' Purse.

Mayflower Takes the Pot.

There was a large attendance at the driving park Saturday afternoon to witness the concluding heats in the above race, postponed from Friday night. At a meeting of the directors held in the morning it was decided to cancel the last heat owing to its having been trotted when it was too dark for the judges to ascertain how the horses got to the winning wire. The judges also were changed, Messrs. W. Croft and F. J. Daly being substituted for Messrs. Ferguson and Craig both of Port Hope, Mr. H. B. Merrick being retained. When everything was ready for a start all the horses responded but Rip Van-Winkle, whose owner had withdrawn him, it is said on the grounds of the directors declaring the last heat, trotted last night, which gave Rip two firsts to his credit, no heat. The track was in good condition and so were the horses.

SIXTH HEAT—(of the race and the first of the day)—After scoring five times, the trio got a good send off. Valentine who had the pole, forfeited his place to Mayflower. Before long Valentine pulled up and got on even terms with the mare but broke badly and suffered Boxer to pass him, a trick which the black stallion repeated at the beginning of the last quarter, shutting off Mayflower and winning the heat, with Mayflower within whip distance and Valentine a good third—Time, 2.40,, the fastest of the race.

The next heat was conclusive so far as the race was concerned, but unsatisfactory, owing to a misunderstanding at the start. After having scored four times the horses came up in good starting order, and when they were close to the wire the word "go" was heard from the judges, but an instant after the bell rang calling the horses back, Boxer the pole horse having left his feet, approaching under the wire, but the other horses forged ahead, and Boxer followed in the rear, Mayflower leading and Valentine next. The gong continued ringing while the horses kept on trotting, and for the first quarter the sound of the bell followed them, but it was unheeded. As the horses turned into the home stretch on the first half, and as the horses passed the judge's stand, the bell again rang. At the start, as stated above, Mayflower led and Valentine was next, with Boxer, who had the pole, pocketted, his break under the wire throwing him back. At the three quarters Valentine broke and Boxer shot into second place and made a game try for first, but Mayflower was well settled to work and Boxer though he gained steadily had too much gap to close; the mare kept the lead till she passed under the string the declared winner of the heat, and the race. The time was not taken. As the horses came under the wire the starter shouted "no heat," but after a brief consultation the judges finally declared Mayflower winner of the first money—$100, Boxer second money—$60, and Valentine, 3rd money, $40—

The following is a summary of the results of the different heats:—

Valentine	3	4	3	4	1	3	3
Mayflower	2	1	4	1	2	2	1
Boxer	1	2	2	2	3	1	2
Rip Vanwinkle	4	3	1	3	4	dr.

Time—2 4-2, 2 42, 2 42½, 2.45, 2 40 and ——

In the cancelled heat the standing of the horses as announced by the judges on Friday night was, Rip Vanwinkle 1; Valentine 2; Boxer 2 and Mayflower 3.

This event was the real though not formal ending of the generally successful exhibition of 1889. Especially in the stock department was the success distinctly marked. The attendance, considering the weather, was fairly good, and the financial outcome which depends on this, was in proportion. If Friday had been as good as Thursday the attendance would have been largely increased and more satisfactory. The officials deserve the credit of using their most energetic and well directed exertions towards making the show a success. Mr. Wm. Collins the hard-working Secretary attended very thoroughly to his duties, and introduced several clerical improvements which greatly facilitated the keeping of the records. The press is greatly indebted both to himself, and the assistant Secretary, Miss Collins, for many courtesies that greatly facilitated the procuring of information.

St. John's Church.

Yesterday being the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels, special sermons on the nature and ministry of angels were preached morning and evening. In the afternoon the second of the newly begun monthly children's services was held. The Rev. J. C. Davidson addressed a large number of children from both Sunday schools on the subject "How to worship God." A new piece of furniture was used for the first time in the church Sunday. The rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer recognize a distinct "place where they say the Litany" and for years it has been the custom at St. John's to say this service at the Chancel steps. In the Cathedrals and well ordered churches of the old land, however, it is usual to see a desk for the saying of the Litany, and this is generally placed as in St John's, just outside the chancel. The desk in question is made of polished oak and is a fitting companion to the beautiful pulpit placed in the church last Easter. The gift has been made to the church anonymously by a worshipper at St. John's.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The young men's meeting was well attended on Saturday evening. Much interest is being shown by our members. The Y.M.C.A. orchestra rendered excellent service in leading the singing. Mr. Imac Richardson addressed the Gospel and song service, giving a brief account of his trip to England, and drawing spiritual lessons from the incidents which came under his notice. There was a large attendance, everyone enjoying the service.

The Lecture Committee meet to-night at 7.30.

ANOTHER ENTERTAINMENT.—A tea and entertainment will be given on Oct 2nd, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church of this place. We are anticipating a successful time, as our Presbyterian friends never fail in such enterprises. Will we have the pleasure of a visit from our provincial member of the West Riding? He is always welcome.

A QUEER CATCH.— The P.M. of this place has suffered the loss of quite a few young pullets. Their disappearance was a mystery to him, and many a time were his peaceful slumbers disturbed by the clucking of the mother hen. Yet when he awoke and made investigations he always failed in learning the cause. At last his inventive mind, filled with the idea that some wary owl caused such depredations, contrived a plan by which he could capture the enemy. A trolling line was fastened to the coop at one end, while to the other end was attached a small bell which was hung over his bed. The end fastened to the coop had three fish-hooks arranged along the line a few inches from each other, and baited with delicate morsels of young fowl. Retiring on the night in question he was soon in the land of dreams and had passed into quiet forgetfulness of his stock of poultry. But this quiet was soon disturbed by the incessant tinkling of the bell overhead. Rushing out of bed with a feeling of vengeance rankling in his bosom he approached the window gun in hand, ready to lay low the disturber of his sleep and destroyer of poultry. The moon was shining brightly and as he raised the sash and looked out he saw not an owl nor any bird of prey but the shape of a big black dog tugging away at the string with two of the hooks fastened in its jaws. He raised his firearm to shoot but on second reflection he desisted and finally the canine loosened the string and biting it through careened over the field with the two hooks yet fastened in its mouth.

AN INTERESTING DECISION.

The Right of Railroads to Suspend Operation of Non-Paying Lines.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 30—Judge Love, of the Federal Court, has rendered a decision which settles the right of railroads to suspend operation of non-paying lines. Attorney Sheldon, of Chicago, for the Union Trust Company, applied to the court for an order on the receiver of the Wabash system to have the road known as the Clarinda Branch, connecting Rosseberry, Mo., and Clarinda, Ia., suspended on the ground that receipts of the branch were not sufficient to pay expenses. The order was refused, the court declaring that railroads are governmental institutions, public conveyances and common carriers. The right to build a road through private property was granted on the representation that the road would furnish transportation for the public. People are dependent upon such roads for transportation. Courts have no right to deprive people of this transportation on the showing that the road does not pay expenses. By obtaining the right of way from the people they were cut off from all other similar means of transportation, and the court has no means of knowing what damage to merchants would ensue from the granting of this order. It is not the duty of the court to ascertain such facts. If the railway commissioners choose to make such inspection the court will not interfere, but no such order as this will be granted.

FIREMAN AND ENGINEER.

Both Responsible for the Fatal Chicago Collision—A Confession.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The Coroner's jury investigating the Washington Heights accident held Twombly, the engineer and Lecloche, the fireman of the freight engine, responsible for the accident. The crowning feature of the inquest was the confession of Lecloche, made after the verdict was brought in, in which he admitted that his testimony was false, and that Twombly was drunk when the accident occurred.

Port Hope Hospitality.

The Port Hope Times says: An old man named Henderson, and his wife, both over seventy years of age, who live in Peterborough, arrived here Thursday night by the late train, and were found sitting on the steps of a private house after twelve o'clock, begging pitifully for God's sake to allow them to enter for shelter, crying out with a loud voice that they were respectable people, with plenty of money to pay their way, and had been refused admission at a small hotel where they had applied for lodging. The gentleman, who found them, took them to the Queen's Hotel where they were well cared for, and went home rejoicing this morning. From enquiries made, they are very respectable, well-to do people, who live about two miles from Peterborough. A woman told them from an upper window of the hotel where they applied, that the house was full. They then begged to be allowed to sit in some room until daylight. This was refused, and they were ordered away. Rigid enquiries were made at once into this matter, as the people of Port Hope are anxious to know if licenses are granted for the sale of liquor alone, and if this so-called hotel keeper could refuse admission to these aged people, who would, perhaps, have been found dead in our streets this morning, had they not fortunately, in their piteous appeal, found a listener who took them to comfortable quarters. They seemed completely dazed and lost, and cried like children from gratitude and relief from their narrow escape of being left out all night."

Corner Stone Pictures.

The views of the corner stone laying taken by Mr. R. M. Roy are meeting with popular approval. This forenoon Mr. Roy brought 22 of the photographs up town, and they were all sold long before noon. Enlarged views may be seen at Sailsbury's and Manchester's, where the photographs are also offered for sale. The views are particularly good. Every face is brought out distinctly, and as a large number of Peterborough's most prominent men are included in the group, the views will be in great demand as interesting mementoes of the occasion. Mr. Roy will no doubt reap a considerable profit from his enterprise.

MR. LAURIER TALKS

THE LEADER OF THE DOMINION OPPOSITION AT TORONTO.

The Jesuits' Estates and the Trade Question Discussed. Mr. Fisher of Brome and the Attorney-General.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—At the Pavilion in Horticultural Gardens last night the Young Men's Liberal Club presented a program of political speechmaking which attracted a large audience. Hon. Wilfred Laurier was the principal orator and Mr. S. A. Fisher, M.P. for Brome, and Hon. Oliver Mowat also delivered addresses. J. S. Willison, president of the club, was in the chair, and on the platform were all the members of the Ontario Cabinet, Messrs. Cook, Mulock, Waddle and Janes of the Dominion House, Messrs. Davis, Gould, Leys and G. B. Smith of the Ontario Assembly, many members of the city and county councils and other leading Liberals.

HON. WILFRED LAURIER,

who was received with loud and prolonged applause, after paying a tribute to Hon. Edward Blake said that the situation of the country at this moment was such as could not be viewed without some degree of anxiety and alarm. In the first place the more sanguine amongst them viewed this perpetual system of emigration which permeated the population with distrust, and it must be admitted that the economic basis of the country was not satisfactory.

He was now speaking in the presence of Ontario and was it not a fact that in the Protestant Province of Ontario to-day there was expressed a feeling of distrust of the Catholic Province of Quebec. He came from Quebec and he knew for a fact that in the Catholic Province of Quebec there was a great distrust of the Protestant Province of Ontario. For the universal distrust which permeated the whole political body he laid the charge of blame upon the Conservative party.

Coming to the question of the Jesuits' Estates Act Mr. Laurier said many objections had been raised to what had been done by the Legislature of Quebec, but he believed that the measure would have passed without any trouble whatever—without arousing any excitement—but for the fact that the name of the Pope was prominently introduced, and it was considered in a manner that the supremacy of the Pope had been introduced over the supremacy of the Queen. He disclaimed in the most emphatic manner any intention to put the supremacy of the Pope over the supremacy of the Queen and there was no such attempt on the part of the Legislature of Quebec. His position was simply this:—If ever an Ultramontane was entitled to justice at his hands ample justice he would receive.

It had been stated that the Liberals had carried the idea of provincial rights too far, and that their action was dangerous to confederation. He would state, on the contrary, that their line of action harmonized with the federative principle, the bases of which were a perfectly independent central legislation and perfectly independent local legislatures. If this principle was not upheld they might just as well abolish local legislatures and adopt legislative union.

Referring to the trade question Mr. Laurier said: "I am not one of those who believe in Imperial Federation. What we want at this moment is a commercial and complete reform. [Applause.] I would be in favor of a closer commercial alliance with Great Britain, but if there is any man who believes that any such alliance between Canada and Great Britain can be framed upon any other basis that that of Free Trade, which prevails in England that man is a Rip Van Winkle, who has been sleeping not only for the last seven years, but for the last 44 or 45 years. But there is to the south of us a kindred nation, the United States. The policy we have advocated, and which we still continue to advocate, is the removal of all commercial barriers between this country and the great country to the south of us. There is not a man in this audience nor in Canada, who if he were to speak the honest conviction of his heart would not say that this would be the most advantageous policy for Canada. [Applause.]

"During this very month there was to assemble at Washington a conference summoned by the government of the day to discuss closer commercial relations between the United States and the countries of South America. If the republic could discuss closer trade relations with these countries why not with the Canadian Government.

"But there was more than that. There was at this moment indications that the Government of Sir John Macdonald proposed to 'dish' the Liberals at the next election. Well, the Liberals could stand it." In the name of the Opposition Mr. Laurier would pledge himself to support Sir John Macdonald in his advocacy of Commercial Union.

Mr. Fisher, M.P., confined his remarks principally to the Jesuits' Estates question. "Speaking generally," said the member for Brome, "I, as well as all the Liberals in Parliament, have pledged ourselves by our votes and speeches and acts to the great principle that disallowance should not be enforced except under the most extraordinary circumstances." The honorable gentleman referred briefly to the great trade question, in which he boldly proclaimed himself an advocate of reciprocity with the United States, which consummation he hoped to see fulfilled when Mr. Laurier came into power at Ottawa.

Hon. Oliver Mowat was greeted with much enthusiasm. In reference to Mr. Laurier's sentiments, the speaker expressed himself: "I think I may venture to say to those who had apprehension on the subject, that if Mr. Laurier's views are the views of his race and creed in Lower Canada we need be in no apprehension as to the future." [Applause.]

On the subject of Unrestricted Reciprocity, as a loyal Canadian he repudiated the statement as a low and contemptible view of the question, that Unrestricted Reciprocity means annexation to the United States. "We do not like here in Ontario the idea of annexation to the United States," declared the speaker.

BAILLARGE AND THE QUEBEC DISASTER.

The Mining Engineers' Program—Fatal Sawmill Accident—Steamers with Incompetent Masters to Be Tied Up.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—The verdict of the coroner's jury at Quebec, throwing the entire responsibility of the recent landslide from the citadel cliff on the Federal government because it did not adopt the suggestion made by City Engineer Baillairge in 1880 that buttresses should be built to support the cliff, has naturally attracted great attention here. Enquiry at the Public Works Department for a copy of the report elicited that it was in French and was now being translated and would be given to the press in the course of a few days. Enough was learned however to show that it contains a great deal more than was stated by City Engineer Baillairge at the inquest. There he stated that he reported to the Minister of Public Works the dangerous condition of the cliff and suggested the building of buttresses and that the accident was due to the Dominion Government not acting on his report. No copy of the report was produced and on this evidence the jury censured the Dominion Government.

It is now stated by the Public Works Department that Mr. Baillairge's report contained two suggestions, one of which was the building of buttresses as stated by him in his evidence and the other, suppressed by him in his evidence, was that the Government should purchase the houses on the north side of Champlain-street, remove them and build a low retaining wall, also that the crevices which he reported as existing at the time should be filled with concrete and Champlain-street widened. Mr. Baillairge strongly recommended that this latter suggestion should be acted upon at once and the building of the buttresses left in abeyance until it was seen whether the adoption of the second suggestion would or would not remove the danger. The Government adopted the second suggestion as urged by the city engineer. The houses were purchased and the retaining wall built in 1881 and the crevices filled, all at a cost of about $40,000, and since then some $12,000 or $15,000 have been spent in removing loose rock and otherwise protecting the cliff. The curious part of the matter is, Mr. Baillairge appears to have been perfectly well satisfied with what the Government did as he never made any second report saying that he considered his buttresses necessary.

Mr. R. T. A. Bell, secretary of the Citizens' Committee who will receive the American Institute of Mining Engineers, received a telegram from Hon. E. Duhamel of Quebec yesterday stating that he would be present at the reception to the mining engineers in the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons this evening. Sir John MacDonald has also consented to be present and deliver an address on the same occasion. The program for the Eastern Townships excursion has been altered in order to obviate the travelling on Sunday. It has been decided now that the excursionists will stay in Montreal next Sunday and the secretary is now in correspondence with Mayor Grenier with a view of having some quiet attentions shown the visitors. They will leave next morning and visit Blache Lake and Thedford mines during Monday and Tuesday morning and will be tendered a reception at Sherbrooke on Tuesday evening. The reception on Tuesday night will be open. On Wednesday morning at about 10 o'clock vans and private carriages will be in waiting outside the Russell to convey the visitors to the Chaudiere Mills and the experimental farm. This will take up the greater part if not all the whole of the forenoon. On Wednesday afternoon the Canadian engineers will endeavor to arrange an informal reception for their brethren at the Russel House aided by a few private citizens. Owing to the use of the Senate chamber being refused it will be utterly impossible to hold anything like a representative evening as was originally intended. On Thursday morning there will be a number of local excursions. The afternoon and evening will be taken up with a discussion on Canadian phosphate. Dr. R. Bell will read a paper on the subject and the discussion will be participated in by Mr. J. D. Faucett, Captain R. C. Adams, Montreal; Mr. Wills, F. C. S., and others. On the following day an excursion to the Buckingham mines will take place.

A fatal accident occurred at the village of Rockland down the Ottawa river Saturday. It seems that a boy named Victor Savrin, aged about 14, had been at work attending to some saws in the vicinity of the engine-room of Edwards & Co's mills when he was drawn into the machinery and lost his life. He was a nephew of Mr. Victor LaPorte of Rideau-street and was the sole support of his parents.

The Customs authorities at Quebec have received instructions from Ottawa to tie up all steamers plying on the harbor whose masters are not possessed of certificates of competency.

Hon. Mr. Abbott will start from England for home on Thursday, the Australian conference having been postponed till spring as announced some time ago.

Sir John Macdonald will visit Kingston Oct. 7. He is expected to attend a Methodist picnic on Oct. 8.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell is expected home to-day from the Northwest.

Looking for Heirs.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 1.—Conveyancer Simms of Brantford, Ont., is here trying to find the heirs of Sarah Merriman, who died in this city 20 years ago leaving two children. The woman's brother, Jacob Fife of Brantford, died recently leaving considerable property and no children, and Sarah's children are entitled to have it, if they can be found. A woman named Jennie Merriman lived here five years ago and it is thought she is one of Sarah's children. When last heard of she lived in Kansas City.

Mexican News.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 1.—The main force of the great storm that visited the country within the past few days has abated. In its track desolation is apparent on all sides. The second crop of corn which was very large is a partial loss. This will entail great suffering to the laboring classes. The town of Celays still remains inundated. The fields in the vicinity of Leon are all under water. It is estimated that the loss of crops will be over $500,000.

A newsboy and a butcher fought a duel in this city yesterday with knives. The butcher was disemboweled and left on the field dead.

Foul Play Feared

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—Some weeks ago the fact that Frank W. Bigelow of this city was mysteriously missing was published. It is seven weeks now since he left with nearly $3000 of his own money, and nothing having been heard from him since his friends are beginning to fear that he has been foully dealt with.

MORE LIGHT WANTED.

THE HAMILTON INQUEST AGAIN ADJOURNED.

Constable Hawkins' Victim Buried—Many Liquor Sellers in Court—A Stabber Committed for Trial.

HAMILTON, Oct 1.—The funeral of James Douglas, the victim of Constable Hawkins shooting shot, took place at Streetsville yesterday afternoon, the body having been taken there on Sunday by John Douglas, the brother of the dead man.

The coroner's jury in the shooting case met again last night. After taking the evidence of several pawnbrokers from whom deceased tried to buy a revolver, the jury asked the coroner to have the doctors of the asylum in which Douglas had been confined called to testify as to his mental condition, The inquest then adjourned until Tuesday, Oct. 8.

When the adjourned liquor cases were taken up in the Police Court yesterday morning it transpired that the informers who have caused such consternation among the licensed and unlicensed are John Jaynes, who, with his brother, made a big raid on the saloonkeepers last year, and one William Bradley. Five of the accused pleaded guilty. The informers testified to obtaining exhilarating fluids at various prohibited hours in eight cases and the others went over until to-day, when judgment will be given in all.

At the Police Court yesterday Bob McCullough, who broke into James Whitely's house on Sept. 9 and stabbed him, was arraigned on that charge and held for trial.

William Beck, a respectable-looking elderly man, was brought up for preliminary examination at the Police Court yesterday on a charge of assaulting and robbing Mrs. Harriet Vint of $18.75. The magistrate committed the prisoner for trial.

The duties collected at this port during September were $92,247, an increase of $26,676 over the same month last year.

THEY MAY ATTACK THE RUSH.

Crews of the Seized Sealers Mean to Make Trouble at Victoria.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The World has the following special from Ottawa: British Columbia advices say that the United States cruiser Rush will soon call at Victoria on her way south, and it is feared trouble will arise between the crews of the seized sealing schooners and their friends and the crew of the Rush if the latter attempts to anchor in the harbor. The crews of the sealers, most of whom are now at Victoria are in the wildest state of excitement over the loss of their Summer's work and the confiscation of their skins. They say that if they cannot get redress through the British Government, they will take it out of the United States cutter that "stole" their sealskins.

The militia is to be held ready to prevent any attack on the cutter. There are many men of the rougher element of Victoria who would join the indignant sealers if the latter attack the Rush.

The Rush has captured five British Columbian sealers in Alaskan waters and broken up the work of a dozen vessels in all. About 2500 skins were confiscated but all the vessels except one American schooner, which put into Sitka as ordered, went to Victoria.

A Strike at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—On account of a strike Mullarky & Co.'s large boot and shoe factory, 22 College street, is closed down and 400 hands are out of employment. The cause of the strike is that on Saturday morning, Mr. Wiggins, an English foreman, discharged a man in the bottoming room because he would not work full time causing his machine to remain idle. All the other hands in the room numbering 100 then struck work and refused to resume unless the discharged man was reinstated. This request was granted and the men went back to work but after working but a few minutes they all came back to the office and said none of them would work unless the foreman was discharged. The firm refused to accede to this request and the factory was shut down.

Funeral of Hon. Sidney Smith.

PORT HOPE, Oct. 1.—The funeral of the late Hon. Sidney Smith, Q.C., of Cobourg took place to St. John's cemetery here yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of the public men of the province and many members of the legal profession. The deceased was buried by the side of his two sons. A short service was conducted in St. John's Church by Rev. Mr. Spragg of Cobourg and Rev. Mr. Saunders, incumbent of St. John's. The pall bearers were the five sons of deceased, William, John, Sidney, Henry, Fred and Dr. Burnham of Toronto, a son-in-law.

The Richelieu Election.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—The political fight has begun in earnest in Richelieu. The writs will be issued immediately, nominations being fixed for Oct. 10 and polling for the 17th. The Conservative candidate is Mr. J. A. Massue. The Liberal convention has not yet been held. The rumor is gaining ground that owing to the short period that the present Parliament has to run there will be no opposition.

Boy Gamblers Cautioned and Discharged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Boys arrested in Edward Lieberts's Bowery den Saturday night were arraigned before Justice Ford at the Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning. The courtroom was packed with the parents and friends of the lads. None of the boys was over 18 years old, and eleven of them were 16 and under. The testimony of the agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, at whose instance the raid was made, showed that the boys frequented the place to play pool, and that many of them played poker and other games of cards for money. The boys were charged six cents a game for pool. After cautioning the boys impressively, Justice Ford discharged them, but Lieberts was held in $1000 for trial. Eighteen packs of cards and 1000 chips were seized when the raid was made.

G. E. BENNE,

"I am in my 66th year. Have been afflicted in several ways—could not sleep, had no appetite, no courage, low spirits. I commenced using Paine's Celery Compound, and felt relief from the third day after using it. I now have a good appetite and can sleep well. My spirits and courage are almost like those of a young man."

THE LATE HON. SIDNEY SMITH

WHEN we, on Saturday, announced the lamented death of Hon. Sidney Smith, of Cobourg, we had not space to refer at any length to his career. The prominent position he occupied in Peterborough gives the town a claim to join in deploring the close of a bright and useful career, some ten or twelve years of which was passed in this town. When Hon. Mr. Smith began the practice of the law in Peterborough in the early sixties, he went into partnership with the late W. H. Scott, their office being in the block now over Flavelle's flour and feed store on Simcoe Street. After a year, Hon. Mr. Smith entered into practice in an office on his own account, his offices being in the Nicholls & Hall block, Water Street. After a short tenancy of the Chambers block, he purchased the Commercial Bank block, corner of Water and Hunter Street, now known as Croft's Hotel, which property now forms part of his estate. There he continued his practice till his removal to Cobourg which was about 1872. Among the students who pursued their studies, under Mr. Smith in his office were, Mr. W.H. Moore, Barrister, Mr. Geo. T. Leonard, Solicitor, and Mr. H. H. Smith, his son, late Mayor of Peterborough and now Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Winnipeg. Mr. Smith was a most industrious, successful lawyer. His specialty was litigation and he was famed far and near for his great skill in the examination of witnesses and in addressing juries. He was extremely neat and methodical in all the details of his business, and the same principle he carried into the preparation of his suits, which no doubt accounts largely for his success. While in Peterborough Mr. Smith had little to do generally with local or general politics. In social life he was very pleasant, and many older residents will recall many happy hours spent under his hospitable roof in his genial company. He had great taste and fondness for music and his home was the scene of many a bright and happy musical union. His first place of abode in Peterborough was "Beaver Mead" the residence of the late Judge Hall, the next, the present residence of Mr. Edg. Pearce, county clerk and treasurer. He subsequently occupied the Hartley residence Court House Hill opposite that of Mrs. Sam'l Dickson. The general career of the late gentleman was so intimately associated with the history of Canada that the following details from the Parliamentary Companion, will be read with interest.

Hon. Sidney Smith, Q. C., Postmaster-General of Canada from 1858 to 1862, was born at Port Hope on October 16, 1823. His grandfather, Elias Smith, was a U. E. Loyalist, who adhered to the British standard through the American revolutionary war, and afterwards came to Canada, founding a settlement where the town of Port Hope now stands. John David Smith, father of the subject of this obituary, was a member of the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada from 1824 till 1827. James Smith, afterwards judge of the county of Victoria, brother of Hon. Sidney Smith, twice represented Durham and once Victoria in the Legislature of Canada; and another brother, J. Shuter Smith, also sat in Parliament up to Confederation for the county of Durham. The education of Sidney commenced under Archdeacon (afterwards Bishop) Bethune, at Cobourg; was continued at the Home Grammar School, and ended under the care of the late Dr. Jonathan Short, of Port Hope. Studying law in the office of Smith (his brother, John Shuter) & Crooks, he was admitted to the bar in 1844. The same year he commenced practice in Cobourg, where he soon became solicitor to the Commercial Bank, and succeeded in establishing the largest business in the district. He also became solicitor to the Bank of Montreal, to the Midland Railway Company of Canada, and to the commissioners for the town trust of Cobourg. His first law partner was his brother, John Shuter Smith, the partnership continuing until the latter was appointed Master of the Court of Chancery in 1860. Three years after he took in as a new partner, Mr. Armour, now Hon. Chief Justice Armour. In 1862 Mr. Smith became a Queen's Counsel. He was elected municipal councillor in 1853, for two places—the town of Cobourg and township of Hamilton, in which the town is situated. In 1853 he was elected warden of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, being reeve of the township of Hamilton. In 1854 Mr. Smith contested the west riding of Northumberland against Col. D'Arcy E. Boulton, and was then first elected a member of the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Smith was twice elected in this constituency. During his first year in Parliament (1854) he placed upon the statute book the Chattel Mortgage Act, which is still in force. In 1856 he supported the coalition, of which Sir Allan McNab was head, and then went into the Opposition. On February 2, 1858, Mr. Smith was appointed Postmaster-General, with a seat in the Cabinet. He then became president of the Council and Minister of Agriculture, till Government resigned in 1862. In 1858 he introduced and carried through Parliament the Consolidated Jury Act for Upper Canada. In the session of 1860 he moved and carried an address to the Queen, urging her Majesty to recommend the Imperial Parliament to grant a subsidy to the Canadian line of ocean steamships, and give Canada a proper mail service. In the general election of 1861 Mr. Smith was defeated in West Northumberland, but he was shortly after elected to the Upper House for the division of Trent. In 1863 he resigned his seat in the Legislative Council and contested Victoria for the House of Assembly, but was defeated. He then returned to the practice of his profession at Peterborough, with great success. On November 24, 1866, he was appointed Inspector of Registry Offices for Upper Canada, and was reappointed to that office for the Province of Ontario at Confederation, which position he held till a month or two ago. In 1844 Mr. Smith married Miss Bennett, of Cobourg, by whom he had several children, among them being Mr. H.H.Smith, so well known in Peterborough.

Why Mrs. Brennan Sues for $30,000 From Her Husband's Parents.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—The suit of Mrs. Joseph S. Brennan for $30,000 damages against Mr. and Mrs. M. Brennan of Hamilton was commenced in the Civil Assize Court yesterday afternoon. The defendants are the father-in-law and mother-in-law of the plaintiff, who is separated from her husband on account of his bad treatment. She brings this suit against his father and mother on account of alleged "fraudulent misrepresentation and deceit" in extolling the character and financial prospects of their boy Joseph, and inducing the plaintiff to marry him on a short acquaintance. Mrs. Brennan is a daughter of Dr. Chaffee of Alliston a well-known physician of Simcoe County. The principal facts alleged by the plaintiff are that the old folks represented that Joseph was a sober man, that he had an unblemished character, that he was a member of the firm of M. Brennan & Sons, had an independent salary of $3000 a year besides, whereas she proposes to show that he was in the Hamilton police court for drunkenness a few days before the marriage was arranged, and had several illegitimate children about the streets of Hamilton.

Harry Parry, the contractor, who is in custody on a charge of having procured an abortion on Mrs. Elliott, was again brought before the Magistrate yesterday, when Mr. Badgerow announced that it would be impossible at present to go on with the investigation, as Mrs. Elliott was still too ill to appear. The prisoner was remanded until Friday, bail being refused.

Henry Hosier, 29 years of age, of No. 20 Augusta avenue, manager of and a director in the Ontario Furniture Company, was arrested by Detective McGrath yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with fraud, the information having been sworn out by Mr. Jamieson, president of the company, which is a chartered institution. It is stated that Hosier, without the knowledge of the directors, carried away the stock of furniture in the store and locked up the premises.

There is no improvement in the condition of Michael Birtle, who was shot by the colored man Dean on Elizabeth street. He still lies unconscious at the hospital, and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Many young children become positively repulsive with sore eyes, sore ears, and scald head. Such afflictions may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike experience the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin disease, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w37d

Constant Care.

CONSTANT care is necessary against unexpected attacks of summer complaints. No remedy is so well known or so successful in this class of diseases as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Keep it in the house as a safeguard. 2w37d

Rely on This.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for three years, and can always rely upon it as a speedy cure for diarrhoea and all summer complaints. I can recommend it highly and I wish you every success.—MRS. W. FOWLER. 12 Oxford St. Toronto. 2w37d

We Go One Better.

Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carlon keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crushing value he is offering:—$4 lbs. Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Electric Soap, for 25c. 6 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carlon's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw

COLD, wet weather is very hard on sufferers from Neuralgic troubles, and to those Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is strongly recommended. It is palatable, easily assimilated, and can be safely taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d70

AND still the price keeps going down in teas and sugar, at KIDD'S grocery.

SKINS ON FIRE.

Agonizing, Itching, Burning, and Bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to feet. Hair gone. Doctors and Hospitals fail. Tried everything. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies for $5.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stages. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease sored my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything, I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.
ISAAC H. GERMAN, Waterboro, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1887 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and some they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, and I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.
C. E. OSMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.
MARY KELLERMANN, Beloit, Kan.

How a Baby Opens Its Mental Eyes.

In the last volume of the "Educational Series" on "The Development of the Intellect" Mr. H. W. Brown has presented a conspectus of the observations of Professor Preyer on the mind of the child, which shows chronologically the gradual development of the senses, intellect and will of the growing child, and presents in a condensed form the result of a great number of careful observations. It is recorded that sensibility to light, touch, temperature, smell and taste are present on the first day of infant life. Hearing, therefore, is the only special sense which is not active at this time. The child hears by the third or fourth day. Taste and smell are senses at first most active, but they are not differentiated. General organic sensations of well being or discomfort are felt from the first, but pain and pleasure, as mental states, are not noted till at or near the second month.

The first sign of speech in the shape of utterance of consonant sounds is heard in the latter part of the second month, these consonants being generally "m," "r," "g," or "t." All the movements of the eyes become co-ordinate by the fourth month, and by this time the child begins to have the "feeling of self," that is, he looks at his own hands and looks at himself in the mirror. The study of the child's mind during the first year shows conclusively that ideas develop and reasoning processes occur before there is any knowledge of words or language; though it may be assumed that the child thinks in symbols, visual or auditory, which are clumsy equivalents for words. By the end of the year the child begins to express itself by sounds; that is, speech begins. The development of this speech capacity is, according to Preyer, in accordance with the development of the intellectual powers. By the end of the second year the child's power of speech is practically acquired.

The Flag That Tripped Up Booth.

A handsome mahogany case, containing a silk flag with gold bullion fringe, occupies nearly all the available space of the wall in the southern part of the room of Capt. Cobaugh at the treasury department. Every visitor to the department is shown the flag and attention is generally invited to a tear in one of its strips. The flag formerly belonged to the Treasury guards, a volunteer organization formed during the war for emergencies that might arise at the capital of the nation. After the fall of Richmond, and the night that President Lincoln went to Ford's theatre, the flag, which was then attached to a stout rosewood flagstaff, was borrowed by John T. Ford for decorative uses about the box occupied by the president. When the assassin fired the shot whose echo was heard throughout the civilized world he leaped from the box, and in doing so caught the rowel of his spur in the silken folds of the starry banner protruding from the president's box. That slip probably cost Booth his life, for the flag tripped him and caused the broken leg which impeded him in his efforts to escape and rendered him an easy victim for Sergt. Boston Corbett's rifle ball. Subsequently the flag was returned to the treasury department, and during the few days that President Johnson had his office in the department the flag was in a corner of the apartment. It was removed, however, by Capt. Cobaugh to its present resting place, and the staff was made into three canes and presented to officials of the treasury department.—Washington Letter in Philadelphia News.

Unlimited Credit.

A country schoolmistress had much trouble with her pupils, and to avoid it made her examples placed before them of an explanatory character or illustrative. The effect was often unexpected. In going over their usual reading lesson a line was chosen by the lady upon which to test the merits of the scholars. The line read, "And he was a man of unlimited credit in business."

"Now, John, can you tell me what is meant by the word credit when used as in this lesson?"

Thus she addressed one of the stumbling blocks of the school.

"I dunno, marm," said Johnny, looking sheepish.

"You don't know!" said the mistress. "Well, look here. Supposing your mother was to come short of money at the latter part of the week, and needed provisions, etc., now what would she do?"

She was satisfied that her illustration was plain, and awaited the correct reply, and it came thus:

"Well, marm," replied Johnny, "I dunno what she would do, unless she pawned dad's Sunday coat."

The subject was instantly dropped, and the teacher has lost all faith in that style of illustration.—Young Ladies' Journal.

Chinese Ideas.

Speaking of the best method of government Confucius said: "Follow the calendar of the Hsia dynasty; employ the state chariot of Yin; wear the crown of Chou, and let your music be that of Shun, with posture accompaniment.

"In the selection of men let their character be made the important consideration; the formation of a perfect character depends upon adherence to a high moral standard."

Menicus Pang Keng: "If we did not follow different vocations in life and exchange the products of each other's labor the farmer would have a surplus store of grain on his hands and the housewife would have more cloth than she required. The effect of such an exchange is that the tradesmen and skilled workmen are able to procure food."—Pekin Gazette.

AYER'S PILLS. Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. —G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. —Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

Dominion Illustrated.
The Dominion Illustrated for September 28 contains four effective views of scenes connected with the recent disaster at Quebec. These engravings give a correct impression of the neighbourhood and nature of the casualty, and are sure to be appreciated. Several pages are devoted to the illustration of the Halifax carnival, of which some capital views are given. The rest of the number is up to the usual standard, and, altogether, this week's issue is of more than ordinary interest. For sale at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Crossley and Hunter.
Judging by the reports in the Kingston newspapers, the many friends of the Revs. Crossley and Hunter will be pleased to learn that they are meeting with more than usual success in Kingston. The Whig of Saturday states: "The interest in the work is growing stronger, and it is expected before the meetings are over, that thousands of people will determine to make a change for the better. Last night Sydenham street church—an excellent building for a large audience—was packed."

A Small Smash Up.
At three o'clock this afternoon a small smash up took place at railway siding of the Central Iron Bridge works. A couple of cars were standing on the siding laden with bridge material. A car had gone out in the the morning similarly laden and by some misfortune the switch was left open. A gravel train operating in the vicinity ran into the siding and collided with the laden car smashing the trucks of both, but fortunately injuring no person.

Scotch Goods.
There has just been opened out at the City Clothing Store, per steamer "Alcides," direct from Glasgow, the contents of five packages of merchandise. These goods are splendid samples of the good old Scotch manufacture. They consist of material for fall and winter overcoating, suitings, and trouserings of the newest patterns. Having been brought out direct by us, from the "old sod," we can assure the public that the prices will be found unusually low. A word to the wise is sufficient.
dw H. LEBAIN.

The Great Attraction of the Fair.
The visitors to the Central Exhibition, especially housekolders, are particularly reminded that the most interesting place in town to visit is Hawley Bros' tea store, George street, where they will find the most splendid stock of pure fresh teas, at the lowest prices to be found in the Midland District. Bought wholesale at cash prices. These teas are good as gold and cheap as clay. Also a superb stock of fragrant coffees, and a fine stock of elegant glassware.

Protecting the Girls.
Capt. Annesley, of the Barnardo Home, has entered an action to be tried at the coming assizes, which has for its object the protection of the orphan girls, who come out to this country under his care. Last spring a Dummer farmer applied for a girl at the Barnardo Home and was given Kilen Catherine Gill, aged 15. It is alleged that on the way home the farmer made indecent proposals to his ward and laid his hands upon her for immoral purposes. It is also stated by the plaintiff that the offence was repeated after arriving at home. The case will be tried at the coming assizes. Messrs. Dumble & Leonard are plaintiff's solicitors, and Mr. E. B. Edward's the defendants.

Fresh Arrivals.
Fresh arrivals of choice and cheap Groceries, Provisions, etc., and will continue to arrive daily until the stock is filled up and completed for the fall trade at R. A call, which is respectfully solicited, will convince you, and you will be rewarded, etc. Fresh Eggs and Choice Butter, Apples, Potatoes and other farmer's produce, constantly on hand, and will be sold at current prices and delivered to any part of the town free of cartage. The March of Improvement.
Another important change is being made in the business appointments of two manufacturing industries on Simcoe Street. The Lock Works Company have so largely increased their business premises, and to that end have arranged for the ten year lease from Mr. Jas. Stevenson of the building just west of them, at present occupied by Mr. W. J. Minore's Biscuit and Confectionery Works. Mr. Minore is to be given a new premises alongside his present factory, and ground has been broken for the foundation of the new building. It will be of the same dimensions as the one he vacated, and two and half stories high. It will be fitted up to accommodate Mr. Minore's business. Mr. Minore removes from his present place of business before the end of the year, the lease of the Lock Works Company begining Jan'st. It is gratifying to learn of these business advances in town.

The Wedding Welcome.
The welcome to D. O. and Mrs Marshall was continued at the barracks Monday night, and despite the rain there was a good attendance. At five o'clock in the afternoon the Salvationists held a street parade headed by the band, and on returning to the barracks the wedding supper was held. It was quite a feast, and provision had been made for more than sat down to the tables. The local ranks were reinforced by a large number of officers from Port Hope, Lindsay, Lakefield, Millbrook, Omemee and other places, who also took part in the services by singing and speaking. The Cobourg band left at an early hour to catch the train for home. Staff Captain Marshall said he had engaged a house in town and wanted it furnished as a home. He appealed for funds for the purpose. After the services another supper was held in the basement, where the hungry could get all they wanted to eat for 5c. The Jubilee will be concluded to-night by special services at the barracks.

New Shop—New Firm.
This morning passers-by on Hunter street were attracted by one of Watson's elegantly painted signs in a shop window, reading thus "Jewelry," "136—Clarke & Gibson 136."
The significance of this sign is that Mr. John Clarke, jeweler Simcoe street, this morning took into partnership Mr. Alex Gibson who has been associated with him for the last five years. With the new firm a new scope has been opened, the business enlarged, and one of the neatest, nobbiest and best fitted shops in the country prepared for it. The fittings have been put in by Mr. A. Clegg, and he has done a thoroughly first class job. On one side is a row of shelving in the Queen Anne style, fitted with plate glass sash balanced by weights, which admit of the glass being easily raised to gain access to the shelves. In front of this shelving are a series of solidly but elegantly built tables supporting a row of Millichampe's show cases—plate glass, dark mahogany and nickel plated fittings. These cases contain a beautiful collection of new plush trays for the display of fine and extensive stock of new jewelry now on hand. On the opposite side of the shop is a range of shelving with hinge glass plate doors. These are intended for the display of clocks, statuettes, bric-a-brac etc. The wood-work of the shop presents a fine appearance it is all of cherry with mahogany tone and piano polish. A screen of the same kind of wood separates the main room from the well lighted workshops in the rear, with an increased staff of workmen and increased facilities for doing every kind of work. The floor of the shop is covered with elegant Scotch linoleum. The lighting is provided for by two incandescent electric lamps. It is heated by a hot air furnace put in by Mr. A. Hall. Altogether the shop is elegantly fitted in every respect and the stock will be increased in every department to meet the new facilities and new patronage which the changed and improved conditions will develop. The EXAMINER wishes Messrs. Clark & Gibson the largest measure of success in their new scene of business and in their new business relations. Mr. Gibson the junior member of the new firm has many friends in town and they will be pleased to see him achieving that success which his industry and many agreeable qualities deserve.

Personal.

Mr. Dickson Davidson left yesterday for Toronto to take a course of study in the College of Pharmacy.

The Late Thos. McNaughton.

A Well-known, Respected and Popular Young Man Passes Away.

Sunday evening at about five o'clock, death closed the earthly career of Mr. Thomas McNaughton, a young gentlemen, who, during his life-long residence in Peterborough, won the respect of the entire community. Mr. McNaughton was 27 years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Dummer township, and at an early age losing his parents, he came to live in Peterborough with the late Mr. Patrick Kelly, by whom he was reared. In due course he entered the employ of Mr. Fairweather, and later that of Mr. Thos. Kelly, with whom he remained a trusted and valued assistant, till about two years ago, when he removed to Rochester for a change of scene and business. But illness overtaking him, he returned to Ontario. Spending a few weeks in Hastings, he came to pay a short visit to Mr. C. J. Ridley's residence, Aylmer street, to recruit his health before his return to Rochester. He, however, continued to gradually lose in health, though he was buoyed up with hope of recovering, till about a fortnight since, when he recognized the inevitable, and calmly resigned himself to death. He continued growing worse, till Sunday at about five o'clock, when he passed peacefully away without a struggle or even a sigh. He was a model of patience in his illness. During his long last illness, Mrs. Ridley, who attended him with the greatest devotion and kindness, never heard a murmur or word of complaint escape him, except about 12 o'clock on Sunday he inquired the time of day, and on being told, evidently looking forward to the close of life, he said, "O, how long the time is!"—the last audible words he uttered. He was perfectly resigned, and indeed anxious to depart and join the seven other members of the family who had preceded him to the better land. He was quite conscious, though unable to speak, at the last. Just a few minutes before the end, the dying man extended his thin wan hand, and thus silently bade good bye to Mr. Kelly and other friends, who stood around his dying bed. What adds to to the painfulness of Mr. McNaughton's early demise, was the fact that he was engaged to be married to a young lady in Hastings, the present month having been fixed for the ceremony. There are few young men in this town, who dying, would leave so blameless a record of life and conduct, kindly disposition and helpful deeds as Thomas McNaughton. In business and social life his character as developed by his demeanour, won him many warm friendships. In more youthful associations, in athletic circles, his kindly interest, ready co-operation, and courteous bearing made him a favorite. The public generally have great reason to remember Thomas McNaughton with gratitude for he was ever ready to add, as he was so well qualified to do, to the interest of any entertainment at which he was requested to assist, and the recent benefit entertainment in the grounds of St. Joseph's Hospital showed how high was the public appreciation of his past services. At vespers on Sunday evening, Rev. Father Rudkins made reference to his death in feeling terms, and the evident emotion of the congregation showed how deeply the latter sympathized with the emotions and words of the reverend speaker.

The funeral took place this morning from Mr. C. J. Ridley's residence, 505 Aylmer street, to St. Peter's cathedral, where requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Rudkins, the full choir being present. At the offertory Miss Mary Dunn sang the "De Profundis." The remains were then laid at rest in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The bearers selected by Mr. McNaughton a short time before his death, were Messrs. J. D. McIlmoyle, Jos. Carran, Wm. Meredith, D. Garvey, M. Hackett and W. Rudkins.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 1.—Colin Sutherlands a 15-year-old boy whose parents live in the city, was accidentally shot and seriously wounded by a companion named Carl Rouse on Saturday afternoon. The boys had been in pursuit of squirrels in the woods in Thurlow and were about to test their skill at a target with a revolver. Rouse had the weapon in his hand for the purpose of extracting a cartridge which had failed to explode when it went off and shot Sutherland in the side. The bullet was found against the backbone and was extracted. The condition of the wounded boy is serious.

The Government and Reciprocity.

Montreal Witness.

That Sir John Macdonald ever believed in protection except as a retaliatory or punitive policy or an effective piece of party strategy has been questioned by even his friends. He, as well as all other Conservative politicians, had always been in theory a free trader and the policy of protection was adopted altogether too suddenly to admit of any claim that it had been adopted on account of a change in view in regard to political economy. The policy of protection was adopted by Sir John Macdonald at a time when the fortunes of his party were desperate, when it was desirable to call away the attention of the people from the scandalous political corruption in which he had been taken red-handed, and also at a time when the commercial prosperity of Canada, in common with that of all the rest of the world, was at a low ebb, and people were inclined to accept anything for a change. There had been over-production, or at least a greater supply, especially of manufactured goods, than demand for them and prices were very low. Manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere were "slaughtering" their goods as far from home as possible, that is to say, selling them at their real market value in the market of the world. People got into their heads that if prices were high the times would be better, and they made a grievance of the low prices ruling in Canada, referring it to the policy of American manufacturers in making a "slaughter market" of Canada. The absurdity of the purchasers of goods finding fault with sellers of them for selling too cheap was obvious enough, but people were not prospering and were willing to listen to false promises of prosperity in preference to the counsel of those who honestly told them that prosperity could not be commanded by any government, that industry, frugality and foresight could alone bring about a change. It was then that Sir John Macdonald promised prosperity by means of protection from buying too cheap. He did not at that time profess to regard protection as a sound economical policy; he was avowedly in favor of reciprocity, a retaliatory policy calculated to satisfy the belligerence of those who complained of United States competition was evidently the most attractive party policy. His cry was "reciprocity of trade or reciprocity of tariff."

After a thorough trial, dissatisfaction with protection has spread from thoughtful independent people to the farmers, who have been taught by suffering, and now also to some of the laboring classes. These have turned their attention to reciprocity and the demand has become wide and deep. Sir John sees the danger, and it may be that he has determined, now as before, to meet the general dissatisfaction by change of trade policy. The general acceptance, especially by the farmers, but by others also, of the doctrine of unrestricted reciprocity between Canada and the United States, has apparently convinced Sir John Macdonald, as it did the leaders of the Reform party some years ago, that a bold attempt at a liberal measure of reciprocity will be the best party policy. The fishery, sealing, boundary and other disputes bstween the two countries, as well as railways transportation difficulties could probably also be most easily settled in a general commercial treaty. For some time there have been indications in the speeches of Conservatives and in the editorials of Conservative journals that Sir John Macdonald had determined to adopt the policy of reciprocity and dish the Liberals. It was no surprise, therefore, to most people to find the Montreal Gazette, over the most subservient or organs, announcing that "there is a prospect, uncertain as yet it may be, of negotiating a treaty between Canada and the United States on the lines of the old reciprocity convention, enlarged as the changed conditions may necessitate."

Is it a mere coincidence that just now there are many American journals, Republicans as well as Democratic, referring in favorable terms to the same old reciprocity treaty of 1854 and to the desirableness of renewing it if possible? There are, besides, two Senate Committees taking evidence largely regarding the relations of the United States and Canada both of which will report to the next Congress. Sir John Macdonald, than whom no one has a better eye for the ebb and flow of public opinion, has probably been watching the ferment which has been steadily and strongly agitating both American and Canadian peoples. He is probably ready to take advantage of any general feeling in favor of closer trade relations and to make what Sir Charles Tupper called "an unrestricted offer of reciprocity" to the United States. The Gazette, which has incessently derided the unrestricted reciprocity movement, has evidently been informed that "proposals for new negotiations" of this unrestricted character will be made to the Republican administration.

A Long Lost Process.

In the older Egyptian mummies the face of the outer casing is usually modeled in relief, in a purely conventional way, but in this latest form of burial under the Roman empire a portrait of the deceased was painted on a very thin piece of wood and then fixed over the dead face. It is very remarkable to find such fine coloring and skillful drawing in work of this late date, which must have been turned out of an ordinary undertaker's work shop. The portraits, both male and female, are most vivid and life like. The ladies are mostly dressed in a purple garment and the men in white, with a red orphrey. The modeling of the flesh is very skillful and in some cases the coloring reminds one of the Venetian school from its rich depth of tone.

A special point of interest about these paintings is their technical execution in hot wax, or encaustic process, as it was called. The pigments were mixed with melted wax and then fixed in their place by holding a charcoal brazier near the surface of the painting, as is described by Vitruvius. The somewhat lumpy impasto of the surface is due to the hardening of the melted wax when the brush touched the cold surface of the panel, and, owing to the non-absorbent nature of the wood, the subsequent application of heat was not able to drive the wax below the surface, as was the case with encaustic painting upon stucco. One of these portraits is noticeable from its ornamental framing, with a flowing pattern, formed by pressing wood stamps upon soft stucco, which was afterward gilt, a process exactly like that which was so often used to decorate mediæval pictures on panel, especially retables, or ancone, as the Venetians called them.—London Saturday Review.

Pigeon Flying.

Pigeon flying is one of the delights of the Black country, and a Birmingham, Eng., paper gives a curious account of it. It is a passion with the workingmen, and it takes some of them completely away from their work. With the majority, however, it is no more than the ordered pastimes of the first day of the week. It has developed quite a new branch of railway traffic in the district. It is the practice of flyers to send their birds in baskets, addressed to the station master at a particular station, with the request that he will release them, mark on the label the time they were released and return the basket. What is most singular is that this is regularly done. An important traffic has grown up in this way, with a tariff for pigeon baskets and returned empties. Railway companies at first set their faces against it, but finally took a more enlightened view of their own interests and of the wants of their customers. They were probably influenced by the consideration that the officials rather liked the work. In cloudy weather porters have been known to feed birds three days before setting them free. The only inconvenience is that, where a bird fails to reach his destination, the obliging official is sometimes accused of being "got at" by a rival flier. This suggests a certain demoralizing tendency in the pastime, and the suggestion may be confirmed by the revival of a well worn anecdote. An aged penitent, who had loved pigeon flying not wisely but too well, was assured by his ghostly comforter on his death bed, that they would both meet in a better place with wings to their backs. The dying man suddenly forgot his anxieties in the ribald offer to "fly" the parson for a sovereign when they arrived.

FULL PARTICULARS OF THE RIOT AT NAVASSA.

Four Officers Killed by Negroes—A Three Hours' Battle - Bombarded with Dynamite Bombs.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.—The particulars of the riot at Navassa on Sept. 14 have been received by the Navassa Phosphate Company from Acting Superintendent D. C. Smith. On the morning of the 14th the negroes rose in insurrection and killed four officers: Thomas A Foster, Joseph Fales, James Mahon and William T. Shea. The motive of the negroes is unknown and no warning or intimation of such a thing was given. Mr. Roby was first assaulted in the diggings and hit on the head with clubs until left for dead. He was found in a hole under a lot of boards. He was removed to the house and took part in the battle with the blacks after having thirty stitches taken in his scalp. He is recovering.

At noon the men congregated in front of the superintendent's house and refused to work. When Mr. Jones, by direction of Assistant Superintendent Smith, attempted to arrest one of the ringleaders and take a pistol from him which had been taken from Mr. Roby, he was knocked down and in a few seconds a howling mob surrounded him. He managed to get to the house, where the other officers had sought shelter, through volleys of rocks and other missiles. The whites took refuge in the upper story of the superintendent's house and opened fire on the mob which threw stones into the house in every direction and shot at anyone in sight.

The battle lasted three hours with an occasional negro wounded, when the whites were startled by the explosion of a dynamite bomb which had been thrown on the lower porch. This was soon followed by another, until there was a continual roar of dynamite. The negroes were sheltered behind cars, trees, tanks and buildings. Shortly after 4 p.m. the negroes broke into the dynamite magazine and got a fresh supply of explosives. Knowing that the negroes intended to blow them into eternity the whites left the house and endeavored to reach the officers' quarters and make another stand, but they had not got twenty feet away before the negroes, uttering fiendish yells, attacked them with axes, knives, rocks, razors and clubs. Each man was soon overtaken and disarmed. Foster was the first to drop his weapon, a small rifle. He was at once butchered. Fales was chopped to pieces with an axe after he had surrendered his weapon. Shea when last seen was within a few feet of the cliffs with a number of negroes in pursuit, one of whom was firing at him with a revolver. His body has not been found.

Some friendly negroes hid the surviving whites in a little building until the excitement had somewhat subsided and while they were engaged in looting, robbing and pillaging the buildings. About 6 p.m. some negroes went to the building where the officers were hiding and told them to go up to the mess house and get supper and that they would not be harmed. They had not proceeded thirty feet before one of the devils known as George Skey, placed a revolver within a few inches of Mahon's face and fired, and then shot him through the heart.

The brig Amorette was in the harbor but on account of a gale she could not be communicated with until Sunday evening. Mr. Smith wrote the Captain a note requesting him to run over to Kingston, Jamaica, and ask the American Consul to send aid, but he had discharged nearly all his ballast and could not sail until Monday evening. On the 20th the British man-of-war Forward arrived and was ordered to remain until relieved by the U. S. steamer Galena. When last heard of the Galena was at Hayti. The Americans were taken on board the Forward and treated as guests.

Among those injured on the island were Sam Merch, who was severely hurt by being struck with rocks on the head; Harry Jones, injured about the face with rocks and bruised about the body; H. N. Vail shot accidentally through the leg.

A MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE.

The Residence Portion of Grand Haven, Mich., Wiped Out by Flames.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 2.—The best part of the residence portion of this city was wiped out by fire yesterday morning. The fire was discovered at 1 o'clock. The flames spread with great rapidity. The fire department and the herculean efforts of the citizens could not do much to stay the spread of the flames. Among the buildings burnt are the Cutler House, one of the best hotels in Michigan, the residence of Dwight Cutler, a beautiful place filled with exquisite furniture, valuable pictures and works of art, the residences of Mrs. N. Slayton, T. A. Parish, George D. Sanford, Captain McCullum, A. S. Kedzie, Henry Bass, Mr. Beaudry, Mr. Armstead and thirty-three other dwellings; three churches, the First Dutch Reformed, Methodist and Unitarian; Cutler House stables, six stores, meat market and First National Bank. Dwight Cutler loses $250,000 on which he has $82,000 insurance. There was no loss of life but several citizens were overcome by their exertions to save property. The fire departments from Spring Lake, Muskegon and other towns were called and sent engines, men and hose and did noble service. A strong gale was blowing and it was impossible to check the fire until it had burned itself out. The sweep of the fire included both sides of Main-street from Slayton's grocery, where the fire originated, to the Akeley Institute and everything in its path was wiped out. Mr. Cutler's house cost $40,000 to build. The total loss is estimated at $1,000,000 with $280,000 insurance.

The Quebec Disaster.

QUEBEC, Oct. 2.—Sir Adolphe Caron was called upon at his chambers in the district office of the Deputy Attorney General yesterday by the Mayor and members of the Relief Committee, who desired to know what attitude the Dominion Government would assume in the matter.

Sir Adolphe said it was beyond his power to make any promise which would engage the Privy Council. All he could undertake was as a member from the district of Quebec, to lay before them any representation that would be made to him officially and then to urge the case upon the generous consideration of his colleagues. Beyond that he could not of course pledge himself to the mayor and this meeting.

A Fatal Deer Hunt.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—News reached the city yesterday of an accident at the North Nation river by which a man named Foucourt lost his life in a horrible manner. The details are meagre, but so far as could be ascertained it seems that one day last week two brothers, farmers, named Foucourt, organized a deer-killing expedition. Each armed himself with a gun, and, after duly loading with buckshot, they started for the place where the deer frequently were seen. While on their way one of the guns accidentally went off. The buckshot and slug contents struck one of the brothers in the neck, almost severing the head from the body. Death was instantaneous.

EDMUND YATES' GOSSIP.

MOVEMENTS OF THE QUEEN AND OTHER ROYALTIES.

Gen. Faidherbe's Brains—What Wilkie Collins Got for "Armadale"—Capt. Lawler Tries to Capture the Neversink.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Queen has been enjoying the cold weather at Braemer very much and has been driving later than usual, and during the blinding snowstorm of last week drove through Braemer at 7 p. m. on the return to Balmoral. The ladies-in-waiting looked very cold and miserable and evidently did not enjoy it as much as their royal mistress.

The hereditary prince of Hohenlohe-Langenberg arrived at Balmoral last week on a visit to the Queen. I am told that the betrothal of this prince to one of Her Majesty's granddaughters is shortly to be announced. He is a grandson of the Queen's half sister, the late Princess Feodore of Hohenlohe, and is a first cousin of the German Empress.

The Prince of Wales has returned to London all the better for his stay in Scotland, and quite able to visit the theatre every evening. Sitting by the side of the Duchess of Fife in a pony cart he looked a perfect picture of health, and the constant round of picnics and excursions to Denylock, Callater and elsewhere scarcely savored of the family jars about which so much has been said and written.

Prince Henry of Battenberg has taken to driving his wife about in a curious "charabanc" with four horses, much more pretentious than the bumbler conveyances affected by his relatives.

I am very sorry to hear that Lord Salisbury's health is again causing considerable anxiety to his friends and colleagues. The belief is gaining ground daily that Lord Salisbury may have to relinquish the cares of office, and is connected with the extraordinary rapidity displayed just now by those who favor the formation of a new national party.

Burmah is after all going to have its share of the royal favor, and the Rangoon people, who have been pleading hard for an extension of Prince Albert's tour through their province, will be gratified at the decision. We believe it comes from the Prince of Wales himself and is based on political grounds; but Prince Albert Victor will be the first of the royal family to have visited this outlying Indian possession. His tour will consequently be continued beyond the original limits and will probably last well into the spring.

Gen. Faidherbe, the grand chancellor of the legion of honor, who died on Saturday, has suffered for more than forty years from locomotor ataxia. He contracted the malady in 1847, in Algeria, where, during an expedition, he remained for eight days and nights wet to the skin. His case was without a precedent in medical science. Gen. Faidherbe was a member of the mutual autopsy society, one of the rules of which prescribes that the body of a deceased member belongs to the society and that an autopsy should be made in the presence of all the members. It is particularly upon the brain that studies are made, and another rule requires that the brains of dead members shall be preserved by the society. So the general's brains will be placed beside those of Gambetta, Dr. Broca, Alfred Asseline and Dr. Gondreau.

The highest price that Wilkie Collins ever received for a novel was 5000 guineas, which was paid to him for "Armadale" by George Smith before a line of the story, which originally appeared in The Cornhill Magazine, had been written. "Armadale" has never been a favorite with the public, but it is a very powerful book, and a story of the most absorbing interest, and Dickens expressed a high opinion of it. Just after the bargain had been concluded between the author and the publisher, there was a discussion at the Athenæum one afternoon about book prices during which Hayward very acrimoniously maintained that George Smith couldn't possibly have paid such a sum to Wilkie Collins, and after he had ranted on the subject for some time, Dickens turned to a friend and whispered: "Can you wonder now that that man is so generally execrated?" Thackeray only a short time before his death congratulated Collins on the transaction, and told him that he had never himself made as much as £5000 by any of his books. The purchase of "Armadale" was not a profitable transaction for Mr. Smith, but "Romola" proved a still worse bargain, as £7000 was paid for it, and of the first expensive edition only some 1700 copies were sold. The statement that Collins has left copious reminiscences and numerous stories is incorrect. During the last few years he received several proposals on the subject of reminiscences, but declined to entertain them.

EDMUND YATES.

Culminated in Bloodshed.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The trouble between Captain J. W. Lawler and Mr. Black over the ownership of the boat Neversink in which Captain Lawler crossed the Atlantic, has culminated in bloodshed.

During the temporary absence of Captain Lawler Messrs. Black and Knowles put a crew of five men aboard the boat. When Lawler returned to the Neversink, on which it was his intention to sleep, he ordered the men off, but they paid no attention to his orders.

Captain Lawler then went ashore armed himself with a revolver and returned to the Neversink. He climbed over the side and with a crowbar felled the first of the crew who came toward him. He then opened a fire with his revolver, and a bullet struck a sailor named Meades in the leg. The others in the boat dodged into places of security.

After a time two of the men emerged from their hiding places, and approaching Captain Lawler from behind seized and disarmed him. He was then transferred to the police boat. A large number of persons had gathered at the landing and upon the arrival of Captain Lawler they made an attempt to lynch him. The crowd was driven back by the police and the prisoner was lodged in jail. He was subsequently arraigned and remanded on a charge of attempted murder.

TORONTO IS GROWING.

THE ASSESSMENTS INCREASE BY OVER $24,000,000.

Convocation of Toronto University—Long Sentences for Criminals—Mrs. Staunton Locked Up.

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—The report of the city assessors places the value of taxable property at $137,230,778 an increase of $24,167,703 over the preceding year; exemptions $ 8,922,258, an increase of $2,820,334; population 159,832, an increase of 20,390. The apparent decrease in the population since the civic census was taken which placed the population of the city at 175,000, is to be accounted for by the fact that information is not given so readily to assessors as to statistics collectors.

At the General Sessions yesterday morning these sentences were pronounced: John H. Ferguson, five years in the Kingston Penitentiary for obstructing a railway train; William Spellman, for larceny, five years in the Penitentiary; Michael J. Spellman, for the same period in the same place for larceny; Marshall Wallbridge, stealing, Central Prison for six months; John Butcher, shooting, common jail for two months John Anderson, assault, six months in the Central Prison; Thomas Pearce, burglary, common jail for one month at hard labor; Edward Pearce, shooting, Kingston Penitentiary for ten years; John Southworth, burglary and taking stolen goods into Canada, to Kingston Penitentiary for five years on each conviction, the periods to run concurrently; William Ward and Thomas Fahey, robbery, to the Central Prison for one year and 364 days; John McNabb, assault, to the Central Prison for one year; W. H. Dixon, assaulting a railway conductor, to the Central Prison for four months; James Pearce was allowed to go on his own recognizance and to be sentenced when called upon; Maria Pearce, house-breaking, to the Mercer Reformatory for two years, less one day.

On the strength of a telegram from Berlin Moses Richard, Fred Douglas, and Alexander Cunio, were arrested at Union Station yesterday. They are wanted on a charge of robbing the station in Berlin.

Circles across the Don were greatly excited yesterday over the fact that Mrs. Staunton had been arrested in connection with the alleged suicide of her husband last Saturday. A rumor had spread that Mrs. Staunton was not going to wait her turn to give evidence in the adjourned inquest tonight but intended to quietly leave for Chicago with her son. In view of this rumor a warrant was issued yesterday through County Crown Attorney Badgerow for her detention as a material witness.

The annual convention of the University of Toronto took place yesterday afternoon. After the presentation of scholarships and prizes addresses were delivered by Dr. Clark and Sir Daniel Wilson.

Trinity Medical College re-opened yesterday with 300 students.

His Mania Returned.

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—William J. Brown, who was arrested Sunday as insane, after a hard struggle, was released Monday afternoon, his reason evidently having returned. He thanked the officers at the central station for their kindness to him and left in company with his brother and brother-in-law, who, like himself, are well-to do people at Brantford, Ont. It seems the party made slow headway for at 5 o'clock yesterday morning Brown's acute mania had made a devil out of him again, and people in the vicinity of Woodward and Jefferson-avenues were badly frightened by his ravings. It required the combined strength of five policemen to get him into the patrol wagon and to the central station. Brown will be turned over to the Canadian authorities as his relatives are afraid of him.

CONSTABLE HAWKINS' PERIL.

An Indictment for Murder to be Submitted to the Grand Jury.

HAMILTON, Oct. 2.—Mr. Æ. Irving, Q.C., has decided to bring the Douglas shooting case before the grand jury at the present assizes without waiting the result of the inquest. Such a proceeding, though somewhat unusual, is entirely legal. Mr. Irving was seen by a reporter and asked what the charge would be in the indictment against Hawkins.

"Murder," said Mr. Irving, decidedly; "you see we cannot put it in any other way. Then the jury may bring in a bill for manslaughter if they like, or perhaps no bill at all. You see after the grand jury has heard the evidence it is probable his lordship will instruct them upon any questions of law which they may consider difficult arising out of the facts placed before them. On the instructions of the judge, will, in a large measure, depend what shape the indictment will take.

"Is it not an unusual thing for the crown to take hold of a case before the coroner's jury had passed upon it?"

"Not at all. Why, here this man has not been arrested, as far as I can learn, and the crown must take hold of it. Suppose he went to the States to-morrow. The relatives of the dead man are here—four of them—James J. Douglas, a cousin; John and Alexander Douglas, brothers of the deceased, and a brother-in-law. They will be the first witnesses before the grand jury."

"Are they laying the information against Hawkins?"

"No, the crown is conducting the prosecution. It is not necessary for them to swear an information against the prisoner."

"Will Hawkins be tried at the assizes if a true bill is found?"

"Oh, that I can't tell you."

Government Detective John Murray has arrived to look into the case, and is proceeding to sift to the bottom all the idle stories that have been set afloat in connection with the case.

The Mining Engineers.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—The American Institute of Mining Engineers commenced its session here at 8 o'clock last night in the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons. The institute was formed in Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1871, and is therefore in its 19th year. Twenty-two members assembled to inaugurate and many of them are still numbered in its ranks. Since then the membership has increased until at the present time there are over 1800 enrolled. All parts of this continent are represented as well as the chief countries of Europe and the southern continent and portions of Asia, Africa and Australia.

The attendance was large. Dr. Sweetland of Ottawa presided. Sir John Macdonald delivered a characteristic speech. He welcomed the engineers to Ottawa and drew a picture of the advantages which would accrue from their visit. Sir John said he was a politician not a miner, although his friends gave him credit for doing considerable undermining. He also referred to the affectionate regard the United States is displaying towards us and said he hoped the relations between people of common origin would ever continue friendly.

Hon. David Ross, Commissioner of Public Works, Quebec, followed and Ald. Henderson, on behalf of Mayor Erratt, who is out of town, also spoke Col. Lay, the new United States consul general here, followed in an eloquent manner. Mr. John M. Garland, president of the Ottawa Board of Trade, read an address of welcome. Professor Eggleston, of New York, responded. Dr. Raymond, Secretary of the Institute, also spoke.

Many Vessels Lost.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 2.—The late storm created terrible havoc at Ilas del Carmen. Twelve foreign sailing vessels, two steamers and twenty coasters were lost.

THE MEGANTIC OUTLAW.

Donald Morrison Pleads Not Guilty to the Charge of Murder.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 2.—The famous Donald Morrison case came before the bench and grand jury yesterday morning. Morrison's plea on the charge of murder was "not guilty." The lawyers for the defence asked for an adjournment until Thursday, pleading that they had not had time to consult together, nor had they yet seen the witnesses. An adjournment was allowed until to-day and if cause is shown the case will be further put off till to-morrow.

The selection of a petit jury, it is expected, will be of great difficulty. The general impression is that Morrison will be acquitted of murder, but his friends are not so sanguine as to the charge of arson if that is to be brought up.

The Grand Trunk Short Line.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—A prominent official confirms the information that the Grand Trunk railway is preparing to build a new short line to St. John, N.B., and Halifax via the Temiscouata railway. The line will run from Levis to River DuLoup via the Intercolonial, from River DuLoup to Edmunston over the Temiscouata road, a distance of 72 miles, then from there will be built an airline which will be 175 miles long, to Moncton and then to St. John and Halifax.

Skating and Curling.

Annual Meeting of Company and Club.

At the parlours of the Charlotte Street Skating Rink last night the tenth annual meeting of the Peterborough Skating and Curling Rink Company was held. There were present, Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, President, in the chair; C. McGill, Secretary; Geo. Dunsford, Adam Hall, T. P. Attrill, R. S. Davidson, A. McNeil, Wm. Davidson and Hon. R. Hamilton.

The Secretary read the financial statement The last season was a very unfavorable one, the weather being most unsatisfactory. There was no ice on Christmas, Christmas week nor the first fortnight in January, and three times the ice was totally spoiled by thaws. In spite, however, of these drawbacks the financial condition of the company showed an improvement.

The report of the Secretary was adopted.

The financial relations of the Curling Club to the Skating Rink Company was discussed, and it was decided to make no change in the existing arrangements.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS.

The election of directors was proceeded with, Messrs. T. P. Attrill and A McNeil acting as scrutineers, and resulted as follows:—Messrs. R. S. Davidson, C. McGill, W. G. Ferguson, Dr. Boucher and Adam Hall, unanimously elected.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. W. G. Ferguson was re-elected President and Mr. C. McGill, Secretary-Treasurer.

The meeting then adjourned, and the annual meeting of

was held. In addition to the members of the Curling Club above mentioned, the following members were present:—Messrs. John McClelland, A. Stevenson, W. H. Budden, George Edmison, T. E. Bradburn, Dr. Boucher, Geo. Brown, S. Clegg, J. H. Burnham, E. B. Edwards, F. J. Lewis, R. M. Dennistoun, F. H. Dobbin, J. B Pentland and Judge Weller, President, in the chair.

After routine the Secretary read the financial statement, which showed a fair balance on hand, and was adopted.

Handsome bronze medal, won by the club in Toronto last season, was exhibited. It is a massive bronze disc. It was sent out from Scotland for competition, several of the kind having been struck as a Jubilee, but there having been no ice in that year, they were not played for in Scotland.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

On motion Judge Weller was unanimously re-elected President, and in a few brief pointed remarks he acknowledged the honor, "showing cause" why the election should be considered a compliment.

The remaining officers were elected by ballot. Mr. Burnham and Mr. Budden were appointed scrutineers, and reported the result of the elections as below, excluding, of course, the previously elected.

PRESIDENT.—Judge Weller.

VICE-PRESIDENT.—F. J. Lewis.

SEC-TREASURER.—C. McGill.

MANAGING COMMITTEE.—T. P. Attrill, W. H. Budden, J. H. Burnham, and (ex-officio) the President, Vice-President and Secretary.

CHAPLAIN.—Rev. J. C. Davidson.

REPRESENTATIVES.—Dr. Boucher and R. S. Davidson.

SKIPS.—Messrs. Judge Weller, T. P. Attrill, W. G. Ferguson, Geo. Dunsford, W. H. Budden, R. M. Dennistoun, T. Rutherford, S. Ray, R. P. Boucher (Dr.) and C. McGill.

The managing committee was empowered to add to the number of skips as above, if found necessary.

A new method of selecting rinks, by the skips, was discussed and the following motion adopted:—That club rinks be formed as follows:—the skips to select their vice-skips, and to select the other members of their rinks at a meeting of the managing committee and skips, the order of choice being determined by ballot, the skip having last choice for the first round, (for second player) to have first choice for lead.

A communication respecting the formation of groups for the Tankard Competition, and group No. 2, (Peterborough, Convenor) was accepted. Group 2 consists of Cobourg, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby and Peterborough.

A proposition from Lindsay Club, that Peterborough and Lindsay should jointly contribute to the cost of a cup to be competed for by the two clubs, the winner to hold as long as possible, was favorably received.

The meeting adjourned.

Miss Addie Gallelly Married at Canmore, N.W.T.

The Calgary Tribune of Sept. 25th, has the following concerning the marriage of a young lady well known in Peterborough:—

On Wednesday last the usually quite town of Canmore presented a gay and festive appearance, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. T. S. Gill, who pulls the throttle of consolidated engine 315, operating on the Kicking Horse Hill, and Miss Gallelly, daughter of D. D. Gallelly, of the C. P. R. office at Canmore. The schoolroom where the ceremony was performed was tastefully adorned with evergreens and other boughs, in case of them being a bird's nest and another a wasp's nest, both suggestive of different phases of married life. Promptly at 16.30 o'clock the bridal party set out for the schoolroom, when the bells of all the engines were set pealing, whistles were blown, and the mountains echoed and re-echoed as a number of torpedoes were set off. On arriving, the bride, attired in cream satin and lace, entered the church leaning on her father's arm and attended by three bridesmaids — Miss Moir, of Banff, dressed in pure white cashmere and lace, with trimmings of blue satin, and Miss Ethel Gallelly and Clara Carey in white muslin and blue ribbons. The groom was already in waiting, attended by "Jimmy" Walker, driver of engine 147. The Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Banff performed the ceremony, making the twain one. When the party issued from the church the bells again pealed, and showers of rice, old boots, etc., were sent after the newly wedded pair. The party returned to the residence of the bride's father, where a number of guests sat down to a recherche wedding breakfast. The presents were numerous and costly from friends in the east and in the vicinity, among which were a gold watch and chain and table cutlery from the groom; a handsome pencil drawing of Balmoral Castle, from Miss Gill, of Hamilton; cake basket, pickle, fruit and other table silverware, from the groom's mother, and from friends in the east; a dinner set from the bride's father; a silver cake basket from her sister, Miss Ethel; a silver cruet from Miss Clara Carey; a pair of statuettes, pair vases, set of egg-cups, whisk holder, a handsome doll, small chair and rattle from J. Walker and D. Murphy; cruet, E. Paugh; pair fruit dishes, Miss Brock; butter cooler, W. E Ross; napkin rings, Jas. Faulkner; knives and forks, H. Armour; a Japanese jewel cabinet, Mrs. Chesnier; water pitcher, Bob Armstrong; cake basket, Jack Simmons; handsome bread board and knife, J. Basso; Japanese teapot and pitcher, Mr. P. Connal, Peterborough; handsome set of South Sea Seal furs, Peter Corkery, Peterborough; berry spoon and butter knife, J. Connal and Bert Thompson, Peterborough; egg-dish, Mrs. Porter; hand painted handkerchief case and handkerchief, Mrs. A. Stewart, Peterborough; tea tray, Miss Bessie Connal, Peterborough; pitcher, A. White; fruit dish, W. Gray; cake basket, J. Sharples, Calgary; framed photo of engine 315, A. J. Ross; preserve dish, Mrs. Towers; china tea set, Mrs. Gray; colored cut glass celery holder, set in silver, J. Fidler; preserve dish, Mr. Morrison; cologne stand and jewel casket, J. B. McWilliams, Peterborough, besides others. In the evening a large party of young folks gathered in the schoolroom and tripped the "light fantastic" till an early hour next morning. The bride and groom after a short trip to Calgary, left for their home at Field, accompanied by the best wishes of a large circle of friends. In casting up who was to be the next of the railroad men to join the ranks of the benches it was generally conceded that "Jimmy" Walker was the man, and he did not deny the "soft impeachment."

DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

A Bruce County Boy's Fate in a Foreign Land—His Comrade's Story.

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—Archie McLain, a United States prisoner, died in the Emergency Hospital Monday night. The physicians say death was the result of slow fever, but those who know the circumstances claim his death was caused by keen feeling over the disgrace of being arrested. On Aug. 25 Detectives Candall and Greene arrested Archie McLain and Duncan McCullough, and when the prisoners were searched a small amount of counterfeit money was found in their clothing. They were taken into the United States Court, had a preliminary hearing and were bound over to await the action of the United States grand jury. Yesterday a reporter interviewed McCullough, who is still in jail, and heard the following story from him:

"McLain and I live at Tiverton, Bruce County, Ont. We left there together and went to Oscoda, Mich., where we entered the employ of H. M. Loud and went to the lumber camps. When we got through with our work we came to Detroit, which was after the middle of August. While on our way down we ran across a man who had some bad dollars. They were stamped like an ordinary silver dollar but were so smooth and black they could not be passed on anybody, not even a blind man. We were going to use the pieces as decorations for bridles. I had five or six and McLain had two. While in Detroit we met a young man who saw the bad money. After looking at it he asked for one of them and Mac gave him one of his two. The police saw the one he had and he told them he got it of us. The result was our arrest. The bad pieces did not look any more like real money than do paper money advertisements which are sometimes distributed about the streets. We had no intention of passing the money and even had we wanted to we had sense enough to know it was impossible. McLain had as nice people as ever lived. He was 23 years of age and had never been married. The disgrace broke his heart and he was very despondent ever since his arrest." McLain's remains will be sent to Tiverton. The prisoners had the sympathy of all the jail officials who speak of their excellent conduct and manly bearing in terms of praise.

The Great Attraction of the Fair.

The visitors to the Central Exhibition, especially householders, are particularly reminded that the most interesting place in town to visit is Hawley Bros' tea store, George street, where they will find the most splendid stock of pure fresh teas, at the lowest prices to be found in the Midland District. Bought wholesale at cash prices. These teas are good as gold and cheap as clay. Also a superb stock of fragrant coffees, and a fine stock of elegant glassware.

Many young children become positively repulsive with sore eyes, sore ears, and scald head. Such afflictions may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike experience the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin disease, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w37d

Constant Care.

CONSTANT care is necessary against unexpected attacks of summer complaints. No remedy is so well known or so successful in this class of diseases as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Keep it in the house as a safeguard. 2w37d

Rely on This.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for three years, and can always rely upon it as a speedy cure for diarrhoea and all summer complaints. I can recommend it highly and I wish you every success.—MRS. W. FOWLER. 12 Oxford St. Toronto. 2w37d

We Go One Better.

Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carton keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crushing value he is offering:—8½ lbs. Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Electric Soap, for 25c. 8 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carton's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw

COLD, wet weather is very hard on sufferers from Neuralgic troubles, and to those Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is strongly recommended. It is palatable, easily assimilated, and can be safely taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d70

AND still the price keeps going down in teas and sugar, at KIDD'S grocery.

SKINS ON FIRE.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.
ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wurtsboro, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.
C. E. OEMER, Talleville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.
MARY KELLERMANN, Beloit, Kan.

QUEER SALUTATIONS.

MANNERS OF GREETING OBSERVED BY DIFFERENT PEOPLES.

Rubbing the Face with a Welcome Friend's Foot—Compliments That Chinese Etiquette Prescribes—The Welcome That Dr. Livingstone Got from Africans.

Connected with the welcoming of guests and the greeting of friends throughout the world are some of society's most singular customs. In scriptural days the usual form of salutation among the Hebrews was "Shalom lekha," or "Peace be with thee." The same expression is in vogue today among the Arabs, who in response to it say, "With thee be peace." The formal salutations of the orientals are quite profuse, being accompanied with various ceremonies; oftentimes they will embrace and kiss one another, and an inferior will bestow a kiss on the hand or beard of a superior. To such a degree was formality carried in the Bible lands that we are told that the prophet who sent his servant in great haste to lay his staff upon the dead child forbade him to salute anybody on the way lest he lose precious time. For a similar reason the Saviour bade the seventy to salute none while on a journey. One of the prevailing modes of salutation among the Hebrews was the obeisance which brought the person making it to the ground, his beard literally touching the dust.

The Philippine Islanders rub their faces gently with the hand or the foot of the person whom they salute. If the foot is chosen the visitor is put to much personal discomfort, and travelers have found it difficult to maintain their equilibrium during the ceremony. It takes a practical acrobat to submit to the code of salutations in use among the people of the Straits of the Sound. We have it from Houtman that "they raised his left foot, which they passed gently over his right leg and thence over his face." This is a little more complex than our universal Yankee method of shaking hands, and not near so desirable.

IN THE FLOWERY KINGDOM.

Some Ethiopians rob their acquaintances of their robes, which they coolly do about their own waists, thus leaving the saluted individual half naked in his presence. The Japanese, more polite, only take off a slipper, and the Arracans doff their sandals when they salute in the street, and their stockings when they meet in the house.

The Chinese possess a code of salutations which is zealously adhered to in nearly every part of the Flowery Kingdom. If two persons meet after a long separation they celebrate the event by falling on their faces to the earth several times in succession. A Chinaman is apt to indulge in what we would term "putting it on." Ask one how he finds himself in health, and he is likely to answer, "Very well, thanks to your abundant felicity." Chinese etiquette prescribes the use of salutations and compliments with a minuteness that staggers one who wishes to become perfect in them. It tells where the stranger is to be seated, how many bows he is to receive, and when the welcome is to be given with the right hand, and when the left. The lower class of Chinese respect these punctilios, and ambassadors must practice them for forty days before they can present themselves at court.

It is to the wild nations, however, that we go for the curious in salutation. When two New Zealanders come together they go through an outlandish ceremony called tangi. They first cover themselves with mats that envelop the whole form, except one eye, squat on the ground facing each other and weep copiously. This is carried on for some little time, when they shorten the distance between them, and at last press their noses together, all the time giving utterance to expressive grunts. This last performance seems to satisfy New Zealand etiquette, for the parties then give themselves up to lively conversation.

Among the people of New Guinea the greeting ceremony consists of pinching. The person who bestows the welcome pinches the tip of the other's nose with the finger and thumb of the right hand, while with the left he pinches the middle of his own stomach, muttering over and over the word "Magasuka." The reader will see from this that while Papuan etiquette is not intricate, the pinching part is not very desirable.

ROLLING IN THE SAND.

The Batoka people, who live along the banks of the famed Zambesi, have an odd method of expressing their feelings in the way of welcoming people to their good graces. The women usually clap their hands and utter a strange sound, and the men stoop and strike their hips with their palms. But when the Batoka gentlemen wish to show off in the way of salutation they drop on their backs and roll over in the sand, slapping their thighs vigorously, and crying out, "Kima-bomba! Kima-bomba!" at the top of their lungs. Dr. Livingstone was diverted by the unwonted spectacle of a score or more of naked sable giants going through this singular ceremony, and tried to stop them; but the more the explorer protested the heartier grew his reception, and he had to wait patiently until they announced that he had been thoroughly welcomed to Batoka land.

The Nuehr tribe of the Nile country have a mode of salutation peculiarly their own. When Petherick, the traveler, came among these people he was accorded the reception given to persons of high degree. The Nuehr chief who entered the traveler's tent grasped the white man's hand and deliberately spat in it. After a moment of silence he repeated the process. Petherick's first impulse was to resent the indignity by knocking the fellow down, but, restraining his indignation, he returned the compliment with considerable emphasis. This seemed to delight the chief, and the traveler was released to see his attendant subjected to the same barbarous welcome.

After all, the most expressive welcome is given when hand meets hand and eye responds to eye. T. C. Harbaugh in Pittsburg Bulletin.

AYER'S PILLS. Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. —G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver trouble, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. —Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

The semi-annual meeting of the Young Men's Guild of St. John's Church was held Tuesday evening at the rooms of Rev. Mr. Kenrick. There was a good attendance. The election of officers for the current term was the principal business, resulting as follows:—

PRESIDENT.—Rev. J. C. Davidson, (re-elected.)
VICE-PRES.—A.V.R. Young, (re elected.)
SECRETARY.—Chas. Beck.

Matters of interest to the members of the Guild were discussed. Affairs are now in good working shape for the winter. Before adjourning a vote of thanks was passed to the retiring Secretary, Mr. W. D. Parker, who found his other duties too onerous to permit of his again accepting the office. The Guild also gave an expression of welcome to Mr. Chas Beck, son of the rector of St. John's, who has returned to town and entered actively into church work.

The list of ushers was revised and increased from twelve to sixteen, four to be on duty every week in turns. It was also decided that the ushers must be at the church door not less than a quarter of an hour before service, and that the names of those who failed in attendance or punctuality be erased from the list.

Harvest Home Festival.

North Monaghan Hall was crowded Tuesday night to its utmost capacity, and the many people who were present were unanimous in declaring that it was one of the best entertainments ever held in that vicinity. The hall was tastefully decorated with all kinds of fruit, grain, vegetables and flowers, which spoke volumes for the artistic taste and good judgment of the decoration committee. The tea was served in the driving shed from 5 to 8. All that the culinary art could produce was on the table, which showed that the ladies of Monaghan thoroughly understood their business. The programme was well rendered under the guiding hand of the Rev. Mr. Pearson, who occupied the chair, and kept the audience in a good vein of humor throughout by his humorous and witty speeches. The following took part in the programme:—Mr. R. R. Hall, barrister, gave an address, which was much appreciated, and by special request, a reading from the second part of the first book, which was very amusing. Miss Cameron and Miss Dixon sang a couple of solos, which were highly appreciated. Miss Cummings, school teacher, gave a very appropriate reading The singing of Lucinda Jewison and Sadie Allen was well received. The musical part of the evening's entertainment was well sustained by the Williamson Brothers. A triple tongued cornet solo by the younger brother, Herb, was well executed and elicited hearty round of applause. Before closing, the Rev. Mr. Leitch announced that a social would be held next Friday evening, Oct. 4th, commencing at 6 o'clock. The programme was closed by all singing God Save the Queen.

Another Baseball Victory.

The Cobourg Independents Beaten in a Close and Exciting Game.

One of the best games of baseball of the season was played on the P.A.A.A. grounds Tuesday afternoon in the presence of a small crowd of spectators. The weather was very threatening, but fortunately the rain kept off, though the air was rather cool. The visitors were pretty generally expected to win, as they are one of the best teams along the front.

At first things looked decidedly gloomy for the home team. Eight runs were scored by the Independents in the first innings, through a little timely batting and unsteady play on the part of their opponents. After that the Association team settled down, and McCabe pitched in fine form during the remaining eight innings, striking out no less than thirteen men. His curves completely puzzled the visitors and very few hits were made off him.

The Association nine scored their first run in the fourth innings. They appeared to be weak the first three innings, and couldn't hit the ball for any runs, but in the fifth and sixth they found the sphere and began batting a little, the Independents straightway becoming rattled and allowing their opponents to top the score. During the two innings almost any little scratch hit was good for a base. The Association team maintained the lead and won quite handily.

The visitors displayed good baseball form in the field and did some sharp work, while in base stealing they also were adepts. But they couldn't hit the ball. The Association batters on the other hand when once they solved Grierson's delivery hit him pretty hard at times, Brennan in particular doing some heavy stick work. The battery work on both sides was good, Mulhall and Malcolmson being the receivers behind the bat. It was an exciting game, and aroused the highest enthusiasm in the crowd of spectators. The nine innings were played in a little less than two hours, game being called about four o'clock.

The umpire, A. Hadens, of Cobourg, gave fair satisfaction. The score was:—

MR. LONG'S LETTER.

The following lengthy communication from Mr. J. H. Long, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, was read:—

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Sept. 30th, 1889.

W. G. MORROW, Esq., Secretary, School Board, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR:—The members of the School Board must, I am sure, greatly regret that the name of Mr. Hodgson, the High School Inspector, has figured so conspicuously in the late unfortunate discussion, especially in what I may term "the Omemee incident."

In justice to that gentleman, as well as to myself, may I ask you to read at the next meeting the attached letter from Mr. Orr, principal of the Omemee Public School—a gentleman with whom, I may say, I am entirely unacquainted.

As preface to this letter, however, let me briefly recapitulate the circumstances of the case. They are as follows:

Mr. Dumble in May last made very serious charges against the Collegiate Institute, and asked for an investigation into the matter. Very soon thereafter Mr. Hodgson paid us a visit which lasted two days, and at my request he met the Board face to face. At this meeting Mr. Hodgson gave an oral report on the state of the Institute: a report as satisfactory as could be desired. Mr. Dumble, however, after certain remarks, made the charge that a High School Inspector had, at Omemee, a short time before, declared the "Peterborough High School was going to the devil." Mr. Hodgson, at once, for himself and his co-inspector, Mr. Seath, denied the charge.

But Mr. Dumble has, on several occasions since the foregoing, repeated the accusation, that Mr. Hodgson, after having visited our school and having made a highly satisfactory report thereon, did go to Omemee and did use the expression, "The Peterborough High School is going to the devil," or words to that effect; he, Mr. Dumble giving as his authority the Principal of the Omemee Public School. For example, in the newspaper account of the meeting of the Board held on the evening of Monday, the 23rd of September, is found the following:—

"Then Mr. Dumble referred to Inspector Hodgson's report and to the statement that an Omemee teacher had told him (Mr. Dumble) that the Inspector had made at Omemee to the effect that the Peterborough Collegiate Institute was going to the devil. This was the simple fact as the teacher had voluntarily stated it, and by this it would seem that the Inspector came here and stated one thing and went to dinner at Omemee and stated another."

You will notice particularly that the charge is that Mr. Hodgson inspected our school, gave a satisfactory oral report (a report, I may add, confirmed by another report in writing); and then went to Omemee and decried the school. This is the statement Mr. Dumble has made; this is the impression he wishes the public to receive.

Now, if Mr. Dumble's statements were correct, his inference would also be correct, and the Inspector's reports would be of no value. Furthermore, discredit would attach to all Mr. Hodgson's official utterances.

Happily Mr. Dumble's statement is not correct. Apart from Mr. Orr's letter, it is incorrect upon its face; for you will remember that the allegation was first made at the meeting of the Board and the Inspector already mentioned; and, therefore, such allegation referred to something alleged to have been said before that meeting, and consequently before, not after, the inspection of our school.

May I now ask you to read the letter attached hereto.

"J. H. LONG, M. A., Peterborough:—

DEAR SIR.—In reply to your letter of today I will state as clearly and concisely as I can all I know of the matter in question. When Mr. Hodgson made his last inspectoral visit here, in the course of conversation about Peterborough and other schools I asked him if Peterborough Collegiate Institute had not fallen a good way below the rank it held some six or eight years ago. I do not remember the exact words in which he replied, but his answer left the impression with me, and also with another teacher who was present, that in his estimation the Peterborough Collegiate Institute stood low about six months ago. I think I am safe in saying that Mr. Hodgson did not make use of the expression that Mr. Dumble, with characteristic manipulating of the truth to suit his purpose, puts into his mouth. It happened that Mr. W. H. Hill was here the same day the Inspector was here, and in all probability I repeated to him the substance of our conversation about the P.C.I. The next thing I heard of it was what appeared in the EXAMINER at the time Mr. Dumble brought the matter up before the Inspector in Peterborough. I called on Mr. Dumble shortly afterwards to ask him where he got his information, and told him that as far as I knew, the Inspector had not said that "the P.C.I. had gone to the devil." 'Mr. Quilp' was in a very bad humor just then, and said that if Mr. Hodgson had not used the expression, it at any rate expressed his sentiments, and he was not much of a man to deny it before the Board.

"Let me add, that so far as I can remember, the Inspector did not attribute the decline of Peterborough to any want of efficiency in any of the teachers. For manifest reasons a man of Mr. Hodgson's sense would not make any such charge. My own impression is, and some years ago I was pretty well acquainted with Collegiate Institute matters in Peterborough, that the present, or rather late unsatisfactory state of affairs there, is due not to the incapability on the part of the teachers, but to wire pulling and partyism on the part of Mr. Dumble and some of his associates on the Board.

"I do not wish to be drawn into any controversy in this matter, as weakness in my eyes prevents my writing anything lengthy; but as this has come up, I consider it only fair to state all I know of the matter. If you think the publication of this will be of any use to you I have no objection.

"Yours truly,
"ALFRED ORR.

"Omemee, Sept. 26th 1889."

The truth of the matter is then, simply this: as I have more than once stated, Mr. Hodgson had heard rumors—rumors very industriously circulated—that something was amiss in the Peterborough school. On the strength of these rumors he had made certain remarks at Omemee. On the strength of these rumors, I say; for he had not visited the school for more than a year, and his co-inspector had not visited it for more than two years. Mr. Hodgson's information could, therefore, have been only from rumor. Shortly after making these remarks at Omemee, and largely to satisfy himself, Mr. Hodgson visited and thoroughly inspected our school. The result is well known: he was perfectly satisfied, said that he had not expected to find the school in so excellent a condition, and gave us the highest possible mark for organization, discipline, and general management.

I may add, also, that Mr. Hodgson, about three weeks ago, reiterated to me, and asked me to reiterate to the Board from him, his expression of approval, making use of these words: "The order was perfect, and during my acquaintanceship with the Peterborough Institute I have never known it to be in so good a condition as it was at my last inspectoral visit."

All of which, I may say in conclusion, is somewhat different from Mr. Dumble's charge that "the Inspector came here and stated one thing, and went to dinner at Omemee and stated another."

I am, Dear Sir,
Your Obedient Servant,
J. H. LONG.

AN ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Dr. BOUCHER commended the suggestion of Mr. McWilliams at the last meeting, regarding the appointment of an Advisory Committee, which he said would be an easy way of getting over all the trouble they had experienced in the past. He held it was unfair to Mr. Long to hold him responsible for the condition of the Institute when he was not consulted in the appointment or dismissal of any of the staff. He moved that Messrs. McWilliams, Burnham and Hill be an Advisory Committee to act in conjunction with the Principal of the Collegiate Institute in the management of the affairs of the Institute.

On suggestion of Mr. Dumble, Dr. Boucher's name was added to the committee and the motion passed.

A PASSAGE AT ARMS.

Mr. DUMBLE, speaking to Mr. Long's letter, said one could not help noticing the vindictive tone of the letter, and through it all an admission that derogatory reports had gone out regarding the school; and they wanted the Board to believe that on the strength of those rumors Mr. Hodgson made the statements credited him regarding the Institute. Was Mr. Hodgson likely to say anything like that on such grounds? This Mr. Orr, Mr. Dumble said, came to his office and said Mr. Hodgson did not use the words "going to the devil," but words to that effect; and in his letter Mr. Orr does not deny it. He does not, however, state what Mr. Hodgson said. Mr. Dumble denied that he had said Mr. Hodgson had made one report here and afterwards gone to Omemee and made this statement. Mr. Dumble said he knew perfectly well. Mr. Hodgson made these remarks before he reported here, for when Mr. Hodgson appeared before the Board he (Mr. Dumble) had questioned him concerning it. In conclusion Mr. Dumble said he did not want to have any more talk about this matter. He thought the letter was in bad taste. There seemed to be a wish to make things rosy around the board. Well, let them be rosy; he only hoped some good results would follow.

Mr. LONG rose and said there was nothing rude towards Mr. Dumble in the letter—

Mr. DUMBLE—You simply say I am a liar.

Mr. LONG—I only say you were incorrect in your statement.

Mr. DUMBLE—I say I was not. That schoolmaster in my presence of his own accord said "those are not the words, but he used words to that effect." And he has not been man enough to either acknowledge or deny it.

Mr. MCWILLIAMS—I think this matter had better drop. Mr. Dumble will want the last word and so will Mr. Long. It had better drop now.

Mr. DUMBLE again said he never made the statement that Mr. Hodgson made his report here and then went to Omemee and made this statement. He perfectly understood the statement must have been made previous to the Inspector's visit.

Mr. LONG said the general impression was that Mr. Dumble had said it, and it was so reported in the newspapers.

Mr. DUMBLE—That is the newspaper statement, not mine.

Mr. LONG said he was willing to take Mr. Dumble's denial, and let the matter drop, but if it were believed that the Inspector gave us a good report and then went away and decried the school, no confidence could be placed on future reports. That was the point.

Mr. HILL said that some time ago the Mr. Orr in question come to his office for the express purpose of denying a report going around about him regarding his statement concerning the Inspector's remarks; and said the language attributed to the Inspector in the newspaper was entirely incorrect. Mr. Hill said he himself always understood from the discussion that Mr. Hodgson made his report here and then went to Omemee, where it was said he made this derogatory statement. Mr. Orr had told him that the Inspector had said he heard rumors that the school was not in a satisfactory condition; but he (the Inspector) afterwards came here and reported favorably.

There was no further discussion on the subject.

WHO'S TO PAY?

Mr. WEIR said there were some complaints about the breaking of windows in the west ward school. He wanted to know who was to pay for it? The boys who do it could not be found out.

Mr. ENGLISH said the only redress was to find out the boys who break the windows and make them pay for it.

APPOINTING A NEW MASTER.

The Board resolved itself into a committee on appointments to consider the applications for the vacant position of Science Master in the Collegiate Institute. There were five applications, but only three were considered, from Messrs. McConachie, of Markham; Daniel McArdle, Brockville; and John McClumpha, Montreal, a graduate of Glasgow University. It was decided to give the position to the last named, as he had the best qualifications, until Christmas.

The committee also decided to advertise for one new teacher for the north ward school and two for the south ward.

The Board then adjourned.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The monthly meeting of the Executive Committee was held last evening, Mr. G. M. Roger in the chair. There was a good attendance. The General Secretary read his report for the past month, which was very satisfactory, and showed a large amount of work done and interest taken in our work, a good augury for the future welfare of our Association.

On Thursday, Oct. 10th, the first monthly reception will be held.

We have got out a folder; every young man should secure one and see the many advantages we offer this season as an Association. We hope many will join now and take advantage of all the attractions offered, and also show their appreciation of the efforts put forth to provide a safe place of recreation for all young men.

The Lecture Committee have so far met with gratifying success in their canvass for the "Star Course," and we shall endeavor to complete the work this week. If any have been overlooked they can secure tickets from G. A. Schofield, druggist. The Schubert Quartette, with Miss Chamberlain, the Whistling Soloist, of Boston, will open the course with one of their grand concerts October 29th. This is without doubt the best course of entertainments ever offered in our town.

Anniversary services will be held (D. V.) early next month.

Sabbath, Nov. 10th, being the beginning of the week of prayer all over the world, we purpose inviting the pastors of the different churches to preach special sermons the following week. Special meetings for men only will be held in our hall. We are very desirous of clearing off our floating debt; this can be done if subscribers will kindly remit to Mr. J. W. Bennet at once. We do want to begin the new association year free from debt. We thank our friends for the generous support given us so far, also the Baptist Church for their generous collection given on Sabbath, 22nd September. We give God the praise and go forward.

The Ladies' Auxiliary hold their meeting next Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. All ladies interested should attend.

Personal.

Mr. D. Bellegbem has been in Toronto attending the annual meeting of the Ontario Undertakers' Association. He was appointed on the Executive Committee.

THE MEGANTIC OUTLAW

MORRISON'S TRIAL MUST PROCEED TO-DAY.

The Crown Charges the Prisoner's Friends with Attempting to Bribe the Jurors—The Defence Fund.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 3.—The Morrison case was resumed yesterday morning but the greater part of the time was taken up by arguments of lawyers for and against further postponement. The judge fixed this morning for peremptorily proceeding with the case. Great excitement was created by an allegation on the part of the crown that attempts were being made on behalf of the defence to bribe the jurors; upon hearing this Judge Brooks requested the jury to be called in. Upon their appearance he brought before them the nature of the statement made and followed it by a charge pointing out the enormity of such an offence. Morrison who came into court hand cuffed together with Remi Lamontagne looked less nervous than he did yesterday but did not seem to recognize any of his friends who, watching his arrival, expected at least a friendly nod from him. A new construction is likely to be advanced as to the origin of the burning of Duquette's property on Monday night, the property being formerly in the possession of the Morrisons. A true bill has been brought against Donald Morrison, for attempting to shoot Constable McMahon. About $1500 has so far been contributed to the defence fund.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Funeral Directors' Convention—Detective Slemin Divides.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—The eighth annual convention of the International Funeral Directors' Association opened a two days session yesterday in Shaftesbury Hall. President R. H. Bringhurst occupied the chair, and J. H. Sharer, the energetic secretary was in his place. The president's address dealt in an exhaustive manner with the duties which devolve upon members of the association, especially with regard to further united organization. He urged the great need of a reform among funeral directors, among whom he considered much ignorance prevailed. The secretary's report showed that satisfactory progress had been made during the past year. The report presented by Treasurer Charles A. Miller of Cincinnati showed a small balance on hand.

Wm. O'Connor, the oarsman, arrived home yesterday morning at 8 o'clock with J. J. Ryan, of the Toronto Rowing Club. They got off at the Don. There was no demonstration, as few knew when he was coming in. The banquet to him takes place next Tuesday evening at the Albion Hotel.

John Doyle, while being arrested for drunkenness by Constable Cross, objected and defended himself with a knife. He was fined $50 and costs yesterday morning.

Detective Slemin divided the $100 reward for the capture of Michael Spellman with Conductor Williams to whom a large part of the credit appears to be due.

A number of valuable articles were stolen from Government House last night about 7.30. The thief secured $98, three gold pins, a gold shamrock with pearl centre, an Oddfellows' gold pin, a silver spoon and fork and a case of 18 karat gold studs with pearl centres.

Mrs. Staunton, who was arrested in connection with the suspicious death of her husband who it is alleged committed suicide last Saturday, was released last night, Crown Attorney Badgerow thinking there is not much of a case against her. The inquest was again adjourned.

The Mining Engineers.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—There are altogether about twenty-five members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers in town. At the suggestion of Hon. D. Ross, who gave the engineers a cordial invitation to Quebec, Mr. Bell, secretary of the local committee wrote a letter to Hon. Mr. Mercier suggesting that if the Quebec people desired a visit from the engineers a little aid might be granted as the appropriation from the local Government was exhausted in arranging the excursions to that province. Hon. Mr. Ross who goes to the ancient capital will wire the result to Mr. Bell. Yesterday morning the engineers and their ladies were driven down to the Chaudiere where they viewed the mills and the falls. Mr. W. G. Perley, M. P., accompanied the party.

They were afterwards conveyed to the experimental farm where Mr. Fletcher, the entomologist heartily welcomed them in a graceful speech. The party were conducted over the grounds and inspected the laboratory, the barns and other buildings. The party returned to the Russell for luncheon and shortly after 3 o'clock the reading of papers was resumed. A conversazione was given at the Russell last night. Some hundred guests were present.

Two Fatal Accidents.

QUEBEC, Oct. 3.—David Gaboury, a farmer of St. Augustine, Port Neuf, was accidentally killed on Monday while engaged in housing potatoes. He had backed his cart up to the open door of his cellar, when it is supposed he must have tripped and fallen backwards upon his head, as he was found in a pool of blood with his head upon a stone. Despite all that could be done for him he died yesterday, leaving a widow and eight children. Deceased was a brother of Augustine Gaboury, President of the Banque Nationale.

Capt. Rafin, of the Norwegian bark Bothnia, at this port, reports that while his vessel was on the banks of Newfoundland, to westward of St. Pierre, the foretop gallant mast, with all attached, was carried away. One of the crew who was on the foretop gallant yard at the time was thrown into the sea and drowned.

The Ill-Fated Canopus.

QUEBEC, Oct. 3.—The steamship Canopus, which put back to port a fortnight ago with her cargo on fire and left again Tuesday with a general cargo for Liverpool, is reported ashore at Point St. Vallier, fifteen miles below Quebec, with twenty feet of water in her hold.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

The Canadian Pacific's Prosperous Year—Ten Victims at Stuttgart.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Canadian Pacific shares, which have risen two points during the past week, will probably go higher as the result of the statement in to-day's Canadian Gazette, to the effect that it is now safe to make a yet higher estimate of the year's earnings than was suggested in the same journal during the past three months. The Gazette, indeed, predicts that the net income for the year ending February will equal about 3½ per cent. on the total share capital.

Ten Killed and Fifty Injured.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Later reports of the railroad accident near Stuttgart Tuesday say ten persons were killed and fifty injured.

Library Progress

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Prof. Melville Dewey, State Librarian of New York, delivered an address on "Library Progress" before the Library Association of London Tuesday evening.

A MICHIGAN MYSTERY.

STRANGE DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Arthur Richard Shoots His Wife and Then Commits Suicide—No Cause Known for the Crime.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 2.—Arthur P. Richard and wife of this city retired to their room at 8 o'clock Tuesday night apparently happy and well. They lived with Richard's mother and brother. Some relatives from Ohio arrived at their home Tuesday morning for a visit. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the inmates of the house were aroused by two pistol shots and rushing upstairs Arthur's wife was found in the hallway with her room door open and blood streaming from an ugly wound on her face. Arthur was in bed undressed and dead with a pistol wound in the right side of his head. Coroner Locher summoned Arthur's brother. He testified he heard nothing until aroused by pistol shots and knew of no reason for the tragedy. Other witnesses testified to the same effect. The inquest was adjourned. Mrs. Richard is shot in the left side of the face below the ear and although she is still alive the chances are against her recovery. She says Arthur shot her but she gives no cause for it. The couple were married May 31 last at Ravenna, where Mrs. Richard lived. Her maiden name was Elva Kneeland. Richard was about 23 years old and was employed at Foster & Stevens' hardware store as clerk, where he was well liked and was on the road to promotion. He was cheerful and worked hard all day Tuesday. No letters have been found explaining the mystery.

The Episcopal Convention.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America held every three years opened yesterday morning in St. George's Church. This is looked upon as one of the most notable conventions ever held in the Church in this country. This is the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the constitution of the Protestant Episcopal Church and the holding of the first general convention as prescribed by the church constitution. It is also notable from the number of important subjects to come up before the convention. When the convention opened there was not a vacant seat in the church. The usual religious services were held and Bishop Whipple of Minnesota preached the sermon of the day.

Flour and Wheat.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 3.—The Northwestern Miller says: The aggregate production of flour last week was 151,300 barrels against 125,200 barrels the week before and 178,100 for the corresponding time in 1888. The flour market is again active though prices are firm. Most of the mills sold freely when the bulge was on and have enough orders accumulated to keep them going for some days. The export market is very dull, the tendency of offers being strongly downward. The direct exports last week were the heaviest in a long time being 51,700 barrels against 41,700 the preceding week. Receipts of wheat for the week ending Oct. 1 were 1,405,050 bushels, shipments of wheat 224,560 bushels, millstuffs 4174 tons. Wheat in store at Minneapolis 167,814 bushels, Duluth 666,000, St. Paul 95,000.

THE THREE AMERICAS.

OPENING OF THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

Secretary Blaine Selected as President—Preliminaries Arranged—The Delegates Will See the Country.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The delegates to the International American Congress assembled at the State Department yesterday morning and at 12 o'clock proceeded to the diplomatic reception room. Here they were presented to Secretary Blaine, who delivered a felicitous address of welcome. President Harrison gave a special reception to the delegates at 1.30 o'clock, one of the features of which was an informal luncheon served in the State dining-room. Mrs. Harrison and all the members of the Cabinet were present at the reception.

These resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved—That this congress name as president pro tem. Hon. John B. Henderson a delegate to this congress representing the United States of America.

"Resolved—That a committee of five members be appointed by the president whose duty it shall be to designate and report to the congress on its reassembling in November next such committees as in its judgment should be appointed to facilitate the business of the congress and the number of members which each committee shall have."

Mr. Henderson of Missouri took the chair, and under the last resolution the following committee on organization was announced by the chairman: Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister; Councillor Lafayette Rodriquez Pereira of Brazil, Dr. Alberto Nin of Uruguay, Dr. Horatio Guzman of Nicaragua, Dr. Joseph E. M. Hurtado of Colombia.

The committee retired and in a few minutes returned with a recommendation which was immediately adopted that Secretary Blaine be named as president of the congress. Another committee was then appointed consisting of Senor Hurtado, Mr. Bliss, Senor Velarde of Bolivia, Dr. Aragon of Costa Rica and Senor Zegarra of Peru, to notify Secretary Blaine of his election. Meanwhile a resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of seven to draw up parliamentary rules for the government of the congress. The committees will be appointed hereafter.

A further resolution was adopted providing that in the absence of the president the chair will be occupied by one of the delegates of each of the nations represented in the congress by turn selected by lot. Another resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to distribute the work of the congress among sub-committees. This committee will also be appointed hereafter. On motion of one of the South American delegates the following was adopted:

"Resolved that the members of the International American Congress accept with pleasure the invitation of the President of the United States of America, to be the guests of his Government in an excursion though the territory of the United States, and that we express our thanks for said invitation."

At this stage Secretary Blaine entered the room and was escorted to the president's chair. A recess of 15 minutes was taken and at its expiration on motion of Mr. Henderson, the Congress adjourned until Monday, Nov. 10, when it will meet at noon in the Wallack mansion. After the adjournment the delegates were escorted to the White House by Secretary Blaine where the reception took place.

IT WAS NOT MURDER.

The Grand Jury So Decide in Policeman Hawkins' Case—Was it Manslaughter?

HAMILTON, Oct. 3.—The Grand Jury yesterday morning visited the premises where Douglas was shot by Policeman Hawkins. Foreman J. H. Smith says that the investigation is being conducted very thoroughly and carefully, and that the decision when arrived at will be such as should command the respect of the public. "The murder indictment," said Mr. Smith, "has been thrown out by the jury and Mr. Irving has substituted an indictment for manslaughter. Evidence has been taken to show whether Hawkins saw the man when he fired, but I do not think the point has been cleared up. In this investigation we are confining ourselves exclusively to Hawkins' connection with the tragedy." Government Detective Murray says the whole affair is clear enough, and that his work is done in connection with the case. He was telegraphed to at St. Thomas by the Deputy Attorney-General to come here and put himself under Mr. Irving's instructions, but finds that the local authorities have done all that is necessary in the matter.

Wm. Vaughn was charged before the Magistrate yesterday morning with an aggravated assault on Michael McTague, brakeman on the N. & N. W. division of the Grand Trunk, on Sept. 12. This was the occasion on which Shoup of Hagersville, was so badly assaulted. Vaughn pleaded guilty. McTague's evidence was to the effect that while he was setting brakes near Glanford station that night, defendant went up to him and struck him. The magistrate reserved his decision.

A dinner was given at the club last evening by the bar of Wentworth county in honor of Judge Street, who is holding his first court here.

Newfoundland Fisheries.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 3.—The weather has been unusually fine all last month, and promises to continue so at this date. Fishing operations have, in consequence, been carried on successfully and, to a certain extent, early deficiencies have been made up. Late accounts from Labrador are much more favorable, and much has been done along shore and on the banks. The fisheries on the whole will be fair; the catch not large, but well cured and the prices rule high. Our fishermen, on the whole, will do fairly well for the season. Railway construction has begun, and work will be abundant during the fall.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—The death is announced of Mr. W. H. Adams through the bite of a rattlesnake upon which he accidentally stepped at Melbourne, Indian River, Florida. Mr. Adams was a grandson of Rev. B. Dawson and brother of Mr. Frank Adams, lecturer on theology at McGill. He was 26 years of age and unmarried.

For the fourth week in September canal tonnage was 227,604 tons against 220,531 tons carried during the same period last year.

A $25,000 Blaze.

ALBANY, Oct. 3.—Fire last night destroyed the large custom planing, sawing and moulding mill of John Bennett, situated in the south end of the lumber district occupying about 1 1-2 acres. It is a total loss amounting to about $25,000.

DID TASCOTT DIE IN ALASKA?

A Remarkable Story of the Burglar's Movements Since the Snell Murder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—William B. Tascott, one of the supposed murderers of Amos J. Snell, the millionaire banker, will never be caught alive, because it is morally certain that he is beyond the reach of amateur detectives, reward seekers and extraditioners. His body occupies a grave in Alaska. Tascott was not a principal in the Snell tragedy of Feb. 8, 1888, but only an involuntary accessory after the fact. George W. Manly, a native of Danville, Ill., was an old friend of the Tascotts. His home for several years past has been at 3644 Vincennes-avenue, an aristocratic part of the South Side. His family consists now of a wife and young daughter. There is a dark mystery surrounding the maternal parentage of young Tascott, which, it is believed, Mrs. Manly could clear up if she felt so disposed.

Tascott's father had nothing to do directly with the hiding of the fugitive. The day after the murder he was smuggled into the household of George W. Manly and attired in female dress as their servant. This ingenious scheme worked so successfully that the police, though they raided the house three times in the expectation of finding Tascott or some clew to his whereabouts, utterly failed to detect the disguise. Tascott, disguised as a domestic, was kept in hiding at the Manly house for a whole year while the police were scouring the country for him.

Last Spring Mrs. Manly went to California and, Tascott, still dressed in women's clothes was her companion. Alaska was their destination and it is in that far-off region that Tascott is probably lying under the ground. Mrs. Manly returned from the Pacific coast a few months ago, alone and it is known only to the Tascott and Manly families that Tascott died in Alaska. This accounts for the many promising clues from the Pacific coast, which the police have followed up only to lose the scent again.

As to Tascott's connection with the murder it is known that he was a professional burglar, and used his rooms as a storage place for stolen goods. His place was the rendezvous for the murderers of Snell, three in number, and it was there they fled with their profitless booty after the midnight crime. Tascott had only a guilty knowledge of the murder after its commission, and he was kept out of the reach of the police by the principals because they knew that his arrest meant their death-knell. With the death of Tascott dies the secret of the Snell murder, and prevents for all time the discovery and punishment of the murderers.

Shot by His Daughter's Lover.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 3.—A man named Ephraim Huskins, living at Elbe Mills, about eight miles from here, was shot yesterday morning by James Pennock. Pennock was paying attention to Huskins' daughter, which displeased the father, and he discharged Pennock a few days ago from his employment. The shooting occurred during an altercation. The shot entered the groin and Huskins is very low.

A Fatal Fall.

WALLACEBURG, Oct. 3.—Alex. McDonnell, father of W. J. McDonnell, ship builder of this town, was found dead in his orchard yesterday afternoon, by his wife. He was picking apples when last seen. The ladder on which he was standing has a broken rung which apparently was the cause of his falling. His neck was broken and when found was lifeless and cold.

Crusted with Diamonds.

The Buddhists in Burmah do not consider the question of expense in beautifying their temples. Here is the description of the new vane of a pagoda at Rangoon: "The vane is about three feet by one and a half feet broad, and thickly crusted with precious stones and lovely fans of the red Burmese gold. One ruby alone is worth 6,000 rupees, and there are several hundred rubies alone on this beautiful thing. On the tip of the iron rod on which works the vane is a richly carved and perforated gold ornament called the Semboo. It is somewhat egg-shaped and a foot in height, tipped by an enormous diamond encircled by many smaller ones crusted on like barnacles. All over this exquisite oval object are similar clumps of diamonds, no other stone being used for this part."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Song of the Shirt."

At a recent sale in London, the original manuscript of four stanzas of Hood's "Song of the Shirt" brought only $40. Now, when shirts are made by piece work, going through the hands of a dozen women, none of whom are capable of making a whole garment. Hood's poem has lost much of its application, though the misery it describes remains.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Crushing Stone.

A peculiar industry has sprung up near Albany since 1883: that of supplying crushed stone for asphalt and macadamized roads. The quarry from which the stone is taken is operated night and day. One thousand tons of rock a day are crushed and 250 cars are used in transporting the fragments of rock to all parts of the country.—New York Tribune

Forestry.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—The following article from the New York Garden and Forest is of importance to Ontario, as we have made too many errors of a similar nature in clearing. Perhaps you would allow it space in your columns. It is from the pen of one of the best informed writers in the United States.

E. W. PHIPPS.

Toronto, Sept. 27th, 1889.

Forests and Civilization.

We might have had some real forestry here in the State of New York if we had been sufficiently advanced in the art of living; if we had had the interest in the public welfare and the perception of our obligation to coming generations, which are necessary to the development and persistence of civilization. The entire Adirondack Wilderness should have been held permanently in the possession of the States. Then a real school of forestry could have been established somewhere in the woods, and young men could have been trained in the practice of the art, and they could have been employed in the care of the forests and woodlands of other portions of the country. The whole tract of 5000 square miles was originally heavily wooded. The timber could have been cut off as the trees matured, and, of course, should have been so cut off. Nothing could be more absurd than the notion that trees should never be utilized or removed. Whenever a tree has come to its best it should be cut down, and its wood applied to some useful purpose, so as to obtain its value, and in order to provide for a succession of generations of trees, and thus for the permanent life of the forest.

If the Adirondack forests had been thus intelligently managed and administered they would now have been for a long time yielding an increasing revenue to the people of the State. The whole population would have been greatly benefited by the reduction of taxation. Every man and woman in the state would have been richer to-day—would have had more of the means of subsistence and comfort and happiness than at present. Every child in the state would have been born to a better inheritance, and into more favorable conditions than now. The forests would have been better now than ever before, and they would have gone on increasing in value to the people of the state, with the increasing density of population, and on account of the exhaustion of the timber supply in regions fit for agriculture.

The Adirondack region is not fit for agriculture. No part of it is suitable for any other than forest conditions, and these should have been maintained forever. It is impossible to disturb these conditions very extensively, or to remove the forests permanently, without destroying the region itself and annihilating everything that makes it of any value. I doubt if an instance of more obvious and complete adaptation of a region to a special and particular use can be found in the whole world. Nature made this region for the permanent and everlasting growth of forests; and this sole and exclusive adaptation to a most important function should have been recognized.

As I said years ago, if the Adirondack forests could be saved by legislation, one of the best possible measures would be "An Act for the Discouragement of Agriculture in the North Woods." The lumber business is not by any means the only destructive agency at work here. Tens of thousands of acres, entirely unfit for any use but forest growth, have been stripped of trees, and by cultivation and pasturage have been rendered incapable of reproducing the only crop for which the land ever had adoption. It is strange—if anything in human folly is strange—to see so many people persist in the effort to "farm" where the soil is so meagre, and the country so high and cold, that no profitable return for their labors is possible. The thin film of soil disappears after a few years leaving only the bare, inert sand or gravel, and as most of the "farming land" here is rolling or hilly, the slopes soon begin to work down and wash away. Great gullies are formed, which grow wider and deeper every year, till vast waterless tracts of shifting sand, or of clay and gravel, varied only by rock ledges and boulders, stretch below the unhappy traveller, where once grew noble forests fed by perennial springs.

The region was meant to be let alone. It has no natural fitness for agriculture. It is pitiful to see the scanty growth of vegetation which the farmer's toil produces here cut off by frosts in both spring and autumn, and in many places, even in the middle of summer, while in the Southern States of this country there are millions of acres of fertile soil lying untilled beneath most genial skies. The effort to farm these inhospitable lands has also been the source of a large proportion of the fires which have destroyed so much of the remaining forest. Land is cleared by being burned over, and in a dry time the fire extends from the fallow to the woods, despite the best efforts to keep it within bounds, and it is a common saying in the woods that such a conflagration is often a convenient accident for the farmer, as he plants corn the next spring in the burned woods without any clearing whatever, and raises a crop in the ashes. A great deal of the "farming land" here has been brought into cultivation in this way. It is all, from beginning to end, a most wasteful and suicidal process, and the inevitable end, the ruin and disappearance of the soil itself, is speedily reached. Man has no power to create a new world. He has not yet learned how to take care of the one which he inherits, but his ability to wreck and exhaust it is very great. J. B. HARRISON.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age; but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might, to say, have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

We Go One Better.

Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carton keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crashing value he is offering:—8½ lbs Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Kendric Soap, for 25c. 8 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carton's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw

ANOTHER ROCK SLIDE.

He Lives Lost This Time—Repeated Warnings Recklessly Disregarded.

QUEBEC, Oct. 3.—At an early hour yesterday morning a large piece of rock became detached from the face of the cliff immediately underneath No. 3 kiosk of Dufferin-terrace and went crashing into the house No 51 Little Campiain street. The slide took place several yards to the east of the recent fatal disaster. The whole back of the building is crushed in and wrecked, but fortunately no lives were lost. Only a few months ago a piece of rock carried away a portion of the gable of the same building. Notwithstanding these narrow escapes a family named McLaughlin still cling tenaciously to the building as their home.

A Madman in a Churchyard.

KINGSTON, Oct. 3.—Christopher Harris, an insane man who was arrested recently in Kingston and turned over to friends to be cared for, escaped from them on Monday evening and made sad havoc in the cemetery attached to the Baptist Church near the village of Sedley's Bay. His mother-in-law was buried there and it would seem that the crazed individual in his frenzy made an onslaught upon her resting place with the intention of resurrecting the remains. His crazy efforts were unavailing but he was able to destroy the stones that marked the resting places of many dead friends. In the midst of his wildness he was discovered and placed under control. He is now in charge of the townships constable awaiting the arrival of friends who were telephoned for. It seems that he procured a bar of iron about four feet long and with it he smashed all the tombstones that he came across, some of which were costly. He was arrested and taken to his house. During Monday he tore the bedclothes in his room into shreds and broke everything that was in his power to smash. He spent several months in Rockwood asylum and on June 18 last he was removed by his friends against the advice of the authorities there. He suffered from recurrent mania.

Is Ben McMahon Innocent?

WINDSOR, Oct. 3.—William Wigle, a Leamington constable, was in Windsor yesterday. Speaking of McMahon, the man recently convicted at Chatham Assizes of the murder of Wilson Holton, Constable Wigle said: "I know McMahon well and arrested him on the murder charge at his brother's place. He is a painter by trade and years ago came to Essex County from some place in the eastern part of Ontario. I believe him innocent of the crime."

"I, too, know Ben McMahon," said Isaac Rom, a South Essex man standing by. "I know him as well as if he was my own brother. He and I have spent days and weeks in each other's company and slept together scores of times. I know his personal qualities thoroughly, and I unhesitatingly state that I believe him entirely innocent of the crime of which the Chatham jury convicted him."

This appears to be the way in which nearly every person in Essex County talks who is acquainted with the condemned man.

What a Dunce!

I suffered with fever, hot head and foul breath, With stomach disordered—was sick unto death. I bore it a week—surely I was a dunce— Then I took a few "Pellets"—they cured me at once.

What a dunce, indeed, to neglect such a remedy and suffer a week, when quick relief could have been found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. b is sometimes called the sincere form of flattery. This may account for the number of imitations of the original and only positive corn cure—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. SKINS ON FIRE.

Agonizing Itching, burning, and Bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to feet. Hair gone. Doctors and Hospitals fail. Tried everything. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies for $4.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $6. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

ISAAC E. GERMAN, Waraburo, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1886 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never saw anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.

O. E. OSMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.

MUNCASTER'S.

Profusion and Simplicity.

Strange fashions are not confined to our own age or country. Holinshed, the famous and amusing chronicler of the Sixteenth century, comments severely upon the manners of the English of his day. He tells us that "in number of dishes and changes of meat the nobility of England (whose cooks are for the most part Frenchmen and foreigners) do most exceed; till there is no day in manner that passeth over their heads wherein they have not only beef, mutton, veal, lamb, kid, pork, cony, capon, pig, or so many of them as the season yieldeth, but also some portion of the red and fallow deer, besides variety of fish and wild fowl, and thereto sundry other delicates wherein the sweet hand of the sea faring Portingale is not wanting, so that for a man to dine with one of them and to taste of every dish that standeth before him, is rather to yield unto a conspiracy with a great deal of meat for the speedy suppression of natural health than the use of a necessary meal to satisfy himself with a competent repast to sustain his body withal." Much the same fashion is kept up to this day, and public banquets and the sumptuous tables of the opulent abound in all that can charm the eye and tempt the palate, and, let me add, lay the foundation of long and severe illness. How strange the contrast between this reckless profusion and the simplicity of some mediæval saint, whose diet was spare and plain to a degree, or of him, greater than any of the prophets, who did his glorious life work on a sparing allowance of locusts, wild honey and water!—Cornhill Magazine.

The Laugh That Rings.

A young man who is credited by his friends with being a good deal of a philosopher penned me up in a corner today and harangued me as follows:

"Did you ever study the human laugh as an index to human character? It is an infallible test, me boy. Did you ever know a man who simpered and giggled like a girl who wasn't a sneak in his heart? And, on the contrary, did you ever know a fellow who laughed squarely out with a good honest roar who wasn't the prince of good fellows?

"A shrill laugh is indicative of deceit, and a deep chuckle proves sincerity and good nature. By this I don't mean that a man with a tenor voice can't laugh as though he was honest, or one with a bass voice cover his insincerity with a mere bellow. It's the ring that talks. If the laugh has no ring in it you can put the fellow down as a half hearted cuss, no matter if his laugh is loud enough to lift the roof of the Auditorium. Stand twenty men up in a row before me and do something to get them all laughing, and I'll separate the good fellows from the Miss Nancies about as quickly as you could get outside of a beefsteak after a year's famine. See?"

I said I saw, and made a successful dive for liberty.—Chicago Journal.

A Touch of Nature.

The district messenger boy comes in for a vast amount of ridicule for his slowness and abuse for his shrewd observations and ways, but he is a pretty good lad, after all, if the following happening in New York is any criterion: "One day on Broadway," says an observer, "I heard a boy's voice ring out above the noisy roar of the vehicles, clear and distinct, saying, 'Hold on, blind man! stop still, blind man! wait till I get to you!' Looking for the owner of the voice, I discovered a slender but agile messenger boy of 15 or 16 years, threading his way through a mass of vehicles to a spot just by the opposite curb, where a gray haired man was standing as if riveted, with a look of mild despair on his face. It needed only a glance to see that the poor man had sightless eyes; that he had become bewildered and was likely to be run over; that the quick witted messenger boy alone of all the vast crowd had seen the dilemma and had rushed in to the assistance of the unfortunate creature. As the lad brought the blind man safely to the sidewalk I could not help thinking that here was an expression of that one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin."—Golden Days.

The Slyness of the Crawfish.

A correspondent of The Forest and Stream writes that he recently observed a very cunning and ingenious trick of a crawfish (or crayfish) for catching flies. "Sitting on the bank of a muddy pond, or 'borrow pit,' over the surface of which many small flies were swarming about, I observed that the crawfish came to the surface near the water's edge, and, turning over on the side, the tail probably touching bottom, with claws and legs 'sprudling' about in the water, he assumed the exact semblance of dead creatures floating on the water. In a few seconds flies would alight on the apparently dead crawfish, and as soon as one got into the proper position there was a sudden and instantaneous flip, when fish and flies would disappear together under the water. In a few seconds more he would appear on the surface and go through the same maneuver, with the same result. There were, perhaps, two or three dozen of them in sight at the same time, and all industriously engaged in the fly catching game."

He Hurrah'd for the Twelfth Mass.

"Hurrah! hurrah!" shouted a veteran, as the orchestra at the saengerfest began to play a selection. "You must be quiet," said one of the ushers, rushing up to him.

"Not much I musn't," said the veteran, "not when that is played. I used to belong to that regiment, and I'll shout for the boys as long as the Almighty gives me breath."

"Your regiment. What do you mean?" asked the usher, as the crowd waited to hear the result of the disturbance.

"That's what I mean," said the veteran, putting his finger on the programme, "There it is. Twelfth Mass! That's my regiment! The old Twelfth Massachusetts! We fought from Bull Run to Five Forks!"

It was only when he was convinced that it was a piece of church music that he would consent to be quiet.—Detroit Journal.

Fired by Lightning

AGINCOURT, Oct. 2.—A heavy rain storm came through this section yesterday between 10 and 12 o'clock, accompanied by thunder and lightning. The buildings owned by D. Thomson on Lot 26, 1st con. Scarboro, were struck by lightning and all were consumed with their contents, except one barn which was saved through the exertions of the neighbors. The buildings contained all of this season's crop and some grain kept over from last year. The loss on buildings is partly covered by insurance.

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va.

Their numbers will be re inforced on the 13th by half a dozen local sportsmen, who will join them in the pleasures of the chase for a couple of weeks. The party had their waggons loaded and ready to start to-day, but had to wait over in order to get a fresh supply of provisions. Rush Bros., furnished the party with provisions.

Reynolds vs Jamieson.
The case of Reynolds vs. Jamieson is wrongly reported in the Toronto papers, which state that an order was made staying proceedings. The facts are these. J. W. Carry, for the defendant, moved for a stay of proceedings pending an appeal to the Court of Appeal from the decision of the Chancery Divisional Court directing a new trial and for an order setting aside notice of trial. The motion was dismissed, but a motion to stay the payment of costs until after the trial, was granted. The stay of proceedings ordered was simply as to the question of costs. The case comes up for trial at the Assizes next week.

Electric Street Cars.
The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be an immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the anxious public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or glassware at the lowest prices, go to Hawley Bros., George street.

A Brace of Drunks.
There were two queer characters on the prisoner's bench at the police court this morning. Jimmy Farley and Gilbert Peck were both charged with drunkenness, the former also being accused of disorderly conduct. Mr. Geo. McWilliams testified that last night Farley was swearing and kicking up such a row that he nor the neighbors could not sleep. Jimmy pleaded hard to be let off, promising to leave town and never drink another drop. He unwound a dismal tale of woes, and complained that he was a badly abused man. He said he was not disorderly, but was quiet in his own house when arrested. The magistrate let him off with a fine of $2. Gilbert Peck acknowledged he was drunk, but promised that if he was allowed to go the police would have no more trouble with him as he would never drink any more liquor. The magistrate took him at his word and discharged him.

A Splendid Coming Entertainment.
Beadburn's Opera House has been secured for Thursday, Oct. 17th, for an entertainment on behalf of Sergt. Major Randle. A thoroughly first class entertainment, bright and varied will be presented on the occasion. Of course considerable prominence will be given in the programme to the specialties of Sergt. Major Randle's teaching department —class displays of calisthenics and fancy drill by a corps of young ladies, exciting single stick and fencing bouts by the best local experts. The whole, of course, varied by the best vocal and instrumental music of the town. A most excellent and varied programme has been prepared and will be presented on the 17th, in such a manner as to make the entertainment in every way worthy of patronage. The object of the entertainment is one that appeals powerfully to the public. Sergt. Major Randle has been most enthusiastic in promoting a love for physical exercise of a healthful tendency; he has been prodigally obliging in his contribution to scores of entertainments, counting no exertion or sacrifice of time too great in this direction. He has not unfortunately in the past received that support which he deserved. In his efforts to establish Brookbank gymnasium and in procuring uniforms for the lady pupils of the Institute, he incurred an indebtedness of some $250, for which he received no personal benefit, and which he has not the present means to discharge, as he is desirous of doing. And certainly the public can be counted on to liberally patronize the benefit entertainment of Mr. Randle in the Opera House on the 17th The public will not only be delighted with an excellent entertainment but have the satisfaction of recognizing the services which Sergt. Major Randle has so liberally rendered in their entertainment in the past.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The annual meeting of St. Luke's Temperance Society will be held in St. Luke's school-room on Friday evening.

Mr. J. Pollock has the plastering of the school nearly finished.

There was no meeting of the school board on Tuesday evening, owing to their not being enough members present to form a quorum.

Rev. J. J. Wright, B.A., left Wednesday evening for Brockville to see his brother who is very ill in that town. He is travelling for Lyman Bros., Montreal.

The Golden Eye is being covered in for the winter, she having completed her seasons work, which has been one of the most successful in her history.

News Nuggets.

—There was no meeting of St. Peter's Literary Society Wednesday night.

—Messrs. Dolan & Fairen have added another billiard table to their establishment on George Street.

—Peter Winsor, of Burleigh, was on Tuesday convicted of selling liquor without a license, and fined $50 and costs by P. M. Edmison.

—At the Campbellford agricultural exhibition Mr. Peter Hamilton's works of Peterborough were represented by a binder, seeder, walky ploughs and a root cutter.

Many young children become positively repulsive with sore eyes, sore ears, and scald head. Such afflictions may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike experience the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

Bailliieboro Central.

The Annual Exhibition a Fair Success—Good Exhibits Moderate Attendance—The List of Prize Winners.

The annual exhibition of the Bailliieboro Central Agricultural Society was held on Monday and Tuesday Oct. 1st and 2nd. On the first day of course only exhibitors were on hand with their exhibits, but the second these were about all placed and by noon the stock was on the grounds. The cattle competed exclusively of Durhams, thoroughbred and grade, and though there was not an unusual number, there were some very fine specimens. The show of horses, sheep and swine was also fine though somewhat limited in number of entries. The inside exhibition was, however, very good.

The roots and vegetables department was excellent. Among the roots were two bags of potatoes, shown by Mr. A. C. Maycock, not for prize purposes but merely to give interest to the exhibits. They were monsters in size and the production was phenomenal; from five pounds of the Dakota Red variety, 90 pounds of tubers were produced and from a like quantity of Early Gem, 80 lbs. were produced. The varieties are new and were imported from the seed house of J. F. LeClare, Brighton N. Y. of whom, Mr. Maycock is the local agent.

Grain was creditably, if meagrely represented.

There was a very small miscellaneous exhibit, this department being filled with a pair of wringers and washing machines and paper holders, shown by Wilson White.

The ladies department was very finely filled, and it contained some very clever specimens.

The fine arts display was most excellent, far above the average local show. Some really artistic oils and water colours were exhibited.

Fruits and domestic products were also well filled and the inside show was, altogether, very creditable, though not perhaps up the high ranks of former years.

The attendance was not as large as it might have been. Bethany coming the day before, and Centreville the day after, caused a decreased attendance.

THE SPECIAL EVENTS.

The special racing events were competed for on a track specially prepared for the occasion. The rain of the previous day prevented the completion of it, and it was, therefore rather heavy.

THE NOVELTY RACE—To walk, trot and run half mile respectively was won by Messrs. Wm. Bonus, Jas. Perrin and Jas. Johnston, in the order written.

THE SLOW RACE was won by Messrs Wm. Bonus and Jas. Perrin.

The special prizes for colts sired by the well known Clydesdale, "Johnny Cope" brought out a fine lot of animals well worthy of their sire. The first prize fell to D. Heaslip, the second to Jos Porter and the third to Peter Dawson.

The prize for lady riding was won by Mrs. Thos. Johnston.

THREE MINUTE TROT—For this there were three entries:—"Livery Maid," R. Croft, Cobourg; "Maud B.," E. Brown, Peterborough and Mr. Geo. Berry's "Lucy." The circumstances were unfavourable for a test of speed. The winner of first money, $15, was "Livery Maid," of second money, $10, "Maud B," of third money, "Lucy."

The judges on the horse events were Mr. Jas. Wood, Thos. Eastwood (Buckhorn) Jos. Fisher and their decisions were generally satisfactory.

There were also foot races, the result of which will be found in the prize list.

During the afternoon, a lacrosse match was played on a corner of the driving park, between junior teams of Bailliieboro and Millbrook, the latter winning by a score of 2 to 1.

The Bailliieboro band liberally supplied excellent music on the grounds.

The Church Congress.

An Important and Instructive Meeting of the Congregation of the George Street Church.

The lecture room of the George street Methodist church contained a good congregation of people Wednesday night, the first of the two nights' church congress which is being held for the discussion of different branches of church work.

Rev. M. L. Pearson occupied the chair. The devotional exercises occupied the time till half past seven o'clock, when the first subject, "Church Funds and Entertainments," was introduced by Mr. Colbeck in the absence through illness of Mr. W. J. Mason. Mr. Colbeck referred especially to the necessity of the church furnishing a suitable class of entertainments, avoiding such as are degrading to the finer moral senses of the people but, ministering to their intellectual and moral requirements, more than to their desire for mere amusement. Rev. Mr. Pearson gave an account of the different funds of the church and explained the purpose of what is called the connexional funds and of the envelope subscriptions, which went first to support the minister and the surplus to the church debt; and that the Young Peoples' Association are to ming a plan for raising $1000 annually, to be given to the trustees for the liquidation of the debt.

THE YOUNG MEN.

The next subject, "How to Interest Young Men in Church Work," was introduced by Mr. H. S. Griffin. He said the first thing was for the church members to show an interest in young men. They were to do this by trying to get them to take a part in the various services of the church; to be friendly with them when they met them in the church and make them feel that the church needs them. Give them something to do in connection with the different departments of church work.

Rev. Mr. Pearson said that in Winnipeg, Lindsay and nearly all the churches of to-day the young men are utilized as ushers and for the taking up of the collections. There are of course, a large number of young men who do not feel like taking part in prayer meetings or the spiritual work of the church, but these could be won over by utilizing them in the practical way mentioned.

An animated discussion followed, one of the speakers referring to the practice in some places of inviting young men who are strangers in town to the homes of Christian people, and pointing out the necessity of the officers of the church making young men feel that they are appreciated.

KNOW THEM HERE.

Mr. J. J. Hartley introduced the subject "Shall we know each other here?" Some people, he said, misunderstood the subject and thought the topic was, "Shall we know each other there?" With reference to the latter question, he said it had already been decided that if we get to Heaven we shall know each other there. But he considered it impossible for people who would not know each other here to ever reach the place about which we sometimes sing. If we were to interest young men and others in the work, we must first know them. Strangers often come to church for years and are never spoken to. The majority of the church people are not acquainted with each other. No church can prosper that does not seek for the development of its social life. But while a great deal of the blame for this state of affairs is attributable to the people who ought by reason of their position in the church and society, to recognize others, the blame is partly due to those who complain of it. They put themselves where it is difficult to reach them. For instance, a person is sick for weeks, and complains that the minister and others of the congregation have not called to see them; but when asked if the minister knows of their illness, if they have sent him any word, they reply, "no, and it he waits till I send for him he will never come." It was impossible for a minister to know of the illness of every one of his congregation unless word is sent him. The doctor would not call unless he was sent for.

Mr. Griffin said the church should not only seek to know the young men, but the young women also. There is a large class of domestics, respectable young girls out at service who attend church, and a proper effort is not made to cause them to feel at home. Mr. Griffin spoke very strongly against the false pride of some people who felt too good to shake hands with a Christian servant girl.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held in connection with the church, and all seemed to go away with the determination to endeavor to practice the advices given by the speakers. Each subject was discussed at some length by those present, Messrs. Powell, Stubbs and others taking part.

TO NIGHT'S MEETING.

The congress will be continued to-night at a quarter after seven o'clock. The programme is as follows:—

7.15 to 7.30.—Devotional exercises—The Pastor.

7.30 to 8.10.—Subject, "The class meeting." Introduced by Mr. F. Mason and Mrs. Wilson.

8.10 to 8.50.—Subject, "Holiness" Introduced by Mr. Wm. Might.

8.50 to 9.30.—Subject, "How to secure a Revival." Introduced by Mr. M. Cummings and Mr Wm. Yelland.

Ten minutes allowed each speaker in introducing his subject.

The subjects will be open for discussion. Five minutes allowed each speaker.

Personal.

Miss Kate McLean, Brockville, is visiting at Mr. John Braden's.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, who lectures this evening in Otonabee Lodge rooms, will be the guest of Hon. R. Hamilton.

Mr. E. D. Gough, Toronto, is in town on his first visit since his return from his three month's European tour, upon which Mrs. Gough accompanied him. He is greatly improved in health by his journey. During the tour Mr. Gough made it a point to visit the great European clothing markets and to load himself to the gunwale with fresh, stylish new goods. As cheap as he has been heretofore, the prices of his imported goods will be a revelation.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

THE CONSERVATIVE WORKINGMEN'S COMPLAINT.

Hon. Mr. Ross Talks About the Inside History of the Jesuits' Incorporation—The International Maritime Exhibition.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—A deputation from the Workingmen's Conservative Association has waited on Sir John Macdonald and represented the hardship inflicted on the English workmen by the bulk of the Government patronage of labor being given to the French residents. The Premier heard them and then stated that he was not aware that the facts were as stated but would inquire into the matter and see what would be done after which he would give them another interview. At a subsequent meeting of the association this interview was reported and consequently the consideration of a change of base to the Equal Rights platform was adjourned for a fortnight. The question of changing the name and constitution was also postponed.

Hon. David A. Ross, Acting Minister of Public Works for the Province of Quebec, who came to Ottawa to assist in welcoming the American Mining Engineers left yesterday for Montreal en route for the ancient capital. Previous to his departure he was interviewed and said:—"I am a minister without portfolio and am only taking the place of the Minister of Public Works who is seriously ill. No money has as yet been paid over on account of the Jesuits' estates fund but a date has been fixed for the payment which is rapidly approaching, I think it is Oct. 10. The Jesuits only get $160,000 of this money, the other $240,000 will be divided for educational purposes between the Roman Catholic Bishops. The Jesuits are not at all pleased. They wanted $1,000,000. They had to be incorporated before they could get this money and it is not generally known that Cardinal Taschereau was bitterly opposed to their being incorporated and did all in his power to frustrate the effort. The reason for this was that the Jesuits were looked upon as a foreign body and the Cardinal wanted to support the great Catholic University of Laval against which the Jesuits are and have been running educational establishments in competition. The bill was carried however as the Jesuits commanded sufficient influence in the legislature to overcome the Cardinal's opposition."

Col. Ley, United States Consul-General here, has received a circular from the Department of State at Washington requesting him to co-operate with the board of management of the International Maritime Exhibition in making it truly international. The exhibition will be held in Boston from Nov. 4, 1889, to Jan. 4, 1890. The Consul-General is asked to collect and forward and induce others to forward in time for the opening on Nov. 4, all kinds of articles used in navigation and maritime pursuits such as ship models, engines, machines, nautical devices, etc. The management will bear all reasonable expense of transportation of suitable articles.

THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

Hamilton's Crack Military Band Threatened With its Penalties.

HAMILTON, Oct. 4.—The Thirteenth Battalion Band left for Chicago yesterday afternoon, but not in the manner that was intended. Yesterday morning Bandmaster Robinson received a telegram asking him to have the band go in plain clothes. It had previously been intended to march from the Gore to the station in uniform, but the telegram upset that plan. It has also come out that, under the working of the contract labor law the band cannot play in the Chicago Commandery, Knights Templar, on account of its members being aliens to the United States. The band, therefore, will be nominally attached to the Hamilton Commandery. The members do not anticipate any trouble on account of the working of the contract labor law as they expect to get around it without difficulty. Representatives of the Chicago Commantery met the band at London.

The Law Must be Obeyed

DETROIT, Oct. 4.—Chief Clerk Christiancy of the Custom House says: "If the Hamilton band goes to Washington there is liable to be trouble. I will insist on an affidavit to the effect that the band is not under contract before the members pass through Detroit. I believe it is their intention to accompany the Chicago Knights to Washington. This contract labor law must be obeyed. If the Hamilton band goes to Washington under contract each member is liable to a fine of $1000. Any citizen can make a complaint, and he is entitled to half the fine. The Chicago Knights Templar will also be liable."

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Dry Goods Merchant Charged With Perjury—Burglars Caught and Convicted.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—On the Police Court list yesterday the name of F. X. Cousineau, proprietor of the Bon Marche, appeared with the charge of perjury opposite it, preferred by James H. Hamilton, one of the clerks arrested some time ago on a charge of larceny. At the second investigation Mr. Cousineau swore that no record or receipt was received for the suit of clothes which Hamilton was charged with having stolen. Hamilton now claims that the receipt was in Mr. Cousineau's possession at the time he gave his evidence. The case was continued.

At an early hour yesterday morning James Walsh, John Burkitt and Alfred Wood were smartly captured by Police-constables Duncan and Forrest, and taken to Headquarters charged with burglariously entering the hotel of George Proctor, "The Bay Tree," corner of Bay and Adelaide-streets. They were before the Police Magistrate and the evidence being clear and the proof of their carrying burglars' tools and revolvers and threatening to shoot the officers being given they were each sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary. Burkitt had only the day before been discharged as bartender in the Bay Tree.

Policeman Hawkins' Luck.

HAMILTON, Oct. 4.—Police Constable Hawkins narrowly escaped having a true bill found against him. Two votes would have turned the scale. There were twenty members of the grand jury present and ten of these stuck out strongly for bringing in a true bill. The other nine were opposed to it and Foreman Smith, who made the twentieth, was not called upon to vote. But in a grand jury twelve good men and true must say that in their opinion the prisoner is guilty before a true bill can be returned. A variety of extraneous matters, such as the conception that the case was already under the jurisdiction of the coroner and that there had been undue haste on the part of the Crown, seem to have influenced the jury quite as much as the evidence.

THE RIVER OF DEATH.

AWFUL STEAMBOAT DISASTER ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

Forty Persons Killed and Many Injured by the Bursting of a Boiler on the Steamer Corona.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The steamer Corona of the Ouachita Consolidated Line, left here at 7.30 Wednesday evening for the Ouachita River with a full cargo of freight and a good list of passengers. She exploded her boilers at False River, nearly opposite Port Hudson, at 11.45 yesterday morning causing the loss of the steamer and about 40 lives. The Anchor Line steamer City of St. Louis, Captain James O'Neil, was near by and her crew and boats saved many lives. The surviving passengers and crew were taken on board by Capt. O'Neil and kindly cared for.

The following are the names of the lost as far as known: J. W. Blanks, captain; J. V. Jordan, first clerk; Charles C. F. Ellis, second clerk; Swimp Hanna, third clerk; Fred Dinckle, barkeeper; Fred Verman, barkeeper; Pat Ryan, steward; Dick Curtis, fireman; Tom Shook, engineer; Henry Doyle, porter; James Swipes, porter; Mr. Tate, barber; Henry Davis, deck hand; Tom Cook, sailor; Billy Young, second mate; Sam Steel, Texas boy; both captains of the deck watch; eight rousters; Dr. Atwell, corn doctor; four negro musicians; Mr. Scott, Smithfield, Pa; Mr. Davis, stockman, Texas; Mr. Koenick; Mrs. Huff of Opelousas; Mrs. Kauffman, nurse and eldest child.

The following were wounded:

Captain B. C. Cornwall, slightly; B. Anghman, residing on Black River, hurt in side, not dangerous; Mr. Comstock, Donaldsonville, slightly; J. J. Moseridity, Columbia, La., slightly; Wayne, a little son of Henry Black's, slightly hurt about the face; Charles A. Pearce of New Orleans, scalded; Pilot Rollings, badly scalded on the hands; Captain T. W. Sweeney, slightly hurt by flying timbers. Mrs. F. W. Robertson, slightly hurt. None of the wounded are expected to die.

About 20 of the crew and about 15 passengers were saved.

The Corona was on her first trip of the season and had but recently come out of the drydock, where she received repairs amounting to nearly $12,000. She was built at Wheeling, W. Va., several years ago, and had a carrying capacity of 2700 bales of cotton. She was valued at $20,000.

Mrs. Robertson says when the Corona arrived opposite False River landing about sixteen miles below Bay of Sara one of the boilers exploded tearing the boat to pieces, when it sank in deep water in a few seconds. Mrs. Robertson was wedged in the ladies' cabin with some debris lying across her lower limbs but was suddenly released and found herself floating in the water. She sank twice but was picked up and escaped with only a few painful bruises on her limbs.

L. F. Mason, Secretary of State, stated that he was in the cabin of the Corona talking to Mrs. Robertson, at about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when the explosion occurred. He escaped with life preservers and assisted in saving Mrs. Robertson and another lady.

There was very little time for preparation for escape, as the boat went down like lead in a few seconds after the explosion. No one seems to be able to give any explanation as to the cause of the disaster.

THE GRAND RAPIDS MYSTERY.

Indications That it was Mrs. Rickard who Killed Her Husband.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 4.—The Rickard tragedy is still the theme of comment in this city and no satisfactory clew to a possible motive has yet been found. The idea that Rickard shot his wife and then killed himself does not seem on close investigation to be a sure thing, as there is not a sign of powder stains on his head as must most likely have been the case had he done the shooting. On the other hand his wife when found told the coroner and several members of the family, "Arthur shot me." She also told the coroner she was in bed when the shooting was done. There are powder stains on her neck about the wound. She is still living but growing weaker. Surroundings and circumstances are such as quite effectually shut out the theory of the murder having been done by a third person. A few incline to believe that the arrival of some friends from her former home may have made the young wife fearful of something the visitors might have known about her past career of a nature that made death desirable. In the room was found a letter to some friends telling how very happy they were. This was written by Mrs. Rickard Sunday. There was also a small iron box in the room which the coroner has in his possession and which is still unopened. It is thought there may be some papers or letters in the box which will throw light on the mystery. Among other things said about the Richards is the story that Mrs Richard was very homesick and she may have been driven to desperation by hearing visitors from Ravenna, her old home, talk of old scenes and friends. One of the things which adds to the belief that she did the shooting is the fact that she was left-handed and as Rickard lay on his left side she could easily have shot into the right side of his head and then fired into her own neck.

A Church Treasurer's Crime.

MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 4.—C. S. Pratt, confidential bookkeeper, secretary and cashier of the H. Wales Lines Company, was arrested last night for embezzling $10,000. Pratt was an officer in several local organizations, treasurer of a church and an alderman. Pratt confessed his guilt to his employers, saying, "It is the same old story of living beyond one's means. I am a thief."

THE POISON FIEND AGAIN

A REPETITION OF THE GALTI TRAGEDY AT ST. JOHN, N. B.

Boxes of Candy Impregnated With Strychnine Sent by Mail to Three Clergymen—The Wife of One Eats and Dies.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 4.—Last night the citizens were horrified to hear it whispered about that Mrs. McRae, wife of Rev. Dr. McRae, had met her death by being poisoned. The authorities and physicians are endeavoring to keep the matter quiet on the ground that the ends of justice might be thwarted by the disclosure of all the facts, but all the main points are known.

A box of choice confectionery was received by mail on Tuesday addressed to Rev. Donald McRae, City." She opened it and ate. On examination of the candy afterwards it was proved beyond a doubt that the confectionery contained strychnine and a post mortem examination showed this was the cause of her death.

Last evening it was discovered that packages similar were received by Rev. J. Sayer, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and Rev. J. T. Dienstadt, pastor of Exmouth-street Methodist Church, but both escaped the terrible consequences of eating it.

The candy in each of these boxes contained poison enough to kill an entire family.

It was late last night when these facts leaked out sufficiently to be relied upon but the news soon spread through the city and has created great excitement. Coroner Berryman empanelled a jury. After viewing the body the enquiry was adjourned until Monday. Rev. Mr. McRae arrived here yesterday but the cause of his wife's death has not yet been communicated to him.

AN AWFUL ORDEAL.

A Girl Who Would Not Perjure Herself for Her Honor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Miss Minnie Gitto, a pretty brunette 18 years old, a daughter of Joseph Gitto, a well-to-do tailor of Oyster Bay, got a warrant from Justice Chipp, of that place, last Saturday, for the arrest of Thomas S. Cheshire. Cheshire has a business in Brooklyn, and is said to have considerable money of his own. Miss Gitto is a member of Christ's Episcopal church and of the Sunday school. Cheshire sang in the choir. About the middle of last week Miss Gitto confessed to her parents that she was in trouble. Mr. Gitto saw Cheshire next day. He tried to prevail upon the latter to save his daughter's honor by marrying her. Cheshire positively refused to do so. Mr. Gitto, however, made him promise to call at his house that evening on his return from Brooklyn.

Upon entering Mr. Gitto's house that evening Cheshire found a small party assembled in the parlor. Among them were the Rev. Mr. Washburn, of Christ's church; Dr. Erye, Justice Chipp, several members of the choir, and prominent members of the church. They all took turns entreating Cheshire to save Miss Gitto's reputation by marrying her. The Rev. Mr. Washburn and Justice Chipp were each ready to officiate. With tears and prayers Miss Gitto besought him not to abandon her in her trouble. There were few dry eyes in the room. Cheshire was visibly affected, but he still refused.

Finally, it is said, he arose from his seat, and taking Miss Gitto by the hand, led her to the centre of the room, where a large family Bible lay on a table. Placing her hand on the Bible he asked her to swear that she had never been intimate with any one else except himself. It is said that Miss Gitto hesitated and then refused to swear. The next instant she swooned away in her mother's arms. Several of the ladies in the room are said to have fainted also. Cheshire left the house during the excitement.

He was arrested on Saturday morning, immediately after the warrant was issued. At the trial before Justice Chipp Miss Gitto had the sympathy of the crowded courtroom. She sat in one corner, dressed in black, and heavily veiled. When she raised her veil it was seen that her eyes were red with weeping. She broke down several times while giving her testimony. The most trying ordeal was when the defence accused her of being intimate with other members of the choir. Miss Gitto acknowledged that the accusations were true.

Justice Chipp decided that Cheshire must pay the costs of court and give bonds to support the child.

The scandal has had the effect of almost breaking up the choir of Christ's Church. Not half the members of the choir appeared on Sunday. A majority of them say that unless the members whose names are connected with the scandal resign they will not remain.

DONALD MORRISON'S TRIAL.

The Taking of Evidence Begun Yesterday—A Sensational Discovery.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 4.—The twice postponed trial of Donald Morrison, the Megantic outlaw, for the murder of Lucius Warren in June, 1888, while Warren was trying to arrest Morrison on a warrant alleging arson and criminal assault upon the property and person of one Alfonse Duquette, who had bought the farm from which Morrison had been evicted for nonpayment of mortgage, began yesterday morning in the Criminal Court for St. Francis district and promises to last several days. The case is a most complicated one and attracts considerable attention from the fact that Morrison defied the whole province for nearly a year and was only captured by a chance shot from the revolver of a Montreal policeman who had been sent to arrest him. A brilliant array of counsel is engaged in the case, comprising J. C. Belanger of this city, Charles Fitzpatrick of Quebec and O. Desmartis of St. Hyacinthe for the Crown, and J. T. Greenshields of Montreal, F. X. Lemieux, M.P.P., of Quebec, and John Leonard of this city for the defense.

There was considerable difficulty in getting a jury and the whole panel was exhausted before the dozen necessary were obtained. The case for the Crown was opened by Mr. Belanger, who ridiculed the sensational stories about the case published by the papers and told the jury to disabuse their minds of any prejudice they might have entertained. After the coroner and medical examiner had given technical evidence about the inquest and autopsy, George W. Mayo described the shooting as he saw it and Magistrate Morin, who issued the warrant on the arson case, detailed the circumstances surrounding its issue. Donald Graham of Megantic, the principal witness for the crown, they gave a lucid statement of the murder, which was very damaging to the prisoner. Upon cross-examination however he contradicted his former evidence and got considerably rattled and this somewhat lessened the force of his testimony.

A peculiar incident occurred during the afternoon session. The Crown counsel made a motion that Warren's revolver which was picked up at his side and was produced in court be taken out and unloaded. Both the defence and the court heartily agreed to this and it was taken out. Hardly was it out when it was back again, the High Constable remarking that all the chambers were empty. A few moments before one of the witnesses had sworn that when picked up the revolver was loaded and when the motion to remove it was made counsel for the Crown stated most distinctly that the revolver was in the same condition as when found.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

Mysterious Death of an Unknown Man in a Dundas Hotel.

DUNDAS, Oct. 4.—James Bloom is the name under which a stranger registered at the Red Lion Hotel, here, on Tuesday afternoon. Yesterday morning he was found dead in his bed. When he came to the hotel he said he would be stopping there a day. After asking what the terms of the hotel were, he paid for a day's board. At the time he mentioned to the hotelkeeper that he had been drinking a little.

At dinner on Tuesday he ate heartily and afterwards went up to his room, where he stayed all the time, and did not afterwards come downstairs at all. On Wednesday afternoon he was heard groaning, and some women in the house looked into his room, but as he was lying on the bed apparently asleep, nothing was thought of this. Last Wednesday night the same sounds were heard from his room. Yesterday morning the room was entered and the stranger was found lying on the bed in the same position as he was in on Wednesday afternoon. The body was quite cold showing that he must have been dead for a few hours.

The stranger had no luggage with him. He wore a soft woolen cap and a dark suit. He did not seem to have been a common laboring man, but from his appearance he would be thought a respectable mechanic. On the shirt he had on when found dead was the name "William Jamieson." All his underclothing and his socks were quite clean and seem to have been worn but a short time.

The man is described as follows: Seventy years of age; height, 5 ft. 8 in; well dressed full gray beard and gray hair; dark tweed coat and vest, dark check trousers and white shirt.

Coroner Woolverton was at once notified and went out to Dundas. From the examination he was able to make he could not say what the cause of death was. He therefore decided to hold an inquest next Tuesday morning, and in the meantime ordered a post mortem examination to be made. There were no papers found on the man at all. The pockets were almost empty, nothing being found on the stranger but a pair of spectacles, a pocket-knife and the $4 given him by the hotel keeper as change when the man paid his day's board with a $5 bill.

The fall meeting at Latonia opened Saturday with these winners: Leontine, Dahlia, Birthday, Wary, W. G. Morris.

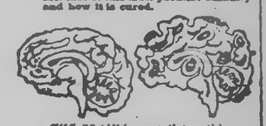
THAT TERRIBLE PARESIS.

Are the Canadian People Becoming a Nation of Lunatics?—The frightful increase of this most peculiar insanity and how it is cured.



THE BRAIN (from a photograph)
In Healthy Condition. With Paresis Lesions.

There are many well known men confined in our Asylums who but a short time ago were prominent among our business and social circles.

Why are they there?

Paresis!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. He realized that paresis (consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring upon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renew the brain and build up nerve tissues as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a narcotic. It contains no drugs, no nostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer guarantees this, and the indorsement of the medical and chemical Professions prove it.

In spite of unfavorable weather the annual exhibition of the Otonabee Agricultural Society was more than usually successful. Good Points in a Woman.

A clear bright eye
That can pierce the sky,
A rounded cheek
Where the roses speak,
A chest so grand
That the lungs expand;
A steady brain
That can bear the strain.
A manner bright
And a spirit light.

Who does not wish for these, or having them wish to keep them, yet when weakness, irregularities, sick headache, nervousness, and inflammations, attack her, restoration can be accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine, designed for woman's use, and placed with all druggists for their relief. Sold under the manufacturers' positive guarantee of satisfaction, or money refunded. c

A Good Regulator.

DISORDERED kidneys give rise to rheumatism, dropsy, pain in the back and loins, etc., besides many dangerous complaints affecting the kidneys themselves, as Bright's disease, uræmia, etc Regulate the kidneys with Burdock Blood Bitters, the best diuretic and kidney remedy ever devised 2w37d Thoroughly Tired.

HAVING given Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a thorough trial, I do not hesitate to say that I believe it is the best remedy in existence for all summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, colic, etc. MRS. R. S. WAITE, Springfield, Ont. 2w37d

It Don't Matter.

HOWEVER old, obstinate or chronic your case may be Burdock Blood Bitters has cured so many seemingly incurable cases that it is well worth a trial in yours. Cases of dyspepsia, scorfula, liver complaint, etc., of twenty five years' standing have been cured by B. B. B. 2w37d is sometimes called the sincere form of flattery. This may account for the number of imitations of the original and only positive corn cure—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. All such fail to possess equal merit, so when purchasing get the genuine "Putnam's." Safe, sure and painless. All druggists. 6w40d

Imitation

Rely on This.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for three years, and can always rely upon it as a speedy cure for diarrhœa and all summer complaints. I can recommend it highly and I wish you every success.—MRS. W. FOWLER. 12 Oxford St. Toronto. 2w37d

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w37d

Constant Care.

CONSTANT care is necessary against unexpected attacks of summer complaints. No remedy is so well known or so successful in this class of diseases as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Keep it in the house as a safeguard. 2w37d

SKINS ON FIRE.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $6. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

ISAAC H. GERKMAN, Wyrtsburo, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.

J. C. K. USMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.

MARY KELLERMANN, Beloit, Kan

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age; but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might, to-day, have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

The Loss of the Hair

Is a great misfortune and the sight of a bald head should be a warning to you to take the best possible care of your hair. A little of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" used occasionally will prevent all chances of its falling out or turning gray, and will remove all traces of dandruff. Every druggist has it in stock. Ask for it. dw

COLD, wet weather is very hard on sufferers from Neuralgic troubles, and to those Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is strongly recommended. It is palatable, easily assimilated, and can be safely taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d70

A SINGLE SCRATCH may cause a festering sore. Victoria Carbonic Salve rapidly heals cuts, wounds, bruises, burns and all sores. dw

ALL AGES AND CONDITIONS of people may use National Pills without injury and with great benefit. dw

AYER'S PILLS.

Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. —G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Tattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. —Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

Electric Street Cars.
The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be an immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the anxious public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or [illegible] the lowest prices go to Hawley Bros' Tea Store, 343 George street.

A Serious Break.
Yesterday afternoon Thos. Holmes, who drives a team for Mr. J. M. Irwin, was delivering a load of lumber at the Central Iron and Bridge Works. In turning the wagon wheel caught in a pile of iron bars and pulled some of them down, one of the bars falling on Mr. Holmes' leg and breaking it at the ankle. The fracture occurred in a bad place, and will take some time to heal. The unfortunate man was taken to the hospital, where Doctors King and Boucher attended him.

Leaving Town.
The firm of Rush & Dixon, insurance agents, has been dissolved, Mr. Rush continuing the business and Mr. Dixon leaving for Toronto, where he will engage in the insurance business with Mr. Ewart. Will's many friends in town will regret his departure, as he has been one of Peterborough's most popular and enterprising young citizens, his social as well as business attainments winning him golden opinions among the people with whom he has lived nearly all his life. They will, however, wish him that success in the Queen City which his industry and ability deserves. Mr. Dixon leaves for Toronto next Thursday.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.
The Ladies' Auxiliary met yesterday afternoon. Owing to the inclemency of the weather there was not a large attendance. After transacting some important business the meeting adjourned to meet Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. The ladies desire to thank all who so generously contributed in any way to make the promenade concert such a success. At the reception to be given by the Association to the young men of the town on Thursday evening next, the Ladies' Auxiliary will provide refreshments, and will also assist in procuring subscribers to our Star Lecture Course. We cannot thank the ladies too much for their great help in our work.

The Late Confirmation at St. John's.
Our readers will remember the large class of candidates presented to the Bishop of the Diocese for confirmation last June. The summer months with their holidaying and outings involving the absence of many from town prevented any steps being at once taken to cultivate the spiritual life of the new communicants. It was announced last Sunday, however, that this week meetings would be held for this purpose. The men, women, and girls are notified to meet in the school house to-night, and the boys and lads in Mr. Kenrick's rooms. Both meetings to begin at 8 o'clock.

Lectures to the Young.
The last number of the Methodist Life Boat gives the programme of a course of Sabbath evening addresses to young men, which are to be delivered by Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of the George street church. The first of the series, which was given last Sunday evening, was on "Protestantism" and was listened to by a very large audience which manifested the deepest interest. Subjoined is the programme:—

Oct. 6, 7 p.m.—Why am I not an Infidel.
Oct. 13, 7 p.m.—Why am I not an Agnostic.
Oct. 20, 7 p.m.—Why am I not a Knownothingarian.
Oct. 27, 7 p.m.—Why am I a Methodist.

Another Type Gone.
With reference to the death of Mr. Robt. Howard, of Hastings, the Ottawa Free Press says:—Tuesday morning a telegram was received by Mr. Chester Howard, of the parliamentary printing office, from his parents in Hastings conveying the sad intelligence that his brother Robert was dangerously ill with typhoid fever. He at once left for home, but before his arrival his sick brother had breathed his last, having died at three o'clock the same day. The deceased came to Ottawa two years ago and worked at the "case" for the government until two weeks ago, when he first became ill. He was ordered by his medical attendant to return to his home at Hastings that he might receive the kind treatment of a loving mother, which he did, but despite all the family's efforts and the best medical skill he succumbed to the malady. "Bob," as he was more familiarly known among his fellow typos, was well and favorably known in the Capital, and was a general favorite with all with whom he came in contact. He was an active member of the Ottawa Field Battery, and his presence will be greatly missed from the ranks of the corps. The news of his death has cast a gloom over his friends at the Albion hotel, his late boarding house, all of whom extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents. He was a son of Mr. J. Howard, of the Hasting Star, and at the time of his death was 27 years of age. Ald. Farrell, president of the Typographical union, Wednesday morning telegraphed a message of condolence from the body, of which deceased was a long standing member. Messrs. A. Porter and W. E. Ditchburn, two of deceased's fellow boarders, attended his funeral, which took place from his father's residence Thursday afternoon.

The Church Congress.

Continuation of the Congregational Meeting in the George Street Church

The congregation was not quite so large last night as the evening before. Devotional exercises were held from 7.30 to eight o'clock, conducted by Rev. M. L. Pearson, chairman.

The first subject, "The class meeting," was introduced by Mr. Frank Mason. He said that important as were the questions of the previous evening, that of the class meeting was still more important. He felt confident if the class meetings of the church were well attended, that the funds required would be forthcoming, and that the interest required to be taken in young people would be felt, and that there would be the development of the social life of the church equal to the highest expectations. He accounted for the fact that as much good was not done in the Methodist church of this country as might be, on the ground that the class meetings were not well attended as they should be. He strongly urged the people to be more faithful to this important means of grace.

Mrs. Wilson read an excellent paper upon the same subject. She proved the Scriptural character of the class meeting, and showed how important a place it had occupied in the history of the church. She emphasized the fact that on the character of the leader of the class very much depended. He required to be a man of high Christian character and of good attainments in other respects. Regularity in attendance was insisted upon and the necessity of all the members of the class doing their utmost to assist their leader. The paper was an admirable one, and would require to be printed in full to be properly appreciated.

HOLINESS.

The next subject, "Holiness," was introduced by Mr. William Might, who spoke of it as the most important question that had come before the convention. Methodism was raised up to spread scriptural holiness. It was a doctrine of the Bible enforced by precept and by the example of both Old and New Testament teaching. All christian people were earnestly exhorted to seek after it, and to seek for and expect it as essential to the maintenance of one's christian life. It is distinct from justification, and is attainable in this life. The speaker combatted the ideas of those who thought persons could not be holy until the hour of death, and adduced passages of scripture to show that it is intended to be the experience of a christian life.

On this subject, as well as the previous one, there was some discussion, Messrs. Powell, Fitzgerald, Might, Cumming and others taking part.

The next question, "which is the best method to secure a revival?" was not taken up, but was postponed until next Wednesday evening, when the Congress will be continued. The subject will be introduced by Messrs. Cumming and Veitmed.

MISSIONARY WORK.

Rev. J. X. Moras, Methodist missionary from Cox Hill, who was in the audience, at the request of the chairman gave an account of his missionary work in that northern clime. His address was a most interesting one. At the close the pastor appealed to the congregation for financial assistance, and a considerable amount was handed Mr. Moras. Another collection is to be taken up at the meeting next Wednesday night, which will give an opportunity for those who wish to assist in the work to contribute something.

The meeting was brought to a close with

Prof. Goldwin Smith.

Lectures to a Large Audience Thursday Evening—An Address Well Worth Listening to.

A large audience assembled in the rooms of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows last night for the purpose of listening to a lecture by Prof. Goldwin Smith, whose fame as a political writer and speaker was no doubt a greater attraction than the subject he was announced to discuss, "The sources and conditions of British Greatness." Prof. Smith appeared under the auspices of the Literary and Musical Association, to whom he gave his services gratuitously and cheerfully for the purpose of aiding the Association in its laudable efforts to encourage literary and musical tastes among its members. The lecture was made a public one, no admission being charged. Prof. Smith's address was listened to with marked attention, and at the close he was greeted with a round of applause.

Hon. R. Hamilton, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and in a few words introduced the lecturer, who first pointed out the sources of England's greatness. Chief among these were her maritime prowess and her security from invasion, a fact which contributed to her political development as it did away with the necessity for large standing armies such as other European nations are compelled to maintain, and which are a constant menace to the peace of the world. Then England had gained a mental as well as a political and military independence, and was able to hold a balance of power, which enabled her to preserve peace in Europe. England owed no small part of her commercial greatness also to her insular position, as in times of war the manufacturing classes of Europe fled to her hospitable shores and introduced their industries. The speaker pointed out that the climate of England was well balanced, the tendency to home and public life through climatic effect being about equalized. The political condition was also well balanced, the commercial or democratic element being fairly offset by the agricultural or conservative element. The Professor next pointed out the fact that though the British nation was composed of of two races, the Celts and Anglo Saxons, yet the latter had predominated and left their impress upon England. The Teuton with his

and local institutions had an important influence upon English history, and in fact the history of the world. He next discussed the relations of the three countries composing the British Isles—England, Scotland and Ireland—and dwelt upon England's immense wealth and population and the great colonizing schemes which made her the greatest empire in the world. He pointed to India as one example of England's civilizing influence, and dwelt at some length upon the position of affairs there. Regarding the fear of a Russian invasion, he said he could see no reason why when the two countries have reached the natural limit of growth they should not rest peaceably side by side. England had been led on to conquer portion after portion of India by reason of the turbulency of the native princes, and Russia was in the same position. When the limit was reached the two great empires should rest at peace. There was at present no danger of internal strife in India, but the speaker saw an element of danger in the spread of democratic ideas among the Hindoos. If the Home Rule movement was carried into India there might be serious trouble. Recurring to his subject, Prof. Smith said that while England owed something to her colonies, her main strength was in herself, as had been proven time and again. The question was naturally asked, he said, can all these colonies and the mother country be more closely united. He referred to the

and said he saw nothing in historical precedent to encourage it, while the well known tendency of the Teutonic race to independence and freedom were also against it. He did not ask for details of the federation scheme, but he demanded some general information on a couple of points, as to whether it would be practicable. First, who are the parties to this federation, and was India to be included? If so, India would predominate over the rest of the nation as she had the largest population, and we would be under Hindoo rule. If not, to whom would India belong? England could not be a part of the confederation and own India, any more than New York State could remain in the Union and have as an empire of its own the whole of South America. Then again, what were the objects of Imperial Federation? If it was a common army and a common tariff, these would not be tolerated. If representation by population was to be the basis of federation, then even leaving out India the English representatives would still have an overwhelming force over all the other colonies. Imperial Federation he believed to be nothing more than a generous dream. Without it the British nationality would still live in its English language and its civilizing influences.

VOTES OF THANKS.

Col. H. C. Rogers, on behalf of the Literary and Musical Association, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening, hoping he would again visit Peterborough.

Mr. R. M Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. J. H. Burnham, Secretary of the Association, moved a vote of thanks to the officers of Otonabee lodge for their rooms on this occasion.

The audience then dispersed.

Progress of Inventions Since 1845.

In the year 1845 the present owners of the Scientific American newspaper commenced its publication, and soon after established a bureau for the procuring of patents for inventions at home and in foreign countries. During the year 1845 there were only 502 patents issued from the U. S. Patent Office, and the total issue from the establishment of the Patent office, up to the end of that year, numbered only 4,347.

Up to the first of July this year there have been granted 406,613. Showing that since the commencement of the publication of the Scientific American there have been issued from the U. S. Patent Office 402,186 patents, and about one third more applications have been made than have been granted, showing the ingenuity of our people to be phenomenal, and much greater than even the enormous number of patents issued indicates. Probably a good many of our readers have had business transacted through the offices of the Scientific American, in New York or Washington, and are familiar with Munn & Co's mode of doing business, but those who have not will be interested in knowing something about this, the oldest patent soliciting firm in this country, probably in the world.

Persons visiting the offices of the Scientific American, 361 Broadway, N.Y., for the first time, will be surprised, on entering the main office, to find such an extensive and elegantly equipped establishment, with its walnut counters, desks, and chairs to correspond, and its enormous sales, and such a large number of draughtsmen, specification writers, and clerks, all busy as bees, reminding one of a large banking or insurance office, with its hundred employees.

In conversation with one of the firm, who had commenced the business of soliciting patents in connection with the publication of the Scientific American, more than forty years ago, I learned that his firm had made application for patents for upward of one hundred thousand inventions in the United States, and several thousands in different foreign countries, and had filed as many cases in the Patent Office in a single month as there were patents issued during the entire first year of their business career. This gentleman had seen the Patent Office grow from a sapling to a sturdy oak, he modestly hinted that many thought the Scientific American, with its large circulation, had performed no mean share in stimulating inventions and advancing the interest of the Patent office. But it is not alone the patent soliciting that occupies the attention of the one hundred persons employed in Munn & Co., but a large number are engaged on the four publications issued weekly and monthly from their office, 361 Broadway N. Y., viz.: The Scientific American, the Scientific American Supplement, the Export Edition of the Scientific American, and the Architects and Builders Edition of the Scientific American. The first two publications are issued every week, and the latter two, the first of every month.

Eloped With His Jailer's Wife.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., Oct. 4.—A sensation was created here yesterday by the discovery that Mrs. J. P. Sand, wife of the deputy sheriff, had taken her husband's revolver, keys and $50, and after liberating John Mitchell, sentenced for highway robbery to the State reformatory, eloped with him. She was seen to board the midnight train north and it is supposed Mitchell took the same train from the side opposite. The sheriff and deputy sheriff are in hot pursuit but will probably not get Mitchell as he is well acquainted with the Cass County woods. Mitchell is 20 and the woman 40. She leaves three children, the oldest about 20.

Bank Wrecker Faulkner's Sentence.

BUFFALO, Oct. 4.—General Lester B. Faulkner, a brave soldier in the war of the rebellion, a business man of a quarter of a century's unblemished reputation, a politician who has been at the head of the state organization of the Democratic party for several terms, was yesterday sentenced to seven years in the Erie County Penitentiary for signing false reports to the Comptroller of the Currency in regard to the condition of the Dansville (N.Y.) bank, of which he was a director and his brother cashier, and which had been founded by his father.

Extraordinary Newspaper Enterprise.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 4.—Much interest is taken here in the American International Congress. Several papers held open to publish Mr. Blaine's speech, which is extraordinary as some morning papers here go to press at noon the preceding day and all before 8 o'clock at night. President Diaz said the speech was admirable. Members of the Cabinet also applauded the speech.

Lightning's Freaks.

SUNDRIDGE, Oct. 4.—During a thunder storm here yesterday lightning struck a lumber pile on the side of the switch in Brennan's lumber yard, passing down the rail and killing two cows near by, knocked a horse down and stunned four men who were at work. The men and horse were not otherwise injured. J. Holmes, blacksmith, was working at a piece of steel and also received a shock, but fortunately recovered from it in a few minutes.

A Pilot's Mistake.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—The Canopus stranded 30 miles below Quebec is supposed to have a huge boulder through her bottom. Surveyors have ordered the cargo to be discharged which is now being done. The pilot who was in charge at the time of the accident mistook Belle Chasse light for Madame Island gas buoy and hence the accident.

THE TRIAL OF BRENNAN V BRENNAN AT TORONTO.

Announcements from the Ontario Gazette—The Poison Fiend Again Unfriendly Senate Elections

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—That remarkable case of Brennan v. Brennan was in progress yesterday in Mr. Justice Falconbridge's court. The courtroom was crowded almost to suffocation with a miscellaneous audience, the majority of whom were young men of the town. No case that was ever tried in Toronto has such remarkable surroundings. Here is a fine-looking young woman, Mrs. Brennan (nee Miss Libbie Chaffey of Alliston), bringing a suit against her husband, Joseph Brennan a young man of 34, his father Michael and his mother for $50,000 for conspiracy in trapping Miss Chaffey into a matrimonial alliance with young Brennan by representing him to be a moral and marriageable gentleman, with an interest in the prosperous Hamilton firm of M. Brennan & Sons, while the truth is, as alleged by plaintiff, he was beset with so many vices that he was unfit for the connubial company of such a refined young woman as Miss Chaffey. Besides he does not own a shingle or a nail in the big lumber, sash and door factory of the Brennans, nor has he an income of $3000 per annum, as he represented to the young lady before he married her. These are the details in brief of this remarkable suit, which is now daily crowding the Civil Assize Court.

To-day's Ontario Gazette announces these appointments: Findlay McEwan, Carleton Place, associate coroner for Lanark; Duncan McEdwards, Thedford, an associate coroner for Lambton; Levi S. Lewis, Newboro, clerk Eighth Division Court of Leeds and Grenville.

These companies have been incorporated: The Toronto Fur Co., limited, capital $150,000, in $50 shares. The Hamilton Bicycle Track and Athletic Co., limited, capital $6000, in $100 shares. The Missionary Echo Publishing Co., limited, capital $3000, in $5 shares. The capital of the Toronto Real Estate Investment Co. has been increased from $400,000 to $2,000,000.

In connection with the story of the poisoning by candies of the wife of a prominent New Brunswick clergyman, Police Inspector Archibald relates that a few weeks ago he received from a minister in Western Ontario a package of candies which were sent to the latter's wife. The following note addressed to the clergyman accompanied them: "Dear Mr.—, I hope you will not confiscate these candies, unless your wife gets the full benefit of them. With kind regards." The Inspector will now have them analysed.

Louis Deas, the man who shot Michael Birtle, who was attempting to force his way into Deas' house on Elizabeth street, was again remanded as Birtle is still very ill in the hospital. The prisoner was admitted to bail in two sureties of $500 each.

Henry Parry, charged with aiding in procuring an abortion upon Mrs. Elliott, was also remanded, as the woman is still very sick. Bail was refused.

Joshua Hofner and Robert J. Graham, boys of 14, were among the drunks at the Police Court yesterday morning and were each fined $2 and costs or 3 days.

The count of the ballot for the elections of members to the University Senate to represent the graduates in arts was concluded yesterday afternoon. The following are the names of those elected: Allan B. Aylesworth, M. A., Alfred Baker, M. A., Wm. H. Ellis, M. A., M. B., Mr. Justice Falconbridge, M. A., John Galbraith, M. A., C. E., Wm. Houston, M. A., James Loudon, M. A., Wm. F. Maclean, B. A., and Archibald MacMurchy, M. A., of Toronto; J. H. Coyne, B. A., St. Thomas; Hon. J. M. Gibson, M. A., L.L.B., Hamilton; and John King, M. A., Berlin.

The four representatives of the graduates in medicine elected were I. H. Cameron, Adam Wright, L. McFarlane and W. H. B. Aikins, and the High School masters' representatives L. B. Embree and H. B. Spotton.

It is understood that Mr. Gouin retired for personal reasons and at the request of Premier Mercier. The Liberals still claim that they will place a candidate in the field and the name of Mr. L. A. W. Proulx is again mentioned. On the other hand some claim that Mr. Massue will be allowed to go in by acclamation.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

CONCLUSION OF THE WALLACE INQUEST AT MERLIN.

Arsenic Found in the Dead Man's Viscera—The Jury Return a Verdict Against Mrs. Wallace—The Accused Arrested.

MERLIN, Oct. 5.—The inquest in the case of the late James Wallace of the Township of Tilbury East, who died on Sept. 9, was resumed here yesterday. The facts of the case briefly stated are: The deceased and his wife have not for some time past lived on very good terms and Wallace died under such circumstances that it was deemed necessary to hold an inquest. Accordingly Coroner Bray was notified and empannelled a jury which after viewing the body adjourned. In the meantime Dr. Bell of Merlin and Dr. Flemming of Chatham held an autopsy and sent the stomach to Toronto to be analyzed. The coroner ordered that the body be exhumed and other portions of the internal organs forwarded to be analyzed. The evidence produced yesterday showed that arsenic had been found in considerable quantities in the viscera and from this fact and evidence adduced the jury brought in this verdict: "That James Wallace came to his death by arsenical poisoning administered to him by or at the assistance of his wife, Alice Wallace, and we therefore find Alice Wallace guilty of wilful murder." At the close of the inquest Mrs. Wallace was arrested and taken to jail.

There Will Be a Row Sure

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—The Journal says a Clan-na-Gael convention of about 50 delegates from District 16, comprising the States of Illinois and Michigan, will be held here Sunday. The convention will be presided over by Edward Spellman of Peoria, the district officer. It is the first convention of the kind in the history of the order. It has grown out of the amalgamation of the Cronin and anti-Cronin camps and is called for the published purpose of the good of the order. A resolution will be introduced denouncing the murder of Dr. Cronin and calling for the punishment of those implicated. On this a hard fight will be made by the anti-Cronin faction and it is expected the chairman will rule against the admission of the resolution on the ground that it is foreign to the business on hand. The Cronin men will have a majority of the delegates and it is understood that in the event of an adverse ruling by Chairman Spellman the question will be put before the meeting by some strong-voiced delegate and its passage declared.

Busy Burglars at Parkhill.

PARKHILL, Oct. 5.—Between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Hollands of the Central Hotel was awakened by the raising of the window in the hall down stairs. Securing his revolver Hollands asked the intruder what was wanted. Receiving no reply excepting from his revolver Hollands exchanged a couple of shots with the burglar, who was masked. One of the bullets took effect on the marauder's person as is evidenced by blood stains all along the sill and sidewalk. This is the second attempt this week, Mr. Griffith having had $100 worth of woolen goods stolen from his warerooms.

Wright Wronged.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—G. H. Wright, a clerk in the employ of Brooks & Co., furniture dealers, took $500 to the Bank of the Republic yesterday to deposit. He had the funds in a wallet and this he laid on the railing keeping his hand upon it while he waited for the teller to take it. Two men approached him a few moments after he entered and one asked where the postoffice was. Wright informed him raising his hand from the wallet and pointing in the proper direction, at the same time turning away from the rail slightly. The second man picked up the wallet and vanished. The first one kept Wright in conversation for a few minutes and then also withdrew. There is no clue to either of them.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

ITALY'S EXTRAORDINARY MILITARY PREPARATIONS.

Eighty Thousand Young Men Drafted into the Standing Army Every Year—Fatal Railway Collision in England.

ROME, Oct. 5.—The articles published by the semi-official German press as to German armaments have much preoccupied the whole of Europe, and the conclusion to be arrived at is to be easily foreseen. These semi official newspapers hint at the advantages which the French army will derive from the new military law. They say that the German army and those of the allied powers must conserve to themselves the same proportion of advantage by re-enforcing the armament on the same scale. Therefore new expenditure, new taxes, new armaments. Bismarck wasn't wrong when he said that if war should break out it would be a war of extermination, such as was never yet seen; and that, for this reason, it was necessary to maintain peace at any cost. Do you remember what Bulwer wrote in his novel, "The Coming Race?" "They abolished war because they could kill each other too easily."

The French newspapers during the last few days have printed, and continue to print, much on the subject of extraordinary military preparations on the part of Italy. All this is, however, exaggerated and inexact. Military preparations have been made and continue to be made in this sense, that new arms and new fortifications are in course of construction and that measures are being taken to improve the railroad communication in order to render it more effective for the mobilization of troops. But in all this there is nothing new. It is simply the practical execution of the extraordinary means granted from the end of the past year.

Here in Italy—more so, perhaps, than elsewhere—the army is on a larger scale than the national strength, economically and numerically speaking, permits. Italy now numbers 30,000,000 of inhabitants, her economic resources are not so scanty as some say and believe; nor can it be denied that Italy, during the last few years, has made great progress; but still the army represents a heavy weight.

The Italian budget is, in round figures $1,500,000,000; the army counts as $285,000,000 to $290,000,000—about a fifth of the whole. This does not include naval expenses. Still the army continues to be the most popular institution in Italy. The reason of this is that, besides constituting the means of defense, it symbolizes and is the strongest guarantee of the national unity. The Italian army is extremely well disciplined, perhaps the best disciplined in Europe. The illiterates receive there a sufficient education, so that it also forms a good national school. There are no traditions of political partisanship. It lives and thrives entirely outside of party life.

In all public calamities, such as fires, and inundations, the army is an army of charitable workers. During the years in which the cholera visited Italy, the soldiers, taking example from King Humbert, were converted into so many sick watches. All this put together has secured for the army the sympathy of the entire nation. That which forms the argument of grave discussion here in Italy, as elsewhere, is whether the officers, especially the superior ones, are as cultured as it is necessary for them to be. It is not a question of schools, for the academy at Torino possesses excellent elements. The question is rather one of brains—whether the right kind of men are entering the army.

The nucleus of the Italian army was formed by that of Piedmont, reinforced by the little armies of the duchies annexed in 1861, by the southern army organized by Garibaldi for the expedition of the two Sicilies, and by the remains of the dispersed Neapolitan army.

Universal liability to arms forms the basis of the military organization of Italy. Of about 200,000 young men levied annually 80,000 are drafted into the standing army. There are twelve army corps. The Italian army is divided into: Standing army, mobilized militia or first reserve, and territorial militia or second reserve.

In conclusion, should Italy assume an offensive position, she can without neglect of the necessary defence of territory dispose of from 600,000 to 800,000 men. This force, it must be conceded, is a not invaluable contingent to the triple alliance.

It is true that there are two obstacles against immediate action on the part of Italy: the not having her army completely organized on the territorial system, and the insufficient railroad communication from Lombardy down toward the south. This would necessarily cause a delay in mobilizing at least of some days, compared with the facility of the same operation in Austria and Germany. There is, besides, the fleet, which, compared with others, may be considered superior for the power of some of its vessels.

To Boom the World's Fair

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The North German Gazette regards the pan-American Congress as a means for attracting the attention of the whole western hemisphere to the imposing preponderance of the industrial enterprises and commerce of the United States with a view to the proposed international exhibition of 1892.

AMBITIOUS CITY NOTES.

Liquor Dealers Contribute Over $1000 to the Treasury.

HAMILTON, Oct. 5.—The twenty-five liquor dealers who were found guilty of violation of the law were all before the magistrate yesterday and the sum from fines imposed on them amounted to $980 together with $50 costs. John Hunter, James E. Doyle, Dennis McBride, Mrs. Honore Callen, Daniel Sullivan, Henry Taylor, Archie Macdonald, Wm. Dillon, Sam Taylor, James Dillon, Andrew Lay, Harry Bawden, Charles Egener, Buckley Whitehead, Thos. Bird and Smith & Findlay were fined $50 each or three months in jail. George Kramer, Andrew Ruthven, Wm. Moriarty, John Staunton, John Taylor, E. Nixon, Charles Schmidt, Peter Meagan and Carl Blase were fined $20 each or 15 days.

It is likely the man Bloom or Jamieson, who was found dead in the Red Lion Hotel in Dundas, committed suicide by taking poison. Constable Venard of this city says the man was at the Dominion Hotel here a few days ago and had purchased a quantity of "Rough on Rats" from a Hamilton druggist.

MORRISON'S TRIAL.

The Case for the Crown Closed—Talk About the Verdict.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 5.—The Morrison trial is approaching an unexpectedly early close, counsel for the Crown having yesterday afternoon after the examination of 14 witnesses declared the case closed so far as they are concerned. From the evidence submitted by the Crown a pretty strong case has been made out against the prisoner but the great drawback on this side is the numberless contradictions on important points which have been made by Crown witnesses. Those examined yesterday were Eustache Roy, George Rodrique, Antoine Roy, Nelson H. Leet and Arthur W. Goff of Boston. The chief incident of yesterday's proceedings was the confession of Leet that he had come here prepared to testify for the defense as well as for the Crown. His examination by the Crown counsel was most severe and at one time it was thought the court would be requested to order his arrest for perjury. There are ten witnesses for the defense and all of these will be rigidly cross-examined by the Crown so that the prospects for concluding to-day are not very bright. The opinion of those who have heard the evidence so far submitted is that the verdict will either be manslaughter or acquittal, certainly not murder. The defense will try to prove self-defence.

Count De Vermont's Ottawa Victims.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Count De Vermont, who is now in custody at New York for forgery, left several victims in Ottawa. About two weeks ago a neatly dressed little man with a foreign accent, sallow complexion and heavy dark moustache, who spoke English and French fluently, came to Ottawa and registered as the "Count De Vermont." He brought a letter of introduction from Mr. Richard White of The Montreal Gazette to Mr. DeCelles, Parliamentary Librarian. Mr. DeCelles was away at the time and the letter was handed to Mr. M. J. Griffin, the other librarian, who gave the Count the privileges of the library and was otherwise civil to him. After a short stay the count left the Russell leaving in payment for his board bill a check upon the Garfield National Bank of New York, which proved to be worthless.

Fatal Accident at Grimsby.

GRIMSBY, Oct. 5.—A distressing accident occurred about two miles from here Thursday afternoon. Roy Hagar the 6-year-old son of Lewis Hagar, and nephew of S. D. Biggar of Hamilton, was playing with the children of G. Smith, a neighbor. The boy was on top of a load of wheat, which the Smith boys were drawing. The wagon was stopped at the bottom of a hill to give the horses a rest. When they started again the lad slipped off the wagon and fell under the wheels, which passed over his stomach. Those on the wagon did not notice him fall, but Mrs. Smith saw the accident from the window. She was so overcome that she went into hysterics. The boy died twenty or thirty minutes after the accident. No bones were broken and he did not complain about any pain.

Incomplete return from all counties in Washington give the Republican candidate for Congress 7629 majority. The whole state ticket is elected on majorities not far from these figures.

The Mount Mansfield, Va., Hotel was burned yesterday; loss $105,000, partially insured.

IT would seem as if we had been fulfilling the beautiful words of Pope—"Do good by stealth, and blush to find it fame." It is most gratifying to find so many evidences that our fame is spreading at a rapid rate by the quiet good we are doing in regulating and lowering the prices of WALL PAPER, BLINDS, PICTURES, and other HOUSEHOLD DECORATIONS.

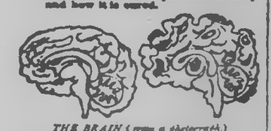
THAT TERRIBLE PARESIS.

Are the Canadian People Becoming a Nation of Lunatics?—The frightful increase of this most peculiar insanity and how it is cured.



THE BRAIN (from a photograph.)
Its Healthy Condition. With Paresis Lesions.

There are many well known men confined in our Asylums who but a short time ago were prominent among our business and social circles.

Why are they there?

Paresis!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. He realized that paresis (consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring upon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renew the brain and build up nerve tissues as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a narcotic. It contains no drugs, no nostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer guarantees this, and the indorsement of the medical and chemical professions prove it.

Warsaw Exhibition.

Annual Show of the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society.

The annual exhibition of the above society held at Warsaw on Tuesday and Wednesday, was quite a success. The good weather of the second day brought out a fair attendance. In stock there was a good show—especially of young horses. There was a good display of grain roots and dairy produce, and the ladies' exhibit did their skill credit. Mr. A. R. Kidd showed a nice collection of potatoes and Mr. Alex. Calder, had a collection on hand of sixty varieties.

The outside exhibits consisted of a farm waggon and set of harness, shown by Mr. Dan'l. Kidd, Warsaw; axe-handles by Mr. Secretary Snelgrove, pumps by Mr. W. C. Harrison, Norwood; the Chatham fanning mill, and Frost & Wood binder by Mr. C. C. McDonald, Peterborough and the National Washer.

The speeding in the ring consisted of a trot in which, Mr. J. H. Brown's black horse, took three out of five heats, against Mr. Geo. Ray's grey horse.

We Go One Better.

Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carton keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crashing value he is offering:—8½ lbs. Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Electric Soap, for 25c. 8 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carton's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw

Electric Street Cars.

The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be an immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the anxious public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or glassware at the lowest prices, go to Hawley Bros., George street.

Rely on This.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for three years, and can always rely upon it as a speedy cure for diarrhoea and all summer complaints. I can recommend it highly and I wish you every success.—MRS. W. FOWLER. 12 Oxford St. Toronto. 2w37d

Constant Care.

CONSTANT care is necessary against unexpected attacks of summer complaints. No remedy is so well known or so successful in this class of diseases as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Keep it in the house as a safeguard. 2w37d

SKINS ON FIRE.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.
ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wurtsboro, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.
O. E. OSMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itchings that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.
MARY KELLERMANN, Beloit, Kas.

POISON IN SOME MILK.

THOSE DEADLY PTOMAINES AND HOW THEY DEVELOP.

An Indianapolis Physician Tells How Fatal Disease Lurks in Milk and Canned Meats. A Record of the Cases of Poisoning by Ice Cream.

"I was much interested in the account of a city dispensary physician's recent experience at a house where four women and one girl were poisoned by a quart of milk," said Dr. W. B. Clarke, "and if the general public will divest its mind of any lingering suspicion it may entertain that our handling of that case, or cases of similar character, is of the sensational order rather than for the public good, much benefit may accrue by thus attracting attention to the peculiar danger at times attending the indigestion of certain articles of food, more especially meat, milk and ice cream."

"What is the peculiar danger to which you refer?" asked the reporter.

"Poisoning by ptomaines. The term puzzles you, does it? To explain, I will say that the word ptomain comes from the word ptoma, a cadaver, or dead body, and ptomaines are cadaveric alkaloids, the results of putrefaction, and are very poisonous. They were discovered by Armand Gautier about 1870, and soon after by Selmi, an Italian. In 1886 Gautier contributed a remarkable communication to the French Academy of Medicine, showing that those bodies are constantly being formed in life—that these by-products of normal vital action come through a putrefactive rather than a combustive process, and that their non-elimination or non-oxidation by the bowels, kidneys, lungs and skin is the cause of many diseases.

"These poisonous substances are now known to infest many articles of food, and of late the patient investigators who use the microscope a great deal have about come to the conclusion that they are started by bacteria. Bacteria may be called a minute fungus, or parasite, invisible to the naked eye, and which flourish only in animal matter, feeding preferably on the albuminous portion, and each substance may be said to have its own particular breed of bacteria. They increase with amazing rapidity in any substance in which they get a start, especially in high temperatures. We read of an ice cream or milk poisoning, and the newspaper's wind up always is to the effect that some verdigris, acetate, lactate or other mineral poison had been generated in manufacture or in transit, when the real trouble probably was a diseased article. In this way your article above referred to closed as follows: 'It was the most peculiar case I ever heard of,' said the doctor, 'and the sufferings of the women were terrible. I can only conceive of one cause for their condition. The milk they purchased must have been kept in a very unclean can, causing the milk to become impregnated with lactate of tin, a powerful poison.' I hope I may not be considered captious in suggesting that ptomaines were the cause of this sickness. That admirable actress, Adelaide Neilson, our finest Juliet, when in good health drank one glass of milk, and, after suffering terribly, died in two hours. That glass of milk might have been able to knock out the great John L. Sullivan in one round just as easily. The fact is that many sudden illnesses and unexplained deaths, while in perfect health, if such a paradox can be allowed, that come like lightning out of the clear sky, are now by the best authorities assigned to this secret enemy. This where the number of the organisms are infinite and powerful—to say nothing of lingering illnesses caused by them when few and weak."

"Are there poisonous ptomaic parasites found in other foods in general use?"

"Often in canned meats. July 14, 1884, I had occasion in one of the city papers to point out that danger, the latter being brought out by the report of a suit for damages instituted by a man who had had his family poisoned by canned meat. The meat may have been perfectly good when opened, but the poison develops very soon after letting air into it.

"There is a very important bearing the proper understanding of this subject has upon the rearing of infants. Every one knows that thousands of them die in our large cities every summer because of impure, diseased or unsuitable milk. Indeed it is one of the problems of the age how to rear a bottle fed infant in a large city. They are so sensitive and susceptible that milk which might not harm a grown person, or even a large child, may be poison to them. But revenons a nos moutons, or rather to our ice cream."

"Then you assert that there is death in ice cream?"

"Most assuredly there is unless the most scrupulous care is taken in the selection of fresh and pure ingredients, and the use of clean utensils and receptacles. The peculiar poison indigenous to ice cream, as every tyro may not know, is called tyrotoxicon, and it should be well known, as it has been isolated and administered to animals and its effects noted. Its effects have been pretty well studied at picnics, church festivals, weddings and miscellaneous gatherings. Here are some of the principal results during two months, as taken from a compilation made by The Chicago Inter Ocean. This compilation may be seen by any one, and it may be considered advisable to introduce such testimony, that milk or ice cream venders may not rest too secure in the belief that this matter is 'all cry and no wolf.' As a partial ice-cream death record for two months of 1888, there is May 30, Woodstock, Conn., church festival; 208 sick, 78 died. June 4, Corning, N. Y., Bagley family of six, ice cream at supper, all died. June 17, Cadillac, Mich., Kerr-Livingston wedding, 42 partakers, 33 died. July 4, deaths reported in the United States, 77. July 14, Cairo, Ills., church festival, 27 died. July 30, Antrim, Vt., Sunday school picnic, 48 two dish consumers died; 17 one dish consumers wished they had."—Indianapolis Sun.

AYER'S PILLS.

Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

Wedding Bells.

The Lindsay Warder says:—Last Monday afternoon, a pleasing ceremony took place at the residence of Mrs. George Stephenson, Peel Street, Lindsay, being the marriage of her daughter Maggie, to Mr. Wm. F. Smith of Toronto, who holds a high position with T. Eaton & Co., of that city, and with which firm the bride had also been for a number of years manager of one of the departments. The ceremony took place at 2 p. m., Rev. Mr. Marsh officiating, and was witnessed by a large number of invited guests, many coming from a distance. The bride looked beautiful in a brocaded pink silk, covered with old gold silk lace, with pearl ornaments. The bridesmaids were Miss Emma Woods, Lindsay, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Daisy Costello of Toronto, the former being attired in cream silk with cream lace trimmings, while the dress of the latter was pink and white. The groom was assisted by his brother Mr. Theo Smith of Toronto, and Master Harry Woods of Lindsay. It is customary on occasions of this kind to say the presents were numerous and costly, but seldom it is the good fortune of a bride to have so many and valuable a lot of presents as did Mrs. Smith, and they certainly show the high respect and esteem in which she is held by her very many friends. Conspicuous among the gifts was a massive silver tea service presented by the employees of the firm of T. Eaton & Co., while Mr. Eaton himself remembered them with two elegant easy chairs. Other individual members of the firm also gave presents, as did friends in Winnipeg, Toronto, Bracebridge, St. Catharines, Port Hope, Peterborough and Lindsay. The happy couple left on the evening train for Detroit and other western points. On their return they will take up their residence in Toronto.

Centerville Exhibition.

The Show, in spite of the Weather, Fairly Successful.

The twentieth exhibition of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society was held at Centerville on Thursday and Friday. The first day was terribly rainy and also disagreeable but in spite of this the inside exhibits were pretty largely placed. The weather the second day was much better and there was a fair attendance of visitors. A visit to the stock yards revealed a pretty fair exhibit of cattle and sheep, swine and poultry. The inside exhibit was in some respects much better than last year. The display of fruit was exceedingly good both in extent, variety and quality. The show was much larger than that at the Peterborough Central, and that was no small one. Roots and vegetables were also good, but grains were not quite up to the mark.

The ladies were well represented in the feminine fine arts, and most of the specimens were really excellent, while the brush and pencil had very creditable representatives.

The miscellaneous exhibits were very meagre, Mr. J. D. Lowry of Millbrook showing a washer and wringer, and Mr. J. W. Mather of Ashburnham improved frowing tables, clothes dryers, etc., etc.

SPECIAL EVENTS.

One interesting feature of the exhibition was the contest for a $4 pair of pantaloons offered by Mr. F. J. Clarke, of Port Hope to the best looking man on the grounds. The entries consisted of the directors and officials of the society, and amongst such a fine looking body of men it would have been thought that the lady who acted as judge, would have had great difficulty in arriving at a decision, but she gave the prize to Mr. McAllister, and so far as heard, there has been no protest entered against her judgment.

During the afternoon several foot races were run off but owing to the heavy nature of the track, and the unfavourable weather, the special trotting events were postponed. But the good purses provided will be competed for at a date to be made known in a few days.

Considering the iniquitous weather and the holding of two other exhibitions in the vicinity within a week, the exhibition was a fairly gratifying success. Below is

VOL. IX. NO. 81. PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1889. PRICE TWO CENTS.

EXCITEMENT AT ST. JOHN.

AN ARREST IN CONNECTION WITH THE POISONING CASE.

Wm. McDonald, A Well-Connected Young Man, Charged with Having Caused the Death of Mrs. McRae. Brilliant Officials.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 7.—Never possibly in the history of the city was there more excitement than prevailed Saturday afternoon when it became known that Wm. McDonald, clerk in the wholesale establishment of T. B. Barker & Son, had been arrested charged with being the person who sent the poisoned candy through the mail which caused the death of Mrs. McRae. People flocked to the police station and stood in crowds about the streets, and while it was the unanimous opinion that some strong evidence of McDonald's guilt had been secured no one could say what the nature of that evidence was.

McDonald is a brother of Mrs. Barker, widow of the late mayor of St. John, and his connection with some of the leading families of the city made his arrest a genuine surprise.

The police officials were interviewed but they were as dumb as oysters and looked perfectly ignorant of the whole affair and their look was a justifiable one, for they were as ignorant of what evidence had been secured against McDonald as the general public. The Solicitor-General simply told Chief Marshall to have McDonald arrested, and after slight hesitation Inspector Wetherel and Detective R. Ring were ordered to proceed to Barker's shop and bring the accused to the station. McDonald did not want to go at first but when told by Ring that he could walk a few steps ahead of the officers he consented to go.

At the station he was searched but nothing beyond some paper with shorthand characters on it was found. Stenographer Frye was sent for and this paper placed in his hands to decipher. Coroner Berryman and Solicitor-General Pugsley were both interviewed but both declined to say a word as to the nature of the evidence. The Solicitor-General, however, said the arrest was made on information believed to be strong, but in the interests of justice it was not advisable to let the public know the nature of it. While all the evidence so far secured is only known to the Solicitor-General and Coroner Berryman, it was learned that the information which led to the arrest was placed in the hands of the coroner by a woman who sent for the Solicitor-General and on her sworn testimony the Crown officer within an hour ordered the arrest.

After the arrest Detective Ring visited Barker's wholesale establishment and found boxes corresponding exactly to the ones in which the candy was sent. They were used for fine-tooth combs and a quantity of these were found which looked as if they had been emptied out of the regular boxes.

McDonald was for some time in the asylum, but was discharged as cured in May last. Since then he went through the heat and excitement of the Mayor's election and also of the carnival, serving as one of the assistant secretaries to the latter. He then entered his brother-in-law's wholesale department but was believed to have been perfectly sane. Previous to his being put in the asylum he attempted suicide in Market slip. He was about a year ago employed as private secretary to Mr. O'Shaughnessy, assistant manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal, and was in some part of Quebec or Ontario during the Galt poisoned candy cases.

C. A. Stockton has been engaged to defend McDonald and no reporter is allowed to speak to him.

THE SPHERE OF SPORT.

Amateur Athletics—New York Wins the National League Pennant.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—The annual games of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association were held Saturday. C. A. J. Queckberner of the Staten Island Athletic Club was the only American representative present. The day was bitterly cold, and both weather and track were against any record-breaking, consequently nothing was done in that direction. Attention entered in former record though he gave an exhibition of hammer throwing. Otherwise the games were purely of local interest.

Engineer Bob Hill, famous for his many miraculous escapes in various other railroad wrecks, was seriously and probably fatally injured.

CRIMES AND CRIMINALS.

A DRUNKEN FATHER BUTCHERS HIS CHILDREN.

The States' Latest Move in the Trial of the Cronin Suspects—A Desperado Shot—Father Boyle Convicted.

CHARLESTON, W.Va., Oct. 7.—A fearful tragedy was enacted Saturday morning in a little cabin occupied by Mary and Andrew Kempf, brother and sister, on the hill back of the west end of this city. The father of the two children, in a fit of drunken rage had attacked the two with a large dirk-knife at an early hour in the morning, and when Constable Nelson and two or three citizens entered the premises, about 9.30, the children were in a dying condition, while the father was contemplating his bloody work in a dazed sort of way. He was still armed with the knife, but after a little strategy had been resorted to the weapon was secured and he was taken into custody and locked up in jail. A justice of the peace then accompanied a physician to the cabin and took the ante mortem statement of the boy, his sister being too weak to relate what had occurred. From the boy's statement the following details of the horrible affair were made up:

Peter Kempf, the father, missed some small articles, including some flatirons, from his house, which stands about a quarter of a mile from the cabin occupied by his two children, and going over to the cabin he accused his daughter of having taken the irons. She denied having done so, whereon the father applied a vile epithet to her and drawing his knife he plunged it into Mary's stomach and again into the lower portion of the abdomen. As the girl fell she received two more cuts from the frenzied father, one on the face and the other on the right side. The brother sprang on his father in an attempt to save his sister's life, when the old man stabbed him twice in the abdomen, the entrails protruding from the wounds in a horrible manner. When the children were discovered they presented a terrible sight, and the floor of the cabin looked almost like a slaughter pen.

THE CRONIN MURDER TRIAL.

Frank Woodruff's Case Continued Until the Next Term of Court.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—As soon as the Criminal Court was called to order Saturday morning State's Attorney Longenecker made a motion that the case against Frank Woodruff, one of the men indicted for the murder of Dr. Cronin, be continued until the next term. This was strenuously opposed by Crowne, of counsel for Woodruff, who demanded an immediate trial for his client. Judge McConnell, however, ruled that the State was entitled to the delay asked and granted the motion. At the same hour in Judge Baker's branch of the same court Mr. Brown, also counsel for Woodruff, was withdrawing his motion for the immediate discharge of his client from custody because he had not been tried within the statutory time. The withdrawal was without prejudice, and with a view to being presented again at the next term, which begins to-day.

No jurors were secured in the Cronin case Saturday. It is understood that Mr. Shubert, the special bailiff appointed by the court to serve venires, has declined to act after to-day and that the court will have to appoint some one in his place. The exact reason for this step on the part of Mr. Shubert has not been stated, but the difficulty experienced in serving the venires and procuring good jurors is believed to be the cause.

SHE WAS YOUNG AND BEAUTIFUL.

The Accomplished Wife of a Baltimore Citizen Takes Her Own Life.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Tunstall Smith has committed suicide. She was only 27, beautiful and accomplished, was the wife of one of Baltimore's substantial business men, of the wholesale dry goods firm of Carey, Rayne & Smith, and the daughter of Gen. R. Snowden Andrews. Mrs. Smith went shopping Saturday morning and visited her mother. Returning to her home she talked affectionately with her small children and then instructed their nurse to take them into the library. This was at 1 p. m. Her husband drove up to the door half an hour later and asked a man servant if Mrs. Smith was ready to take a drive. The servant returned and said she could not be found, but that her door was locked. The door was burst in, and there, stretched on the floor, was the lifeless form of his beautiful wife. She held a Smith & Wesson revolver in her hand. Her dark hair was clotted with blood. The bullet had entered one temple and come out at the other. The domestic relationship of the husband and wife had been most cordial, but Mrs. Smith had suffered for some time with insomnia, melancholy and nervous depression. No other cause can be assigned for the terrible deed.

AMBITIOUS CITY NOTES.

Sentences at the Assizes—An Important Real Estate Transfer.

HAMILTON, Oct. 6.—At the assizes Saturday Mr. Justice Street sentenced the notorious Bob McCullough, found guilty of burglary and knifing James Whiteley, to 14 years in Kingston Penitentiary; Michael Connelly, robbery, was sent down for 3 years; William Beck, larceny, 3 years; John Bartley, common assault, 3 months in the county jail with hard labor; William Thornton, alias Pony Spriggs, assaulting the police, 3 months in the county jail. Maurice Cohen was found guilty of false pretences, did not appear when called upon and his bail was estreated. Sarah Miller, who pleaded guilty to larceny, was allowed to go under suspended sentence, it having been her first offence. The charge of forgery against Joseph S. Ralston was dismissed.

The most important real estate transfer that has occurred for some time has just taken place, whereby Mr. S. G. Tramble acquires the store property at the north-east corner of King and James-streets—perhaps the best stand in the city. Mr. Philip Martin, its former owner, received $33,000 cash as the purchase money. The property has a frontage of 33 feet on King-street.

Mr. T. V. Powderly, Morris L. Wheat and A. W. Wright will be in Hamilton to-day and will address the workingmen in the evening.

Berlin's Needle.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The East Africa Company reports a loss up to Jan. 1, 1889, of 2,043,549 marks on its paid-up capital of 3,145,100 marks.

The fact that the Reichs Bank advanced the discount rate to 5 Thursday did not check the loan schemes on foot. The Bulgarian Government is arranging for a loan of £1,000,000. The Bleichroders are at the head of a syndicate which has agreed to take an Italian loan of £10,000,000 of 3 per cents. A portion has been taken by the firm at 50. The issue price is yet unsettled. As a measure of political finance French investors who have hitherto been the chief holders of Italian government securities are now steadily unloading. In London there is no market for Italian securities and consequently the whole burden of the loan is thrown on German investors.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN THE ELECTIONS IN FRANCE.

Terribly Fatal Storms—Suicide of an M.P. —The Frightened Czar—Uneasiness in Austrian Official Circles.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Reballots were taken yesterday in the districts in which the recent elections for members of the Chamber of Deputies were without definite result. The weather was fine and a host of electors presented themselves at the polls. The voting in Paris proceeded in perfect quietness, there being no incident worthy of mention. The followers of Gen. Boulanger are deserting. Laguerre and other former Boulangists have ceased to mention the General's name, styling themselves only Revisionists. It is estimated that two thirds of the 183 constituencies which balloted yesterday have gone Republican. The Conservatives calculate upon the return of two of their candidates in Paris. All the members of the National Committee will confer with General Boulanger in London Tuesday next, prior to his departure for the Isle of Jersey.

The boulevards were animated last evening. Crowds paraded the streets shouting partisan cries. Mounted guards kept the people moving. The total returns for Paris show the election of 22 Republicans and 14 Boulangists. Among the former are M M. Lockroy, Millerand, Dreyfus, Lanessan, Raspail and Marmattan. Among the Boulangists are Dr. Mery, who defeated M. Baely, and M. Sean, who defeated ex-Minister Heredia.

Returns from 153 districts show the election of 108 Republicans and 45 anti-Republicans. It is reported that a split has occurred between Boulanger and Count Dillon because of the former's assertion that the bargain with the Conservatives had caused a loss of seats to the Conservatives.

A Terror Stricken Czar.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Official telegrams say the Czar will start for Berlin next Thursday. Mr. Schirtnkine, Chief of the Czar's secret police, passed through Berlin Saturday on his way to Kiel. He is accompanied by the inspector of imperial trains. The Czar's special train, once owned by the Empress Eugenie, lies at the station here, having come from Wirballen. There are swarms of Russian police here, at Kiel, and at the stations along the proposed route. Russian troops line the rails from Wirballen to Moscow. The precautions taken far exceed those on the occasion of the former visit of the Czar, and are due to his intense fears of an attempt upon his life. The Czarina leaves Copenhagen Oct. 12, for Konigsberg, rejoining the Czar at some point on the homeward journey. Only Court Minister Worontzow Daschoff, Aides-de-Camp Gens. Tcheretrne and Richter will accompany the Czar. The Czar will accord Prince Bismarck an interview. The Czar will pass 48 hours between Potsdam and Berlin. Nothing is expected to result from his meeting with Bismarck. The Moscow newspapers ridicule the idea that the Czar will accept any conciliatory overtures, unless they are well backed by solid concessions.

The Kaiser's Visit to Constantinople.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—The preparations that are being made at Constantinople for the reception of Emperor William indicate a prolonged stay. It is reported that he will remain two weeks at the Turkish capital. He will be accompanied by Count Herbert Bismarck. The length of the Emperor's visit is attributed to an intention to inquire into the condition of the Turkish army and to test the statement of German officers that the Porte is still able to maintain a standing army of 400,000 men.

Austrian Official Circles Uneasy.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—An uneasy feeling appears to prevail in Austrian official circles, it being feared that the Chancellor is about to make a new move by offering to assist in restoring Russian dominance in Bulgaria as an inducement to draw the Czar from a French alliance. Prince Bismarck is suspected of playing a double game. It is thought that, on the one hand, he will threaten the Czar with a movement looking to the firm establishment of Bulvarian independence, while on the other, he will offer an entente, based on a proposal that Russia shall have a free hand to deal with Bulgaria and intervene in Armenia. It is certain that if the Czar receives Bismarck's proposals coldly, recognition of Ferdinand by the Porte, the Powers forming the triple alliance, and England, will be the immediate sequence. The Sultan has already agreed to recognize Ferdinand, and only awaits the visit of Emperor William before issuing a formal proclamation to that effect.

Terrible Hurricane.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A terrible hurricane has visited the Island of Sardinia. One hundred persons were buried in the debris of buildings shattered by the storm and thirty were killed.

ROME, Oct. 7.—The province of Cogliari has been ravaged by a terrific storm, in which 240 houses were destroyed. Sixteen persons were killed and hundreds were injured. The town of Cogliari suffered severely.

Peace is Certain.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The Berlin correspondent of The Journal des Debats asserts that Prince Bismarck in receiving the President of the Woodworkers' Congress said: The foreign situation is so peaceful that you may set to work without the slightest fear. It was not always so. Not long ago England still hesitated whether to act as a mad bull or as a fat ox chewing cud. To-day her resolution is taken and I can assure you that the maintenance of peace is certain."

Suicide of an M. P.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir William Tindall Robertson committed suicide at Brighton yesterday by cutting his throat. The deceased represented Brighton in the House of Commons. He was a Conservative. He was blind and served on the royal commission for inquiring into the condition of the blind. He took his life in a fit of insanity.

One Desperado Dies.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Oct. 7.—Charles Davis, aged only 19 years, but one of the boldest desperadoes in the Indian Territory and the leader of a noted band of horse and cattle thieves, was shot and killed yesterday near Fleetwood, I. T. Deputy United States Marshals Turner, Terry and Hart had pursued him to a vacant house, which he barricaded and from his fortress he defied the officers. Deputy Hart went for aid, and as soon as he had gone Davis made a break for liberty, carrying in either hand a revolver. The deputies opened fire upon him. He turned in his flight and gave battle, but soon fell to the ground mortally wounded and died in half an hour after the fight.

Narrow Escape From a Fiery Death.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Oct. 7.—The stone pulp mill, at the east end of the Hoosac Tunnel, was burned Saturday with contents. The mill was owned and operated by the Glen Pulp Company, of Hartford. Loss about $50,000. Twenty men narrowly escaped death by the fire, being caught upstairs with slight means of escape.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Another Church Trouble—Suicide of a Diseased Woman—Fatal Accident.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—There is trouble in the Western Congregational Church growing out of disaffection on the part of some of the congregation with the pastor, Rev. A. F. McGregor. At a special meeting of the church Friday night there was a stormy time and 53 members were summarily dismissed.

Last Wednesday a woman named Mary Bright, 45 years of age, went to lodge at Andy Shea's house, 142 George-street. She was in destitute circumstances and had evidently been drinking heavily. She was given a room upstairs where she managed to exist until midnight Saturday, when she ended her life by jumping through a window to the pavement, 15 feet or more, below. She was taken to Police Headquarters, still breathing, in the patrol wagon. Dr. Sweetman attended her and ordered her removal to the Hospital. The patrol wagon, not the ambulance, was ordered, and half-way there she died from loss of blood, having cut an artery in breaking the pane of glass.

Mrs. Findlay, aged 55, wife of John Findlay, was run over at the Pape-avenue crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway on Saturday afternoon and instantly killed. There are two tracks at this crossing and deceased stepped out of the way of an approaching train on one track directly in front of a moving freight on the other.

The new Law School will be formally opened to-day at Osgoode Hall at 3 p.m., when Hon. Edward Blake will deliver the inaugural address.

Chief Justice Galt on Saturday granted an order for the release of William Sugar from the Cayuga Jail, where he is now confined on a charge of perjury. Bail was fixed at $300, himself in $200 and one security, Joseph A. Beaver, in $100.

An interesting suit for damages will be heard at the present assizes. Mrs. Stoghill, who resides near Lloydtown, brings action to recover $1000 damages from Hotelkeeper Duggan of that town for causing the death of her husband last winter. Defendant, it is claimed, sold liquor to the plaintiff's husband one cold night alst winter, and while going home the latter was frozen to death.

A VICTORY FOR EDISON.

The Westinghouse Company Loses Another Suit Against the Inventor.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 7.—In the United States Court Saturday Justice Bradley, of the Supreme Court, dismissed the famous electric light case of Westinghouse against Edison. The suit was brought by the Westinghouse interest against the McKeesport, or Edison, electric light company, to restrain the defendants from using the fibrous carbon or incandescent conductor in their air-tight globe. Plaintiffs claimed they had been granted a patent on the fibrous carbon, while upon the other hand, the Edison interest asserted that they had filed an application for a patent a month before the application of the plaintiffs.

The court holds that the claim of priority of invention in the fibrous carbon filament is not valid, as Edison had accomplished the result before Sawyer, Mann or Westinghouse.

Ocean Steamers in Collision.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The State of Georgia has arrived at Greenock. Her damage is all above the water line. The vessel with which she collided was the coasting steamer Agate. A heavy fog prevailed at the time. The Agate struck the Georgia on the port bow with great force smashing five of the latter's plates and ten of her frames. Several of the crew lying in their bunks had narrow escapes. One man was seriously injured. The name of the man killed was McGarrity. The Agate's forecastle head was smashed.

The Pan-American Congress.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The Pan-American excursionists arrived here at 9.05 a. m. Saturday. When the delegates visited the Waltham watch factory a collation was served in the offices.

LIMA, Oct. 7—El Comercio, the leading daily paper of this place, publishes a long editorial commenting enthusiastically on the International conference. It says Blaine's speech gives new proof of his illustrious talents as a great statesman of a great people and it is satisfied the United States have no wish to reap any harvest from the conference excepting such as will please the palate of all the guests at this feast of continental progress. It considers the construction of the Panama Canal of great importances and that merely a railroad upon the isthmus will not be sufficient.

A Compromise Effected.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—The strike of the windowlight glass blowers, which began last June and has seriously affected manufacturers and 5000 employes in the business, most of whom are located in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland, was settled Saturday in this city. The demand of the blowers was for an advance of 10 per cent., but a compromise advance of 5 1-2 per cent. was agreed upon. The new scale goes into effect immediately. Preparations for the resumption of work will begin in all the factories interested to-day.

THE BRAIN (From a photograph.)
In Healthy Condition. With Paresis Lesions.

There are many well known men confined in our Asylums who but a short time ago were prominent among our business and social circles.

Why are they there?

Paresis!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. He realized that paresis (consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring upon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renew the brain and build up nerve tissues as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a narcotic. It contains no drugs, no nostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer guarantees this, and the indorsement of the medical and chemical profession prove it.

St. Andrew's Anniversary.

Sermons by Rev. Dr. White, of Ireland—Special Decorations and Music for the Occasion.

The anniversary sermons of St. Andrew's church were preached Sunday by Rev. Thos. A. White, M.A., D.D., of County Cavan, Ireland. The Doctor is making a tour of parts of the United States and Canada, and at the same time visiting some old friends who have crossed to this side of the water. It is his first holiday in fourteen years, Dr. White avers, and even now he is combining business with pleasure. The church of which he is pastor needs funds. When he left the old country he determined to ask assistance in repairing and paying the debt of the old church, which was built in the year 1708 and required improvement. But since coming out here his congregation have written that the old building is splitting apart and the roof falling in, so that a new church will have to be erected. It was for this purpose, Dr. White said, that he was delivering lectures; the proceeds were to be entirely devoted to the rebuilding of the church. He said he was peculiarly well situated in order to be able to give some information of the actual operations of Roman Catholicism in Ireland, where Papacy had greater control than in Canada at present, but Canadians should realize that unless they take this matter up at once, the Church of Rome would never cease its encroachments. It was impossible to curb the spirit of Roman Catholic aggression, wherever the Church was allowed to prosper. Ireland was, the speaker averred, largely controlled by the Papacy, and if Home Rule was granted, it would simply mean Rome Rule; and the principle of Roman Catholicism in Ireland was never to rest as long as there were any Protestants in the country. The church of which he was pastor, Dr. White said, was situated between the north and south portions of Ireland, and he would be able to give some reliable information concerning the workings of the Papacy in that country. Dr. White gave a bit of interesting personal history concerning his connection with the church of which he was in charge. He said his grandfather had been its pastor for twenty-five years. After that his father was in charge for 52 years, than his elder brother took it for 9 years, and he himself had been its pastor for a term of 14 years—in all an exact century in which his family had had charge. Their congregations had always selected them, and the completest harmony existed between pastor and people.

Dr. White lectures this evening in St. Andrew's church on the subject of "Romish aggression in Ireland and Canada."

THE ANNIVERSARY.

The occasion of Dr. White's visit was the anniversary of the church. Rev. Alex. Bell, the pastor, was present at both the services and assisted in the devotional exercises. Some special decorations were provided, the altar and choir-place being ornamented with flowers and foliage tastily arranged. The music also was prepared with special reference to the occasion, the choir giving a couple of well-selected and equally well rendered anthems. Under Mr. Ketcham's leadership there has been a marked improvement in the musical portion of the services of St. Andrew's. The choir is large and well-trained, and numbers among its members some good solo voices. The anthems on Sunday were remarkably well rendered, and evinced diligent practice, careful preparation and skilful tuition.

The congregations on Sunday were large, particularly in the evening, when the usual services in St. Paul's church were omitted to give the people an opportunity of hearing Dr. White. The sermons delivered by the reverend gentleman were marked by a clearness of expression and earnestness of purpose which had a good effect upon all his hearers.

THE SERMONS.

The text of his morning discourse was taken from Zechariah, vi, 12 13, particular emphasis being placed upon the latter portion:

"And he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne; and he shall be a priest upon his throne: and the counsel of peace shall be between them both."

Taking the passage as referring to God, Rev. Dr. White pointed out three prominent ways in which He bears the glory, viz., in the Creation, in His Providence, and in the Redemption. On each of these points he enlarged and drew lessons which he applied to the personal needs of the congregation.

His evening's text was taken from John, xiv, 14:—

"If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it."

After a brief retrospection of the first portion of the chapter as a preface to his text, the Rev. Doctor proceeded to an exposition of prayer. It was, first of all, a duty men owed to God. Men ought always to pray, and the speaker impressed upon his hearers the necessity and efficacy of prayer. It was not not only a duty, because of God's command, but it conveyed a challenge from God to man, for He has said, "Ask and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." It was man's duty to prove Him if He will not open the windows of heaven and shower a blessing upon the churches and homes of the faithful. Then prayer was an agreement—(Matt. xviii, 19)—and God would surely answer when the request was made in faith. The command implied in prayer was not from God to man, but from man to God that He shall answer prayer. In the 45th chapter of Isaiah occurred these words:—"Concerning the works of my hand, command ye me." Go to God and present your prayer, making known what you want, and leave it with Him. If the prayer is in accord with the will and spirit of the Lord, He will answer it as you desire; if not, He changes it to some form that will be more for His glory, but He will surely answer prayer, if made in faith. In conclusion, the reverend speaker emphasized the power of prayer in congregations and individuals. Prayer, he said, was the great lever that moves the hand which moves the universe.

Voters' List Figures.

Some interesting statistics are taken from the town voters' list for 1889. There has been quite an increase in the number of ratepayers during the last twelve months. Following is a comparative statement:—

Ward No. 1	718	761
Ward No. 2	630	625
Ward No. 3	697	809
Ward No. 4	414	463

Making a total of 2,877 voters of all classes in the town as against 2,459 last year. There is also a slight increase in the number of ladies entitled to vote at municipal elections. Last year there were 314 female voters and this year 325. Of these the first ward has 74, the second ward 95, the third ward 106 and the fourth ward 52.

A Favorable Showing for Canada.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The business failures in the United States for the quarter ending with September were 2275, showing a decrease of 96 or 3.7 per cent. from last year, but for nine months the number has been 7870, showing an increase of 329 or 4 per cent. The liabilities for the past quarter have been swelled by a few large failures to $30,257,068, or 40 per cent. more than for the same quarter last year, but for nine months the aggregate has been $106,055,-669, an increase of 16½ per cent. The latter weeks have shown a decrease both in number of failures and liabilities and the average of liabilities to each failure in comparatively low even for the last quarter, being only about $17,000, and for nine months about $12,000, against $12,000 last year.

The failures in Canada show a decrease of 5 per cent. in number and 40 per cent in liabilities for the past quarter. For the nine months there have been only 3 less than last year in number but 16 per cent. less in liabilities. Electric Street Cars.

The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be to immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the anxious public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or glassware at the lowest prices, go to Hawley Bros., George street.

SKINS ON FIRE.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease cured my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I really can be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood remedies.

AYER'S PILLS. Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

CHAS. CLUTHE, who, after many years's trial by the medical profession, has secured their confidence and esteem, will be in your neighborhood, see below.

If you or your Children are RUPTURED or DEFORMED, call and see him with your physician. Having spent his whole life in improving and perfecting appliances for rupture and other deformities, it is conceded by the best authorities that he is the only man in this line of business who can, after examining a patient, invent and construct a proper appliance to overcome the most difficult cases, as many thousands have testified. No two are made alike. More patents have been secured by him, than all others combined. Testimonials of the most assuring character have been received from people in all callings, who have used his appliances for cases of SPINAL DISEASE, CLUB FEET, and other deformities, especially RUPTURE. On receipt of six cents in stamps, an illustrated book containing valuable information will be mailed. Address

He Knew What was Best for Himself.

This morning John Adlum appeared before the magistrate to answer to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. It seems that Saturday night John raised a ruction at his own house, getting drunk and smashing things generally. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and asked to be bound over to keep the peace. He had been kept straight during the summer by the same means, and believed he would be able to behave himself if again bound over. Mr. Adlum was in court and told a woeful tale of her husband's bad conduct. John was sent to gaol until sureties for $200 could be found to bind him over to keep the peace.

Carried His Own Blankets.

Saturday morning Mr. Wm. Kennesley complained to the Chief of Police that a man named Elijah Montgomery who had been stopping at his hotel for the past week, had taken a couple of blankets off the bed in which he slept and carried them away. The man lives near Cobourg, and Chief Rankin, of that town, was telephoned to and Mr. Montgomery intercepted. On searching his valise a pair of blankets were found, but he claimed that they were his own. He said he went to Peterborough for medical aid, and knowing from experience the generally cold and uncomfortable feeling of hotel beds, took along his own blankets. The ones found in his possess on did not correspond with the description of the ones missing, and Chief Rankin, knowing Mr. Montgomery to be a respectable farmer living near Cobourg, did not arrest him. The case will not likely be prosecuted.

Skipped His Board Bill.

A traveller who stopped at the Grand Central hotel several days last week tried the skipping dodge without paying his bill. Saturday evening he took the train for Lindsay, and got the small amount of baggage he owned out of the hotel unobserved. At the station he locked himself in the closet of the car, and when one of the hotel hands went down to tax him for the amount of his bill, the traveller could not be reached. He was securely locked in, and the conductor would not, of course, hold the train till he could be brought out. A telegraph message was, however, sent to Lindsay and the fellow arrested. When searched it was found he had just $2.50 on his person, and of this amount the constable claimed $1. This left the sum of $1.50 for the proprietor of the Grand Central to console himself with in lieu of the $9 due him.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

At the young men's meeting on Saturday evening there was a good attendance. Much interest manifested. The singing was hearty, being led by the Y.M.C.A. orchestra.

Gospel and song service was well attended Sunday evening. The general Secretary gave a short address. We are glad to see so much interest in these delightful meetings.

The week of prayer for young men throughout the world will be observed this year beginning Sabbath, Nov. 10th. We purpose making them of special interest. All our pastors will be asked to preach special sermons to young men, and each evenings of the following week special meeting will be held for men only. We ask Christians to pray for blessing on these meetings.

Our first reception this season, to be held on Thursday evening, promises to be a pleasant and profitable time for all who attend. All young men are heartily invited, especially strangers in our town. During the evening refreshments will be served by the ladies' auxiliary.

Personal.

Miss Spooner has resigned her position of organist of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, and returns to her home in Port Hope this evening. Her relations with the management of St. Luke's Church were of a most pleasant nature. Miss Spooner returns home at the request of her parents.

Anniversary Services—Eloquent Sermons by Dr. Workman of Cobourg. To night's Entertainment.

The anniversary services in connection with the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, Rev. A. C. Wilson, pastor, began on Sunday morning. The improvement in the internal arrangement of the church since a year ago was prominently brought before the regular worshippers by the recurrence of the anniversary. The pulpit, and communion table were specially decorated with magnificent bouquets of cute flowers, presented by Mrs. Benj. Coomey,—only an elaborated repetition of this lady's weekly practiced during the summer. The services were conducted and the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Workman of Victoria College, Cobourg. The choir supplied splendid music in which the congregation heartily joined.

Since his removal from Peterborough Rev. Dr. Workman has improved greatly in health and on this occasion he preached an eloquent, scholarly sermon, indicative of much research and thought. Below will be found a condensation of it, but nothing but a verbatim report could give an idea of the wealth of illustration, and fervour of application which were elaborated from the central ideas unveiled from the text which was taken from the 84th Psalm, eleventh verse:—"For the Lord God is a sun and a shield; he will give grace and glory and no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly." The preacher said the text taught of the dealings of God's providence. Doctrinally speaking providence meant the Divine control over all his creation. This Providence was two fold—general and particular—applied to the world generally and to individuals, and this would form the subject of the discourse. God's attribute of love prompted Him to view individuals with special regard—he takes an interest in the smallest as well as the greatest of his creatures. The first aspect of the Providence of good to be considered was what God was to his people—a sun and shield—expressive of the needs of God's creatures, light and protection. The best of men felt the need of help from a higher power—the need of communion with a higher, holier being. The second part of the text showed what God did for his people—"he will give grace and glory"—grace having reference to divine favour—his divine regard to his people—help at all times to be brave in discharging the duties and bearing the burdens of life; "Glory" meant that God would give genuine human respect to his followers. The implication of the latter part of the text was that God would give all good things to his people—that is what seemed good to God himself—what would be good for us. We did not know what was good for us and it was best to let God decide. There was, however, some good things that God could not give us without the working of a miracle. "All good things" which the text promised were those that could be given in harmony with

THE PROVIDENCE OF GOD.

Referring to his personal experience, the speaker said that for years the text had been a source of consolation to him. In all his wants and wishes he felt that if his life was right, God would not withold the fulfilment of his desires. God would deny no real good. The condition alone on which the particular providence of God could be exercised, was that of the text—"to them that walk uprightly." Though we could not lead a perfect life, we could lead a life that was daily growing to perfection. "Uprightly" should read, according to the Hebrew text, "in integrity," and integrity of Christian life meant no duty unfulfilled, no spiritual privilege untaken; no physicial law disregarded. Special providence permitted us to work with or against God. We could not frustrate the general providence of God, but in our personal relations we could give a bias to our lives entirely contrary to the wish of God. "Walking in integrity" meant doing our best according to the completeness of the use of the means, capacities and abilities God has given us. Upon the observance of these conditions depended the progress of the individual, the church, the community, the country, the world. We should not only do well at all times, but should at all times do our best.

During the taking of the collection Mr. Hiram Armstrong sang with good effect a sacred solo, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing."

In the evening there was even a larger attendance than in the morning; the church was filled in every part, and to such a degree that many could not get admission. The services were unusually interesting and impressive. Rev. Dr. Workman read for the first and second lessons the 4th chapter of the Book of Proverbs and part of the 15th chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, respectively. The Scripture text upon which he founded a most excellent and instructive sermon, was from the 4th chapter of Proverbs:—"Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life."

During the taking of the collection a sacred duet was well given by Miss Smith and Mr. H. Armstrong.

The collections at both services were liberal, and will form an important addition to the funds of the church.

This evening an anniversary tea will be served in the town hall, opposite the church, from 5.30 till 7.30, after which an adjournment will be made to the church, where addresses will be delivered by Rev. R. Roberts, a former pastor of the church, and Rev. G. W. Dewey, of Lindsay, who will also sing two or three solos. The choir will also render a special programme of music. Admission to tea and entertainment 25 cents.

Church Chimes.

Rev. S. J. Shorey passed a busy day on Sunday. He preached anniversary missionary sermons at Mount Pleasant, Ebenezer, and Cavanville—driving thirty-two miles to reach his different destinations, and returning home after the evening service.

The Kingston Whig says:—Hunter and Crossley are satisfied with the way the work is progressing. Already nearly 200 have expressed a desire to lead better lives. Two names of these are now in the hands of the pastors. Some went away during the weeks without intimating who they were.

Rev. Mr. Spence, of Omemee, a brother of Mr. F. S. Spence, of Toronto, the well-known temperance advocate, occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Spence is a young man of evident ability, and his sermons were marked by a depth of thought and eloquence of expression which indicates that he is one of the coming prominent Methodist divines of the country.

At St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, on Sunday morning the services were conducted and the sermon preached by Rev. J. W. McCleary, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of the first bishop of Toronto, Rt. Rev. Dr. Strachan. The sermon gave a graphic review of the life and work of Bishop Strachan and of the progress of the church the past fifty years. When Dr. Strachan was rector of St. James, now St. James Cathedral, Toronto, one of the most stately piles of church buildings in Ontario, Toronto was known as "Muddy Little York" and St. James' church was a comparatively insignificant wooden structure. The career of Bishop Strachan is a part of Canadian history; he was not only first bishop of Toronto, but the third bishop consecrated in British North America. He received his appointment as bishop from the Crown, and after the custom of the times took an active part in public and legislative affairs. Through his efforts Trinity College, Toronto, was established. The address also sketched the wonderful progress of the Church of England in Ontario during the half century. The references to Bishop Strachan were particularly interesting to several members of the congregation of St. Luke's, many of them having been confirmed by Bishop Strachan. The occasion was a most interesting one, and the congregation of St. Luke's are grateful to their pastor for the research, which resulted in so interesting and instructive a discourse.

Carter, the Organist.

He Has Turned up in Toronto—A Rather Mysterious Elopement.

The Carter-Graham elopement last spring caused a nine-days' wonder, and public interest in the scandal is not yet dead, as the frequent enquiry, "Has anything been heard of Carter?" would seem to indicate. But no information has been forthcoming; the two parties seemed to have dropped completely out of sight, though efforts were made to trace them. The mystery surrounding the elopement has been given added interest by the intelligence which has just been received by a person in town. Positive information has arrived that Carter was seen in Toronto a few days ago by some one who knew him, and it is understood that the quondam organist of St. Andrew's is now residing in the Queen City. Mrs. Carter, who has many warm friends in Peterborough, was in town a week or so ago on a visit, and a few days after her return home met Carter, or at least had communication with him, and regained possession of her child, the little girl which he took away with him. Carter also stated to the person who sends the information that he and Miss Graham parted company the afternoon or evening of the day on which they went away together, and that the young woman was now in Nebraska. It is rumored in town that the girl has written to her parents from Nebraska, where, it is said, she is stopping with her sister.

Carter's statements may be true, but the well-informed ones doubt it. It is probable that in a week or ten days the mystery attached to the elopement will be largely solved and more information given to the public.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The annual meeting of St. Luke's Temperance Society was held Friday evening in St. Luke's school room. The attendance was good and the Society is enthusiastic over the coming winter work. The different reports showed that the membership roll is large and the financial standing is quite satisfactory. This society is now in operation over six years and judging from last night's meeting is likely to prosper for many years to come, which is what very few similar societies can boast of. The meetings during the present year will be held on the first and third Mondays of each month, instead of Tuesdays as has been customary in the past. Officers were elected for the coming year. The following is the list in full:—

PRESIDENT.—The Rev. J. W. McCleary.
VICE PRESIDENT.—Mr. J. J. Rooney.
SECRETARY.—Mr. E. R. Bart.
TREASURER.—Mrs. Jackson.
ORGANISTS — Mrs. Orde and Miss Eva Tivey.
COMMITTEE—The above officers and Messrs R. and Wm. Maneice, B Everest and Geo. Cox and Misses Tighe, Mills and Mrs. McCleary.

The committee, having charge of the fitting up of the additional room in the public school, have let the contract of seating to a Toronto firm.

A small boy and girl have sold between them over 150 tickets for the Methodist tea this evening, besides the scores that are being sold by others.

Mr. W. Casthorn, barber, is having new rooms fitted up nearly opposite the Otonabee roller mills, where he will be able to supply the demands of his increasing business.

The brick work of the town hall will be completed this week, if the weather continues fair.

STILL IN THE DARK.

THE ST. JOHN TRAGEDY AS MYSTERIOUS AS EVER.

An Inquest Opened Last Night and Many Witnesses Examined but no New Facts Elicited—A Physician's Theory.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 8.—The enquiry into the death of Mrs. McRae was commenced before Coroner Berryman in the Police Court room last evening. Although thirteen witnesses were examined the public are still in the dark as to the nature of the evidence in the possession of the Solicitor-General. All the witnesses simply testified to the death of Mrs. McRae and to the receiving of the candy. Postoffice Inspector King and others stated that the packages were mailed in this city Tuesday evening previous to 9 o'clock. The investigation was adjourned until this evening at 8 o'clock.

Whatever evidence the Coroner and Solicitor-General have is kept to themselves and very probably will not be divulged for another day at least. The authorities were watching McDonald but they had not all the links connected on Saturday when they felt forced to make the arrest on hearing that the young man intended to go to Fredericton that evening. That the arrest was made on strong evidence is generally believed. McDonald remains calm and self-possessed.

Would Likely Accuse Himself.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—A peculiar proposition is laid down by a prominent Montreal physician who knew McDonald, now under arrest at St. John, N. B., in connection with the poison candy case. This gentleman said that McDonald's dismissal from the employ of the Canadian Pacific railway was due to his religious mania and that his mind was badly deranged before any one there discovered his weakness. "But," said the physician, "his mania is of that peculiar kind that, if McDonald heard of the poisoning and Mrs. McRae's death he would be very likely to go forward and, whether he was guilty or not, declare that it was he himself had sent the candy."

A Missing Diamond Merchant.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—An excited crowd of creditors yesterday filled the office of H. E. Vangelder & Son, dealers in diamonds in Maiden-lane, looking for Emil Vangelder, the youthful manager of the business, who could not be found. Three creditors obtained attachments against the firm aggregating $12,000 on the ground of fraudulent disposal of property. The sheriff could find nothing of value. Emil Vangelder, it is said, has bought $20,000 worth of diamonds on credit since Sept. 30, and a week ago he said he had $40,000 worth of diamonds. Henry K. Vangelder, the father, resides at Amsterdam, Holland, and is said to be worth $1,000,000. Emil claimed to have a capital of $50,000. His liabilities are estimated at $30,000.

A $250,000 Blaze.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—Last evening fire broke out in the three-story brick building attached to Oliver Brothers' rolling mill. When the fire department arrived difficulty was experienced in getting water. The fire spread rapidly and in a short time the machine, blacksmith and carshops and offices were destroyed. The fire started in the engine room and burned before it was discovered the governor strap on the large engine. The engine operating the fans ran at lightning speed. The employes could not get near it and the fire gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived. The loss will reach $250,000. Four hundred men are thrown out of employment.

A French American Convention.

TROY, N. Y. Oct. 8.—A state convention of French-Americans will be held in Troy beginning next week Tuesday. About 150 delegates will be present from all parts of the states. The chief question for discussion is the most efficacious means to promote the naturalization of French-Americans and to interest them in National politics.

THE SPHERE OF SPORT.

Jack McAuliffe Decides to Re-enter the Ring—Baseball and Turf Notes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Jack McAuliffe, the lightweight champion of the world, who has been doing business as a bookmaker at the races is said to have lost heavily. Yesterday he decided to re-enter the prize ring from which he lately retired. He telegraphed to President Findlay of the California Athletic club that he would fight to a finish with Jimmy Carrol of Boston as the latter had offered providing the purse was not less than $5000, the weight to be 135 pounds and the fight to take place between Dec. 1 and 15 at the California Athletic Club. It is likely the fight will come off and if so Jack Dempsey and Bob Drew will train McAuliffe.

MURDER IN HIS HEART.

WHY HAWKINS' VICTIM WENT TO HAMILTON.

It is Said Douglas Planned to Kill an Ambitious City Clergyman—Made Insane by Jealousy.

HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—Some new developments have come to light with reference to the Douglas shooting case, which make it appear that the victim of Policeman Hawkins' chance shot came to Hamilton with a fixed purpose to kill the pastor of Wentworth-street Presbyterian Church, Rev. James Murray. Rev. Mr. Murray was for several years pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Streetsville and Douglas, who was a member of his congregation, conceived a strong dislike for him, which was deepened into a burning hatred by the fact that Douglas fell hopelessly in love with Miss Maggie Webster, who subsequently became the wife of Rev. Mr. Murray. Douglas gave various indications of his enmity and it is said even went so far as to threaten to shoot the pastor.

It was on Dominion Day, 1887, that Douglas first became dangerously violent. On that day he rushed bareheaded and barefooted through the streets of the village, howling and praying, announcing himself as Christ who had come to save the world, and uttering wild, incoherent maledictions in which the names of Mr. Murray and Miss Webster were repeatedly heard. He ran into the telegraph office and wrote out a message which he handed to the operator and ordered him to send it at once. The message was addressed to Rev. Mr. McLaren, of Brampton, moderator of the Streetsville church, and it requested him to come up to Streetsville and marry Douglas and Miss Webster.

For several days after this Douglas made things very lively around town. He made a desperate attempt to abduct or assault a young girl named Monaghan. She was near the railway track in a retired place when Douglas drove by. When he saw her he stopped his horse, jumped down from the carriage and without saying a word seized the girl and dragged her towards the carriage. Her screams were heard by several men at work in Graydon's sawmill and they hurried to her assistance. Douglas showed fight and it was only by employing force that the men could get the girl out of his hands. He became the terror of the village.

It is stated that while in this city Douglas had enquired several times for the residence of the clergyman and that he had been several times, after dark, in the neighborhood of Rev. Mr. Murray's house.

The Ancient Capital.

QUEBEC, Oct. 8.—The Local Government have commissioned Mr. Charles Langelier, M.P., to inquire into the grievances of the navvies on the Baie des Chaleur Railway. These men have not, it seems, been paid for three months, and the government want to know just how matters stand before any more subsidy is paid.

The continued heavy rains of the last few days have had the effect of loosing more rocks from the face of the Champlain street cliff and some pieces are reported to have come down since Saturday night. No casualties have however occurred.

Napoleon Dion was arrested at Point Rouge yesterday by the Provincial Police and brought to town on a charge of firing into a building and wounding one of the inmates, a young lad named Picher. The prisoner was brought before the police magistrate and remanded until the condition of the wounded lad is known.

Two prisoners named Bouchard and Harvey broke jail at Chicoutimi on Friday and escaped. They have gone in the direction of Lake St. John.

Mr. Thomas Lariviere, money-lender, died Sunday evening at his residence 66 Defousses street. Deceased was advanced in years. He amassed a fortune of $400,000 out of his business in the space of about thirty years.

Gone but Not Forgotten.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 8.—About four months ago a lady who called herself Mrs. J. C. Jakeson and said she came from Chicago, opened a store here and named it "The Fair." The stock consisted chiefly of ladies' and children's underwear and of the finest material. All went well and the business done, although not of the briskest, was considered by those who were interested to be on a substantial basis. The result was that a number of our merchants were induced to allow Mrs. Jakeson to obtain such material as she required for the making up of goods upon credit, and yesterday they were asking the question "Where has Mrs. Jakeson gone?" It appears that on Tuesday morning last, she left the store, and informed her clerks that she was going to Toronto to buy goods, and would return the following day. This was the last seen or heard of her.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Government House Burglars Arrested—The New Law School Opened.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—The police of Buffalo have arrested two men named Frank Regan and Patrick Burns on a charge of being the parties who stole $98 and a quantity of jewelry from Government House last week, and recovered $50 of the money and all the jewelry. Detective Slemin left yesterday for Buffalo to bring them back.

At the Assizes yesterday John O. Woods, charged with having, on Nov. 30, 1888, murdered Lillian Maud Charlton, was discharged, the Crown offering no evidence against him. The charges against David Logan, George McCoppin, Robert Paddin of gaming in a bucket shop in Toronto-street were similarly disposed of. The Grand Jury returned a true bill against William Robinson for rape.

Charles McCarty, for resisting arrest and biting Constable Murphy's finger, was sent to the Central Prison for six months. His past record is a bad one.

Mrs. Adams, wife of "Tony" Adams, of this city, has given notice of a suit of divorce in a Chicago court on the ground of adultery cruelty and assault at various times. Mr. Adams, through his solicitors, has sent to Chicago a declaration of defence, stating that Mrs. Adams has been guilty of such conduct as would not entitle her to a divorce. It is said Mr. Adams will apply to the Canadian Parliament for a divorce.

There is a possibility that Michael Birtle, who was shot in the head in a house on Elizabeth street by Louis Dees, may recover. He had several lucid intervals, and seems stronger, but his medical attendants will not allow the Crown officers to make any attempt to secure an ante-mortem statement from him at present. Having a bullet in his brain, the chances of his recovery are few, but the doctors say that there are quite a number of people roaming about the world with bullets in their brains, and therefore they are inclined to hope.

The new Law School was opened yesterday with an address by Hon. Edward Blake.

It is learned here that Rev. R. Longley and Mrs. Longley have gone to Cleveland, O., where Mr. Longley has been called to the pastorate of a leading church.

Major Burke Talks.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—E. A. Burke, ex-Treasurer of Louisiana, who sailed from Liverpool for New York but disembarked at Queenstown and returned to London, says he was called back by urgent telegrams to attend to negotiations relating to his Central American and other properties which were imperilled through the haste in which he had departed. Mr. Burke sent his family on the Teutonic and says he will expedite his business and transfer his powers of attorney, etc. He thinks he can sail within a week. Mr. Burke says he has a single communication from the State officials of Louisiana. Referring to the alleged confession of the reporter Stansbury to the effect that he had pledged illegal bonds for him, Mr. Burke asks if anyone can credit his employing a junior employe on his paper as a trusted confidant to raise cash on invalid coupons. He never employed Stansbury in any confidential business. Mr. Burke says he trusts he will succeed after his return to the United States in discovering how the illegal bonds got afloat. He declines to make the slightest suggestion directing suspicion toward anyone. He declares that the Attorney-General of Louisiana and the others directing the present inquiry are moved by political animosity, and he eagerly awaits the moment when he will confront them in New Orleans. Time after time during the interview Mr. Burke recurred in excited and energetic terms to his anxiety to face his assailants at the earliest possible moment. He is fretting under the disadvantage entailed by his enforced absence from America.

THE BRAIN (from a photograph)
In Healthy Condition. With Paresis Lesions.

These are many well known men confined in our Asylums who but a short time ago were prominent among our business and social circles.

Why are they there?

Paresis!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. He realized that paresis (consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring upon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renew the brain and build up nerve tissues as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a narcotic. It contains no drugs, no nostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer guarantees this, and the indorsement of the medical and chemical Professions prove it.

A BUNDLE OF BY-LAWS.

For the Welfare of the Public.

Regular Meeting of the Town Council—The Sewerage Nuisance in the River—No More Electric Light—Reports of Committees.

At the regular meeting of the town council Monday night all the councillors were present.

A couple of petitions signed by a large number of ratepayers were present, requesting the Mayor to call a public meeting for the purpose of discussing a proposal to hold a winter carnival in Peterborough—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Messrs. John White & Co., of the Ontario Foundry, asked permission to attach stringers to the iron girder of the bridge on Hunter street on which to place a platform to connect with a building they were erecting—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

Fairen, Dolan & Co. applied for a four months' pro rata license for a billiard table—Received.

The Secretary of the Protestant Home wrote, asking for a grant towards the support of Daniel Burgess, an indigent inmate—Received.

A SEWERAGE QUESTION.

Mr. Wm. English called attention to the nuisance caused by the sewerage emptying into the river at the foot of King street, which in low water caused a stench to arise. If the sewerage was carried further out into the current of the river by a pipe the nuisance would be overcome. Mr. Davidson said he thought the council was unanimous on the matter and moved that the communication be referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act. Mr. English addressed the council, and pointed out that the nuisance caused by this sewerage was increasing every year and should be remedied at once.

Mr. ADAM DAWSON called attention to obstructions in the sewer at the corner of Hunter and George streets, which created bad smells. He thought the town engineer should investigate the matter.

Mr. ADAM HALL said the trouble at McClelland's corner was only noticeable when the wind blew from the east. If the sewer was carried out as Mr. English proposes it would do away with the nuisance.

Mr. Davidson's motion was carried.

THE ANNUAL GRANT.

Mr. John Corkery, Secretary of the Mechanics Institute, applied for the annual grant to that institution.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication was read from Mr. Jacob Erratt, mayor of Ottawa, asking the council to appoint representatives to a conference to meet in Toronto the 12th of November for the purpose of considering amendments to the Municipal Act, principally in the matter of exemptions.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Another from Alexander Anderson, of Toronto, asking the council to adopt a system of electric fire alarms for which he was agent.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. C. B. Muir, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, sent in a communication with reference to sewerage.—Received.

LEASING THE STREET.

Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Iron Bridge Works, addressed the Council. He stated that he had erected a new building on the foot of Dalhousie street, and he asked the council to grant him a deed of the land covered by his building.

There was some discussion as to whether the council should or could sell or give the land away, and finally the matter was dropped for the time being. Mr. Law later on presenting the following communication:—

"I beg to petition your honorable body to grant me a perpetual lease of that portion of Dalhousie street now occupied by the new factory recently erected by me, and which was granted for this purpose for a term of twenty years under a former by-law.

Yours Respectfully,
Wm. H. LAW.

The matter was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Thos Irwin	5 40

The committee also recommended that a by-law be prepared granting exemption from taxes on the building proposed to be erected by the G.T.R. Co. for repair shops.

The report was adopted.

FOR CHARITY'S SAKE.

Mr. Adam Hall presented the report of the Charity Committee, showing the disbursements for charity during the months of June, July, August, September to have been been $173.22, apportioned as follows:—No 1 ward, $54.20; No. 2 ward, $93 22; No. 3 ward, $6.40; No. 4 ward $19.40.

The report was adopted.

NO MORE ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Mr. Adam Hall read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, recommending that a hydrant be placed on the corner of McDonel and Downie streets, one at the corner of Brock and Donegal streets and one at the corner of Sherbrooke and Bethune streets. The committee could not recommend the erection of any more electric lamps this year.

Mr. JOHN MCNAUGHTON addressed the council on behalf of the 41 ratepayers who presented a petition to the council a few weeks ago praying for an electric light at the corner of Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. He stated that the railway crossing was a most dangerous one, and the gas lamps in the vicinity were little better than candles, and that sometimes they were put out at half past ten o'clock. He warned the council that if something was not done to protect the public they would be sorry for it.

Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Beptie, that the following be added to the report:—That electric lights be placed at the corner of McDonel and Bethune streets, and McDonel and Park streets.

The motion was lost and the original report adopted.

AN INCREASE OF SALARIES.

Mr. Kemlry read the report of the Committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police, recommending that a suit of clothes and an overcoat be purchased for each of the policemen; and that the salaries of Chas. McGinty and Jos. Stuart be $500 per annum. (Their present salaries are $450.)

The first part of the report was adopted, but there being some objection to the proposed increase of salaries, the matter was left over as a notice of motion.

THE LIGHT BREAD BY-LAW.

Mr. Rutherford presented an amendment to the by-law regulating the weight of bread. The amendment makes a provision that bread must be of legal weight within twenty-four hours after baking.

Mr. E. H. D. HALL and Mr. CAHILL thought it better to leave the matter over till another meeting, urging that it would be better to take time and make the matter right when they did change it, and not hurry through and then perhaps be sorry for it.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said the two councillors objected out of a spirit of opposition. If the by-law was to be considered for six months it could not be bettered one bit. The town solicitor had prepared the by-law and it was intended to remedy the deficiency in the old by-law. They had already had ample time to consider it.

When the matter came to vote the six representatives of the first and second wards voted for Mr. Cahill's amendment that the third reading be deferred till the next meeting; and the remaining five councillors (Mr. Beptie having retired) for Mr. Rutherford's motion to adopt the by-law. The amendment was therefore carried and the third reading left over.

EXEMPTING FROM TAXES.

Mr. Davidson presented a by-law exempting from taxes for ten years the repair shops being erected by the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

The by-law was adopted.

MORE BY LAWS.

Mr. Rutherford presented a by-law regarding the cutting down of trees. The foliage of trees on the streets interferes with the street lights, and the trees needed trimming, so as not to cast such heavy shadows. The by-law was only given a first reading.

Mr. Rutherford's next by law was one to regulate the interment of dead bodies, and prevent such within the limits of the town of Peterborough, excepting Little Lake Cemetery. The third reading of the by-law was left over.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall introduced a by-law to provide for the erection of a new powder magazine and for acquiring land for that purpose. The by-law authorized the mayor to contract for a site for the powder magazine and have it built. The by-law received a second reading.

CLOTHING FOR THE POLICE.

Mr. Hartley moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That the chairman of the Police Supervision Committee be empowered to ask for tenders for one suit of clothes and one overcoat for each member of the police force, tenderers to submit samples of cloths; and that the committee have power to award the contract.—Carried.

Mr. Cahill brought up the question of granting the privilege asked by Fairen & Co., and put in a couple of motions. He was opposed by Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Kendry, and both motions were lost, the council breaking up in disorder a few minutes after eleven o'clock.

IMPROVED SYSTEM OF SEWAGE.

Ontario Ministers and Representative Visitors Inspect the System at Guelph.

GUELPH, Oct. 8.—On invitation of Hon. Charles Drury, Minister of Agriculture, a number of prominent gentlemen from Toronto and other cities who are interested in the question of the disposal of sewage visited Guelph yesterday and were driven out to the College.

The party thoroughly inspected the Porous Carbon Filtration system which was explained to them by Mr. Tully and the contractors. After this and an examination of barns and stables the party sat down to dinner in the College dining hall, Hon. Mr. Drury presiding and Hon. Mr. Ross occupying the vice chair. The usual toasts were proposed and many references were made to the pleasure afforded by the day's visit to Guelph.

Morrison's Fate in the Balance.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 8.—The trial of Morrison has continued still another day. The whole morning yesterday was taken up in argument on legal points raised by the defence and in the afternoon counsel for defence Messrs. Leonard and Greenshields, addressed the jury and were followed by Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick for the Crown. At 5 o'clock the Judge said it was too late to charge the jury and that was postponed until this morning. The feeling here night is that the chances of conviction were much improved by the address on behalf of the Crown.

Fire at Beamsville.

BEAMSVILLE, Oct. 8.—Yesterday morning about 10.30 a fire was discovered in the upper part of the workshop in rear of A. H. Dodsworth's brick furniture store in King-street. The damage was considerable owing to the hasty removal of much of the large stock of furniture and the goods of the general store of George A. Beatty adjoining. The loss is between $2000 and $3000, partly covered by insurance in the Waterloo Mutual. Beatty was not insured. Loss between $500 and $600.

Robbed his Benefactor.

HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—Aaron Sayman, who keeps an old curiosity shop in James street, a few days ago gave a German named Rost, who came from Toronto after the fair, employment, and allowed him to sleep in his shop. Rost is missing and so are these articles: Two ladies' gold watches; two silver watches, one 200 years old and covered with all kinds of figures, bearing the name "D. Cochin"; three pairs of gold earrings; three gold finger rings; four old coins—one Hebrew shekel, stamped "A.S.," and dated 1787; one German dollar, one iron coin of the time of Alexander the Great; an Austrian silver coin, 200 years old; a set of 18-carat gold shirt studs; a walking stick, with silver head, engraved "Aaron Sayman, Hamilton, Canada, 1860," in Hebrew; two pocket knifes, mounted in silver with pearl handles; a small rosewood case and $7 in money.

Suffering at Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 7.—With the thermometer about the freezing point there is a great deal of suffering here these nights among people improperly sheltered and poorly clothed. The relief money intended to supply their necessities even if paid up at once will now come too late to be properly applied in providing against the blasts of winter. The clothing on hand when the commissary shut down has been transferred to the Red Cross Society by whom it will be distributed to the needy. There have been a great many deaths here within the past week and most of them have been supinduced by ailments contracted in the flood. At the Red Cross hospital there are now 22 cases of typhoid fever, most of them being strangers in town.

The Wind-up of a Debauch.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 7.—John Devlin, a deck hand well known as "Shorty Lehigh," was foully murdered here Saturday night as a wind-up to a debauch in which about thirty seamen participated. Devlin was found with his throat cut and head almost severed from his body. Nine of his companions are under arrest and strong circumstances place the crime upon the shoulders of Frank Robinson, also a deck hand, from Detroit. Michael Flinn and Joseph Kennedy, of Chicago, are strongly implicated. Devlin's home is in New York, but he has been sailing on the lakes for several years. He was less than 30 years of age. His remains await the orders of his family.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 7.—Colin Sutherland, the boy who was accidentally shot on Sept. 16, died Friday night.

The Civic Executive Committee has adopted the report of the Industrial Committee recommending the granting of bonuses to the Belleville Rolling Mill Company, the Dominion Hat and Cap Company and Malcom & Son, blanket manufacturers. Bylaws to that effect will be submitted to the council on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Kane Warns Balfour.

BELFAST, Oct. 7.—Dr. Kane, Grand Master of the Orangemen of the district of Belfast, in a published card warns the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, that he will alienate the Orangemen if he proposes any further endowment of Catholic institutions in Ireland. "The Government should rather," continues Dr. Kane, "confer its privileges and emoluments upon every Orange Hall in Ireland as a sign of gratitude to the 150,000 Orangemen pledged to maintain the union."

The Liberal Candidate for Richelieu.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Mr. Hyacinthe Beauchemin of Sorel, a well known iron founder and formerly director in the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, has been selected as the candidate to contest Richelieu for the Dominion Commons in the Liberal interest.

Churchill Talks at Perth.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—In a speech at Perth Lord Randolph Churchill admitted the obligation of the Government to pursue a generous policy toward Ireland. To neglect Ireland he said would be treason to the cause of the Union.

Is a great misfortune and the sight of a bald head should be a warning to you to take the best possible care of your hair. The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 383 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Local Minister Honored.
Rev. P. C. Parker, of the Baptist church has been asked by the Foreign Mission Society of the denomination to speak at the platform meeting at the coming Annual Convention in Ottawa Oct 17th. In 1887 Mr. Parker was the preacher of the Home Mission Society when they met in Jarvis street church, Toronto. As this is the representative gathering of all the Baptist churches in Ontario and Quebec, it is considered no little honor for so young a minister.

Fishermen's Luck.
Mr. T. Fitzgerald's hunting and fishing party are having splendid success at angling for mountain trout. They are camped for the present at Eagle Lake, and the first morning they arrived at the fishing grounds Mr. Fitzgerald himself captured forty fine fish before eleven o'clock, and sent them back to town with the wagon. Every day or so friends of the party in town receive practical tokens of their success at fishing. May they be as lucky at hunting when the season opens.

The Cheese Market.
A regular meeting of the cheese board was held to-day, but no business was done. The factorymen and buyers met with the understanding that contracts were to be made for the balance of the season, and the September and October makes were boarded. From Peterborough 1864 boxes of the last half of September and 2078 of October was offered, as well as 564 and 640 boxes respectively for Victoria section. Liverpool quotations were 51s. An offer of 102s. for selections by Mr. Hodgson was refused by several factories, and no higher bids being forthcoming an adjournment was made for one week.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company are busily engaged turning out orders for mill machinery. They have orders ahead for ten boilers and three engines, with accompanying saw mill machinery. They are shipping this week the machinery of a large saw mill to Arnprior, and Mr. Wm. Hickey, one of their men, is in Richibucto, Que., engaged in setting up machinery for a large saw mill. The Company are working now upon an order for an engine and three boilers, and a refuse burner, for a saw mill on the Pacific Coast. The works are running steadily to supply the demand, and some new machinery has recently been added, one piece being a 30 foot lathe from Bertram & Sons, Dundas, the largest of the kind in Canada.

Hastings' Oddfellows.
On Monday afternoon Dr. R. W. Bell, of Peterborough, Grand Master of the Oddfellows of Ontario, proceeded to Hastings where he instituted a new lodge of the Order, to be known as Hastings Lodge, No 272. He was assisted by J. B. Ferris, D.D. G.M., and several members of Campbellford Lodge, No. 248. The lodge starts out with nine charter members, and thirteen initiates the first night, the ceremony of initiating being conducted by the Campbellford brethren, assisted by Norwood Lodge No. 262. Brethren from Napanee, Peterborough and Stirling were also present. The visiting brethren were entertained in right royal style at the close of the meeting by the members of the new lodge. Few lodges start out under more favorable circumstances, the lodge room being elaborately and comfortably furnished, and with the right class of men to make it a success. Ireland and Home Rule.

What a Visiting Clergyman from the County of Cavan, Ireland, has to Say on the Subject.

Rev. Thomas White, M.A., D.D., from the County of Cavan, Ireland, delivered a lecture in St. Andrew's Church, on Monday evening, on a subject which would be more appropriately entitled "Ireland and Home Rule," than the title by which it was publicly announced, viz.: "Romish Aggression in Ireland and Canada." The lecture was, for the most part, historical and statistical, and dealt chiefly with the condition of Ireland and her people under the various stages of their history from 1670 down to the present day. The fact that the lecturer was a resident of Ireland, and claimed to know whereof he spoke by personal observation and experience, added interest to the lecture, and claimed the closer attention of his hearers It may be mentioned, however, that, while the lecture was interesting, because of the universal desire to listen to the subject wherever announced, comparatively few new points were elucidated that close newspaper readers had not previously an opportunity of knowing. And in this respect the lecture was satisfactory as confirming much that Canadian newspaper readers have already read of Ireland and its grievances.

The church was well filled, the audience being composed about equally of ladies and gentlemen, the young people being also well represented. Rev. Alex. Bell, the pastor of the church, occupied the chair, and, after prayer, introduced the lecturer:

Rev. Mr. White, perfaced his remarks by assuring his hearers that what he had to say was of which he dared denial. While he might say many things that some people whould think bitter and hard, he had no intention of wounding the feelings of any fair-minded Roman Catholic. He occupied a good position with his Roman Catholic brethern in Ireland, and cited an example of the good will which their clergy bore towards him. He was never ashamed of taking the platform along with them, and those who knew him best were good friends to him. Home Rule, the lecturer said, was Rome rule, and there was much for Canadians to ponder over in this respect. It was said why not give Ireland the same kind of Home Rule as Canada enjoyed. The answer was:—It was not possible for Ireland to occupy the same position as Canada. One argument urged by Home Rule agitators, the lecturer said, was that Ireland had been oppressed by England for 700 years. He branded that statement as an untruth, and went over the history of Ireland to prove that the longest period that could be claimed for English tyranny over Ireland is from 1603 to 1889—286 years. Had it not been for the hatred of the Pope against Elizabeth, because of her professions of Protestantism, Ireland might not yet have been subdued by English troops. The lecturer asked: How is it that I and my co religionists are satisfied with the same laws that Home Rulers call oppression? It was because we were law-abiding and they were not. We had nothing to gain by agitation: they had their pockets to fill. Coming down to later periods, he referred to King James' and the persecution which followed; the famine years of 1846 and 1847, and the distress attendant thereon; the munificence of England in sending millions to be distributed amongst all classes, without distinction of creed. Then the prosperous years which followed, that has never been equalled since or before. These prosperous years led to extravagance and want of thrift, which with continued wet seasons, the land refusing to yield its value, the people became discouraged. Then it was that Parnell and his followers began their agitations, and worked upon the excitable minds of the people. These agitators addressed them on the imagined wrongs they had suffered at the hands of the British government, advocated the abolition of landlords and the present policy. What was the result? Anarchy seemed to rule everywhere, landlords were hot down, and if a farmer paid his rent, after the Plan of Campaign was started, he was dragged out and shot. Other daring deeds were perpetrated on men, women, and cattle, by masked desperados. The Crimes Act was passed, and these acts largely prevented. The lecturer then explained the Plan of Campaign, the Land League, National League, and Boycotting, which our readers are all more or less familiar with.

WHAT ENGLAND HAS DONE.

The lecturer said that it had been claimed that England had done nothing for Ireland. He branded that as another untruth. He referred to what England had done for Ireland during the years of famine there; to the Land Acts as favourable to Irish tenants; to the Land Commissioners appointed to value lands and fix rents; to the Arrears Act, by which the tenant got a free receipt, after paying one year's rent and the government another; to the Ashbourne Act, by which money was given to the tenant to buy out his land, &c. Still the cry was, we want the land for the people. Parnell was not agitating for nothing. A $150,000 mortgage against his estate had been wiped off, and $50,000 more placed to his credit in the bank. It was also a cry that the majority of the people of Ireland were in favour of Home Rule. The population of Ireland is less than 5,000,000; the Protestants are nearly one and a half millions. During the election of 1886 exactly half of the Irish electorate declared in favour of Home Rule. He objected to Home Rule—1st, because it would place the soldiers and police in the hands of agitators; 2nd, because the education of our children would be handed over to the Hierarchy; 3rd, because of the desecration of the Sabbath. Send the proper men, the lecturer said, to Parliament—no matter whether they be Liberals or Conservatives—but let them be men true to the country, and Canada would be safe, but not otherwise. If the Jesuit movement in Canada, he said, was allowed a foothold, it would result in exactly the same state of affairs as in Ireland.

The Chairman made a few closing remarks, giving some personal history of his own while in Ireland, after which a vote of thanks to the lecturer was moved by Mr. John Carnegie, seconded by Sergeant Billings, which was carried amid warm expressions of approval. "God Save the Queen" was then sung, and the audience dispersed.

High Court of Justice.

Autumn Assize Sittings.

Tuesday, Oct. 8th.

The fall sittings of the assizes opened here to-day at 10 o'clock, Chief Justice Armour presiding.

The bar was represented by W. R. Riddel, Q.C., in charge of the Crown business, R.E. Wood, C.C.A., E. B. Stone, D. W. Dumble, C.J. Leonard, John O'Meara, E.B. Edwards, John Barnham, Geo. M. Roger, W. H. Moore, J. Hampden Barnham, W. A. Stratton, A. Stevenson, H. H. Hall, J. H. Watson, Toronto, B.B. Osler, Q.C., Toronto, J. W. Carry, Millbrook.

The following names composed the

His Lordship, in addressing the Grand Jury, intimated to them that their duties were very light. There were no prisoners confined in jail, charged with a crime that would come under the attention of the Grand Jury. There was one person out on bail charged with indecent assault, and the nature of the crime and their duty in the premises were pointed out.

The Breach of Promise Case.

Reynolds vs. Jamieson.—It will be remembered that this was tried at the Spring Assizes, before Mr. Justice MacMahon, and the action dismissed A new trial was moved for, an order secured, and the trial of the new case came on this morning. Mrs. Reynolds, the plaintiff, is a widow who resides in Cavan, on the debateable ground between 40 and 50 years of age. She appeared in court modestly dressed in black, though not in mourning. The defendant, who is an elderly gentleman of considerable age, as well as means, appeared in court at the beginning of the case, also attired in black, with an upright collar of the old school, environed by a voluminous black scarf. Several jurors were challenged before the panel was completed. Mr. Edwards, who, with Mr. J. H. Watson, of Toronto, appeared for the plaintiff, opened the case. Mr. Carry, of Smith & Curry, Millbrook, appeared for the defence, with Mr. B. B. Osler, Q. C., associated as counsel. The amount of damages claimed was $30,000.

The first witness called was Mrs. Reynolds, the plaintiff. She recounted the course of the courtship emphasizing the persistence of the seitor, both in person and by his proxy, Mrs. Widdis,—how the latter presented Mr. Jamieson's claims and how the ardent and antique lover on one occasion stretched both arms towards her as he was sitting in his buggy and exclaimed

"COME TO MYSELF, MY DEAR!"

He came to her place to see her and again insisted on osculatory expression to his love, which the widow, considering premature, declined. He repeatedly assured her that all he had should be hers except $6,000 which was to "go to Clara." The defendant detailed to her all his worldly possessions, though on his visits, when he had a hired horse, he did not allow his amorous inclinations to overcome considerations of prudence in regard keeping down his bill for horse hire. The defendant drew her on his knee, kissed her and called her "his own dear." When he could bring himself to allow her to leave his knee to put a stick of wood in the stove, she could hardly get her hand on the stick before he pulled her back on his knee, exclaiming "my heart's gone out after you." The third time she sat on his knee she consented to marry him. "He kissed me and kissed me, and kissed me and said, I think the world of you." She had great trouble sometimes to get away from his embrace. He came to see her ten or eleven times. The engagement was made and the time fixed. The defendant urged her to anticipate the time and she assented and procured the wedding dress. At length his love apparently grew cold, and on one occasion he repudiated the entire arrangement—he "never came to marry her." She ordered him out of the house and never to come back. Before he went he relented, and said he was sorry he vexed her and asked to come back but witness declined to permit it. Subsequently a meeting was arranged and the defendant wanted to marry her, if "Clara (his housekeeper) got married." He said he never came came to her as a fraud, but as a true man to marry her. He said he had done wrong but would make all right. But Clara got married; but the defendant did not come back and he married another.

[Witness was in the throes of Mr. Osler's cross examination as our report closed.]

Queen vs. Quinn—Indecent assault—true bill.

Police Court.

Tuesday, Oct. 8.

An early session of the police court was held this morning.

Jas. Lilley was committed to gaol for six months as a vagrant. It appears according to the evidence that Lilley, who is quite an old man, sponges upon his son for a living, and expresses his gratitude by using insulting and abusive language towards the young man. Being a dutiful son the latter bore with the old man's treatment uncomplainingly, but his wife took up the cudgels in his behalf and yesterday laid an information against the elder Lilley, charging him with being a vagrant without any visible means of support. He was given a half year in the county boarding house.

At the council meeting last night an auditor, while evidently intoxicated, interfered with the proceedings, and was locked up by Chief Reazel. This morning he was fined $2 and costs.

Jimmy Farley arrived at the police station this morning with the welcome intelligence that the neighborhood which has suffered from his presence for several years past, had been relieved from further infliction. Jimmy and his wife have removed to another part of the town, and everything is once more quiet on the Potomac. The charge of being drunk and disorderly hanging over his head was dismissed and Jimmy liberated from further consequences of his recent debauch.

News Nuggets.

—Messrs. Curtis & Sons have made and sold 1,400,000 brick this year, of these over a million have been used in town and the balance shipped to outside places.

Personal.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor arrived home last night.

We Go One Better.
Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carlton keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crashing value he is offering:—8½ lbs. Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Electric Soap, for 25c. 8 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carlton's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw

The Rifle Matches.
The annual matches of the Rifle Association are being held to-day and to morrow. There is a good attendance and the weather is pleasant, though the high wind to-day was against good shooting The result of to-day's firing will be published to-morrow.

Professor Gauthier, of Paris, states that certain vital processes of the body develop putrefying substances in the tissues, which if not speedily eliminated, produce disease. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effects the removal of these substances, and thereby preserves health.

Mark Street Methodism.

Successful Continuation and Conclusion of a Successful Series.

The tea and entertainment which concluded the series of services in connection with the anniversary of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, were of the same successful character of the Sunday service From five to seven-thirty the tables which had been so tastefully prepared and bountifully laden by the ladies of the congregation were thronged. Abundance in quantity, excellence of quality and prompt and smooth service marked the tea portion of the occasion. After refreshments the crowds adjourned to the church which was literally packed. Not only was the whole of the seating room occupied but the standing room was itself crowded and scores patiently stood during the entire evening, and listened with apparent delight to the excellent programme presented.

Rev. A. C. Wilson, pastor, occupied the chair, and briefly introduced the programme which consisted of addresses by Rev. Edward Roberts and Rev. J. W. Dewey of Lindsay.

Rev. Mr. Roberts a former pastor, referred to the pleasant memories of former years wakened by the sight of so many well remembered faces. He said that thirty-one years ago he landed in Peterborough by the old Peterborough and Cobourg railway, and he referred to the vast changes and improvements that had taken place in town and village since that time. "Methodism" was the subject of his address. He said that Methodism originated as a necessity in England for the benefit of humanity, in the same manner that Christ came to earth for the sake of humanity. After recounting its advantages and it superior adaptability to the purposes of spreading true religion, he said the fact of Methodism enjoying the divine favor, was shown by its success. Methodism had now 35,000 ministers, a membership of six and a half millions with twenty millions of adherents. Methodism embraced one-half of the children, and one-third of the population of Ontario and one-fifth of the population of the Dominion. Rev. Mr. Roberts' address was accompanied by numerous humorous anecdotes, told with a spice of dry humour, which the audience greatly enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Dewey's address was of quite a different character—his subject, "My Father's Family" He pointed out how the religion of Christ made all the children of a common father, and showed how the fatherhood of God should lead his children to regard each other as brothers and sisters in a practical manner. A great deal of excellent advice accompanied this address, which was extremely fervid, earnest and impressive.

Perhaps the most pleasing feature of the evening was the soul-stirring singing of Rev. Mr. Dewey, who gave, in fine voice, with great taste and earnestness, four or five sacred solos, the pathos of some moving his hearers to tears. In all his singing and speaking he never seems to forget his sacred calling, and never loses an opportunity of impressing the supreme importance of serving God upon his hearers.

The choir were, also, very liberal in their contributions to the music. Some of the anthems they sang were executed with especial excellence.

At the conclusion of the regular programme, votes of thanks, moved by Mr. Thos. Johnston and Mr. Henry Noyes, were tendered the persons who had been active in contributing to the success of the evening's entertainment, which corresponded in this respect with the whole series of services.

The financial results were more gratifying, the sum of $122 clear of expenses being realized. The collections on Sunday amounted to $11. The whole expenses in connection with the anniversary were $ 8.

Valuable prizes were offered for the most successful ticket sellers. Hodder Wilson took the first prize, a silver watch, he having sold 140 tickets for the tea and entertainment, Miss Dawson coming second with 89, Ada Mitchell 46, Minnie Hamilton 37, John Reid 35, Katie Hooper 34, Jas. Fowler 30, Robert Dormer 23, Lena Nelson 22, Maggie Agnew 20, Geo. Cook 7, Miss Rummins 5, John Shandon 4.

JOE PERCY SWEPT THROUGH THE NIAGARA RAPDIS.

While Rowing on the River Below the Falls He Breaks an Oar and is Drawn Into the Whirlpool Alive but Dying.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 9.—A report was current at an early hour yesterday morning that Joe Percy of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., had been carried through the rapids below the old suspension bridge. Frank Barnett, a photographer also of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., was the first to substantiate this report. He claims to have been in Percy's company yesterday morning duck shooting on the river just below the falls. They were successful in killing a number of ducks but having no dog to bring them in were compelled to go after them in the boat. Percy, who was doing this is said by Barnett to have broken one of the oars and losing control of the boat was carried down into the rapids and thence into the whirlpool where Frank Powell, of this place, who was also duck shooting, noticed the body from the strange actions of his dog. Assistance was at once procured and the body brought ashore. The man was still alive. Medical assistance was at once procured and Percy placed in bed at the Whirlpool Hotel where every attention was given him. A few minutes after Barnett arrived white as a ghost and related the story as above. Percy is just alive and the doctor has little hope of his recovery.

The St. John Mystery.

ST. JOHN, Oct. 9.—The enquiry into the death of Mrs. McRae lasted until after 11 o'clock last night. Still nothing of importance was brought to light. W. F. Best, analytical chemist, was the most important witness. He said that he had discovered strychnine in sufficient quantities in the stomach of deceased to cause death, and also that in the confectionery handed to him as received by McRae, Damstadt, Desoyres and Shaw there was strychnine on each piece ranging from half a drachm to two drachms. Who gave information which led to the arrest of McDonald is still a deep mystery. The investigation will be continued to-night.

KINGSTON, Oct. 8.—A victim of misplaced confidence is Mr. Farrell, a street car driver, who, while having a time with a government official and other friends, was robbed. He was driving and was not conscious of where he went. When he arrived home he missed $58. Where his money went is a mystery both to himself and Kingston's detectives. NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

MR. M'CARTHY'S EQUAL RIGHTS SPEECH AT MONTREAL.

Seizure of a Herd of Cattle by Customs Officials—Burglars With a Taste for Beauty—Fishermen Drowned.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—The equal rights meeting in the Queen's Hall last night was a large one. There were many mottoes displayed in the hall and the usual enthusiasm for the speakers. Dr. Davidson presided and among those on the platform were D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M. P., Rev. Principal MacVicar and Professor Scrimger. Dr. Davidson, in opening the meeting, apologized for the unavoidable absence of His Lordship the Bishop of Montreal and several others.

Then the speaker of the evening, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, began his address by making a lengthy excuse for being the recipient of so much honor. [Cheers] He admitted that so far as the Jesuits' Estates Act was concerned the time had elapsed during which time they could have obtained its disallowance. This act was the outcome of a system which has been permitted by the approval of the Dominion since Confederation and more especially as regards the Province of Quebec, but he was glad to say that the people had decided that this system must now cease. The day has arrived when the heierarchy of the Province of Quebec must come to an end and in this Canada of ours equal rights must be accorded to all. [Applause.] Thus it might be said this Jesuit question was really a blessing in disguise, inasmuch as it served to awaken the people of Quebec to a knowledge of their position.

Equal rights was the question of the hour and upon it the parties would be divided at the next general election. Not merely was the dual language calculated to keep people apart but also bringing up children in the Separate Schools. It was classes against masses. He urged his hearers not to be downhearted, for he believed that if at the next elections men were sent to Parliament who would boldly declare they were in favor of equal rights for all they would not stand alone on the floor of the House.

In conclusion he said: "Let their policy be abolition of dual language in Manitoba and the Northwest, let their policy be, as far as Ontario was concerned, teaching in the public schools which was in accordance with the laws of the province and not the foreign law which had too long been tolerated in the eastern townships of Ontario."

The following was then adopted unanimously: "This meeting protests against the acceptance of the $60,000 offered to Protestants in the Jesuits' Estates Act, because such acceptance involves acquiescence in the unjust and dangerous principles of said act."

Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Custom officials seized a herd of 325 cattle belonging to Conrad & Co., near Fort McLeod a few days ago, alleging that the animals have been smuggled into the country from Montana. The herd is valued at $9000 and this is the third time cattle belonging to the same firm have been seized.

The claim of the St. Catharines Milling and Lumbering Company against the Dominion Government for damages on account of the Government's failure to maintain them in possession of certain timber limits will be tried before Judge Burbidge in the Exchequer Court on Nov. 5.

Burglars With an Eye to Beauty.

HALIFAX, Oct. 9.—Burglars robbed two shops in Black's block in Amherst early yesterday morning by breaking a window in the rear. The safe of C. S. McLeod's jewelry shop was forced open and about $2000 worth of gold watches, watches left for repairs and diamond jewelry were stolen. Miller's tea store next door was robbed of canned goods, $5 in silver and a small chest of tea, in all about $23 worth. About a dozen photos of Miller's lady friends were also carried off.

Two Fishermen Drowned.

HALIFAX, Oct. 9.—Yesterday while Amos Martin and his son of Liverpool were returning from their nets during a southeast gale their boat was capsized and both men were drowned. Their bodies have been recovered.

The Ambitious City Will Fight.

HAMILTON, Oct. 9.—The city will oppose the building of the spur line by the Grand Trunk through Gage's farm on which enterprise the railway are preparing to enter at once. The right of way has been bought by the company from Mr. Gage for $2000. The ground of the city's objection is that at the time the old Northern and Northwestern Railway was built the city of Hamilton voted large sums of bonuses, and one of the stipulations when the last payment was made, was that there should be no branch connecting the Northern with any other road, except within the limits of the city.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 9.—William Lees, the 17-year-old son of Thomas Lees, has met with an accident which resulted in the loss of his arm. He went out shooting in the woods a short distance from Waterdown and while going over a fence the gun went off and shot him in the arm. After a consultation the doctors decided to amputate the arm near the shoulder.

Mr. Alexander Ramsay, superintendent of the Canada Life Assurance Company and son of Mr. A. G. Ramsay, president of the company, died at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning from consumption, the result of a cold contracted last July.

The Times advocates the establishment of a line of steamers from Port Dover to Erie, Pa., to catch the Ohio excursion business and divert the trade of the peninsula which now goes to Buffalo to this city.

Five More Bodies.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 9.—Five dead bodies were taken out of the Stony Creek River yesterday by workmen removing filth and rubbish. Many more bodies will likely be brought to light.

They Will Taste the Cat.

GUELPH, Oct. 9.—William Leader, Patrick Steady and William Turnbull, jr., the three young men found guilty of indecent assault upon Elizabeth Richardson, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Drew to two years in the Central Prison and each to receive 30 lashes during his term of imprisonment. Two of the convicts are married.

Convicted of Larceny.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 9.—A man who gave his name as Edward Berry, alias McLaughlin, was yesterday convicted in the Police Court of stealing an overcoat and pair of braces and was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison. The prisoner hails from Toronto and is supposed to be a professional thief.

Lost Two Passengers.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 9.—The steamship City of Paris reports that her decks were swept by heavy seas Monday. A female steerage passenger and her child were swept overboard and drowned and ten other passengers were seriously injured. The saloon was flooded.

EDMUND YATES' GOSSIP

A NEWSY CABLE ABOUT GRAND PERSONS AND THINGS.

The Reports of Turkish Atrocities in Crete Confirmed—Captain Lawler Arraigned and Remanded.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The relations between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh are being commented upon freely, and the Duke's studied neglect of the Duke and Duchess of Fife while he was in Balmoral no doubt led the public to believe that there has been a disagreement on the question of the Duke of Fife's marriage. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh disliked the connection on the ground that they objected to a daughter of the heir-apparent marrying a subject, and, no doubt the refusal of the Duchess of Fife to listen to the addresses of Grand Duke Michael intensified the feeling. The greatest secrecy is observed on the question among those about the court, but there is no doubt that the above are the facts. Apart from the Princess' refusal to marry Grand Duke Michael, it seems a little ridiculous to make a fuss over the Duke of Fife's connection and to tolerate the Battenb rg alliance. It seems to be well admitted that for the future the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh will live only a small part of their time in England. The recent rules made by the Czar as to the necessity of those members of the royal family in Russia who enjoy incomes from the crown, living at a certain time of the year in Russia will oblige the Duchess to live in that country more than she hitherto has done. The loss of the Sultan has annoyed and worried the Duke of Edinburgh, and the criticisms of the press have angered him greatly, and the Fife marriage has been the last straw to the load of grievances. The Duke of Edinburgh never has been very popular in England, and his departure will be taken with equanimity. He and the Duchess will come over from time to time to see the Queen, and they will still retain Clarence House, but will not take another place in this country.

There were private theatricals and tableaux at Balmoral on Monday of last week, in which Princess Beatrice, Prince Henry, Princess Alice and the hereditary Grand Duke of Hess took part. These annual performances are always organized by Prince Henry, who is a good actor, and the Queen greatly enjoys them. When the first was given three years ago they were an innovation, but as the Queen likes them they have become an annual institution.

It is evident that the Prince of Wales doesn't entertain the intention which is attributed to him of considerably reducing his farming operations at Sandringham, for several Shorthorns were bought for the royal herds at Wolferton and at Babingley at both the Holker and Badminton sales.

I have reason to believe that, if the Prince of Wales ever entertained an idea of going on to Suakim in the course of his impending visit to Egypt, he has been dissuaded from the project, a result which will relieve from serious anxiety those who are conversant with the insalubristy of Suakim.

I hear that Lord Galloway has completed a convincing answer to the charge from which the Home Rule newspapers of Scotland have industriously endeavored to derive a little political capital during the past three or four weeks. Lord Galloway has received many marks of sympathy from his friends, and both Lord Salisbury and the Earl of Derby are thoroughly convinced of his innocence. John Blair Balfour, Q.C., who has twice been Mr. Gladstone's lord advocate, will conduct the defense.

It is a curious fact that the pheasants, which are now killed in Scotland by thousands, were first introduced in that country only about ninety years ago. The Duke of Athole attempted to acclimatize them in the extensive woods around Dudkeld, but failed, but the Duke of Buccleg was more successful in the border counties. He introduced them, after a successful trial at Dalkeith Park, at Bowhill, in Selkirkshire, and in Dumfrieshire. Both at Langholm and at Dromlanrig, Fifeshire, the pheasants are now regarded as being the finest, just as Caithness yields the best grouse and East Lothian the best partridges. George IV. sent pheasants out of fashion for a long time by repeatedly announcing that he didn't care for them, but infinitely preferred good fowl.

The executors under the will of Wilkie Collins are his friend, Sebastian Schlesinger of Wilton place, and Solicitor Henry Bartley. He has left a fortune of upwards of £20,000, including the estimated value of his small but very choice collection of pictures and old furniture, and a splendid library, all of which will be sold in the course of the next few months.

It is only a few days ago that the first copy of a sixpenny edition of Westward Ho appeared on the bookstalls, and 100,000 copies are in circulation, with a growing demand for a like number. EDMUND YATES.

Turkish Atrocities in Crete.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Daily News prints a letter from Crete which confirms the report that Chakir Pasha, the Governor, allowed the Turkish troops to pillage and persecute the Christians after gaining their confidence by promises of protection. The letter gives a list of the killed, banished and imprisoned and describes the atrocities in detail.

Captain Lawler Remanded.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Captain Lawler of the boat Neversink was brought before the magistrate at Portsmouth yesterday and charged with attempt to murder. The prisoner was remanded pending the recovery of the bailiff who was shot by Lawler aboard the Neversink. Judge McMay of South Carolina and the United States vice-consul were present.

Spain's Honor Satisfied.

TANGIER, Oct. 9.—In reparation for the recent outrage by Riffians on Spanish sailors the shore batteries of this harbor yesterday honored the Spanish flag with a salute of 21 guns. The Spanish ironclad Pelago responded.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

Meeting of the General Board at London—Scale of Appropriations.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The General Methodist Board of Missions met in the Queens-avenue Methodist Church yesterday morning, General Superintendent Rev. Dr. Carman presiding.

Committees were appointed and this scale of appropriations adopted: Married ministers in towns and cities $900, in Manitoba $900, in Newfoundland, $800, in British Columbia a 1 Pacific coast $1000, in other missions $750; single ordained and unordained ministers in British Columbia and Pacific coast $600-$500, Manitoba $450, Newfoundland $450-$400, other missions $400-$350.

The financial report showed, as compared with 1887-88, a decrease in income of $4380, while the expenditure shows an increase of $15,522.

Jarvis Makes Another Break for Liberty—Garsman O'Connor Banqueted.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—Charles Jarvis and George Sanderson, committed for trial yesterday on charges of burglary, were placed in the customary room at Headquarters on the arrival of the van to take them to the jail. The constable in charge closed but did not lock the door whilst he was signing the transfer receipt in the office opposite. Quick as lightning Jarvis and Sanderson opened the door and rushed out at terrific speed. They were followed but not re-captured till Jarvis had sought refuge in a restaurant in Adelaide street east and Sanderson had reached Wellington street east. P. C. Black collared the jail-breaker and P. C. Dempsey captured Sanderson. They are now once more under Governor Green's care.

F. X. Cousineau, who was before the Police Magistrate on Monday, charged by a former employe at the Bon Marche, E. H. Hamilton, with perjury, was again before the court yesterday. A similar charge was also preferred against William Ross. The case was further enlarged until to-day.

Chief Justice Galt yesterday decided that the Mayor of Windsor shall not be compelled to give Chief Constable Whittaker an order on the Town Treasurer for his salary and refused to give a peremptory order for that purpose, but holds that the proper course for Constable Whittaker to pursue is to bring an action against the town for the amount due him.

Since Sept. 16 last a youth named Walter R. Brunnell, who, according to his own account, hailed from Buffalo, has been staying at the Palmer House in this city. This highflyer turns out to be none other than Walter B. Foster, of Penfold, N. Y., who is wanted by the Rochester authorities on a charge of having embezzled a large amount of money from the McCormick Reaper Co., at Rochester, where he was employed for six years. He was placed under arrest upon a charge of forgery. Foster admitted his guilt to the detectives, and expressed his willingness to return to Rochester without causing the trouble of extradition proceedings. He was accordingly sent back yesterday.

An Arab Merchant's Complaint.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Mr. Ben-Esculi, an Arab merchant from Tangier, Morocco, appeared at the White House yesterday in Arabian costume and through an interpreter laid before the President his complaint against United States Consul Lewes of Tangier. Ben-Esculi placed himself under the consul's protection and two years ago he asserts that the consul had him arrested for alleged conspiracy to kill a debtor. After being kept in jail nearly a year Ben-Esculi was released investigation having disproved the charge. He asks that suitable reparation be made him. The President sent Ben-Esculi to Secretary Blaine, who will investigate the case.

The Deadly Electric Wire.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A lineman yesterday received a shock from a wire which came in contact with his body and which rendered him senseless, causing him to fall across a string of wires on top of the pole. The Montana Election.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 9.—The election of Toole (Dem.) for Governor is now conceded by a majority of from 300 to 600. Carter (Rep.) for Congress has 1000 majority. The general opinion is that there will be no contest and that the Democrats will have the Governor and the Legislature.

IN THE WHIRLPOOL

JOE PERCY SWEPT THROUGH THE NIAGARA RAPIDS.

While Rowing on the River Below the Falls He Breaks an Oar and is Drawn Into the Maelstrom Alive but Dying.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 9.—A report was current at an early hour yesterday morning that Joe Percy of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., had been carried through the rapids below the old suspension bridge. Frank Barnett, a photographer also of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., was the first to substantiate this report. He claims to have been in Percy's company yesterday morning duck shooting on the river just below the falls. They were successful in killing a number of ducks but having no dog to bring them in were compelled to go after them in the boat. Percy, who was doing this is said by Barnett to have broken one of the oars and losing control of the boat was carried down into the rapids and thence into the whirlpool where Frank Powell, of this place, who was also duck shooting, noticed the body from the strange actions of his dog. Assistance was at once procured and the body brought ashore. The man was still alive. Medical assistance was at once procured and Percy placed in bed at the Whirlpool Hotel where every attention was given him. A few minutes after Barnett arrived white as a ghost and related the story as above. Percy is just alive and the doctor has little hope of his recovery.

The St. John Mystery

ST. JOHN, Oct. 9.—The enquiry into the death of Mrs. McRae lasted until after 11 o'clock last night. Still nothing of importance was brought to light. W. F. Best, analytical chemist, was the most important witness. He said that he had discovered strychnine in sufficient quantities in the stomach of deceased to cause death, and also that in the confectionery handed to him as received by McRae, Damstadt, Denoyres and Shaw there was strychnine on each piece ranging from half a drachm to two drachms. Who gave information which led to the arrest of McDonald is still a deep mystery. The investigation will be continued to-night.

Farrell Had a Time

KINGSTON, Oct. 8.—A victim of misplaced confidence is Mr. Farrell, a street car driver, who, while having a time with a government official and other friends, was robbed. He was driving and was not conscious of where he went. When he arrived home he missed $58. Where his money went is a mystery both to himself and Kingston's detectives. Mr. Farrell was robbed of a watch and chain not many nights ago.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

MR. M'CARTHY'S EQUAL RIGHTS SPEECH AT MONTREAL.

Seizure of a Herd of Cattle by Customs Officials—Burglars With a Taste for Beauty—Fishermen Drowned.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—The equal rights meeting in the Queen's Hall last night was a large one. There were many mottoes displayed in the hall and the usual enthusiasm for the speakers. Dr. Davidson presided and among those on the platform were D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M. P., Rev. Principal MacVicar and Professor Scrimger. Dr. Davidson, in opening the meeting, apologized for the unavoidable absence of His Lordship the Bishop of Montreal and several others.

Then the speaker of the evening, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, began his address by making a lengthy excuse for being the recipient of so much honor. [Cheers] He admitted that so far as the Jesuits' Estates Act was concerned the time had elapsed during which time they could have obtained its disallowance. This act was the outcome of a system which has been permitted by the approval of the Dominion since Confederation and more especially as regards the Province of Quebec, but he was glad to say that the people had decided that this system must now cease. The day has arrived when the heiearchy of the Province of Quebec must come to an end and in this Canada of ours equal rights must be accorded to all. [Applause.] Thus it might be said this Jesuit question was really a blessing in disguise, inasmuch as it served to awaken the people of Quebec to a knowledge of their position.

Equal rights was the question of the hour and upon it the parties would be divided at the next general election. Not merely was the dual language calculated to keep people apart but also bringing up children in the Separate Schools. It was classes against masses. He urged his hearers not to be downhearted, for he believed that if at the next elections men were sent to Parliament who would boldly declare they were in favor of equal rights for all they would not stand alone on the floor of the House.

In conclusion he said: "Let their policy be abolition of dual language in Manitoba and the Northwest, let their policy be, as far as Ontario was concerned, teaching in the public schools which was in accordance with the laws of the province and not the foreign law which had too long been tolerated in the eastern townships of Ontario."

The following was then adopted unanimously: "This meeting protests against the acceptance of the $60,000 offered to Protestants in the Jesuits' Estates Act, because such acceptance involves acquiescence in the unjust and dangerous principles of said act."

Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Customs officials seized a herd of 325 cattle belonging to Conrad & Co., near Fort McLeod a few days ago, alleging that the animals have been smuggled into the country from Montana. The herd is valued at $8000 and this is the third time cattle belonging to the same firm have been seized.

The claim of the St. Catharines Milling and Lumbering Company against the Dominion Government for damages on account of the Government's failure to maintain them in possession of certain timber limits will be tried before Judge Burbidge in the Exchequer Court on Nov. 5.

Burglars With an Eye to Beauty.

HALIFAX, Oct. 9.—Burglars robbed two shops in Black's block in Amherst early yesterday morning by breaking a window in the rear. The safe of C. S. McLeod's jewelry shop was forced open and about $2000 worth of gold watches, watches left for repairs and diamond jewelry were stolen. Miller's tea store next door was robbed of canned goods, $5 in silver and a small chest of tea, in all about $25 worth. About a dozen photos of Miller's lady friends were also carried off.

Two Fishermen Drowned.

HALIFAX, Oct. 9.—Yesterday while Amos Martin and his son of Liverpool were returning from their nets during a southeast gale their boat was capsized and both men were drowned. Their bodies have been recovered.

The Ambitious City Will Fight.

HAMILTON, Oct. 9.—The city will oppose the building of the spur line by the Grand Trunk through Gage's farm on which enterprise the railway are preparing to enter at once. The right of way has been bought by the company from Mr. Gage for $2000. The ground of the city's objection is that at the time the old Northern and Northwestern Railway was built the city of Hamilton voted large sums of bonuses, and one of the stipulations when the last payment was made, was that there should be no branch connecting the Northern with any other road, except within the limits of the city.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 9.—William Lees, the 17-year-old son of Thomas Lees, has met with an accident which resulted in the loss of his arm. He went out shooting in the woods a short distance from Waterdown and while going over a fence the gun went off and shot him in the arm. After a consultation the doctors decided to amputate the arm near the shoulder.

Mr. Alexander Ramsay, superintendent of the Canada Life Assurance Company and son of Mr. A. G. Ramsay, president of the company, died at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning from consumption, the result of a cold contracted last July.

The Times advocates the establishment of a line of steamers from Port Dover to Erie, Pa., to catch the Ohio excursion business and divert the trade of the peninsula which now goes to Buffalo to this city.

Two of the convicts are married.

Convicted of Larceny.

A NEWSY CABLE ABOUT GRAND PERSONS AND THINGS.

The Reports of Turkish Atrocities in Crete Confirmed—Captain Lawler Arraigned and Remanded.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The relations between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh are being commented upon freely, and the Duke's studied neglect of the Duke and Duchess of Fife while he was in Balmoral no doubt led the public to believe that there has been a disagreement on the question of the Duke of Fife's marriage. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh disliked the connection on the ground that they objected to a daughter of the heir-apparent marrying a subject, and, no doubt the refusal of the Duchess of Fife to listen to the addresses of Grand Duke Michael intensified the feeling. The greatest secrecy is observed on the question among those about the court, but there is no doubt that the above are the facts. Apart from the Princess' refusal to marry Grand Duke Michael, it seems a little ridiculous to make a fuss over the Duke of Fife's connection and to tolerate the Battenberg alliance. It seems to be well admitted that for the future the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh will live only a small part of their time in England. The recent rules made by the Czar as to the necessity of those members of the royal family in Russia who enjoy incomes from the crown, living at a certain time of the year in Russia will oblige the Duchess to live in that country more than she hitherto has done. The loss of the Sultan has annoyed and worried the Duke of Edinburgh, and the criticisms of the press have angered him greatly, and the Fife marriage has been the last straw to the load of grievances. The Duke of Edinburgh never has been very popular in England, and his departure will be taken with equanimity. He and the Duchess will come over from time to time to see the Queen, and they will still retain Clarence House, but will not take another place in this country.

There were private theatricals and tableaux at Balmoral on Monday of last week, in which Princess Beatrice, Prince Henry, Princess Alice and the hereditary Grand Duke of Hess took part. These annual performances are always organized by Prince Henry, who is a good actor, and the Queen greatly enjoys them. When the first was given three years ago they were an innovation, but as the Queen likes them they have become an annual institution.

It is evident that the Prince of Wales doesn't entertain the intention which is attributed to him of considerably reducing his farming operations at Sandringham, for several Shorthorns were bought for the royal herds at Wolferton and at Babingley at both the Holker and Badminton sales.

I have reason to believe that, if the Prince of Wales ever entertained an idea of going on to Suakim in the course of his impending visit to Egypt, he has been dissuaded from the project, a result which will relieve from serious anxiety those who are conversant with the insalubrisity of Suakim.

I hear that Lord Galloway has completed a convincing answer to the charge from which the Home Rule newspapers of Scotland have industriously endeavored to derive a little political capital during the past three or four weeks. Lord Galloway has received many marks of sympathy from his friends, and both Lord Salisbury and the Earl of Derby are thoroughly convinced of his innocence. John Blair Balfour, Q.C., who has twice been Mr. Gladstone's lord advocate, will conduct the defense.

It is a curious fact that the pheasants, which are now killed in Scotland by thousands, were first introduced in that country only about ninety years ago. The Duke of Athole attempted to acclimatize them in the extensive woods around Dudkeld, but failed, but the Duke of Buccluc was more successful in the border counties. He introduced them, after a successful trial at Dalkeith Park, at Bowhill, in Selkirkshire, and in Dumfrieshire. Bosh at Langholm and at Drumlanrig, Fifeshire, the pheasants are now regarded as being the finest, just as Caithness yields the best grouse and East Lothian the best partridges. George IV. sent pheasants out of fashion for a long time by repeatedly announcing that he didn't care for them, but infinitely preferred good fowl.

The executors under the will of Wilkie Collins are his friend, Sebastian Schlesinger of Wilton place, and Solicitor Henry Bartley. He has left a fortune of upwards of £20,000, including the estimated value of his small but very choice collection of pictures and old furniture, and a splendid library, all of which will be sold in the course of the next few months.

It is only a few days ago that the first copy of a sixpenny edition of Westward Ho appeared on the bookstalls, and 100,000 copies are in circulation, with a growing demand for a like number. EDMUND YATES.

Turkish Atrocities in Crete.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Daily News prints a letter from Crete which confirms the report that Chakir Pasha, the Governor, allowed the Turkish troops to pillage and persecute the Christians after gaining their confidence by promises of protection. The letter gives a list of the killed, banished and imprisoned and describes the atrocities in detail.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Jarvis Makes Another Break for Liberty—Carnman O'Connor Banqueted.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—Charles Jarvis and George Sanderson, committed for trial yesterday on charges of burglary, were placed in the customary room at Headquarters on the arrival of the van to take them to the jail. The constable in charge closed but did not lock the door whilst he was signing the transfer receipt in the office opposite. Quick as lightning Jarvis and Sanderson opened the door and rushed out at terrific speed. They were followed but not re-captured till Jarvis had sought refuge in a restaurant in Adelaide street east and Sanderson had reached Wellington street east. P. C. Black collared the jail-breaker and P. C. Dempsey captured Sanderson. They are now once more under Governor Green's care.

F. X. Cousineau, who was before the Police Magistrate on Monday, charged by a former employe at the Bon Marche, E. H. Hamilton, with perjury, was again before the court yesterday. A similar charge was also preferred against William Ross. The case was further enlarged until to-day.

Chief Justice Galt yesterday decided that the Mayor of Windsor shall not be compelled to give Chief Constable Whittaker an order on the Town Treasurer for his salary and refused to give a peremptory order for that purpose, but holds that the proper course for Constable Whittaker to pursue is to bring an action against the town for the amount due him.

Almost all the graduates of Wycliffe College are in the city renewing old acquaintances and taking part in the four-days meeting of the Alumni Association. The sessions commenced yesterday morning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunlop, mother-in-law of Mr. Robert Hay, ex-M.P., died at the residence of that gentleman, on St. George-street last night. The deceased lady was in her 86th year.

Carsman O'Connor was banquetted at the Albion Hotel last night and presented with a purse of $1000.

Since Sept. 16 last a youth named Walter R. Brunnell, who, according to his own account, hailed from Buffalo, has been staying at the Palmer House in this city. This highflyer turns out to be none other than Walter B. Foster, of Penfold, N. Y., who is wanted by the Rochester authorities on a charge of having embezzled a large amount of money from the McCormick Reaper Co., at Rochester, where he was employed for six years. He was placed under arrest upon a charge of forgery. Foster admitted his guilt to the detectives, and expressed his willingness to return to Rochester without causing the trouble of extradition proceedings. He was accordingly sent back yesterday.

An Arab Merchant's Complaint.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Mr. Ben-Eseull, an Arab merchant from Tangier, Morocco, appeared at the White House yesterday in Arabian costume and through an interpreter laid before the President his complaint against United States Consul Lewes of Tangier. Ben-Eseuli placed himself under the consul's protection and two years ago he asserts that the consul had him arrested for alleged conspiracy to kill a debtor. After being kept in jail nearly a year Ben-Eseull was released investigation having disproved the charge. He asks that suitable reparation be made him. The President sent Ben-Eseull to Secretary Blaine, who will investigate the case.

The Deadly Electric Wire.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A lineman yesterday received a shock from a wire which came in contact with his body and which rendered him senseless, causing him to fall across a string of wires on top of the pole. Another lineman tried to save him but he fell through the wires into the street crushing in his skull. When the live wire touched him people in the street saw a blue flame and a grayish smoke arising from the flesh.

The Montana Election.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 9.—The election of Toole (Dem.) for Governor is now conceded by a majority of from 300 to 600. Carter (Rep.) for Congress has 1000 majority. The Democrats claim the Legislature by seven. The Republicans will not concede as much but say that on the face of the returns it is Democratic but claim fraud in Silver Bow and Deer Lodge Counties. The general opinion is that there will be no contest and that the Democrats will have the Governor and the Legislature.

Canadian Knights in the Line.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In the twelfth and last division of the Knights Templar parade yesterday there marched the Albert Edward preceptory of Winnipeg, Man., Geoffry de St. Aldesmar preceptory of Toronto and Godfrey de Bouillion preceptory of Hamilton. There were over 20,000 men in line and the parade was reviewed by the President.

Fire Losses.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The great amphitheatre of the School of Medicine was burned yesterday.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 9.—Nearly all the business portion of Rocky Mount has been burned. About a dozen stores and other buildings were consumed. The loss is $50,000. The fire is believed to have been incendiary.

Royal Templars of Temperance.

A Flourishing Organization Occupies a Permanent Home—Description of the Hall—A Delightful Entertainment to Celebrate the Occasion.

Improvement is infectious—at least among the societies of the town. One after the other has provided itself with a new hall. The Royal Templars of Temperance, Council No. 97, are the latest to provide themselves with a new home. This organization is a temperance benefit society whose obligations require total abstinence as a condition membership, and whose membership confers an assurance indemnity of $2000. It has been organized in town several years, but until recently, it has been in a dormant or rather somnolent condition, but last year the organization underwent a marked revival and now it enjoys a flourishing existence, and with a membership of eighty, which is constantly receiving additions, it is doing a good work. At the time of laying, as it were, the corner stone of a new hall, instead of putting the names of the officials in a leaden casket, they may be as well preserved by embalming them in the imperishable pages of the EXAMINER. The officers for the current term is as follows:—

S R Armstrong	P S C
Miss Sanderson	S C
Barton Earle	V S C
Dr Fife	Fin Sec
J. Turner	Rec Sec
H Lindsay	Chaplain
G J Early	H
Mrs Lindsay	D H
Mrs Lousley	I G
— Martin	O G

Miss Owens and Mrs J W Moore pianistes

The present flourishing condition of this organization found one form of expression in that of a

NEW TEMPLAR'S HALL,

which is situated on the third story of the Lynch block, Hunter street. From the landing an auto chamber, 12x12 feet, gives admission to the main hall, 27x50 feet, and elegantly fitted. The ceiling, which is high, is delicately tinted in primrose, while the walls are tinted a harmonizing shade of buff. A broad, bright border surrounds the ceiling, and a wide ornamental dado extends around the room. The whole appearance is bright, cheerful and tasteful. At the eastern end a dais, of two steps of elevation, extends across the whole breadth of the room. The floor is covered with new tapestry carpeting, furnished by Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co., who also furnished the broad border of matting that extends along the sides of the room, and on which are placed the chairs for the accommodation of the members. The general seating is done with chairs, four special ones being provided for the officers. The tasteful window shades were supplied by Messrs. York & Lee. Artificial light is supplied by gas jets, and the whole appointments of the hall are elegant and tasteful.

Opening from the main hall a door leads into a committee room 15x40. This is supplied with a stove and can be used as a dining room on occasions of festive gatherings.

The Royal Templars have a fine home for the next five years, during which time their lease extends. A new Stainway pianoforte has been procured for the hall from Mr. J. W. Crosby.

The committee which had charge of the task of preparing the new hall is composed of Messrs. Barton Earle, S. R. Armstrong, H. Lindsay, J. H. Wyatt and Geo. J. Early, and they have discharged their trust very creditably.

The Inaugural Entertainment.

Tuesday evening the rooms of the Order were well filled with guests. In the earlier part of the evening a splendid repast was partaken of in the dining hall. The ladies connected with the order did themselves great credit in the preparation of their feast.

At eight o'clock the entertainment began Mr. Barton Earle, vice-select councillor, occupied the chair and made a short address. He gave expression to his views on temperance reform, which differed from the more accepted ones. He maintained that prohibition was unattainable, and if attainable, would not be the benefit its advocates expected. If alcoholic liquors were abolished, some other stimulant would take its place. Temperance reform should be directed to preventing young men from acquiring the drink habit, and reforming the drunkard. The intemperance language of some temperance advocates was deprecated. It was pointed out that the clergy of the churches were not doing their duty. Religion and temperance went hand in hand, and it was wrong to promote one to the neglect of the other. The chairman then introduced the following programme:—

Selection	Y. M. C. A. Band
Violin solo	Miss Moyes
Reading	Mr J. J. Turner
Congratulatory address	Rev. P. C. Parker
Reading	Mr J. Turner
Violin solo (encored)	Miss Yokoma
Selection	Y. M. C. A. Band
Vocal Duet	Misses Lemply and Allen
Selection	Y. M. C. A. Band
Vocal solo	Miss Owens
Club swinging	Six young ladies

The last item on the programme was performed with splendid effect by six uniformed young ladies under the direction of Sergt.-Major Randle, who gave in this instance another evidence of his willingness to assist at public entertainments, and another addition to the debt of gratitude the public owe him and which, it is to be hoped, will not be forgotten on the occasion of his benefit entertainment in the Opera House on Oct. 17th.

The entertainment closed with the singing of the National Anthem. The Templars are to be congratulated upon their fine new hall and upon the success of the inaugural entertainment.

Suggested on the Presentation by Mr John Elder, of San Francisco, of his portrait to the St. Andrew's Society, of Peterborough.

The following poem was received by the Secretary of the St. Andrew's Society, and read in St. Andrew's hall on Saturday evening, October 5th. A resolution was passed thanking the bard for his verses, and requesting their publication in the local newspapers and in the Scottish American.

Brither Scots this meet be pleasing and afford you much delight,
Thus to meet on such occasions as you have met to-night;
Not to relieve the needy nor to muster for the fray,
But just to receive the likeness of a friend that's far away.

There are many present know him through his brief sojourn here,
When true friendship's bonds were formed, and his name they still revere;
For the good of the society always freely bore his share,
As a member, or the duties of the Presidential chair.

Yes, his hand was ever open the society's funds to raise,
And his tongue was always ready to extoll Auld Scotia's praise;
Around your annual festive board, his speeches grand and choice,
Every Scot was all attention when John Elder raised his voice.

He could tell of Scotland's patriots, heroes and daring braves,
Of her battle fields for freedom and religious martyrs graves;
Her valleys and her mountains clad with heather and with broom,
In fancy place Auld Scotia right beside you in the room.

His whole-souled love for Scotia and for Scots was true as steel,
And for all good works as Scottish he was foremost in his zeal;
Time nor distance has not broke the ties nor quenched his love for you,
A true token of his faithfulness is now before your view.

As old friends behold that picture, and his manly features trace,
They can recognize John Elder by his genuine Celtic face;
Though it is only but a shadow—true designed by artist's art—
Well you know within the substance, beats a generous Scottish heart.

Well he looks in Highland costume dressed—like Highland chief of yore—
But his attitude seems peaceful, for he grasps no bright claymore;
Since Scots gained their rights and freedom, they can rest in manly pride—
Upon the staff of peace, and lay the sword of strife aside.

He requests you to accept his gift, that its presence may recall
The by-gone days of friendship, and to decorate your hall.
I am sure each Scot will prise it with a true supreme delight,
And their new hall will reverberate as they praise John up to-night.

Yes, from every heart they thank him, and the wish of every one
Is, while they view that picture, may long live that noble man.
Long years of absence have passed by—in person far apart—
The Peterborough Scots are still enshrined upon his loyal heart.

Now hang it carefully in your hall in the most conspicuous place,
That each visitor that enters may behold his genial face;
May its beauty last untarnished your St. Andrew's hall adorn—
To be looked upon and highly prized by Scotchmen yet unborn.

The Sewers of Paris

are one of the modern wonders of the world. That marvelous network of underground streams, over which the tourist can travel by rail and in boats, constitutes the bowels of the gay capital. This labyrinth of streams is kept with scrupulous care; for any obstruction in the flow of the sewage would be attended with serious results to the health of the inhabitants of the city above.

The sewers of the human system are the liver and bowels, and in order to keep disease out of the wonderful city of which they are a part, they must be kept always free and unobstructed. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best laxative and cathartic known for the purpose. Tiny, sugar-coated granules, in vials, always fresh. b

THE HILLS.

The everlasting hills. They hedge me round
And hold me safe within this narrow vale.
From all the world's great turmoil not a sound
Doth penetrate these silences profound.
Ah, life is paradise in this fair vale!

At morning all the east glows vivid red
And all the hills reflect the rosy light;
At sunset warm and mellow rays are shed
Adown the valley, while the mountain head
Stands for a moment bathed in glory bright.

Then, like a being pure and fair as snow,
The full moon rises grandly o'er the hills,
And mounting zenithward, serene and slow,
She pours a flood of light on all below
And views her face in myriad mountain rills.

Ah, this is peace! To live at Nature's side,
To walk with her at morn and noon and eve,
To wander free with Nature for a guide,
To drift and dream upon life's quiet tide,
To find from worldly care a sweet reprieve.
—Harriet Francene Crocker

A Practical Joke.

Most squirrels keep two or more stores of food. Wood, the British naturalist, tells of a friend who found one of these reserve stores which a squirrel had provided for an exigency, and the friend, in a moment of thoughtlessness, determined to play a joke on the squirrel. He accordingly replaced the nuts by small, round stones, and carefully concealed all evidences of his visit. One cold day in winter he passed the spot and found that the squirrel had called there a short time previously. This he knew by the fact that ten inches of snow had been scratched from the top of the hole, outside of which the stones had been cast by the disappointed animal. This struck the joker with remorse. He said: "I never felt the folly of practical joking so much in my life. Fancy the poor little fellow, nipped with cold, and scanty food, but foreseeing a long winter, resolved to economize his little hoard as long as possible. Fancy him at last determined to break this—perhaps his last—magazine, and cheerily brushing away the snow, fully confident that a good meal awaited him as the reward of his cold job, and after all, finding nothing but stones. I never felt more mean and ashamed in my life, and really would have given a guinea to have known that injured squirrel's address. He should have had as fine a lot of nuts as would have put him beyond the reach of poverty had he lived to be as old as Methuselah.—Globe-Democrat.

Hotel Registers.

"There is a very mistaken idea about the register books that lie upon the counters of hotels," said a prominent hotel man recently. "They are not by any means open to the public as a right, as is generally supposed. It is simply as a matter of courtesy that we permit any one to look at them, as we are not obliged to show them to the public. If a person calls at the house in order to see a friend or find out if he is stopping there, it is his place to inquire at the office; that is the only proper way. Our books are always destroyed now as soon as they are full. Hotel keepers have been subjected to much annoyance by being frequently ordered to produce them in court as evidence in divorce and other cases. In order to avoid so doing we always destroy our books, and can say to the court that we have no record of any such parties as the one in question having been at our house at any time."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Museum of Princess' Garters.

A very curious collection of ladies' garters is kept at the Hohensollern museum at Berlin. Whenever there is a wedding in the Hohenzollern family a number of these short silk garments, with the initials of the newly married princess, are distributed among friends. The collection was begun by William I, and the oldest garter is that which was worn on the occasion of the marriage of Prince Friedrich Wilhelm Ludwig with the daughter of the reigning Duke of Anhalt Bernburg, in 1817. There are twelve garters from the reign of Frederick William III, and ten from that of his successor, Frederick William IV. They are all made of ribbed silk of different colors, braided with gold or silver, and many of them are finished off at both ends by heavy fringes.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Knowing Dog.

Dr. Justin Emerson tells this story about a dog, the property of a friend of his, Dr. Hurd, of Pontiac. The dog is a brown spaniel. It followed a member of the family to prayer meeting and behaved well until a woman got up and began to speak, when he growled. Every time a woman told her experience that dog showed his disapproval, but when a man was exhorting he kept still and manifested no uneasiness. When it came time to close the meeting the minister requested the people to sing the benediction and the dog immediately sat up, hung his paws and looked around with the most tickled expression of countenance, as if he was quite ready to go. It made everybody laugh, even the minister.—Detroit Free Press.

Proper Construction of Reservoirs.

In regard to the proper construction of reservoirs it may be remarked that earth embankments if properly constructed are not altogether the least reliable, as a dam built altogether of masonry has the great danger of settlements, which cause cracks and may lead to the failure of the whole structure. One point cannot be insisted upon too strongly. It is that no dam can be considered safe or sufficient unless the reservoir can be filled without apprehension until the by washes come into play.—New York Telegram.

The Pearl Oyster.

The pearl oyster, containing the pearl, and whose shell is lined with the brilliantly tinted mother of pearl used in so many ways, is found chiefly about the southern coasts of Asia. An uncomfortably sharp substance entering the shell is covered by the inmate, thus forming a pearl. This habit has been utilized to force the oyster to produce pearls, sometimes the form of a cross being placed in the shell to be converted into a beautiful ornament. They are taken from the bed of the sea by divers.—Boston Budget.

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 393 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Port Hope Mayoralty.
At a meeting of the Port Hope council Monday night Mr. E. Peplow, mayor of Port Hope (and now a resident of Peterborough), tendered his resignation. The councillors talked the matter over, and, in order to save the expense of a new election, Mayor Peplow was granted a three months' leave of absence and Councillor McMullen was appointed Acting Mayor. General regret was expressed that Mr. Peplow had decided to leave Port Hope.

Jumped from the Train.
Last night Mr. Wm. Scott, of Galt, a cousin of Mr Scott, the Ashburnham egg buyer, came to town on the 7.50 C. P. R. express last night, but did not get off at the Peterborough station, preferring to jump from the train at the diamond across the river, thus saving himself a long walk. He did so; but the train was going too rapidly and he was thrown to the ground. His face and hand were badly cut and bruised, and other severe, but not serious, injuries sustained. Dr. Yelland was called in to dress his wounds.

Electric Street Cars.
The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be an immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the various public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or glassware at the lowest prices, go to Hawley Bros., George street.

New Grand Trunk Shops.
At the council meeting Monday night a by-law was passed exempting from taxes the new Grand Trunk repair shops which are being erected in the south end of the yard. Plans of the new buildings were presented to the council. The shops will be of frame sheeted with iron, and shaped like an L, the sides being 75x110 feet and the widths 25 and 35 feet. The buildings is erected by the Engineers Department of the Grand Trunk, and will comprise blacksmith, machine and carpenter shops. The building will be occupied about the 20th of this month, when the present shops at Uxbridge will be removed here. This will bring to town about ten or twelve families. The Grand Trunk company it is understood intend to concentrate the operations of the Engineers' Department at Peterborough, the headquarters for the division.

A Double Burglary.
The serene quiet of village life in Ashburnham was disturbed this morning by the report of a couple of burglaries which had taken place during the night. Fortunately the thieves did not do any serious damage. Whoever they were, they must have been local amateurs, for in both cases the doors had been pried with the same iron bar, and only the tills were tapped. The stores visited were those of Wm. Collins and C. H. Moore. In the former case the screws of the lock were bent and the bolt forced through, but at Mr. Moore's the box catch was broken off. The doors show the marks of the iron bar where it crushed into the woodwork. The same bar was evidently used at both places, as the marks were of a like size and appearance. At Mr. Collins store the till was also forced open with the bar, and about $2.00 in cash taken, of which nearly $1.00 was in coppers. The thieves must have been in a hurry, as they left about 45c in silver in the bottom of the drawer. At Mr. Moore's the till, a patent one, was pulled out with such force that the back of it was torn right out. Here also $1 in coppers were secured, and a Yankee quarter and nickel. In neither of the stores was there anything else touched as far as can be ascertained. Mr. Collins door was open this morning, but the burglars has closed the door of Mr. Moore's store behind them. There is no clue to the thieves.

Curling Notes
Judging from the amount of enthusiasm displayed by the curlers already this season, there will be a large number of matches played and victories won. Several new features have been introduced this year, the most notable of which is the annual challenge cup to be competed for by Lindsay and Paterborough, the winner of the greatest number of matches to be the holder of the cup for the season and inscribe its name on the cup. Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, came down yesterday and completed arrangements with the managing committee of the Peterborough club.

The new system in the appointment of skips, introduced this winter, will enable all members, young and old, to thoroughly participate in the grand game. Every member will belong to a rink and have a chance for the rink competition medals.

For the benefit of beginners only, a medal has been instituted, to be won in a competition of 13-point games. New members will have every possible chance of developing a taste for curling.

The local matches will be the President vs. Vice-President, north against south, Grit vs. Tory, and others of interest.

The tankard competition and the number of foreign matches already arranged, guarantee a lively winter's sport.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Ladies' Auxiliary met Monday and translated a lot of business about the re-furnishing of the rooms. Thanks to their efforts we shall soon have a delightful suite of rooms.

The reception to young men on Thursday evening promises to be a great success. Musical selections will be rendered by the Y. M. C. A. band and members of the association. Rev. Mr. McCleary of St. Luke's, Ashburnham has promised to be present and will give an address. Plans for fall and winter work will be laid before the meeting during the evening. Refreshments will be served by the ladies' auxiliary. All young men are heartily invited to come and spend a social evening with us. President G. M. Roger will take the chair at 8 p.m.

High Court of Justice.

Reynolds vs. Jamieson.

Mrs. Reynolds' evidence was continued.

In cross examination by Mr. Osler, witness repudiated the statement that she was free to marry Mr. Jamieson or not as he chose and admitted that she said at the last trial that she would not have taken him for less than $10,000, but she added that if he had lost all his wealth she would have adhered to the agreement to marry him.

Mrs. Widdis gave similar testimony to that she gave at the first trial, relating her actions as a "go-between" in furthering Mr. Jamieson's matrimonial desires and his anxiety to get Mrs. Reynolds. She saw Jamieson frequently going to Mrs. Reynolds' house. Referring to the tiff between the lovers, defendant long after that, in June 1886, asked witness to arrange a meeting on a Monday, he consented and went to keep his appointment.

The cross examination did not materially affect the evidence of this witness.

Mrs. Lackey, an aged lady, testified to the defendant, Jamieson, asking her to find out if Mrs. Reynolds loved him; but she declined—she didn't think much of a man who couldn't find out for himself if a woman loved him. After the "fall out" he again expressed his anxiety to come to terms with Mrs. Reynolds. She met Jamieson frequently and he often talked about Mrs. Reynolds. He said at one time he would never marry any woman but Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. Veals lived in part of the same house as Mrs. Reynolds and saw Jamieson coming to the house. He generally came in the afternoon. Looking through the key hole she saw them kissing and heard them too. Saw this on three occasions. Mr. Jamieson had asked witness to buy her farm to settle upon Mrs. Reynolds. On one occasion Mr. Jamieson had tea at the Veal's; before he went he invited witness to come and see them when he and Mrs. Reynolds got settled. Went with Mrs. Reynolds to get a wedding dress. At one time Jamieson said he was ready to take Mrs. Reynolds to Peterborough at any time and marry her.

This closed the case for the plaintiff, the defendants attorney declining to call any witnesses, though the defendant was present in court.

Messrs. Watson and Osler for the plaintiff and defendant respectively, address the jury in eloquent appeals, not unmixed with a great deal of humour which the circumstances readily suggested.

VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

After listening to the addresses of the Counsel and His Lordship, the latter of whom charged favorably to the plaintiff, the jury retired, and in about half an hour returned with a verdict for the plaintiff and $800 damages.

Common Assault.

John Quinn, charged with indecently assaulting Mrs. Bridget Holt, in Harvey township, the 14th of May last, was next given his trial. Mr. Riddell, Q.C., conducted the prosecution, and Messrs. Sawers & Stone defended the prisoner, who is quite a young man, while the subject of his assault is a widow 55 years of age.

Mrs. Holt, in her evidence, stated that while returning from a neighbor's house with milk she was attacked by Quinn, who ran out on the road from the woods. He was drunk, and used the most vile language towards her and knocked her down and dragged her along the road. She broke away from him two or three times, but Quinn caught her and pulled her along with him. She was struggling with him when the two men came along and rescued her.

To Mr. Stone—she admitted that she took a drink out of the bottle Quinn had, but denied that she was drunk, though she had been drunk before. She met him at the stage, where she had the drink, but did not know him.

Only one witness was examined. Counsel for the defendant contended that Mrs. Holt, by her action in taking liquor from the bottle, had given the prisoner reason to suppose that she could be approached in this way. At the most, however, the prisoner could only be found guilty of common assault.

His Lordship stated that there was no evidence of indecent assault, but if the jury believed the plaintiff's evidence they could return a verdict of common assault.

The jury were out about ten minutes, and on returning presented a verdict of common assault.

His Lordship, in pronouncing judgment, gave the prisoner a few words of advice upon the degrading results of the drinking habit. He ordered him to pay a fine of $40, to be paid before he was set at liberty.

The court was then adjourned till nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

The Presentment of the Grand Jury.

Wednesday, Oct. 9th.

The jurors of our sovereign lady the Queen in making their presentment, take the opportunity of congratulating your Lordship on the gratifying absence of crime throughout the county, such freedom being indicated by only one charge—that of criminal assault.

We have made the customary inspection of the court house, gaol, etc., and find the premises in excellent order, and showing care and attention on the part of the caretaker.

Your Grand Jury would direct your Lordship's attention to the necessity for some better means of heating the gaol buildings. At present the building is heated by stoves, which are not only inadequate, but dangerous. It would seem to your Grand Jury that some such system as steam could be introduced, and that in the end the change would prove to be not only beneficial, but economical. We would suggest that the attention of the County Council be directed to this matter at the next session.

Wet weather and bad roads.

The agency opened up here by Mr. Peter Hamilton, of Peterborough, is proving quite a convenience to the farmers, as their implements are of the most satisfactory kind.

Our township show was quite a success this year, and will continue to grow better.

Several parties who left here to improve their position in Peterborough have visited us lately, well pleased with the change.

The new Presbyterian church will be opened on Sunday, Oct. 20, 1889. Rev. Dr. McIntosh, Toronto, will preach morning and evening. On Monday a tea will take place in the afternoon. Addresses will be delivered by distinguished clergymen from Peterborough, Lindsay and other places. We hope to see a crowd from Peterborough.

The Morrison Jury Still Out.

Sherbrooke, Oct. 9.—The Morrison trial closed yesterday morning with the judge's charge which was strongly against the prisoner and the case was given to the jury at 1.30 p. m. They remained in consultation all afternoon and as there was no sign of agreement at 3 o'clock the court was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning. The belief is that the result will be either conviction or disagreement. If the verdict were to be "Guilty" it is believed that they would have returned at once.

Limestone City Criminals.

Kingston, Oct. 9.—In the case of W. S. Stone, charged with opening letters passing through the Postoffice the grand jury yesterday brought in no bill. In the Twitchell case the grand jury returned a true bill on the charges of burglary and assault, and on the charge of shooting with intent no bill. A true bill was returned against Charles Milsap, charged with rape on a very aged woman.

Mrs. Mike McDonald Coming Home.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Michael C. McDonald is returning home from France without her paramour, "Father" Moynant, who deserted her shortly after her arrival in Europe. Her husband, the millionaire real-estate dealer and ex-king of gamblers, has received a letter from his wife dated at Paris, informing him of her intention to return. It was also reported yesterday that a friend of Mrs. McDonald had received a telegram from New York informing him that she had arrived on the steamer City of Chicago. The letter to the husband makes a very lame explanation as to her sudden disappearance simultaneously with the rascally priest, claims that she went away simply to visit the Paris Exposition, professes great astonishment and indignation at the "fuss" created over her leaving home and explains that the notion to make the trip entered her mind "all of a sudden."

The coughing and wheezing of persons troubled with bronchitis or the asthma is excessively harrassing to themselves and annoying to others. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil obviates all this entirely, safely and speedily. w40

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

To Restore Worn Clothing.

The mystery to many people how the scourers of old clothes can make them look almost as good as new is explained in The American Analyst as follows: Take, for instance, a shiny old coat, vest or pair of pants, of broadcloth, cassimere or diagonal. The scourer makes a strong, warm soapsuds and plunges the garment into it, souses it up and down, rubs the dirty places, if necessary puts it through a second suds, then rinses it through several waters, and hangs it to dry on the line. When nearly dry, he takes it in, rolls it up for an hour or two, and then presses it. An old cotton cloth is laid on the outside of the coat, and the iron passed over that until the wrinkles are out; but the iron is removed before the steam ceases to rise from the goods, else they would be shiny.

Wrinkles that are obstinate are removed by laying a wet cloth over them and passing the iron over that. If any shiny places are seen they are treated as the wrinkles are—the iron is lifted, while the full cloud of steam rises and brings the nap up with it. Cloth should always have a suds made specially for it, as if that which has been used for white cotton or woolen clothes lint will be left in the water and cling to the cloth. In this manner we have known the same coat and pantaloons to be renewed time and again, and have all the look and feel of new garments. Good broadcloth and its fellow cloths will bear many washings, and look better every time because of them.

A Mirage on the Plains.

We witnessed the most perfect mirage we ever saw on the Laramie plains Tuesday evening. It was about an hour before sunset, and looking out of a car window we saw about a mile away a beautiful lake. It was in a slight depression among the hills, and seemed to be about two miles long by a mile wide. Never having noticed a lake at that place on the road, we were considerably astonished, and asked the conductor for an explanation. He was equally astonished, as were passengers familiar with the road. As the train advanced the lake appeared to enlarge and rise, but in spite of this it was difficult to believe the appearance was simply that optical delusion known as mirage, and that what appeared to be a lake was a grassy, level plain. The apparent lake was as smooth and bright as a mirror, except at one edge, where it appeared to be ruffled by the wind. The strange sight was viewed with wonder by hundreds of passengers until it was out of sight.—Rock Springs (Wy. T.) Independent.

THE NEWS IN LONDON

FEARS OF A COMING SCARCITY OF BREAD.

The Postmen's Grievances—Arrangements For the Czar's Reception in Berlin—A Riot at Bristol.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—There is some apprehension here in London of a coming high price and scarcity of bread due to the newly formed bread union and to a possible coming strike among the bakers' employees. The bread union is another example of the universal tendency to large combinations of capital, which is playing havoc with the small producer or trader. It is formed to take over 227 old established bakeries' businesses and three steam flour mills, which at present turn out 4970 sacks a week. "The object of the bread union," says a newspaper, "is, while not unduly raising the prices to the detriment of the consumer, to maintain them as a remunerative figure, which can only be effectually done by securing a large number of shops in each district. It is estimated and a uniform profit of ½d. on each four pound loaf will be sufficient to pay 30 per cent. on the capital of the union. There is little doubt that it will be financially successful that it will absorb other businesses in time." A strike of the operative bakers would certainly be a serious matter, though the feeling of the public is now so aroused against the sweating system that general sympathy would probably be felt for the men, who are abominably overworked and prevented from enjoying any of the comforts or happiness of life. There are some 14,000 bakers in London, of whom about 5000 are foreigners, mostly Germans. No wonder that with the bread union and the threatened strike there is not a little disquietude in the public mind.

The London postmen are in a state of great dissatisfaction at their wages, especially those belonging to what is called the second-class, who average only 15s. to 20s. per week. They also grievously complain of overtime work. They fear to organize publicly, lest the names of those who join should be discovered by the authorities and they should be dismissed. But they had a great meeting on a recent Sunday at Clerkenwell Green, where they were addressed by some labor leaders, and they have begun to form a secret union. There are more than 11,000 postmen in London.

The Bishop of London has concluded to preside at the meeting which is to begin the regular crusade against evil influences in the music halls. Cardinal Manning cannot attend this meeting, or at all events he has caused it to be understood that he will not be present. His health is far from robust just now, and his physician has forbidden him to leave his house in the evening for fear of injuring it.

According to his friend, Edmund Yates, Wilkie Collins had long been in the habit of taking daily enough pure laudanum to kill a company of soldiers. This he took for gout and nerve disorders. It goes without saying that his novels were and are wonderfully popular in England, but it seems that he never made very much money from them, although he was very precise in all business matters. His own favorite among his stories was The Fallen Leaves; the public's favorite was The Woman in White. The death of Collins is another link broken in the chain which connects the London of Charles Dickens with that of to-day.

It is announced in London that the Queen of Roumania is about to publish a volume of novelettes under the title of Who Knocks.

At the German Capital.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Prince Daschkoff, Gen. VonRichter and other officers of the Czar's military household reached the city yesterday. They were conveyed in court equipages to the Russian Embassy. Col. Villaume and two special attaches will meet the Czar at Wittenburg. Gen. Valtwerder will meet His Majesty at Kiel. The first regiment of the guard will accompany the German regiment of which the Czar is honorary colonel and will form his bodyguard in Berlin. The escort to accompany him from the railway station to the Russian Embassy will consist of four cavalry squadrons, two of which will precede and two follow his carriage. The most stringent precautions will be taken to prevent the public approaching the Imperial carriage.

Generals Von Warder and Von Kaltenfortachau have been deputed to attend the Czar during his stay here. The route through Berlin to be traversed by the Czar will be lined with troops of cavalry from the Lehrter station across the Koenigsplatz as far as the Charlottenburg-road and thence with infantry to the Russian Embassy.

The Czarina has postponed her departure from Friedensburg until Tuesday next.

Emperor William, attired in the uniform of a British Admiral, took luncheon yesterday at Kiel with Vice-Admiral Baird on board the Northumberland, the flagship of the British channel squadron. The German naval officers at Kiel gave a banquet to the officers attached to the British squadron.

Prince Bismarck arrived here last evening.

The military estimates for 1891 do not provide for any increase of the army effectives, but 120,000,000 marks is asked for new artillery, firearms and ammunition and grants for the staffs of the two newly formed army corps.

On a Visit to His Mother.

SOFIA, Oct. 10.—Prince Ferdinand has gone to Ebanthal to visit his mother. Before his departure he appointed M. Stambuloff as his lieutenant.

A Riot at Bristol.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—There was a riot at Bristol yesterday afternoon on the arrival of a number of laborers to replace 600 gas stokers who are on strike. The newcomers were hooted and pelted with stones until they took to their heels and disappeared.

THE DOUGLAS INQUEST.

Mrs. Mehinnon and the Constable Testify —Another Adjournment.

HAMILTON, Oct. 10.—The inquest on the death of James Douglas was continued last night in No. 3 Police Station. Chief McKinnon gave evidence respecting the instructions given by him to the constables and their report upon the events of the night. Constable Campaign gave a long account of how the constables endeavored to get a response from Douglas and the sad end of the unfortunate man. The evidence of chief and constable showed that the men thought themselves perfectly justified in breaking into the man's room without a warrant after his attempt to shoot Hawkins when the latter sought to ascertain whether the man was in the room or not. Constable Gibbs gave corroborative evidence and the inquest was again adjourned until to-night when a verdict should be arrived at.

A New Industry—A Michigander Swindled —Comments on the Verdict in the Morrison Case.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—Montreal is to have a new industry, the manufacture of gimlet pointed screws, which are made in only one other place in Canada. The Dominion Wire Manufacturing Company have received twenty car-loads of machinery for their works at Lachine which will have a capacity of turning out 2500 gross per day. It is not expected that the works will be in operation before Jan. 1.

An interesting judgment was rendered yesterday. Some years ago Florence Goldsby gave birth to an illegitimate child which, with the consent of the mother, was adopted by a woman of wayward habits, on condition that she would renounce her former life. This she has not done and the Society for the Protection of Women and Children now demands the child for the mother and their request was granted.

The death of Mr. Thomas Workman, senior partner of the large wholesale hardware house of Frothingham and Workman, occurred yesterday. He was President of Molsons Bank, President of the San Life Insurance Company and a director of the City and District Savings Bank, a governor of the Fraser Institute and a life governor of the Montreal General Hospital. In 1845 Mr. Workman married Anna, eldest daughter of the late John Eadie, by whom he had no issue. Mr. Workman is generally reputed to have left in the vicinity of a million dollars. For over half a century Mr. Workman had been a prominent figure in the financial and commercial world, and had won the unwavering confidence of those with whom he was officially connected and of the public generally. Though his death was not unexpected the community is much pained at the sad event.

Robert Scott from Michigan, who was about to embark on the Polynesian for Europe, was met on the wharf by a young and fashionably dressed man, who engaged in conversation and finally asked Mr. Scott if he had changed his money for English currency. Mr. Scott replied in the negative whereupon his companion asked him to walk up the street and they would make the exchange. Mr. Scott agreed and arriving at St. John street he produced $180 which the young man snatched from him and escaped, leaving the man penniless with a wife and five children.

The verdict in the Morrison case was awaited with intense interest in this city and when it became known that the jury had found the noted outlaw guilty of manslaughter with a recommendation to mercy there was little surprise. The judge having indicated in the concluding portion of his address to the jury that a verdict of manslaughter would not be out of place, this fact is believed here to have had great weight with the jury. In court house circles the verdict is accepted generally as a satisfactory solution to a difficult case.

Constable Beadorn lies in a critical condition suffering from thirteen knife wounds about the head, face and neck inflicted by a man named Samual McLaren whom the officer was about to arrest. McLaren escaped but has since been taken in his house where his blood stained garments were concealed.

A Question for the Court.

HALIFAX, Oct. 10.—Some time ago Miss Sterling brought three children who had been in a home in Edinburgh and placed them on her farm in Aylesford. It was claimed at the city from whence the children were taken that the children were Roman Catholics while the children taken care of by the lady were generally reared in another faith. Steps were taken by their father to have the children brought back to the place from whence they were taken but without avail. The secretary of a charitable institution was even sent out to Canada to get them, but his demands were refused and it is said they were sent out of the province when he came. All efforts to have the lads returned having failed, as a last resort the courts will be asked to settle the matter. The case has been placed in the hands of a Halifax law firm.

Death of a Shipbuilder.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Oct. 10.—Mr. Stebbin Andrews, an old resident of this place, died Tuesday evening. He was in his 77th year and was engaged in ship-building here for a great number of years. He leaves a family of 3 sons and one daughter, the two eldest sons being managers of dry docks at Collingwood and Port Robinson respectively. Vesselmen throughout the whole chain of lakes will hear of his death with regret.

Harrison-Lister.

SARNIA, Oct. 10.—Last evening at 8 o'clock Miss Josie Lister, daughter of Mr. J. F. Lister, M. P., was united in marriage at the residence of the bride's parents to Dr. B. D. Harrison of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Davis of the Episcopal Church and a large number of invited guests were present.

And Now It's a Carpet Trust.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—It is said a secret meeting of carpet manufacturers was held here yesterday to consider the feasibility of forming a trust. It is stated the promoters expect to be able to control 75 or 80 per cent. of the whole production. It is said German and other capitalists stand ready to put $25,000,000 into the trust.

Projected Ship Canal.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10—Governor Beaver yesterday appointed commissioners to determine the feasibility of constructing a ship canal to connect the waters of Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

Ingersoll's Light Contract.

INGERSOLL, Oct. 10.—The contract for lighting the town was last night awarded by the council to the Ingersoll Gas Light Co. for 100 electric lights to be in operation by Dec. 1.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Brennan Case Nearing an End—Mrs. White Arraigned for Murder.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—The evidence in the Brennan case was concluded yesterday and Mr. S. H. Blake made a five hours' address to the jury for the defendant.

Further evidence was taken at the Police Court yesterday in the matter of the charge of perjury against Mr. F. X. Cosmineau of the Bon Marche and the case was again adjourned until to-day.

In the Criminal Assizes yesterday morning Mrs. White and the boy Arthur Hicks were arraigned for the murder of James W. Hicks on Wednesday, Aug. 7. They pleaded not guilty and the case will probably come up this week.

A criminal assault on a 4-year-old child was committed yesterday by a miscreant yet unknown, in the basement of the uncompleted Academy of Music, King-street west. The child's father is an employe of the Dominion Express Company. After being treated by the doctor called in to attend her the little girl gave a description of her assailant, for whom the police are in quest.

MRS. M'RAE'S MURDER

FURTHER EVIDENCE AT THE ST. JOHN INQUEST.

A Strong Array of Circumstances Against McDonald — Half-Emptied Strychnine Boxes in the Warehouse.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 10.—The inquest on the death of Mrs. Macrae was not adjourned until midnight. Three important witnesses were examined, T. B. Barker, head of the firm of T. B. Barker & Sons; H. W. Baker of the firm, and Mr. Gerow, bookkeeper. All these testified unhesitatingly to the sanity of William McDonald.

The evidence of H. W. Barker and Gerow taken together unquestionably justified the arrest of McDonald. Through these witnesses it was learned that the prisoner has a duplicate key and had access to the wholesale department at all hours and that such key he got made for his own use, having borrowed a key for the purpose from a fellow clerk.

The boxes in which the poisoned candy was sent were produced in court and H. W. Barker recognised in them boxes in all respects similar to those in the firm's wholesale department containing Stewart's three inch fine combs.

It also came out that three broken packages were found by Detective Ring, one of them turned the wrong end into the shelf as if placed that way to escape notice.

A Railroad Indicted.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 10.—The Milwaukee road has been indicted by the United States grand jury for violations of the interstate commerce law. The trial of the case will test the right of railroads to charge higher rates to interior towns than to St. Paul and Minneapolis. There is also involved the question of hundreds of thousands of dollars revenue to the railroads. It is said Faribault, at the instance of which town this indictment was secured, pays the railroads $100,000 a year freight rates. The "Soo" road was not indicted because there was no case against it. The trial of the Milwaukee case will demonstrate the right of railroad companies to ignore the long and short haul clause of the interstate law in instances where it affects the road's revenue.

Fires of a Day.

KINCARDINE, Oct. 10.—About 10.30 yesterday morning a fire broke out in the woolen mills on Harbor street owned and operated by Mr. James Frazer. The building and machinery are badly damaged, loss about $2000, insured in the Huron and Middlesex, amount not known.

SOUTH BEND, Oct. 10.—The magnificent stone house of Hon. Clem Studebaker, which cost $300,000, was almost entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 10.—Two compresses, the Tyler and Lower Hydraulic presses, five cotton warehouses and 4400 bales of cotton were burned yesterday morning. Loss $400,000.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—A brewery, a hotel, several forage stores, warehouses, etc., were burned at Ostheim yesterday.

A Typhoid Epidemic.

OAKLAND, Md., Oct. 10.—An alarming epidemic of typhoid fever prevails at Aurora, W. Va., 15 miles from Oakland. It is said the entire neighborhood for miles around is infected. There is scarcely a family without one or more of its members prostrated and in some localities there are scarcely enough well persons to nurse the sick.

Raging Prairie Fires.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Oct. 10.—The prairie fires are making progress toward the city and during yesterday afternoon burned their way to within a few rods of the Manitoba west sidetrack and the city limits. An immense amount of hay was burned Tuesday night. H. P. Clark lost over 100 tons. The smoke is so dense in the city as to make it impossible to see further than a block. The fire is burning from four to six feet in the ground and nothing but a heavy rain can prevent a tremendous loss of property.

Twitchell Jumps His Bail.

KINGSTON, Oct. 10.—Yesterday morning the Court crier called on the bondsmen to produce Marshall Twitchell. This not being done the bonds of $1500 by each of two securities were estreated. Twitchell's counsel raised an objection, stating that when the bonds were taken only one county magistrate was present. According to law there should be two county magistrates present. Mayor Thompson was associated with the magistrate in the taking of bondsmen. The objection was noted by the judge.

IT MAY BE A MURDER.

A Windsor Colored Man While Drunk Shoots his Wife.

DETROIT, Oct. 10.—Joseph Marshall, colored 22 years old, hails from Windsor, earned a precarious living by working on the docks in summer and doing odd jobs in winter. His home is a one-story three-room shanty, 1½ miles from town on Goyeau-street, near Tecumseh road. Tuesday night Marshall was discharged and paid off, and in accordance with his usual custom got drunk before going home. His wife upbraided him and he became angry. "Go and split some wood for breakfast," said the wife. "I won't do it," was his reply. "You will breakfast in hell to-morrow."

Mrs. Marshall had heard him make threats before and laughed at him. In the bed room hung a muzzle loading shot gun. He got the gun and cocked it. Mrs Marshall was now scared and started for the outside door. Marshall fired just as his wife was leaving the room. The charge of buck shot and slugs with which Marshall had loaded the gun a few days before tore through the woodwork of the door and some of the shot entered the wife's right shoulder making a bad wound. She fell on the steps and Marshall ran away.

Detective Baker and two Canadian officers found Marshall at 136 Rivard-street yesterday morning and arrested him without trouble and he is now safe in the Windsor lockup. Mrs. Marshall's condition is precarious.

HE WEPT LIKE A CHILD.

A Buffalo Juror Attempts to Feather His Nest and is Punished.

BUFFALO, Oct. 10.—The Ontario Canning Company of Hamilton, Ont., got a verdict in the Supreme Court here yesterday against William Burgess, late of Burlington, Ont., for $6817.10. The Company alleged that Burgess made purchases from them and disposed of the goods with intent to defraud. Burgess, who ran a canning factory at Burlington, failed for something like $80,000 with skelestonized assets. He fled to Buffalo and was arrested here and has remained in jail owing to inability to furnish bail. There was a decided sensation in connection with the case. When the jury assembled yesterday morning Judge Corlett ordered Adison Rice, one of the good and true men, to stand up. He was asked if he had written a note to President Carpenter of the Canning Company. The answer was "Yes." He was excused from the jury and Judge Corlett ordered him to appear in Court at 2 yesterday afternoon.

The note that Rice wrote was sent to Mr. Carpenter Tuesday night. It tersely told him that Rice expected to be the foreman of the jury and if he wanted any help in the case he could see Rice at the Stafford House at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. The note ended with a request that it be destroyed. Mr. Carpenter did not destroy the letter but turned it over to his counsel and they sent it to the judge.

Rice was arragned before Judge Corlett at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The judge dwelt at length upon the serious nature of the charge and sentenced Rice to pay a fine of $50 and to be confined in the Erie County Penitentiary for 30 days. Rice was visibly affected and wept when he heard his fate. He is one of the wealthiest farmers of Elma and is said to have always borne a good reputation.

ABOUT A QUARTER OF A MILLION.

The T., H. and B. Projectorate Will Ask Hamilton for a Fat Bonus.

HAMILTON, Oct. 10.—The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway projectorate have begun to talk about the amount of bonus wanted from the city. The amount has not yet been decided upon. It was at first suggested that the amount asked for would be $500,000, but on the advice of certain prominent Hamilton men who are deeply interested in the success of the scheme, the amount was reduced to $250,000 or $300,000, and probably some time next week a meeting will be held and the question decided. Mayor Doran and ex-Mayor Roach have been asked to become directors of the road as representatives from the city of Hamilton, but have as yet given no decided answer.

Thomas Boggess, furniture dealer, who made an assignment a few days ago, is said to have skipped out. His liabilities amount to $30,000, assets $10,000.

The inquest upon the death of the elderly man who gave his name as James Bloom, and who was found dead in bed in the Red Lion Hotel, Dundas, last Thursday was concluded yesterday afternoon. The jury brought in a verdict that the cause of death was unknown, as there was no evidence produced to enable them to come to a conclusive opinion.

The Sewers of Paris

are one of the modern wonders of the world. That marvelous network of underground streams, over which the tourist can travel by rail and in boats, constitutes the bowels of the gay capital. This labyrinth of streams is kept with scrupulous care; for any obstruction in the flow of the sewage would be attended with serious results to the health of the inhabitants of the city above.

The sewers of the human system are the liver and bowels, and in order to keep disease out of the wonderful city of which they are a part, they must be kept always free and unobstructed. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best laxative and cathartic known for the purpose. They sugar-coated granules, in vials, always fresh. b

Sold by Druggists, at 50c. and $1.00. w29eod

Rely on This.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for three years, and can always rely upon it as a speedy cure for diarrhœa and all summer complaints. I can recommend it highly and I wish you every success.—Mrs. W. FOWLER, 12 Oxford St., Toronto. 2w37d

SKINS ON FIRE.

Agonizing, itching, burning, and bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to foot. Hair gone. Doctors and Hospitals fail. Tried everything. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies for $5.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease coved my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of, your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wurtsboro, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.

JOS. E. OSMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy cheeked boy.

MARY KELLERMANN, Beloit, Kan.

A WOMAN CARPENTER.

SHE HAS A SHOP OF HER OWN AND IS A SKILLFUL ARTISAN.

Having a Taste for Working in Wood, She Bought Tools and Soon Mastered Them. A Woman Can Do Such Work Without Being the Less Womanly.

Sensible women who want to make money do not wander "all around Robin Hood's barn," as our grandmothers used to say, after an occupation. They look for something nearer home and study the needs of other women with the idea of supplying their wants.

What is more womanly than being a carpenter? And who but a woman who knows how to keep house understands the value of a woman carpenter to respond to her many needs for domestic devices?

Mrs. Leyton, a pretty, clever little woman, has opened a carpenter shop up town. She is a young married woman, and has a fine, healthy boy baby playing in the shavings about her carpenter's bench.

A BABY IN THE SHOP.

The neat little white frame house in which this pretty carpenter lives has a grass plot at the back, and at the end of the yard is a shed covered with morning glories, in which she plies her trade.

"What put it into your head to become a carpenter?" was the first question asked of the sweet faced little matron, after she had signified her willingness to be interviewed.

"My own needs prompted me," she replied, as she planed away at the top of a pine table. "I have a taste for wood carving, and before I was married I had done a good deal of ornamental work of that sort. When I married and began housekeeping I had to solve the problem of furnishing my home with little money. In these days of artistic furnishings, this is by no means a difficult one, but what is difficult is to find a carpenter to carry out one's ideas. What is the use of having a nice, delicate, artistic idea about a bookcase or a table or a cupboard if you must confide it to some untrained ignoramus of a carpenter?"

"I perceive," replied the interviewer, gravely. She was a woman herself and understood the situation.

"Now, I met with exactly this experience," said Mrs. Leyton, as she seated herself on a bench, picked up her baby and weeded out the bits of shavings from his blonde curls. "The consequence was that I bought a set of carpenter's tools and some pine boards and constructed my frames for myself. Thus, between rough carpentering and the finer art of wood carving, I about furnished my own house.

"I fitted up this shed as a carpenter's shop and sent circulars about the neighborhood. This was a year ago. Orders began to come in almost immediately, because, you see, I had appealed to the necessities of the people, and that is the first step toward money making."

Here the little matron laughed in a cheery, contented way and hugged her little son, who was half asleep.

"Of course, when I was first married," she continued, "I never thought of working for myself, but after a couple of years of experience of life, I came to the conclusion that an occupation is as necessary to a married woman as to a single one. So I hired an extra servant to relieve me of the household duties—I detest housework and love tinkering with hammers and saws—and I became a professional carpenter."

"Might I ask if you make much money?" was the next question.

"I have made clothes, pocket money, nurse's wages, amusements, a summer outing and have several hundred dollars in the bank."

A SAMPLE CUSTOMER.

There was a ring at the yard bell, which was presently opened by a good looking nursemaid. A tall, handsome young woman entered and crossed the grass plot to the carpenter's shed. Mrs. Leyton gave her baby into the nurse's arms and turned to her customer.

The customer was evidently a young bride and very much impressed with the dignity of her position. She had made a design for a dining room buffet to fit into an alcove. She had brought her design with her and submitted it to the pretty carpenter.

The design was a simple but artistic one—high and narrow, with several shelves, upon which plaques and cups were to be arranged in esthetic combinations. There was also a little scroll-work adornment.

The little woman studied the design carefully, going over the various points one after the other, suggesting various alterations and inquiring as to the exact position of the cabinet with regard to the room for which it was intended.

The cabinet was to be ready in a week. The carpenter was to supply all the material and the price for the whole was to be $100.

"That's not bad, is it?" said the cheery little workwoman, after she had bowed her customer out with a grace not always found in carpenters. "A hundred dollars for one week's work. Yes," she went on, "I think, on the whole, I may say that carpentering is a good profession for women. And there is this about it, that a woman may follow her profession in her own home."

A stalwart young man came striding across the grass plot from the rear of the little white house. Mrs. Leyton introduced him as her husband.

"Please tell The Journal readers that a woman may be a carpenter or anything else without being the less womanly or caring less for her husband or her baby."—New York Journal.

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 853 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Vandalism.
A piece of unprovoked vandalism was committed on Hunter street last night, which merits punishment. Some rowdies about one o'clock threw a large stonethrough the glass door and sidelight of the porch at Mr. Walter Paterson's residence. The family were in bed and the miscreants got away unobserved.

Bad Little Boys.
A fortunately rare display of youthful depravity has been discovered in the south ward. The post office clerk who collects the mail from the drop boxes yesterday found the one at Dunsford's corner covered with filth. Chief Rossel was notified and traced the disgusting offence to three little boys, who may be taught a salutary lesson by the magistrate.

Electric Street Cars.
The project of having a line of electric street railway in Peterborough is attracting public attention. It would be an immense advantage on George street, because it would bring the anxious public direct to the doors of Hawley Bros' Tea Store, where is kept the finest stock of superb teas ever collected in Peterborough. This firm, making teas a specialty, can buy on extra good terms, and consequently they are able to sell the best goods at the very best prices. Their coffees are also above in quality and below in price. The same is true of their fine glassware, &c. When you want superior teas, coffees or glasses are at the lowest prices, go to Hawley Bros., George street.

Grand Central Improvements.
Mr. F. J. Daly is continuing the improvements to his hotel. The whole house has been supplied with gas, and in every room is an electric alarm connected with the office. The system is the latest and most complete, and not a wire is to be seen anywhere. The Grand Central is now thoroughly equipped in modern style.

A Financial Token.
A meeting of the quarterly board of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church was held last night. The financial affairs of the church were considered, and the board also presented Mrs. Logan, who has been for five or six years in the choir, with a practical acknowledgment of her services, in the shape of a purse of $40. The board adjourned for one week, when a joint meeting of the trustees and official quarterly board will be held.

The Happy Hunters.
Three town sports, all of them more or less crack shots, loaded themselves down with double-barrelled muskets and ammunition yesterday afternoon and started out upon an expedition for the express purpose of slaughtering all the partridges in the township. The day was delightful and partridges plenty, and the festive trio had a grand day's sport, returning in the evening very weary, but elated over their success. Between the three of them they shot and killed one partridge, besides the fun of wasting a large quantity of ammunition and of tramping through the woods. They were fairin' so well on this occasion that they have decided to enter into a contract for the supply of wild fowl for the Toronto market.

Poor Belleville.
He stood on Simcoe street last night, admiring the fine front of Hall, Innes & Co.'s store. He was well dressed and highly intelligent and respectable in appearance. He was from Belleville, on his way to Lindsay, and was stopping over night in Peterborough to see the town. Chief Rossel happened to pass by, and the stranger inveigled him into a conversation, in the course of which he remarked:

"This is a pretty fine town; away ahead of Belleville, isn't it?"

"I don't know," replied the chief. "I never saw Belleville."

"Well," said the stranger, "its as far ahead of Belleville as Belleville is ahead of a barnyard."

The Chief smiled and passed on.

Matrimonial.
Tuesday evening about six o'clock at the residence of Mr. Harry Rush, Brock street a quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. J. C. Davidson, when Mr. Fred Winch was married to Miss Bessie Rush. The ceremony was a very quiet one, only a few of the most intimate relatives and friends of the parties being present. Miss Walkie, of Port Perry, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Alex. Elliott, groomsman. The gifts to the bride were unusually numerous and handsome, showing the high esteem in which Mrs. Winch is regarded by her large circle of friends. After the wedding the customary supper was partaken of, and the newly wedded pair left on the nine o'clock train for Montreal. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Winch will wish them every happiness in life. They will receive a hearty welcome back to Peterborough.

Zion Sunday School.
The anniversary of Zion Sunday School, Otonabee, was held Wednesday evening at the church. There were about 200 persons present. Tea was served in the school house and needless to say the repast was substantial and satisfactory. At eight o'clock the literary portion of the entertainment was begun in the church, Rev. A. C. Wilson, of Ashburnham, acting as chairman. After an opening song by the children of the school, Rev. Mr. Wilson led in prayer. The following programme was then rendered:—

The Institute Embroglio.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I notice that in the reports of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute discussion, Mr. Dumble says he got his information from the head master of Omemee High School. Then Mr. Long presents a letter, which, he says, is from the principal of Omemee Public School, but which is over the name of the assistant master, Omemee High School. There are still two teachers in Omemee who have not been mentioned. Could the belligerents not devise some scheme to have their names also published, and so make the thing general?

Yours truly,
ADVERTISER.

To Locate in New York.

The following extracts from the Albany papers will be read with interest:—

"We are sorry to learn of the contemplated removal of the Cleveland baking powder business from this city. We understand that its rapidly increasing business will shortly render enlarged facilities desirable, so that the proprietors have determined to remove to New York, where their export trade can be more conveniently handled.

"Albanians, who have watched the growth of this business from small beginnings to its present mammoth proportions, will regret to see it go, but will rejoice with its owners in its new prosperity. It is but just to say that Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder, as a food product, has the enviable reputation of being a thoroughly wholesome, effective, and honestly made article. The people of Albany and vicinity have known this fact for about a score of years, and have shown their appreciation by their steadily increasing consumption of this excellent baking powder. This, and the fact that all recent investigations, including those made by the Food Commissioners of the States of Ohio and New Jersey, and of the Canadian Government, show that Cleveland's is superior to any baking powder on the market, have so increased the business that more extensive accommodations are necessary.

"A new label is being prepared, but the old name, 'Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder,' and the heretofore high quality of the goods will be maintained.

"Dr. Hoagland, the first, and for many years, President, and Wm. Zeigler, former Treasurer, of the Royal Company, two of its main props, have now left it. The former will be President of the new Company, and his known integrity, liberality, and experience, promise great success for the new organization, and lively times for all competitors."

EAST RIDING EXHIBITION.

The Best of the Series.

A Good Exhibition in all Departments—Horses and Stock Generally Better Than Last Year.—A Large Attendance —"The Best Show Yet."

The annual exhibition of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society was held at Norwood, on the society's grounds, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the success of it was most gratifying. The first day was, of course, devoted to the placing of exhibits. On Wednesday, in spite of the threatening weather, the grounds in the early afternoon began to fill up, and it was not very long before two thousand persons passed the turnstiles.

The weather proved to be unexpectedly favourable, giving the large number of visitors present an opportunity of seeing so much that was worth seeing. The interior exhibit was very creditable. The show of fruit was exceedingly good, as well as that of roots, some enormous specimens being on view. Grains were well represented. The ladies' department was well filled with a display of artistic handiwork. The department of domestic industry, less ornamental but more useful, was also quite up to the mark. Mr. J. S. Patterson was on hand with a remarkably excellent display of turned work, which was much admired. There was a tempting show of canned and preserved fruits, pickles, etc., as well as home made bread and dairy produce. Inside the building, Mr. J. Hendren, of Norwood, also exhibited two Karn organs. The Manitoba exhibit was, of course, a feature of general attraction, the excellent samples of beautiful spring wheat eliciting warm commendation, while the exhibit as a whole, gave a good idea of the great fertility of the great North west.

THE STOCK AND OUTSIDE EXHIBIT.

There never was a finer and fuller show of horses and cattle shown on the grounds than was collected on Wednesday. Poultry, sheep and swine were also very creditably and numerously represented.

The makers and vendors of agricultural implements and of other manufactures occupied a great deal of space.

Messrs. A. Kennedy & Son, of Peterborough, showed a patent roasting pan, adjustable pot or pail covers, ironing boards, clothes horses, and the "dandy" bag holder.

Mr. B. Spence, of Cottesloe, exhibited the national washer and wringer.

Mr. W. C. Harrison had several specimens of wooden pumps.

Mr. C. C. McDonnell, of Peterborough, was on hand with the Chatham Fanning mill in actual operation.

Mr. John Thompson, of Norwood, had on exhibition, the Frost & Wood binder, Frost & Wood ploughs, a section, grinders combined barn truck and bag holder, mower, rake and spring tooth harrow.

Mr. Charles O'Reilly, Norwood, showed the Massey binder and binder truck, the Sharp horserake. The Percival plough of Merrickville, with patent coulter, warranted not to clog with stones or roots.

Mr. P. W. Stevenson, Norwood, showed two Brantford reapers, a No. 2 and a Stark knotter, and Brantford combined drill and cultivator and a mower.

Mr. A. Johnson, representing the Peter Hamilton Agricultural works, Peterborough had a fine display of this firm's fine machines and implements. The exhibit comprised the Hamilton binder, straw cutter, riding plough —3 horses—two walking ploughs, cultivator mower, tiger rake and root pulper.

Mr. W. P. Plant, Norwood, showed straw cutter, Maxwell mower, single and gang ploughs, school desks, garden seat, turnip sower, land roller and Maxwell binder in operation at his factory close to the grounds.

Mr. Wm. Wilson, of Havelock, exhibited a patented hay lifter and Mr. —— —— the patent Russel (rail) fence set up on the grounds.

Music was furnished on the grounds by Mr. George Smith of Peterborough, bagpiper, the local band being unable to come to terms with the directors of the society.

There were a good many visitors from Peterborough. The exhibition was in general an excellent one and seemed to warrant the remark of a prominent exhibitor, "It's the best show yet."

The entries totalled 1450, about 150 in excess of the total of last year. The increase was mainly in the stock departments.

The speeding in the ring attracted a good deal of attention, and furnished some good sport.

The press of course was placed under the usual obligations to the veteran and expert secretary, Mr. W. E. Roxburgh.

High Court of Justice.

LINDSAY SELDON CO. VS. CUMMINGS.

An action for $10,000 damages for excessive distress. The plaintiffs occupied a building owned by the Dickson Company on the Otonabee river, and the latter distrained on the 1st of February last for $1000 rent, which they claimed was due in the January previous. Plaintiffs bring action against Wm. Cummings, acting bailiff on the occasion, and the Dickson Company for excessive distraint, claiming that an unreasonable quantity of goods was distrained for the amount of rent due.

Defendants presented a mortgage for $635, made January 14th, and to run one month, and in which they claimed a right to distrain the goods; but His Lordship held that the mortgage was not due, and, therefore, could not be used to distrain.

The trial occupied nearly the whole day, and after the evidence had been taken a settlement was arrived at, judgment being entered for plaintiffs for $250 and full costs; for defendants for $250 on their counterclaim, without costs, the one to be set off against the other.

Stone & Sawers for plaintiffs, B. B. Osler, Q.C., Poussette & Johnston, Hall & Hayes for defendants.

FRATT VS. MCMURTRY.—This was an action to compel the removal of obstructions from a lane, over which the plaintiff has a right of way; also for rectification of a deed conveying the absolute property in the lane to the defendant. Judgment for the plaintiff as prayed, with full costs of suit. The defendant to retain ten feet at the east end of the lane in question. Hall & Hayes, for plaintiff; Riddel, Cobourg, for defendant.

WADDELL VS. WRIGHT.—An action brought by Mr. Hugh Waddell of South Monaghan to recover under a covenant involving $1300 and interest. The case was tried without a jury. Judgment for plaintiff for 1527.50. Mr. E. B. Edwards for plaintiff, Mr. Simpson, Bowmanville for defendant.

MCLEREN VS. DICKSON CO.—An action brought by Mr. H. A. Malhers, lessee of the "Otonabee" flouring mills, Ashburnham, to recover damages for alleged non-fulfilment of contract. It appears that the company covenanted to put in a 200-barrel, roller flouring mill with adequate water power to drive the necessary machinery. The plaintiff claimed that the requisite power was not supplied and that, in default of it it was impossible to work the mill to the capacity guaranteed or to turn out the quantity of flour that could have been produced, if there had been sufficient motive power. Hence, the plaintiff alleged that he suffered loss and claimed damages, which he sought to recover by this action. After the case had been presented to the jury by Mr. Stone, a proposition was made for a settlement. The jury was dismissed, and, after a consultation, a settlement was effected. Messrs. Riddell & Stone, for plaintiff; Messrs. Sawers & Stone, solicitors for plaintiff; Messrs. Osler, Q.C., Poussette, Q.C., and E. H. D. Hall, for defendant; Messrs. Poussette & Johnston, solicitors for defendant.

The court adjourned, His Lordship going next to Lindsay.

Personal.

Mr. H. W. Laird, of the Port Hope Times, was in town a short time yesterday.

Mr. J. G. Macklin, Chief Engineer of the Midland Division of the G.T.R., is ill with fever. He has been placed in the hospital.

Bro. Thos. White, High Secretary of the Canadian Order of Foresters, is registered at the Snowden House. He is being shown about town this afternoon by some of the brethren of Court Peterborough.

Chief Justice Armour, who presided at the Assizes, is a native of the town, and still looks upon Peterborough as "home." He was born in Ashburnham, in a house which stood at the foot of Armour's, now Ladgates', hill. Mr. Armour spent his youth here, and his name is associated with the the early history of Peterborough.

Professor Gauthier, of Paris, states that certain vital processes of the body develop putrefying substances in the tissues, which, if not speedily eliminated, produce disease. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effects the removal of these substances, and thereby preserves health.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

A Man Killed at Lindsay by the Explosion of a Boiler—The Mill a Wreck.

(Special to the Examiner.)

LINDSAY, Oct. 10.—About a quarter to six o'clock this morning a terrific explosion occurred at Dovey's mill, near the steamboat wharf. The engineer, a man named Bates, injudiciously turned the water into the boiler and the result was an explosion. The unfortunate man was killed, his head being blown off. The building was also wrecked, and several plate glass windows on the main street broken by the shock, which could be plainly felt all over town. The damage done was considerable, but, fortunately, only one life was lost. Had the explosion occurred an hour later, when the hands would have been at work, a horrible holocaust would have resulted.

Havelock.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Monday night, Sept. 30th, was a dark one—dark as the inside of an infidel or a negro pionic. The square particles descended numerous and energetically. Yet, in spite of this unpropitious combination of nature's operatives, the parlor social held at the home of Abraham Waller, Esq., Old Havelock, was a marked success, numerically, financially, socially and literarily. There could be seen engaged in social pleasures, bent age, in its locks of grey, noble youth, lovely maiden and comely matron. The house was brilliantly illuminated, and the rays from chandeliers and other nocturnal luminaries penetrating the outer darkness, revealed to some extent the beauties of the grounds surrounding it. Ample justice having been done to the rich and abundant repast furnished for the occasion, a programme was prepared and performed in a manner most satisfactory. A reading by Dr. Jeff contained a warning to young scholars not to judge too quickly of the physical and pugilistic abilities of a beaubor. Mr. Peake, principal of the Havelock school, gave two recitations, tragic and comic, for which he was awarded hearty applause, clapping of hands and expansion of jaws. Mr. Shipman, a prominent Havelock vocalist, by his generous contributions added much to the evening's entertainment and amusement. The humorous vocal duet by him and Mrs. Preston was very well rendered and evoked much laughter. Mr. Barnett, our genial and respected station agent, gave freely of his musical treasures, and Mr. Dermot's recitation was an excellent one and given in very good style. Nor must we omit referring to the thrilling selections on the horn by Mr. George Liscomb. Though he is not equal in ability to some manipulators to be found in such bands as the Grenadiers and Queen's Own, of Toronto, and Gilmour's, of New York, still he has the ability and skill to keep his audience fully and powerfully impressed unto the end. And to crown all the chair on the occasion was filled in a weighty and dignified manner by Mr. Robert Preston. Thanks, hearty thanks, are undoubtedly due to Mr. and Mrs. Waller and their daughter, Miss Ella Waller, for the kind and unsparing efforts put forth by them to make their guests comfortable, happy, and to feel at home.

Mr. James Madill, in charge of the Presbyterian congregation for over a year, has removed with his family to Madoc, where he will minister to the wants of Allan settlement, St. Columbia, and Eldorado congregations.

Mr. John Glen, proprietor of the west end boot and shoe establishment, is recovering from his late illness.

Mr. Wm. Cole, who sustained painful injuries by falling from a car, is improving.

Mr. James Bryan, brother-in-law of Mr. Dermot, is suffering from an attack of inflammation.

Mr. Charles Fanning has been on the sick list for several weeks.

It was not enough to have the Jesuit question to deal with, and to annihilate friendly relations, so another important one has presented itself, namely, as to the ownership of the big barrel left at the residence lately occupied by Mr. Madill, two claimants putting in an appearance. Still the matter may be amicably settled without an appeal to the Supreme Court or the Privy Council. It is to be hoped that the ownership of the disputed treasure can and will be settled here. Our own court ought to be able to adjudicate in such matters.

Ah, "what a sight for the angels to look down upon," was that of a man on whose shoulder rested gracefully a bag of russet apples, surreptitiously taken from an orchard situated not far from our progressive village. Oh, my brother in the flesh, listen to wisdom's voice. When again you are disposed to exercise your gifts and talents thusly, don't wait till the mists are rolled away, rather work in the silent night, when all is dark and gloomy, and the watch-dog snoozeth.

Sunday last the pulpit of the Presbyterian church was occupied by Rev. I. Carmichael, of Norwood. The sermon has been most favorably spoken of; it was impressive, replete with thought, and clear in exposition.

VISITORS.—Miss Charity Weise, of Cardiff, and Miss Judith Carey, of Eldorado.

A quantity of peas mysteriously disappeared from the barn of one of our prominent Belmont agriculturists.

Ample ventilation is now secured in our public school.

We learn that Messrs. Samuel and James Gerow, of Round Lake, intend pitching their tents in the distant Manitoba.

Coagulated cow juice sells here for 25 cents a pound; eggs, fresh, 15 cents a dozen; eggs, bearing marks of age, price unsettled.

Garters high, bustles downward tendency.

Potatoes quoted at 30 cents a bag; apples, some samples sold at 50 cents a bag.

A NEW WAY OF COLLECTING OLD DEBTS.

Enthusiastic Equal Rights Meeting—The Letter Carriers Agitating for More Pay—Trinity University

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—Col. Denison yesterday morning made the first application of the act passed at the last session of the Local Legislature consolidating the Division Court Act with reference to judgment summonses, and the Master and Servant Act. At the last Division Court N. McArthur obtained a judgment for $18 for wages due against Thomas O'Connor, who failed to settle. A distress warrant was issued against him and it was returned marked "No goods." Under the new law O'Connor was brought before the Police Magistrate, who instructed him to pay 50 cents a week to the court until the amount is liquidated. In the event of failure to comply with this order O'Connor will go to jail.

Two memorable gatherings of those pledged to oppose Jesuit encroachments in Canada have been held at Toronto within the past year. The first was the convention at the Grand Opera House last June when the Equal Rights Association was formed. Equally successful was the meeting called by the association and held in the Granite Rink last night, mainly for the purpose of receiving the report of the deputation who waited on the Governor-General at Quebec on August 5; possibly to convince the supporters of anti-Jesuitism that their cause still lives and that, to use an expression of last night's chairman, the bivouac fires still blaze. To judge by the numbers, by the intense enthusiasm displayed and by the sounds of generous applause last night the cause is not dead. The speakers were Rev. Dr. Caven, Dr. Davidson and "one of the thirteen" D'Alton McCarthy, M. P.

Mr. E. Irving, Q. C., was thrown from his buggy yesterday, a runaway horse dashing the vehicle against a telegraph pole. Mr. Irving was badly shaken up but not seriously hurt.

The Toronto letter carriers have adopted a petition to the Postmaster-General asking for more pay. They state that in consequence of the low salary and the length of time (in some cases 10 years) taken to reach the maximum, $600 a year, they find it difficult to live. They pray for an increase of the maximum salary to $800 a year and that it be reached by five years service.

The report is about that an English syndicate with a capital in the millions has been organized to get control of Ashbridge's Bay and to improve it on an immense scale. A harbor is to be made, dock to be built, land to be reclaimed, sites for manufacturers to be provided, and railway accommodation to be laid that will make the East End fairly hum.

At the investigation of the perjury charge against Mr. F. X. Cousineau of the Bon Marche yesterday the Police Magistrate expressed the opinion that there was sufficient evidence to make a case for the Crown, but again adjourned the case until to-day.

Frank Ryan and James Black, who were captured by Detective Slemin at Buffalo for the burglary at Government House Oct. 2, were arraigned at the Police Court yesterday. Miss Mackay identified the stolen jewelry and other articles. Ryan pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to a year in the Central. Black was discharged.

The argument in the sensational Brennan case was concluded yesterday and the jury will be charged to-day.

The session of Trinity University began yesterday. There is an increase in the number of students and the residence is very crowded, showing the urgent need for the increased accommodation which Convocation is now providing. The new wing will afford accommodation for 30 students, also additional lecture rooms, physical science laboratory and other facilities. There is a larger entry this year than the university has ever had. The results of the examination so far as known are very satisfactory.

Fires of a Day.

BARRIE, Oct. 11.—Following are the losses by the fire here yesterday morning: R. A. Douglass, stock, $30; W. D. B. Spry, $30; J. M. Bothwell, buildings and contents, $2300, no insurance; stock, $250, insurance $5000; Bank of Toronto, $5000, insurance $4000 in Commercial Union and $4000 in Royal; dwelling owned by Bank of Toronto, $1300, insurance $900 in Royal Canadian; Alexander Scott, bookseller, stock, $700, fully covered by insurance.

COBOURG, Oct. 11.—Yesterday morning about 3 o'clock fire was discovered in the frame building in King-street owned by P. McCallum and occupied by S. Lukey as a butcher shop and F. J. Allen, tea dealer. Losses: P. McCallum $500, insured in the Queen's for $300; F. J. Allen, loss by fire and water $400, insured in the Norwich Union for $400; S. Lukey $100, insured in the British-American for $150. Cause of fire unknown.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 11.—A scene of great excitement occurred at the Ann Arbor High School yesterday morning when fire broke out in the roof of the big building. Hundreds of students were badly frightened and a panic threatened that would entail great loss of life, but it was controlled and every one escaped unhurt. Loss $3000, insurance ample. It is thought the fire started from an imperfect chimney.

KINGSTON, Oct. 11.—The stable of Dr. W. H. Henderson was destroyed by fire Monday night and a valuable horse burned to death.

At the Assize Court in the case of Charles Millsaps, charged with rape, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of common assault.

In the suit of Forrester v. the Township of Pittsburg plaintiff was awarded $1500. Forrester's wife sustained injuries by being thrown from a wagon and plaintiff considered the bad condition of the road was the cause of the accident.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The grand encampment of Knights Templar voted yesterafternoon to hold the next conclave three years hence at Denver, Col.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 11. The City Council held a special meeting Wednesday night and gave a first reading to a bill to bonus the Belleville Rolling Mills Company.

Joe Pulitzer's Pride.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The World edifice, the corner stone of which was laid yesterday, will be the highest office building in the universe. It will be the highest building of any description in America. It will have 13 stories. The roof will be nearly 200 feet high. It will be completed ready for occupation on Sept. 30, 1890.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL

BANQUET OF OTTAWA COLLEGE ALUMNI.

Cornellier's Bail—Applications Before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council—Artesian Wells.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—The banquet of the Alumni of Ottawa College took place last night. Covers were laid for 500 guests. Speeches were delivered by Cardinal Taschereau, Archbishop Duhamel, Bishop Ryan of Buffalo, N. Y., and others.

The Attorney General has ordered a stay of proceedings in the matter of the collection of the bail in the Cornellier case the opinion being that the bondsmen, Dr. St. Jean and Mr. Malette, are not gentlemen who would be likely to attempt to evade payment of the bondsdale County Attorney Lees was seen and said no attempt had been made to collect the bail. The authorities entertained the opinion that Cornellier would be brought back. Cornellier is the civil servant who skipped out after forging a check for $55.

The railway committee of the Privy Council met yesterday morning. Mr. Bell, on behalf of the Grand Trunk Railway, made application for permission to build a loop around Hamilton in order to save three miles and avoid sending east bound freight over the crowded lines in the city. Mr. MacKelcan for Hamilton replied that the Grand Trunk Railway really wanted to build a new line altogether for which which they had no charter. The committee decided that it had no jurisdiction but that application must be made to parliament.

The next case was that of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba for permission to make a connection with the Northern and Northwestern at Portage La Prairie. The Canadian Pacific Railway have a connection there with the Northern and Northwestern and objected to the Northern Pacific having one, as this would be really making connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway. The application and objections were taken into consideration. Mr. Kingsmill made an application on behalf of the Canada Southern to compel the Huron and Erie to pay for an interlocking switch at Fargo. This application was also taken into consideration.

Mr. Biggar on behalf of the City of Toronto made an application to compel the Canadian Pacific Railway and Grand Trunk Railway to place gates at a number of level crossings in that city. Mr. Bell replied for the Grand Trunk Railway and Mr. Wells for the Canadian Pacific Railway. The committee strongly advise the different interests to resort to arbitration, which they agreed to do.

Dr. Selwyn geological survey, who has returned from visiting the artesian wells in Dakota, is confident that similar good results can be attained in Southwestern Manitoba. One well at Jamestown, Dak., which is 1,500 feet deep will supply 300 gallons a minute. The town has been piped and the pressure is so great that a four inch stream can be thrown over seventy-five feet. Another well at Devil's Lake 1500 feet deep will furnish 150 gallons a minute. The formation of the different strata in Manitoba is much the same. A well has been sunk in DeLoraine some 1300 feet and Dr. Selwyn thinks at the same depth as at Jamestown a good supply of water can be obtained. These wells cost some eight or ten thousand dollars. It is thought the Government might sink a well to settle the question, because an abundance of water in that country will much enhance the value of land and have some effect on immigration.

Mr. L. G. A. Casgrain, insurance agent, was yesterday morning arrested and lodged in the county jail on an order of contempt of court. Early in the year Mrs. Casgrain secured an injunction in Toronto ordering her husband to desist from annoying her. In August an order for commitment for contempt of court was issued for alleged disobedience of this order. Mr. Casgrain then left for Montreal returning a couple of days ago. Wednesday night he is stated to have visited his wife's house in disregard of said order and yesterday morning Mr W. H. Barry acting for Mrs. Casgrain had the order executed.

Made Bad Use of his Liberty.

FLINT, Mich. Oct. 11.—George M. Davis, the noted youthful thief wanted by officers of Genesee and Ingram Counties for three cases of stealing horses inside of a week, was captured last night near his father's home in Clio township. Davis was asleep in a hay stack and did not awaken until after the handcuffs were placed on him. He is a young man whom Gov. Luce pardoned out of State Prison last winter.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 11.—The Women's Congress elected Julia Ward Howe of Rhode Island president, Isabel Howland of New York secretary, Henrietta Wolcott of Massachusetts treasurer, Sophia Hoffmann of New York and Charlotte Pierce of Pennsylvania auditors. Vice-presidents from every state in the union were elected.

Advance in Steel Rails.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—The heavy demand for steel rails of late has occasioned a sharp advance in prices. Sales last week aggregated 65,000 tons, the Union Pacific alone taking 40,000 tons. At the beginning of the year rails were quoted at $27 and since then sales have been made as low as $25. Last week they brought $28.50 and agents are now asking $29.

A Memorial Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Cooper Union Hall was well filled last night on the occasion of the services in memory of the late Congressman S. S. Cox. Citizens of every rank and class were in attendance. The meeting was under the auspices of the Stickler Association, of which Mr. Cox was a member.

THE NEWS IN MONTREAL.

THE AMALGAMATION OF THE MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

Grand Trunk Earnings—Alleged Shameful Treatment of the Geographique Canadien—The Grand Telegraph Case.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—The traffic returns of the Grand Trunk Railway for the week ending Oct. 5 are $443,845 against $304,716 for the corresponding week of last year, an increase of $39,129.

There is a very important element still which is not satisfied with the amalgamation of the Victoria and Laval Medical Schools, namely, the students. About 200 Victoria students congregated yesterday at the corner of Dorchester and St. Denis-streets and proceeded to the room of the Union de Commis Marchands where they discussed at length their grievances touching the proposed amalgamation. The students want to see the exact plan of amalgamation and also want a guarantee that the Victoria University in both name and organization shall be preserved intact, as they fear that after the three years' course the graduating students from their university will have to go through Laval and eventually become known as Laval men. Resolutions embodying the above will be presented to the University council.

Five of the cattlemen of the wrecked steamer Geographique arrived in this city yesterday destitute. After floating about for seven hours they were picked up by the bark Petit Codiac and landed at Dalhousie Sunday. From Tuesday until yesterday they had not tasted food and are pinched and hungry. Their treatment their allege has been shameful. Daniel Lyons states that when he entered the boat filled with the French officers he was ordered out and he got into another boat which foundered but escaped miraculously. Three of the men said the statements made about the cruelty of the captain and officers were in the main true although they did not see them use axes to drive away the English crew. When the captain of the Minnie Swift asked the captain of the Geographique to lower boats to save the passengers he is credited with saying he would wait until the morning and with treating the affair with indifference. Lyons says positively that he saw McNaulty bleeding on the deck as if he had been attacked. There were 27 in the boat which swamped, but Lyons does not know how many were saved. He owes his life to catching hold of the davit. The men attach no weight to the rumor McNaulty was murdered and thrown out of a boat to make room for a Frenchman. They all belong to England.

The evidence in the case of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company against the Montreal Telegraph Company was concluded yesterday and argument was deferred.

The Ancient Capital.

QUEBEC, Oct 11.—The October term of the Court of Queen's Bench, Crown Side, opened yesterday morning, Judges Tessier and Bosse presiding. Mr. Pelletier, City Attorney, made a motion to quash part of the verdict of the coroner's jury in the matter of the death of Joseph Kemp, on behalf of the Municipal authorities.

The Mining Engineers of the American Institute arrived here yesterday morning and were given an enthusiastic reception. They embarked in the steamer Vega and had an excursion around the harbor visiting the principal points of interest. There was a noon lunch on board to which invitations to a number of citizens had been issued by Premier Mercier.

Messrs Edward Reynolds and Edward Crean left last night to attend a convention of the contractors of the North American Railways to be held at San Francisco. These gentlemen are chosen as delegates by the Union.

Found Dead in Bed.

STRATHROY, Oct. 11.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Messiaha, who keeps a boarding house in Colborne-street, was startled on going to call one of her boarders to find him dead in bed. She at once notified the authorities and Coroner Bellington and the chief of police at once visited the scene. It appears that the deceased's name was Graham and he was between 60 and 70 years of age, a peddler of patent medicines and came here about three weeks ago. He seemed to be rather well informed, had plenty of clothing, paid his board regularly and had in his possession some $70 in gold and $150 in silver. From papers found upon him it seems he has been working for J. L. Stevens of Hamilton, has a son in Winnipeg and is also supposed to have a daughter. The cause of death is supposed to have been heart trouble. The authorities' efforts to find his friends so far have proved useless

The $60,000 Grant.

QUEBEC, Oct. 11.—Hon. Mr. Mercier yesterday sent Bishop Williams his reply to the resolution passed by the Protestant Council of Public Instruction at their recent meeting on the question of accepting the $60,000 granted in the Jesuits Estates Bill. The document is a very long one and in substance complies with the terms of all four resolutions of the council, except the fourth, asking for interest. This the Premier says cannot be granted in the way it is put, but the Government is willing to allow interest the same as is allowed to the Catholic section from Aug. 30, 1888.

THAT SUNDAY BANQUET.

Why Toronto's Mayor Will Decline Mr. Erastus Wiman's Invitation.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—Just before leaving Toronto last evening Mayor Clarke received a telegraphic invitation from Erastus Wiman to attend a banquet to the Pan-American Congress at the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, Ont., on Sunday next. It is said that His Worship will send a reply that he has other Sabbath engagements, that is, that he cannot attend a banquet on the sacred day.

The Menu.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 11.—For a quiet Sunday dinner, which Erastus Wiman proposes to give on the Canadian side of the Falls on Oct. 13 to the delegates of the American International Congress, the arrangements being made at the Clifton House are somewhat comprehensive. Among the viands to be provided are delicious Canadian white fish, freshly caught in Lake Superior; redhead duck from the Long Point club, Lake Erie; a haunch of venison from the Dwight-Wiman trading lake preserves, and a saddle of the finest Canadian mutton, noted for its juicy tenderness, which, with Canadian cauliflower, English plum pudding and Niagara grapes, will make a repast characteristic of the country. The arrangements for the day are such as to purposely preclude lunch, so that with a good appetite on the part of the distinguished guests, if they do not remember above all their entertainments the Canadian Sunday dinner it will not be the fault of the host.

The Pan-Excursionists.

Lord Howe's Bones Unearthed by Workmen at Ticonderoga.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—A special dispatch from Ticonderoga to The Morning Telegram says; "While laborers were engaged in digging a sewer in one of the principal streets of this village to-day they struck a tombstone. At the bottom of it was a coffin containing the bones of a human being. The stone was washed off and was found to contain the inscription and date of death of Lord Howe. The skull was intact, but the rest of the bones were disjointed and considerably decayed. As soon as it had been learned about the village an immense crowd of people assembled and many made desperate efforts to procure pieces of the bones. The coffin which was of oak was in a fairly good state of preservation, and it was with great difficulty that people were prevented from cutting it to pieces for relics. Several years ago the street where the remains were found was filled in several feet which accounts for the depth of the coffin's location. The remains will probably be reinterred at once in the village cemetery."

[Lord Howe (George Augustus Howe) was born in England in 1724 and was shot in battle at Ticonderoga on July 8, 1758. He entered the army at a very early age, soon rose to distinction and in 1757 was sent to America in command of the Sixtieth Regiment, arriving at Halifax in July of that year. He was transferred to the command of the 55th Infantry and was promoted Brigadier-General. On July 6, 1758, under Commander-in-Chief James Abercrombie, he landed at the outlet of Lake George. Coming suddenly upon the French forces two days later at Fort Ticonderoga, he fell at the head of his corps in the ensuing skirmish. The General Courts of Massachusetts appropriated £250 to his monument, which was erected in Westminster Abbey.]

CABLE NOTES.

Arrival of the Czar at Kiel—The Bohemian Diet

KIEL, Oct. 11.—The Czar arrived here yesterday afternoon on the imperial yacht Derjava. The yacht steamed through the British fleet and anchored alongside the German guardship Baden. The British and German squadrons saluted the Derjava.

Generals Von Werder and Von Kaltenborn-Stachau, General Shouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, Admirals Von Der Goltze and Knorr and Court Marshal Seckendorff boarded the Derjava to meet the Czar. The yacht was illuminated with electric lights and was anchored opposite the castle. The Czar remained aboard until he left closely guarded for the train which will convey him to Berlin.

Count Thun's Lament.

VIENNA, Oct. 11.—At the opening of the Bohemian Diet yesterday Count Thun, referring to the absence of the German deputies, lamented the acute dissensions among the members and expressed the hope that their intelligence and loyalty would soon bring them together in concord.

The Stranded Steamer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The big steamer City of New York, aground in Gedney's Channel, seemed to stand as if she was in a dry dock. Her bow was many elevated than her stern. Her twin screws stood almost clear of the water and she was visibly listed to port. Hundreds of anxious passengers on board looked frightened. Pilot Reardon, who was in charge when the vessel grounded, says she ran aground in trying to avoid a collision with a pilot boat. It is said hardly anybody slept aboard the big steamer Wednesday night. Some of the crew said she rocked and shook from stem to stern after going aground as if she were going to pieces. The steerage passengers were so excited that they wanted to lynch the pilot. It was determined last night to have seven tugs try and haul the big steamer off the mud bank at high tide. She lies directly in the path of incoming and outgoing steamers.

HAWKINS EXCULPATED.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Hamilton Shooting Case.

HAMILTON, Oct. 11.—The inquest on the death of James Douglas was continued last night. Constable Hawkins made a statement of how the shooting occurred. Coroner Woolverton addressed the jury at length. After over two hours' discussion this verdict was brought in:

"James D. Douglas came to his death from a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of Police Constable Hawkins in the discharge of his duty and the case was one of homicide by misadventure. We consider that the police were hasty in their action, but were actuated by the desire to protect the inmates of the house who had solicited their aid by a wish to protect the public from a supposed dangerous criminal. We consider that the relatives of the deceased are very largely to blame for the unfortunate affair through the comparatively little attention given to the unsound condition of the deceased, medical evidence having clearly proven to us that he was not a fit person to be at large. We recommend that Police Constable Hawkins be released from arrest, and reinstated in his place and duties on the force."

IMPORTANT!

Remarkable Restoration to Health of Well Known Canadians whose Cases were Given up as Incurable.

From the few of the hundreds of letters we have received from those who have been restored to health and strength by the use of that wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, we make a few extracts. We hope that the thousands of Canadian men and women who are suffering from nervous and wasting diseases, will profit by these true and plain statements of facts.

D. S. Davidson, of Montreal, suffered for years with nervous dyspepsia, pain in his back, and sleeplessness. He tried doctors without relief, was losing flesh rapidly, and had about given up heart when he commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound. "Now," he says, "I am a new man. I sleep well and my food does not hurt me."

Mr. Jas. Johnson, 302 St. Charles Borromee Street, Montreal, was weak and nervous, had no appetite, and could not rest at night. His nerves were soothed and strengthened by Paine's Celery Compound, and he soon became well and strong.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P. Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

A customer of Harrison Bros., druggist, Hamilton, Ont., told them that he was entirely cured of nervous weakness by the use of two bottles of the Compound, after everything else has failed.

The little child of Mrs. G. E. Meredith, 76 D'Arcy St., Toronto, was cured of St. Vitus' Dance by Paine's Celery Compound.

LOCAL IRON INTERESTS.

Public Meeting in Lindsay in Regard to their Development.

A Proposal Submitted—The Wealth of Our Iron Mines Indicated—Government and Municipal Assistance to be Sought—Railway Communication to Be Established—Mines to be Opened And Operated.

At the request of several prominent residents of the Haliburton district, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., was at Lindsay on Thursday for the purpose of meeting a deputation from the back country and attending a public meeting held in the interest of the promotion of the development of the iron deposits in the Haliburton district. The meeting was held in the Lindsay council chamber, and, while not very large, was thoroughly representative. Mayor Walters occupied the chair. Mr. Paisne, president of the Irondale & Bancroft Railway Company, first addressed the meeting. The object of the gathering was to enlist sympathy and to secure moral support and financial assistance for a scheme for the systematic development of

in the Haliburton district. He insisted on the importance of the completion of the railway from Irondale to Bancroft, a distance of some 40 miles, and of securing government assistance. The Dominion government had voted a subsidy of $3200 per mile and there should be an effort made to induce the Ontario government to appropriate in addition thereto $2000 per mile. He also hoped that the counties of Victoria, Haliburton and Peterborough would each contribute $10,000 and that the Ontario government would make a grant of 50,000 acres of wood land for smelting purposes. The product of this area together with the wood that could be bought in the vicinity, would be an ample wood supply for many years. It was proposed to have the wood granted free, the land to be paid for at a valuation. If the project in view was successful, it was proposed to erect houses for a large number of labourers to which employment would be given as the prosecution of the iron mining industry, both in the getting out of wood and also in actual mining operations. He estimated that with a furnace costing $125,000, an out-put of would be accomplished. The amounts asked as rented, would only be payable on condition of the works being put into actual operation. He stated this on the strength of a guarantee he had from a wealthy syndicate in New York, that so soon as the railway, land and other grants and the other mentioned conditions were secured, the funds would be forthcoming for the vigorous prosecution of mining operations and the completion of the railway.

Mr. WETHERALD, an experienced mining engineer and furnace manufacturer of Pittsburgh, Penn., and a large capitalist, said he had spent some time in the Haliburton district, testing the ore, and he could say that the quality was of first-class order—the ore being singularly pure from phosphorous and, therefore, excellently adapted to the production of the finest steel for commercial purposes, and the quantity was of such an extent as to warrant a much greater outlay than that proposed by the previous speaker, an extent greater than that of any other of the western mines of the continent. He in the resources and quality of the mines by a liberal investment in their development, in case the scheme proposed to that end should issue successfully. The facilities for carrying on operations, in such an event, would be equal to any other situation on the continent.

Mr. JOHN FELL, M. P. P., East Victoria, said that the Government had helped other railroads the past session, and he hoped the railway in question would receive similar treatment. He believed the whole enterprise, if begun, would be successful.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., said he was pleased to be present, and he had listened to the remarks already made with a great deal of pleasure. He was especially interested with the remarks concerning the value of the ores in the Haliburton district. It corresponded with what he had previously learned of their richness and extent. He said he believed, from all the knowledge of the subject and circumstances he had been able to gather, that our iron ore deposits were of exceptional extent and value, and that their development warranted the enterprise proposed. He believed that if smelting works were established anywhere except in the vicinity of the mines, that

PETERBOROUGH WOULD BE THE BEST SITE.

It would present the greatest number of advantages. Speaking for himself, he would be happy to co-operate in any manner in his power with the capitalists of New York. He had reason to feel certain that if the promoters of the scheme in question, could show the Government that its prosecution was in the interest of colonizing and opening the back country and developing its resources, the Government would not withhold a fair measure of assistance. Personally, he was anxious to have the railway assisted. Under the circumstances, as representative of West Peterborough, when the question of assistance to railroads came up in the House it would be his duty to urge the extension of the Chemong Valley Railroad to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls. It was now extended eight miles north of Peterborough and if pushed on as indicated the Chemong Valley road would form the shortest, most direct and therefore most desirable out-let from the mining district to the lake front. In regard to securing financial assistance from the county of Peterborough he thought that a mining company would have to induce the council to make a grant. He was not, however, a member of the council and could only speak with reference to the policy they had pursued in the past.

A VOICE.—And that was to vote bonuses and not pay them (laughter.)

Mr. STRATTON concluded by expressing his belief that the enterprise in question was worthy of the warmest possible encouragement.

Dr. HOPKINS, the Warden of Victoria county, suggested that the matter should be discussed and agitated by the heads of the municipalities with a view of securing an expression of popular sentiment and support. It was not at all probable that a county council at its expiring session would feel warranted in making so large a grant, but the matter could be discussed and a new council might be elected with references to the public feeling upon the scheme proposed, and the new council might be encouraged to deal with it in a liberal spirit.

On motion of Mr. John Dobson, a deputation composed of the Mayor and Reeve of Lindsay and the parliamentary representatives of the district concerned, was appointed to wait upon the Ontario Government to-day (Friday), at eleven o'clock, for the purpose of presenting the scheme and soliciting government co-operation in furthering its realization. After some conversational discussion the meeting adjourned.

Dummer Council Meeting.

Warsaw, Oct. 5th, 1889—Council meet in Warsaw. Present, A. R. Kidd, Reeve, R. Crowe, Dep. Reeve, George Kirk and H. A. Moore, councillors; absent, Thos. Webster. Minutes of last meeting read and signed. Orders granted.—To Geo. Kirk, council grant on 9 con. line, $25.00; do. Samuel Hamblin, Bread account of Wm. Wilson, $3.00. A by-law to fix the place of nomination, appoint polling places and deputy returning officers for Municipal Elections of 1889 were passed. Council adjourned to 15th December next.

The Poisoned Candy Case.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 11.—Coroner Berryman resumed the poisoned candy case last evening in the presence of an immense crowd of spectators. During the taking of the evidence of J. H. Weaber, a clerk in Barker's establishment, there were a couple of little scenes between the coroner and C. A. Stockton, who is watching the case for the prisoner. The witness was being asked questions by the coroner and Stockton as nearly every question objected on the grounds that the answer was merely witness' opinion and hearsay. Stockton at last got off a little sentimental speech about the priceless liberty of the prisoner and the crowd applauded. Then the high constable called for order and a few minutes later Stockton got in some of his interruption and the crowd again roundly applauded him. The coroner threatened to clear the court if the like was repeated. He also remarked that he was conducting the enquiry with a view to getting the fullest possible information and he intended to proceed in that line. If his method was wrong Mr. Stockton could have an opportunity of objecting in another court. The remarks of the coroner were greeted with applause and the case then proceeded. An adjournment was had shortly before 11 o'clock and during the three hours' session really nothing of importance was brought to light. Solicitor-General Pugsley was called away on urgent business and therefore was not present. There are yet about twenty witnesses to appear.

Killed his Wife.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 11.—George W. Moss last evening shot and killed his wife as she was eating supper. Moss then fired three shots into his own body. This did not kill him and he ran away. Tracks of blood were discovered for a short distance. The entire police force is searching for him. Moss came here two years ago from Auburn, N. Y. On complaint of his wife he was sent to jail a few days ago in default of bail to keep the peace. He had been constantly threatening his wife. Yesterday he procured bail and purchased a revolver.

Uncle Sam's Crops.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Department of Agriculture reports the general percentage of condition of corn at 91.7, against 90.9 a month ago and 92 for the crop of 1888, on Oct. 1; potatoes 77.9, against 86.8 last October; buckwheat 90, against 92.1 last year; tobacco 80.7, against 83.7 in 1888. The preliminary estimate of yield per acre is 12.8 for wheat, 11.9 for rye and 22.2 for barley.

Notes From the Capital

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Mr. McLeod Stewart has returned from his trip to the United States, the Northwest and British Columbia. He says he is satisfied with what has been done so far in regard to the Pacific Anthracite Coal Company. The company have secured premises at San Francisco and will export largely to that place. Mr. Stewart says they have not yet quite decided what their operations will be.

A question of much interest to insurance men, and more particularly companies founded on the assessment plan, has just arisen. Several companies which do business on that plan have lately sprung into existence. According to the law they have to be incorporated by the Provincial Government and obtain a certificate from the Dominion Government before they can commence business. A short time ago Mr. Taylor McVatty of Ottawa on behalf of the Home Benefit Life Insurance Company applied to the Ontario Government and received a charter of incorporation. Application was then made to the Dominion Government for the usual certificate but it was refused by the Minister of Justice on the ground that the society's incorporation was illegal. Opposition of the older companies, it is said, resulted in this discovery and as the other companies similar to the Home Benefit already in existence would be affected by it they have been notified that when their certificates run out they will not be renewed. This, it is claimed, has resulted in something like a panic amongst the assessment companies, who have now retained Hon. William Macdougall to look after their interests.

Poisoning Suspected.

DETROIT, Oct. 10.—James Mortimer was found dead in bed at O'Connor's European Hotel at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and present indications point to a case of poisoning. Upon the bed was found considerable blood. From the appearance of the body the Coroner believes the man was poisoned, probably administering the dose himself. An inquest will be held. Mortimer was a man of 45 with brown hair and gray mustache. He came to O'Connors Hotel eight days ago with his wife from Chatham, Ont., in search of work. Tuesday night Mrs. Mortimer secured employment as cook on a barge and left for a trip up the lakes. The husband also obtained work at the gas works and was to go to work yesterday morning. It is surmised that his wife's leaving may have thrown the man into a fit of despondency. Mortimer was an English pensioner and received his pension money only a few days ago.

Flour and Wheat.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 10.—The Northwestern Miller says: The aggregate manufacture of flour last week was 164,300 barrels against 151,300 the week before and 162,800 for the corresponding time in 1888. The present production is at the rate of about 26,000 barrels per twenty-four hours. The flour market is pretty firm with sales of moderate volume. The majority of the millers yet have some orders ahead, and with the shortage of water power threatening to heavily curtail the output, they are exercising great caution about contracting very far in advance of their current production. The most firms, therefore, claim to be selling about all they care to and are holding prices firm. The foreign demand is still comparatively light and largely for bakers. Some orders were taken yesterday however for patents that were considered to show better feeling in that direction. The direct exports of flour for the week were 51,830 bbls. against 67,180 the preceding week.

AND still the price keeps going down in teas and sugar, at KIDD'S grocery.

A Sure Remedy for Neuralgia.

Neuralgia is one of the most common and painful affections incidental to this climate. The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 363 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Royal Templars' Concert.

In the report of the Templars' entertainment an important omission was made, that of the excellent reading by Miss L. Sanderson and the song by Miss Millar, the latter being one of the best numbers of the evening. More extended reference should also have been made to the terse and clear exposition of the objects, scope, and progression, and aggressive character of the order, made by S. R. Armstrong, P.S.C.

He Knew His Weakness.

Thos. Johnston, a stranger in town, walked into the police station at noon to-day and asked to be sent up to gaol for a term. He had evidently been on a big spree, and told the police that he used to be a victim of the opium habit, but now he was a slave to drink, and wanted to be put where he could not get liquor. He is not long out from England. Johnston was remanded for one week.

IF you see M. R. KIDD at all this week you will see him sitting on the floor pulling the prices of groceries down. Call and see him.

Those who wish to partake of something very fine in the shape of a cup of tea should try W. J. Morrow's direct importations. Why is it farmers are giving up buying from pedlars and tea men? Simply because they can buy tea from ten to fifteen cents per lb. cheaper from us, as it does not pass through so many hands, owing to us importing direct. We are offering an extra Japan at 25c., a beautiful blend of Black at 40c., and all other lines away down to 5 lbs and 6 lbs for $1.00. W. J. MORROW, 340 Opera House Block, George street. dw

Beautiful Destitution.

In the very heart of the town there lives, or rather exists, a family in a shocking state of destitution. The father is away in the shanties, and the mother hasn't tasted a decent cup of tea for months, for the reason that she had no money to go to Hawley Bros., where the highest quality only of tea is kept. A large variety of the finest, freshest kinds of tea at low prices, bought well and, therefore, sold cheaply. Also fragrant coffees, and the finest stock of glassware. No trouble to show goods, or to sell them, when once the customer has tried them. dw

Wedding Bells.

Last Wednesday evening, says the Norwood Register, a private wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John McNaughton, Asphodel. The contracting parties were Mr. G. Learmouth, Peterborough, and Miss C McNaughton. The bride wore a beautiful costume of golden-brown marvelouse, and had for bridesmaid, Miss E Beckett, Peterborough, and Miss Tena Cameron, Norwood. The groom was attended by Mr. John McNaughton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Carmichael, Norwood. The presents for the bride were many and valuable, among other things might be mentioned a beautiful gold watch and chain, a gift from her brothers, John and Dr. McNaughton.

The Young Men's Reception.

The first monthly reception at the Y.M.C.A. rooms to the young men of the city was held last night. The hall was well filled. President G. M. Roger occupied the chair, and after devotional exercises gave an earnest talk to the young men before him. The Y. M. C. A. band then rendered a musical selection, and five-minute addresses were delivered by the chairmen of the different committees. For the Finance Committee Mr. J. W. Bennett; the Devotional Committee, Mr. I Richardson; the Invitation Committee, R. C. Hunter; and for the recreation and Lecture Committees, the chairman being absent, the Secretary spoke. Each of the speakers gave brief accounts of the work done in their departments. The Messrs Mann and Dicks gave an instrumental trio, violin, mouth organ and flageolets, followed by an address from Rev. J. McCleary, of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, and another selection by the band. Mr. Colville, the indefatigable and popular secretary, then spoke for a short time on "The needs of our work and how to do our work." After this refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, and, needless to say, the viands were of the choicest. The officers of the Association are very thankful to the ladies for their most enjoyable contribution to the evening's entertainment. During the serving of tea the band furnished music. The reception was a splendid success, the balance of the evening, after the conclusion of the programme, being spent in social intercourse.

THE FORESTERS' HOME

Dedicated by High Secretary Thos. White

An Event of Interest to the Peterborough Foresters — The Ceremony Accompanied by a Tea and Entertainment — A Brief Retrospect of Court Peterborough's Growth.

Last night the handsome new hall in the Snowden block, Simcoe street, fitted up by Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., as a lodge room, was formally dedicated by the High Secretary of the Order, Mr. Thos. White, acting as High Chief Ranger, assisted by the officers of the court. The new "Forest Home" has already been described in the EXAMINER, therefore, it will only be necessary to add that all the flattering comments of the newspapers upon the elegancy and commodiousness of the Foresters' quarters were echoed by the several hundred people who were given their first glimpse of it last night. Court Peterborough has every reason to feel proud of its new premises, which were furnished at a cost of about $2,000. This fact betokens the prosperity of the Order, and a short review of the since its inception, indicating its uniform growth and prosperity, might not be out of place. Court Peterborough was established in February, 1879, under a charter from the Independent Order of Foresters, and from the start it flourished. The first Chief Ranger was W. J. Larmour. In November of 1879 the Court, along with the majority of those in Canada, seceded from the Independent Order on a question of managing their own beneficial fund, and became a branch of the Canadian Order, in which it has since remained. The membership of the Court has increased from 30 in 1879 to 177 at the present time. Forestry has flourished ever since it was established here, there being besides the brethren of Court Peterborough the 75 or 80 members of Court Little John, which has been in operation for five years. Not only fraternally has Forestry been a success, but financially and beneficially also. There are many men and families in town who have reason to feel grateful to the local Order for practical aid in times of sickness and distress. In the ten years of its existence Court Peterborough has spent some $3,000 for the relief of members and their families, and some thirteen or fourteen death claims have been promptly settled. The Court's finances are in a satisfactory condition, as, after all the disbursements for relief and expenditure of about $2,000 on the new hall, they still have $1,400 to their credit in the bank.

The Dedication.

Between three and four hundred people sat down to the supper which was spread in the ante-rooms by Messrs. H. Long and Thos. Hooper. It was a substantial repast and amply satisfied all who partook of it. The Foresters and their wives assisted in waiting on the tables. This very material portion of the evening's programme was voted a grand success.

The spacious court room was crowded with people, and seats enough could scarcely be found to accommodate all those present. The rooms were decorated with flowers and evergreens in profusion, giving the place the refined aspect of a Forest Home, while the comprehensive motto of the order, "Liberty, Benevolence, Concord," was emblasoned on the walls in large letters.

Mr. Russell, Chief Ranger, occupied the chair very acceptably. After an opening selection by the orchestra, the was begun. High Secretary White, or, as his office was on this occasion, Right Worthy High Chief Ranger, was Master of Ceremonies, and appointed as officers of the High Court pro tem. the following brethren:

High Vice Chief Ranger	John Nusent
High Marshall	A. McNeil
High Captain	J. Alexander
High Herald of the East	F. J. Jamieson
" " " West	John Fowler
" " " North	R. McWhinnie
" " " South	H. Nesbitt

The High Court officers entered from an ante-room and were welcomed by Chief Ranger Russell. The Court officers then vacated their chairs, which were taken by the High Court officers. The High Chief Ranger addressed the Foresters, congratulating them upon having such a fine hall, where they would meet to inculcate the principles of Liberty, Benevolence and Concord. The Marshall then proclaimed the dedication about to begin. After the Chaplain had invoked the divine blessing, the High Court officers started in procession about the room, followed by the brethren of the Order, all singing the Foresters' National Anthem, "The Red, White and Green." Then as the head of the procession reached the High Chief Rangers' chair, after each passage around the room, he made libations of water, wheat and oil, representing the three cardinal doctrines of the Order, Liberty, Benevolence and Concord—water, the free gift of God; wheat, the emblem of plenty; oil, the emblem of peace and joy. At the conclusion of the march, the High Chief Ranger said:—"By virtue of the power in me vested, and in the name of the Canadian Order of Foresters, I hereby dedicate this hall to the principles of Liberty, Benevolence and Concord, and the works of charity. May peace, harmony and goodwill towards men ever reign within these walls." The other High Court Officers then in turn proclaimed the hall duly and legally dedicated, and the ceremony was over.

A Presentation.

At the conclusion of the dedication, chairman Russell stepped forward and read the following address:—

To the Rt. Worthy High Secretary Thos. White:

DEAR BROTHER.—It is with feelings of unmingled gratification and pleasure that we, the members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., cordially welcome you to this, our new forest home, and beg to express our profound gratitude to you for your consideration in honouring us with your presence on this occasion. Five years ago we were honoured by the presence of a distinguished court official, who presided at the dedicatory ceremony of the hall we have just vacated. At that time many predictions were made as to our future as an order. To say that the predictions then made have been more than realised is to speak within the mark. Five years ago we had but $5,000 in our treasury; to day we have $90,000. We feel proud to have in the presence of yourself a worthy representative, who ten years ago assisted in laying the foundation of the noble structure, which has been a source of daily toil, experiencing many difficulties. To-day we can look at the accumulated endowment fund with a pleasing consciousness as a magnificent monument of the gigantic conceptions of the designers. It would be unfair were we not on this occasion to record a word of praise to "Gerry, No. 2," of Winnipeg, for making Court Peterborough, No. 29, rank second during the year ended on the membership roll. We express a wish that you will convey to noble Gerry our congratulations.

While we take justifiable pride in our new hall, we feel thankful to be associated with one of the noblest orders of civilized society, which has been the means of rescuing many families from the brink-races of poverty and the degradation of charity, and trust that your short sojourn with us may be of the pleasantest possible character, and that you may be spared to occupy your present responsible position, to fill which you are so eminently well qualified.

On behalf of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C O F,

A. D RUSSELL, Chief Ranger.
CHAS. CURTIS, Rec Secretary.

The High Secretary replied in felicitous terms, complimenting Court Peterborough and local Forestry in general on its prosperous condition and wishing it still greater success.

The Entertainment.

The Chairman apologized for the absence of the expected High Court officers, Bros. Towe and Stanley, and announced that the latter had been prevented from coming on account of sickness, and the former for other reasons. He then called on the different members on the programme.

After an excellent selection by the orchestra, High Secretary White made an address, in which he indulged in some little pleasantries to begin with, and then referred directly to the Order of Foresters. He pointed out that it was a young, but strong, institution, thoroughly Canadian, and growing rapidly. He believed it was going to have a place in Canadian history. The Order had met with gratifying success, and the speaker mentioned some financial matters showing the prosperity of the Order. In June, 1887, they had a surplus of $31,310[illegible], with which to pay their death and sick claims; in 1888, after paying out $26,000 in claims, they had a surplus of $36,312 35, and in June, 1889, after paying $42,000 the previous year, their surplus had grown to $90,295.81, while now, at the end of last month, there was in the treasury over $93,000 for this purpose. There were two departments to the Order, the sick benefit and insurance departments. The speaker urged the advantages of the cheap insurance in the Order, enabling men whether single or married to provide for those dependent on them. He decried the idea that the Order would not live, but even if it did die the members would have received practical benefit. But besides the financial consideration, the Order was a beneficial and social one. He commended all such societies as a great boon to mankind. Their principles were thoroughly in accord with the divine teachings, and he therefore invited men to become members. To show that the Order was growing, he said that during the first quarter of the year they had had 250 more applications for membership than for the corresponding period last year. The Society was growing, and already their banner was unfurled in almost every important town in Canada.

Miss Sophie Cameron then sang a Scotch song in her usual pleasing voice, followed by Mr. A. H. Strike in a humorous reading, "Southern Pulpit Eloquence." He gave as an encore a recitation, "Asleep at the Switch." The orchestra gave another selection, and Mr. Barton Earle read "The Island of the Scots." This reading was particularly good. Rev. P. C. Parker then made a pleasant little address, in which he referred in flattering terms to the Order under whose auspices the entertainment was being held. Miss Nellie Saunders recited "The Gambler's Wife," and Mr. Jno. Nugent brought down the house with "Jimmy Butler and the Owl." He responded to an enthusiastic encore with "The Moneyless Man." Sergt.-Major Rundle's reading, "A Yankee Fireside," elicited loud laughter. Mr. J. J. Turner's comic character song, "Come Along," which received an encore was the last number on the programme.

The gentlemen who had charge of the proceedings deserve credit for the splendid success which attended their efforts to make the dedication of their new hall a memorable occasion. Before the audience dispersed votes of thanks were tendered to all those who had participated in the programme.

Havelock.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Early on the morning of Wednesday, the 9th, the wife of Mr. Fred Douty, acting in obedience to the divine injunction to multiply and replenish the earth, presented her lawful lord and master with a pledge of conjugal felicity in the form of a girl baby. Blessings on them, my children.

The gosmphone, which is in operation here, instead of the telephone, is working well. Its business is active and on the increase, though the reports through it are not at all times reliable but improvements in the machinery will make no doubt an important change in this particular. So mote it be.

Our Irye Presbyterians of Rush Point, rally to the front. Now's the day and now's the hour to show that your church has power. Remember Knox and the noble Covenanters.

Sabbath religious services were conducted in the Trent Bridge C.M. church by Mr. Peake, Principal of the Havelock school.

Still they come.—The wife of Mr. Thos. Robins of a girl. Father and mother doing well.

The two lodges lately organised here, the United Workman and Foresters, are rapidly increasing in membership. Keen rivalry exits between the two organizations in the line of securing members.

"Father," she asked in accents mild,
"Will you go to Havelock with your only child?"
And the father replied in tones most clear,
"As he passed on the form of his daughter dear,
"Child of my love, and of your mother,
Why pas your old dad to so much bother?
Sure there are other stores to which people flock,
Then why drive all the way to New Havelock?"
"There are stores, no doubt, to which people flock,
But I can always do better in New Havelock.
With whatever I sell or whatever I buy;
And you know, father mine, I would not lie."
"No more need be said, pride of my heart,
So rig yourself up, and about it right smart;
While your mother gets ready the butter and eggs
A clean pair of pants I'll draw over my legs.
And together we'll go with our little stock
To those prosperous village called Havelock."
"Then off to the stable, my father repair,
And I'll away to my chamber to bang up my hair;
And, believe me, dear daddy, you'll never repent
That along with your daughter to Havelock you went."

Personal.

MR. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., West Peterborough, is in Toronto to-day, to urge upon the Government the pissing of the west half of Cavendish in the free grant district, thus opening it for settlement; also in connection with the Lindsay mining deputation; and also on another deputation connected with the further development of the back country of this riding.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., West Peterborough, was in town to-day attending a meeting in the interests of the development of the iron industries of our northern townships. Mr. Stratton is indefatigable in looking after the interests of his constituency."

Mr. J. H. Ames, manager of the Ontario Bank, Lindsay, has resigned his position and intends removing to Toronto where he proposes opening a private banking and brokerage agency.

Mr. Chas. Attewell, the "pro." of the cricket club, returns to England next week for the winter. He leaves town at noon on Tuesday for Montreal.

A Satisfactory Appointment.

The many friends of Mr. Geo. A. Morrison will be pleased to learn that he has secured the State agency in Washington Territory for the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Insurance Association, of New York. This is one of the leading life insurance companies of world. After having paid over $7,000,000 in death claims, the company has about $185,000,000 of policies in force and a reserve fund of over $2,225,000, giving guaranteed life insurance at about fifty per cent. less than the stock companies. The company is to be congratulated on securing Mr. Morrison as their representative. He is a thorough, well posted insurance man, and the agency should soon be one of the important in the United States.

The American Farmer.

Protectionists in this country are fond of citing instances of occasional low prices for farm produce or other hardships suffered by farmers in the United States; the impression which they seek to convey being that Reciprocity would drag the Canadian farmer down to the level of these exceptional cases. As good Protectionists, they will not refuse a hearing to that stalwart Protectionist, Senator Cullom, who, in an article in the October Forum, says:—"That which most forcibly attracts the intelligent observer, whose memory goes back thirty or forty years, as he travels through the country and small towns, is the great improvement in the material welfare of the farming and country people, especially those of the West. They are not only better housed, clothed and fed, but he finds them using as articles of almost daily consumption articles which were entirely unknown, to people of ordinary means thirty or forty years ago, or which were regarded as only the luxuries of the very rich people in the cities and towns." Senator Cullom regards the United States as the finest market in the world for American farm products. Referring to foreign markets, he says:—"The English have come to the very natural and laudable determination to obtain this wheat from their own dominions, if possible, and are covering India with railways to develop the grain trade. In this way the Indian exports of wheat rose from 299,385 cwt. in 1868 to 21,060,519 cwt. in 1886. Russia is also improving her transportation facilities and increasing her exports of grain accordingly. Then there are Canada, Australia and Egypt. The Indian wheat is raised in a climate where man's wants are at the minimum, by a race inured, by centuries of habit and all the prejudice of caste, to a life of patient drudgery and privation, and who are willing to work for seven cents a day or two dollars per month * * * Our farms produced in 1886 $3,706,000,000 worth of material (farm values), of which we exported $370,000,000, or just 10 per cent. The balance of 90 per cent, is more than double the total imports of every kind into Great Britain in the same year. If we add to the farm products the value of manufactured goods sold and consumed at home, say $5,000,000,000, to make a low estimate, we have a total of $8,330,000,000, which is more than the total imports of all the countries of Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America, Australia, and the Islands of the sea, which is the American Almanac for 1888 are given as $7,560,000,000. If we could take possession of the trade of the world, and furnish all the goods imported by every country on the face of the globe, the value of this trade would fall short of our home market by almost a billion of dollars."

What Senator Cullom says as to the excellent position of the American farmer is no doubt true, whether that position be due to the free trade which exists throughout the States of the Union, or, as he supposes, to the protective wall which surrounds the Union. Taking the latter view, how can our Protectionists deny the benefit to the Canadian farmer of Reciprocity, which would give him exactly the same protection as the American farmer now possesses?

The Restrictionists are fond of jeering at the American market of sixty millions. Can they deny the fact stated by Senator Cullum, that that market is worth to the American farmer $3,330,000,000 a year? They are fond of telling the Canadian farmer that his best market is to be sought in Great Britain and not in the United States. Can they break the force of Senator Cullom's argument that England is going in the future to draw almost her entire supply of wheat from India, where labor is cheap, rather from the United States (or Canada,) where labor is highly paid? or his argument that even now the American consumption of farm products and manufactures is far more than the total imports of Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America, Australia and the Islands of the Sea?

CURIOSITY ABOUT PRINCE FERDINAND'S JOURNEY.

Proposed Grand Fetes in Paris—The Czar at Berlin—William and Alexander Exchange Compliments.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The departure of Prince Ferdinand from Sofia and the appointment of a regent during his absence have caused considerable surprise throughout Europe. The fact that the government has been placed in the hands of M. Stambuloff, with the powers of regent, indicates that the prince expects to be absent a long time, and gossip is busy with his possible object in taking so unexpected a step. On his way to Ebenthal, to see his mother, he stopped at Wien and had an interview with the Bulgarian agent there. It is expected that he will visit Paris, and an idea prevails that he will make a pretty extensive tour of Europe and visit many of the capital cities on the continent. Among the suggestions which have been put forward to account for this step and explain his journey, and the first that occurs to the mind of the public is that he is bent on a matrimonial errand. A second rumor in circulation is that his trip has some connection with the reported movement in Bulgaria to obtain the recognition of the principality by the great powers. The Bulgarian minister of finance has also left Sofia bound for Paris, and it is rumored that his visit to this city is in connection with a proposed loan to the Bulgarian government. It is quite possible that nothing at all will happen but for the moment Bulgarian affairs are attracting the curiosity of every capital in Europe.

The newspapers of this city are now urging upon the authorities the advisability of organizing a series of grand fetes to be held during the concluding fortnight of the exhibition. The idea of the plan is that five or ten tickets shall be charged at these special affairs for admission with a view to disposing of the whole of the remaining tickets, the price of which is now fallen to 5 sous. A syndicate has been formed with the object of securing the permanent preservation of the street of Cairo and the adjacent parts, ions in the exhibition.

Czar and Kaiser.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The Russian ambassador gave a dejeuner at the embassy yesterday. Count Schouvaloff presided, and the two Emperors and all their attendants were present. Count Schouvaloff raising his glass welcomed the Czar and called for three cheers for His Majesty. There was a hearty response and the band of the Alexander regiment played the Russian National Anthem. The Czar spoke in French during the repast.

In the afternoon the Czar drove out in an open carriage surrounded by cavalry. He visited ex-Empresses Augusta and Frederick. On returning to the Embassy the Czar retired for a short time for rest. At 4.30 o'clock Prince Bismarck arrived and remained in conference with the Czar until 6 o'clock. The Chancellor upon leaving was escorted to his carriage by Count Schouvaloff.

A dinner in honor of the Czar was given last evening in the White hall of the Schloss at which 140 covers were laid. The Czar, dressed in Uhlan uniform, sat between the Emperor and the Empress, facing Prince Bismarck. The Emperor, in toasting the Czar, said: "I drink to the welfare of my honored friend and guest, the Emperor of Russia, and to the continuance of the friendship which has existed between our houses for over a hundred years and which I am resolved to cherish as a legacy from my ancestors."

The Czar replying in French, thanked the Emperor for his friendly sentiments and drank to his welfare. Turning then to Prince Bismarck the Czar raised his glass and drank to the Chancellor who stood up, emptied his glass and bowed deeply. There was a similar exchange of courtesies between Emperor William and the Russian Ambassador.

Ex-Empress Frederick will give a dinner in honor of the Czar to-day. The invitations are limited to royal personages.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Terrible Accident in a Pennsylvania Hamlet—The Deadly Natural Gas.

BRADFORD, Oct. 12.—At Davis' Switch, a small village 13 miles from here, last night the dwelling of Patrick Daily was burned and his wife and three sons aged 13, 11 and 9 respectively perished in the flames. While the family were at supper the father stepped to the cook stove to turn off part of the gas. He unintentionally shut the throttle tight and on reversing it again the house was filled with gas. An explosion followed and in an instant the entire house was in flames. The three boys and the mother fell on the floor overcome by the heat and flames. Mr. Daily rushed out for assistance but all efforts to save the unfortunates were futile. The house was entirely consumed in a few minutes. The charred and blackened bodies presented a sickening sight. Mrs. Daily's limbs were burned from her body and her intestines exposed to view. Her flesh was cooked to the bone. The three sons were not so horribly burned as their mother but their blackened bodies could not be identified until placed side by side. The gas pressure was very strong, the pipe running direct from a neighboring oil well to the cooking stove. Mr. Daily is severely but not fatally burned about the head and face and is almost crazed with grief.

It Will Be Beans Next.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Two prominent English engineers now in this city are negotiating for the purchase for English investors of about a dozen local gas companies. The aggregate amount asked is $3,500,000. The engineers have been examining similar properties in the west.

Gored to Death.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 12.—The 12-year-old daughter of Mr. Rudebaugh living near here was yesterday gored to death by an infuriated bull. One of the animal's horns penetrated her breast.

Matters in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—There were 170 real estate transfers in the city wards recorded in the registry office for September, amounting to $988,365.

Hon. Senator Guevremont was brutally assaulted at the Brunswick Hotel in Sorel by a man named Norbert Leclaire without any provocation.

A statement was submitted to the finance committee yesterday afternoon showing that the total assessments in this city amounted to $798,349, which with fines and other dues bring the revenue up to $1,728,349.

The party of American mining engineers who were entertained Thursday by Premier Mercier at Quebec arrived in this city yesterday. During their trip they have examined many of the principal ore producing centres of the Dominion. These gentlemen express themselves very much pleased with the result of their investigations and think that there is a great future in store for the mining industries of Canada.

The Pan-American Excursionists.

CHESTER, Mass., Oct. 12.—The pan-American excursion inspected a large paper mill at Holyoke yesterday afternoon. At 3.30 p.m. the train started for Albany.

TOPICS FROM TORONTO.

MINNIE SEBASTIAN THE VICTIM OF A BIGAMIST.

The Jury in the Brennan Case Disagree—A Railway Deputation Ask Aid—Victoria College and Federation.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Minnie Sebastian, a handsome girl of 23 in the employ of the Cobban Manufacturing Company as a gilder, whose widowed mother lives at 160 Chestnut street, fell in love with a man named George Allen, residing at 80 Elm street, and was entrapped into marrying him, not knowing that already he had a wife and two children. A week after her wedding the man's duplicity was discovered and almost in a frenzy the young woman fled from her mother's house and all who knew her, saying she could never again meet her friends after being so woefully deceived. Her mother fears that she may have drowned herself. Allen is described as a fair, tall man of 25 and rather bashful, one whom nobody would suspect of wilfully entrapping an unsuspecting girl in the manner alleged. He left town over a week since, it is said, because of a fear that the authorities would prosecute him for bigamy, as the detectives have the case in hand.

The sensational Brennan case which has been on trial for the last two weeks, resulted last night in a disagreement of the jury after twelve hours' deliberation. It is said that nine of the jury favored the defendants and three the plaintiff.

Louis Dess, who shot Mike Birtle, was yesterday released on bail, the magistrate accepting two householders as sureties in $200 each. Birtle is improving at the Hospital.

The investigation into the charge of perjury, preferred by E. H. Hamilton against F. X. Cousineau, proprietor of the Bon Marche, was concluded yesterday afternoon at the Police Court, the defendant being committed for trial, and his own bail in $100 being accepted.

Some Quebec papers floated the story that Prosper Clairy, the guide who accompanied Messrs. Loudon and Macdonald in their expedition to Lake Mistassini, said the party did not go to the head of the lake. A private despatch was received in the city last night from Clairy denying that he had made any such statement and affirming that they did go to the head of the lake.

The Ontario Government was waited on yesterday by a deputation representing the interests of the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway. This road at present runs from Kinmount, a point on the Victoria branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, 10 miles eastward to Irondale. It is desired to extend the railway 50 miles to Bancroft. The road has already a subsidy from the Dominion Government of $3200 a mile, and the deputation waited on the Ontario Government to ask an additional subsidy of $3000 a mile. The counties of Peterboro, Haliburton and Victoria are to be asked for $10,000 each.

The Toronto Ferry Company have executed a contract with the John Doty Engine Co. of this city, for the construction of two double end ferry steamers for the Island traffic. These steamers will each have a carrying capacity of 1000 persons.

At a session of the Board of Regents and Advisory Board of Victoria University which began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and lasted until after midnight it was decided to send a deputation to endeavor to persuade the corporation of Cobourg to defer proceedings in the injunction case fixed for Oct. 28 until the general conference can again consider the subject of federation. A special meeting of the general conference will be called for the second Wednesday in January to take up the entire question again.

HALIFAX NEWS.

The Alleged Sensation Touching Sir John Ross—Fatal Accident.

HALIFAX, Oct. 12.—A young man named Fordham, purser on the steamer St. Pierre, is said to be missing after borrowing considerable money from friends, in one case between $2000 and $3000.

Nobody here knows anything about the alleged sensation referred to in a despatch purporting to come from Halifax and published in New York about General Sir John Ross, commander of the British troops in America. It has always been understood here that Sir John Ross obtained a divorce years ago and the statement that there is a sensation in Halifax just now over news from London is without foundation. The assertion that Sir John Ross is about to marry a Picton young lady is equally untrue.

A young man named James Arnold applied to County Stipendiary Griffin yesterday for a warrant for the arrest of his father who resides in the country, who he alleges stole $100 from him. His Honor thought from the appearance and demeanor of the youth that he was somewhat demented and asked him to defer action against his father for a while. It turned out afterwards that Arnold was not altogether right in his head.

While the wife of John Hiltz of Cambridge, Hants County, was loading a revolver it discharged. The bullet entered her abdomen. The wound caused her death some hours later.

They May Cross.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—The Railway Committee yesterday finally granted permission to the Northern Pacific Railway to cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Portage la Prairie, Man. Mr. Collingwood Schrieber was appointed to report the manner and mode of crossing.

DETERMINED SUICIDE

A Farmer Near Detroit Shoots and then Hangs Himself.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—A remarkable suicide came to the attention of the county auditors yesterday morning when Justice Dicks presented his bill for holding an inquest on the body of William Smith. Smith was about 35 years old and lived on a farm eight miles from the city. He had a wife and five children and was generally regarded as a sober and industrious man. Last Monday morning he quarrelled with his wife, who says it was a trifling difference of opinion regarding the management of the farm. Early the same morning Mrs. Smith left for Detroit with a load of farm produce. She was hardly out of sight before Smith left the house and went toward the barn. Fifteen minutes later his two-year-old boy heard the report of a pistol in the barn. The sound frightened the boy and for some minutes he was afraid to go to the place. He called for his father but receiving no answer finally summoned up courage to enter the barn. There he saw his father hanging from one of the beams of the building with blood running down upon the floor. With wonderful presence of mind the little fellow rushed into the house and returned with a large knife. He jumped upon the straw cutter and cut his father down. The neighbors were alarmed and when they reached the house they found Smith dead. It was evident that he had climbed upon the straw cutter and fastened the rope to a beam over his head. Taking out his revolver he shot himself in the right temple and fell over, throwing his weight upon the rope. When found the weapon was tightly clenched in his hand.

THE PULSE OF TRADE.

BRADSTREETS REVIEW OF THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

Favorable Outlook for the Autumn—Staples Active—Speculation Hesitating—Money Quieter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate that the volume of general trade remains as active as previously noted. The outlook for the autumn's trade is quite favorable, as are weather and crop reports. These facts, together with the rapid movement from growers' hands of cotton, Indian corn and wheat, stimulate the interior demand for staple products which in consequence are noticeably active. It is now announced that the Alaska salmon pack will aggregate 500,000 cases instead of 400,000. Conflicting reports of effects of frosts unsettle the Kentucky tobacco market. Live hogs have advanced on higher prices of the product in western markets. Anthracite is in improving demand.

Although financial pressure has eased up speculation is hesitating and bearish manipulation produces ready decline. Money at New York is quieter and call loans are down to 6 and 7 per cent., having been this week as low as 5 per cent.

The iron market shows added strength, and an advance of 25 cents for pig iron appears imminent, which may cause more stacks to blow in soon. Steel rails have sold at $1 to $2 per ton over quotations of three weeks ago, $31 to $32 at the mill now being bottom prices.

The New York flour market has been extraordinarily active, particularly for export and more business would probably have been done if freight room were available. Large consignments from western mills have gone abroad. Prices went up 10 cents but lost it on Friday's decline in wheat. Speculation in wheat favored higher prices early in the week as the free interior movement appeared to fall into strong hands. The government wheat report was construed to mean a crop of nearly 500,000,000 bushels and caused heavy speculative excitement, resulting in leaving off where it ended last week. The movement of corn continues heavy, and with depressing cables has affected prices.

A fight between Chicago speculators over attempted deliveries on October contracts of October-made pork is a feature of the corner there. Western steam lard is fairly active and 1-5 cent higher.

Kentucky planters claim the frost damaged leaf tobacco an average of 10 per cent., but buyers consider the damage nominal. Raw sugar is off 3-16 cent on depressed markets here and in Europe. Offerings continue free and requirements moderate. Late crop reports do not favor return of high prices. Refined sugar is ¼ cent lower. Coffee has declined ¼ cent in speculative lines without heavy transactions. Brazilian crop reports are quite favorable. Holders of wool are not pressing stocks upon the market, and buyers are not anticipating requirements to any great extent. Demand is only moderate, and prices are steady. There is no speculative interest manifested. Woolen clothing manufacturers are preparing to demand higher prices on heavy weight fabrics the coming season. The general drygoods market is strong with a fair degree of activity. The exception is found in print cloths, stocks of which are increasing.

WHY THEY SUSPECTED MCDONALD.

Further Evidence in the St. John Poisoned Candy Case.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 12.—At the inquest last night Post Office Inspector King was recalled and said he had now fully satisfied himself that the poisoned candy was mailed in the city between the hours of 7.15 and 8.15 Tuesday night.

Harry C. Peters, chief clerk in Barker's establishment, was examined at length. He saw McDonald in the wholesale department several times at night. McDonald had no permission to carry a key. After the poisoning became known witness called on Coroner Berryman and examined the boxes in which the candy had been sent. Saturday morning on going to the shop he examined the stock boxes and found Stewart's three-inch fine comb boxes to correspond exactly. McDonald was restless Friday and Saturday and on the latter morning H. H. Barker mentioned to witness his suspicions of McDonald and he remarked he held the same suspicions. Witness also told of McDonald being found in the shop one night about fifteen feet from wh-re the strychnine was kept.

W. S. Barker stated that the reason he was suspicious of McDonald was he believed the work of sending the candy was that of a lunatic and that was what prompted him to ask Peters to go to the coroner Friday night and examine the boxes. At midnight the inquest was again adjourned until to-night.

Judge Olivier's Death.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—The banquet in honor of unveiling the memorial statue to the memory of Father Tabersi, will be sadly associated in the minds of many with the sudden death of Judge Olivier, which event has cast a pall of sorrow over the rejoicing of the past few days and causes a vacancy in the county judgeship for Prescott. As President of the Alumni Association he had taken a great interest in the progress of the Taberat memorial fund, and Thursday afternoon he spoke at some length, and it is supposed he caught the cold which so rapidly proved fatal while standing with head uncovered and exposed to the chilly winds. In the evening he attended the banquet and chatted in his usual gay and happy manner with many friends and old school mates. About 10.30 he complained of feeling unwell, and leaving the table was shown into Father Gendereau's room. He then asked where Mrs. Olivier was and said that he would like to see her. She was in the ladies' gallery and was immediately sent for, being at his side in a few moments. The Judge complained to her of feeling very cold and brandy was sent for, but Mrs. Olivier thinking that her husband was suffering from one of his usual attacks of indigestion advised his not taking any and it was set aside. A few minutes after a violent attack of sickness showed that he was suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs. Dr. Valade was immediately sent for and was speedily in attendance but his efforts were unavailing, the sufferer gradually sinking. Father Gendereau administered the last rites of the church and the Archbishop who had left for the palace returned and remained with the dying man until death ended his sufferings at 11.20. Louis Adolphe Olivier was the son of Mr. Eli Olivier of Berthier and was born in St. Joseph on March 10, 1850. The funeral will take place from his brother's residence, 95 St. Andrew-street on Monday to the Basilica and thence to Notre Dame cemetery.

A touching incident in connection with Judge Olivier's death is that he knew he was dying and repeatedly attempted to make his will. The Archbishop begged him not to continue his efforts pointing out that Father Gendereau and Mr. J. L. Olivier were present and would carry out his instructions. The judge accepted this earnest assurance and made the simple declaration "I leave everything to my beloved wife," these being his last words.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 12.—Engineer Jennings of the Canadian Pacific has telegraphed President Van Horne that he has completed his surveys and plans of the proposed entrances to, and routes through, the city, and sent them to Montreal for the approval of the Board of Directors.

F. C. Helm, the head pusher of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway, is in the city. He says that he is not yet in a position to make the plans of the company public. "We are not bonus-hunters," said he yesterday; "let the city give us the right of way and we will be satisfied. We will not ask them to give us money. One reason why the company asks for a cash bonus is, that the city has to get special legislation before it can acquire the right of way and a great deal of time is lost in that way. We will build a road that will be away ahead of any other road in Canada."

Senator Turner remains about the same. The Senator passed a very favorable night Thursday, sleeping naturally all through and awoke greatly relieved.

THE LADIES!

A New and Distinct Form of Disease which is Affecting Canadian Women.

How some of Them Regained Fresh Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of woman, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Hypolite St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., MONTREAL.

How to Get on and Prosper.

Sermon By Layman.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

There are few people now living who apparently know how to get on and prosper. They know how to waste their time and their money but they don't know how to save. When one looks around and sees the poverty and misery which exist he wonders how it happens that in a land of plenty so few people possess a competency and so very few anything more. But as he investigates into the cause he ceases to wonder and his only surprise then is that the number of the destitute is not greater. One does not wonder at the vast amount of distitution and suffering which exists in the old countries of Europe, where military tyranny and feudalism have so long existed. The people there, until a very recent date, never possessed or received their rights. They have had to be content to be the serfs of the ruling classes, who always took good care to keep them in complete subjection. The military power had partitioned out the land among its adherents and followers, and it set up a class of feudal lords who were bound to support and continue this state of things as the price of their own existence. After a hundred years of revolutions and bloodshed the people of France have obtained justice, and, as a result, we see peace prevail among them, where there was formerly confusion and strife. And all that now remains of a once powerful aristocracy are a few old effete and broken down men who have now to be content to live on the recollection of their former grandeur and power. Their former laws of primogeniture and entail have been abolished and as a consequence

THE LAND IS DIVIDED UP.

and is in the possession of the people, who have thereby become proprietors and are industrious, patriotic and contented. And who, by unremitting labor and economy, are saving and laying by money. And the result is that when a national loan is placed on the market it is taken up by these industrious people, who formerly were in abject poverty and no better than slaves. And the most promising feature of all in their condition is the great fact that education is now felt to be a necessity and this want is being supplied by the existence of thousands of schools. And the same state of things is being fast introduced in benighted Italy, whose people are awake and are laying the foundations both broad and deep for the future liberty and happiness of the country. Germany is one of the best educated countries in the world but the military principle governs and is likely to do so for some time to come. Russia and Austria are bringing up the rear, but their course is slow and unsatisfactory, more especially Russia. As a proof of the discontent of the people of all these countries we have only to look at the unsettled state of some of those and the imigration of others to free America, where there is room for all and where all may prosper if they will. If Great Britain would only abolish their laws of primogeniture and entail and thus let the land be subdivided and give into the hands of all the people, a different state of things would exist and there would be greater equality and contentment and prosperity and consequently greater happiness. But I have now more particularly to do with America, where the people have their future in their own hands. They have no class distinctions here and no one to dictate to them and say

WHAT THEY SHALL AND WHAT THEY SHALL NOT DO.

And if they fail of success, it is their own fault. Unfortunately there is a great deal of misery existing, which could be avoided if they would but pursue the right course. And there is no reason why every man should not possess his own house and land, and why he should not be independent, and why he and his family should not live in comfort and peace. Education is free to all, and every one can read and write and make his own estimate of things. I would like to have him sit down and figure up how much his drink bill amounts to every year, and how much his tobacco bill amounts to every year, and then I would like him to see how much it would cost him to buy a piece of land and erect a house thereon, and then ascertain how long it would take him to pay for them out of the savings of his money on strong drink and tobacco. And he might add thereto the value of his time saved by the giving up of drink and being sober all the time, and then put to it all the happiness and comfort and respectability of himself and of those dependent upon his support. If he would but ascertain the sum total of all these drains upon his means, he would be amazed at the result, and, I think, he would try to do better. And he would see how simple and easy it was to become a free man, and a respected man, and after his day's work he could go home to his wife and family with a feeling of pride and pleasure, knowing that his home is his own, and knowing that he would meet the smiling faces of his happy wife and children, who would then stand at the door and lead him to a clean and well-set table, and he would spend his evening's at home instead of in the bar room; and his rest would be sweet and he would rise in the morning refreshed and strengthened for the day's work; and he would not have to feel that he and his family were looked down upon and his children would not be told that their father was a drunkard. Now, how much better would a life of this kind be, and how much more prosperity and happiness would follow after. I think I can see such a man sitting at evening in his comfortable chair by the door, reading aloud to his children and his ever constant wife, who are gathered around him; and I can see them in the cold winter's evening, sitting around the warm stove conversing pleasantly of the events of the past and reading some good book, and when the hour comes, to go to their bed with thanksgiving and happiness. This is a picture of a man who had found out the true way to be prosperous. And my readers will see that it is not very difficult, and that they can all go and do likewise; and the great cause of the want of prosperity in the ix ravagant habits of the people. Many of them spend two dollars when they only earn one. This is done in high rents for showy houses and in fine and expensive furniture, and in a variety of other ways, such as high living, expensive dress, unnecessary servants, hired carriages, much visiting and theatres and excursions and many other things too numerous to mention. And they complain that

TO TAKE HIM BY THE HAND

THEY DO NOT GET ON AND PROSPER

If they, and others besides, would make it a rule, when they earn a dollar in a day to lay by twenty five cents of it, and so on in the same proportion when they earn more, we would hear fewer complaints, and the people would so find themselves with plenty, and they would be independent. It is an easy matter to tell them of this, but a hard thing for them to do, and they will not do it. And so the world goes on, marked by hard times and poverty, and as each succeeding generation these things are likely to be worse. It is to be hoped, however that some time or other in the distant future, people will learn wisdom, and learn that they "cannot have their cake and eat it too." They will then find that they must go back to the old days of hard work and economy, a lesson which is hard to learn, but which is inevitable. They must remember that money is the product of money's worth, and that the man who produces nothing must have nothing, and that the man who works is a producer and adds the value of his labor to the world's wealth, of which he obtains his share. The individual who idles away his time remains poor, but he who labors accumulates wealth and becomes rich. These are the two sides of this very important question and the result shows how to become prosperous. And the man who is the maker of his own fortune is a true man, and makes himself independent and free.

SKINS ON FIRE.

Agonizing, itching, burning and bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to feet. Hair gone. Doctors and Hospitals fail. Tried everything. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies for $5.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wurtsboro, N Y.

Burning and Itching.

I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with this disease.

O. E. ORMER, Taftsville, Vt.

Most Intense Itching

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itchings that he got no rest day or night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy-cheeked boy.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY

A SIMPLE SECT OF CHRISTIANS ABIDING IN JERUSALEM.

Diligent Searchers of the Scriptures Who Have Verified Many Landmarks Overlooked by Antiquarians—The Rebuilding of Jerusalem.

Together with bits of stone and like relics, which I threw into my valise, I gathered a few bits of information, which may not prove old, of this Palestine, ashen in physical aspect as morally its life seems reduced to ashes.

What made Jerusalem itself most interesting was the information given us by a sect of Christians whom we, in our explorations, chanced to stumble upon. In searching the Scriptures they have verified many landmarks overlooked by even antiquarians. One of these places were the wine presses of Solomon, which the government was beginning to have cut away for building purposes. These not only are located as indicated in the Bible, and indisputably like all the wine presses found in the country (cut out of solid rock with various vats for the wine in its successive stages, with channels of ingress and egress from one vat to another), but are too immense in scale, and have too tremendous a cistern to have been the property of any private individual. These, through their influence, are now in the hands of the Antiquarian society of Jerusalem, and are thus preserved from further harm. Close at hand to these are the quarries of Solomon. What a wonderful climate is this, that time does not alter the freshness of the rock. The grooves made by the chisel, as the last block was hewn from its place centuries ago, show the incision of the tool as freshly as if cut but yesterday. Even thus the rocky chambers in the tombs of the kings and judges show slight signs of decay, so hard and sharp are the edges. The catacombs of Rome, compared to these of modern build, appear ruinously old.

In a long donkey ride around the city these people pointed to literal fulfillments of prophecies concerning the rebuilding of Jerusalem. In this they have perfect faith.

A RELIGION OF LOVE.

How can I explain to you our impressions of this people as their lives and aims were unfolded to us? They are a society of now twenty-six people, young and old, unmarried and with families, who, viewed as fanatics, left Chicago some five years ago. They were a people to whom their church life seemed cold and barren, and in a bond of common feeling met often in private to commune on things spiritual. After a time they felt called of God, as they express it, to go where they could lead a life of pure seeking, feeling they would thus be preparing themselves for some work in the future for others. People of culture, used to all the luxuries of refined society, they left friends and came, by the call of God, as they felt, to settle in Jerusalem. Most of them had money, but their relatives at home made them out in the court as lunatics, who had no claim to common sense or the money that goes with it. So, with very little, they arrived at Jerusalem, and settled in a sunny house on the edge of the city wall. For two or three years they were subject to gross misrepresentations of the worst sort—our own consul, for some unaccountable reason, doing much to damage them in America. They took no name, have no creed, do not proselyte, abide by no laws peculiar to themselves, but simply search the Scriptures hourly for guidance to abide by the summing up of all doctrines: "Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself."

They do their own household work, and, during that time, if any one wishes help or guidance for anything, they drop everything until they have met and prayed, when they resume their occupations. They labor outside for pay, if, after praying over it, they are led to do so, but nothing must interfere with their spiritual life. They claim no mission, but daily work has come to them, ministering to the rich and poor alike, receiving nothing in return. They have never wanted for the bare necessities of life. They speak the truth to each other, and, as one of the ladies told me, the constant friction of different dispositions is what makes it a life of discipline. Some have come to them attracted by their peaceful life, but there is no glamour about it, no rigidity to attract ascetics, no rites and ceremonies embellishing the simple life of truth to attract the sentimental. They labor now on the precept: "First take away the beam that is in thine own eye, and then thou shalt see clearly to take out the mote that is in thy brother's eye." Though they do not preach, their daily living and communication with their neighbors have drawn many Mohammedans, Greeks and even Jews to learn of their simple religion of love.

REBUILDING OF JERUSALEM.

They fully believe that the rebuilding of Jerusalem is at hand; that the prophecies, which by many people are considered symbolic of the coming of the heavenly kingdom, apply to Jerusalem of today. Certainly, consulting certain predictions of the Old Testament, as found in Jeremiah xxxi, 38-40, and Zechariah xiv, 10, 11, where even landmarks of the new city are cited, just there and nowhere else are the new buildings going up of Jews and Mohammedans.

Among those who have returned to Jerusalem are 500 Gadites, bringing with them their ancient scrolls proving them to be of the twelve tribes of Israel, who, during one of the political dispersions of the Jews, settled about the Persian Gulf, 940 B. C. Silversmiths by trade, their workmanship proved too crude for the market, and so for a long while they were in great distress.

Our American colonists helped them for several months, and finally they worked themselves up to the market and refused help, showing them to be honest and industrious.—R. H. K. in Boston Herald.

AND still the price keeps going down in teas and sugar, at KIDD'S grocery.

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 823 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Late Vegetation.
As a remarkable instance of the effects of our wet summer followed by a warm September, says the Lakefield Chronicle, Reeve Chesmore and Dr. Bell gathered wild strawberries fully ripe, on the island of the latter in Stony Lake, on the 1st of October, while green ones and blossoms were as plentiful as in the end of June. White lillies were also in bloom.

Sir John has his Price.
The Belleville Ontario says:—"The Cobourg agricultural society offered the Williams memorial committee $100 if they would allow Sir John Macdonald to figure as a drawing card at the opening of their exhibition which occurred the same day that the monument was unveiled. The society has failed to pay the money, so the World says, and that is how the deal leaked out. Wonder how Sir John likes to be peddled around in that way.'

Dreadful Destitution.
In the very heart of the town there lives or rather exists, a family in a shocking state of destitution. The father is away in the shanties, and the mother hasn't tasted a decent cup of tea for months, for the reason that she had no money to go to Hawley Bros., where the highest quality only of tea is kept. A large variety of the finest, freshest kinds of tea at low prices, bought well and, therefore, sold cheaply. Also fragrant coffees, and the finest stock of glassware. The School By-law.
Ratepayers are reminded of the voting on the $15,000 school by-law on Monday. Voting at the usual places. If passed, it repeals the $10,000 by-law voted recently.

Read This.
Those who wish to partake of something very fine in the shape of a cup of tea should try W. J. Morrow's direct importations. Why is it farmers are giving up buying from pedlars and tea men? Simply because they can buy tea from ten to fifteen cents per lb. cheaper from us, as it does not pass through so many hands, owing to us importing direct. We are offering an extra Japan at 25c., a beautiful blend of Black at 40c., and all other lines away down to 5 lbs and 6 lbs for $1.00. W. J. MORROW, 340 Opera House Block, George street. dw

A Cricketer Leaves.
Mr. Charles Attewell, who has acted as "professional" for the Peterborough Cricket club the past season, leaves town on Tuesday and will sail on the Vancouver on Wednesday. Mr. Attewell during his engagement has given great satisfaction. The crease and grounds have been kept up to the mark and his coaching has been of great advantage as shown by a decided improvement in form of, especially, the junior members of the club. He is a splendid bowler and has done some remarkably destructive work this season. He is a good bat comes bring the limited practice he gets outside of matches. The club and cricket lovers, will feel less regret at Mr. Attewell's departure, in view of the probability of his returning next season, after passing the winter in England.

Off to the Chase.
This afternoon a party of sportsmen left for the north to spend a couple of weeks in the vicinity of Gold Lake, hunting and fishing. The party comprised Messrs. A. Blade, Capt; Geo. Fitzgerald, J. Clancy, S. Clegg, T. Rutherford, S. Ray, R. H. Smith, and H. Matthews, with M. Murphy, cook. They are well supplied with canoes and camping equipment, and carry 12 dogs to assist them in the chase. There are some good shots in the party and no doubt they will return with a big bag of game. The season for deer shooting opens Tuesday.

Monday morning another party will leave for the Eagle Lake district. It comprises Capt. R. A. Morrow, H. C. Winch, T. E. Bradburn, R. E. Wood, H. LeBrun and A. Paterson. They take nine dogs.

On Monday Messrs. Howarth, Toronto, T. E Fitzgerald and M. O'Brien will join Mr. T. Fitzgerald's party in the north.

Quarterly Meeting.
The quarterly meeting of the Murray street Baptist church was held on Thursday evening. There was a good attendance of members. Rev. P. Clifton Parker presided. After the preliminaries he called for the various reports. The Financial Statement showed a deficiency of $15 on the quarter for current expenses. Mrs. Parker made a statement to the effect that over $400 had been subscribed towards the reduction of the debt. There are several who have not yet subscribed, and it is expected there will be no difficulty in making the sum $500. During the month three members had been added by experience and five by letter from other churches, one had died and three had been transferred to other churches, making a total gain in the membership of 4. Rev. P. Clifton Parker and Messrs. J. C. Turnbull and S. Curtis, were appointed delegates to the Convention at Ottawa, Oct. 16th. After the business the ladies, who had generously provided refreshments passed them round, and an hour was spent in social intercourse.

The Vokes Family.
Old theatre-goers will easily recall the merry-making Vokes family, who travelled through England and America several seasons ago and delighted thousands with their inimitable drollery. Death has made its inroad in the family, and now only Rosina and Victoria remain of the once famous family. Miss Rosina has been starring for a number of seasons in a repertoire of refined farcical comedies, and now Miss Victoria has made her re-entre upon the stage, essaying the same class of performances, and is meeting with marked favor by the better class of theatre goers, with which the family were always popular. Miss Vokes is billed to appear here on the evening of October 18th, and a delightful entertainment of good, wholesome comedy may be expected. As large and fashionable audiences have greeted the charming comedietta elsewhere, our amusement-loving public should show their appreciation of good attractions by a warm welcome here. "A Mere Cypher," a one-act comedietta, and "Hubby," a two act farcical comedy, will be the double bill for the evening. The plan is now open for selection of seats, at Doucett's music store.

A New Scheme.
Mr. S. S. Stukey, of Lindsay, is in town this week working up a new method of advertising which commends itself to the judicious business man. It is in the shape of a large Fr nch plate mirror, 2x4 feet in size, on which are a number of spaces for advertisements. The mirror will be hung in the post office. Merchants and business men have their advertisements neatly printed on colored cards, which are gummed on to the glass, a centre space 15x18 inches being reserved as a public mirror. The mirror is enclosed in a large gilt frame and has in front of it another sheet of plain glass protect the cards from interference. This outer glass is securely fastened and can only be removed by the person having charge of the mirror. By this means advertisers have the benefit of frequent changes of their cards, and they are only gummed on and can be changed whenever desired. Mr. Stukey has met with success in his canvass for advertisements, but has still 8 or 10 spaces left. This is quite a new idea, and Mr. Stukey is endeavoring to adopt it to all large towns and cities in Ontario. Peterborough makes the fourth place he has visited. The scheme is at once novel and profitable to both advertiser and canvasser.

A Sad Drowning Accident.
A sad and fatal accident occurred Friday afternoon by which one of the Barnardo Home girls lost her life. The children were out for a walk with their teacher by the river side, near the Black Bridge. Elizabeth Birch, aged 12, (although warned against doing so) ventured out on one of the logs and slipped into the water, the current carrying her out of reach of those on the bank, none of whom were able to swim. Mr. Richard Mead was driving with his wife near the spot, and hearing cries for help and seeing the child struggling in the water, at once ran to her assistance. Divesting himself of his coat, he jumped in and succeeded in getting hold of the child; but being a great sufferer from asthma, he was so exhausted that he was obliged to relinquish his hold and return to the shore. After taking breath he plunged in a second time, but became again exhausted and was in imminent danger of being himself carried under the logs. His brave wife went in up to her waist and only just succeeded in catching him by the hand, thus saving his life. A messenger meanwhile had been sent to the House and Captain Annesley was on the spot a few minutes after the accident occurred. With the assistance of some river men he recovered the body about an hour afterwards. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mead deserve the highest praise for their gallant and humane efforts to save the child. This sad event has cast quite a gloom over the Home at Hazelbrae. The funeral will take place to the Little Lake Cemetery, leaving Hazelbrae at 3 p.m. on Sunday afternoon.

DR. DAVIDSON'S ADDRESS.

A Good Meeting at the Opera House.

Dr. Davidson Speaks in the Interests of the Equal Right's Association—A Resolution Approving of the Platform of the Association—Addresses by Local Gentlemen.

A public meeting under the auspices of the local branch of the Equal Right's Association was held in the Opera House Tuesday night. There was a fair-sized audience, in which was a goodly number of ladies, who, as Dr. Davidson remarked, always attended these meetings.

Walter Paterson, Esq., was chairman of the proceedings, and there were besides him on the stage Dr. Davidson, of Montreal, President of the Quebec Association; Mr. John Carnegie, Secretary of the local branch; Rev. Messrs. Bell, Torrance, Davis and Parker, and Mr. Adam Dawson, town councillor. The addresses elicited frequent demonstrations of approval from the audience.

After prayer by Rev. Mr. Torrance, the chairman, dispensing with the customary introductory remarks, called upon Mr. Carnegie, who as Secretary of the local Association, read a report of the proceedings of the convention in Toronto, which he said he considered was the largest and most enthusiastic that ever met in that city. The report consisted chiefly of a condemnation of the resolutions adopted at the convention, which constituted the platform of the Equal Rights Association and which he hoped would induce large numbers to join the local Association. The by-laws of the Association he said provided for the most complete organization from the smaller local Associations to the provincial body. Mr. Carnegie referred to the meeting in Toronto Thursday night, and quoted Dr. Caven's remarks concerning the objects of the association, with every sentiment of which he was fully in accord. He moved this resolution:—

That this meeting cordially endorses the resolutions passed at the convention held on the 11th and 12th of June last, approving of the organization of an Equal Rights Association for the advancement of the principles set forth in said resolutions; and hereby instruct the Citizens' Committee to proceed forthwith with the organization of branches in the several municipalities in this county, and of a district council for the same; and to this end a membership roll will be offered for signature to those now present.

Mr. Dawson, in seconding the motion, said he did so because he freely believed the country was in need of a third party.

The Chairman said he would not ask the audience to vote on this resolution until after Dr. Davidson's address.

THE ADDRESS OF THE EVENING.

Dr. DAVIDSON, on coming forward, was greeted with applause. He first referred to his many engagements in behalf of the Equal Rights' Association the past week, at the close of which he found himself in Peterborough to assist in organizing the branch here. It was his conviction, he said, that Canadians had an issue before them more important than any since the time when the clergy reserve question was settled. The Doctor dealt with the tactics of the political parties in dodging the responsibility in the Jesuit estates matter. Both parties had entered into a sort of family compact, and now they were happy because they had robbed the citizens of their rights. The Doctor said he did not propose to go back into a history of this matter or the order of Jesuits, but would confine himself to a definition of the position of affairs in Quebec, from taking exception to some of Hon. Wilfred Laurier's statements in Toronto, that there had been no opposition to the Act in the House. He quoted from an address of Mr. Owens, of Argenteuil, to show that the Quebec premier had misrepresented the facts. The Doctor's address in this respect was largely a repetition of his speech in Toronto Thursday night, and which was so fully reported in the city papers. This Mr. Owens protested against the adoption of the bill by the Quebec Government, yet Sir Wilfred Laurier says it passed by the unanimous consent of the House of Assembly. Mr. Laurier also said that there were no petitions sent in in opposition. Dr. Davidson denied this, and stated that the clergymen of Montreal did present petitions, but were told in effect that Protestants might mind their own business. He claimed that the bill was held back by the government until it was too late for any active organized opposition; but opposition of a certain kind there was was, and from the very beginning. It was said also, "Oh, well, the Protestant members didn't vote against it." The speaker said there were only eight or nine so called Protestants in the Legislature of Quebec, and went on to show that their effectiveness as such was rendered useless from the fact that their elections depended on the French Catholic element. Under these conditions could it be possable that they represented Protestant opinion? Another point he wished to explain, was Hon. Mr. Laurier's statement, which has been repeated again and again, that it was not the intention of the government to make the Pope supreme. But Protestants were told by Mr. Mercier, and the argument was used yet, that we were detenteurs or spoliators of ecclesiastical property and should make restitution, because all members of the government were subject to the ecclesiastical powers. Was not the Queen of Great Britain a member of the government, and was not that placing the Pope supreme in authority over the Crown? A local matter which was agitating the people of Quebec, was the proposition to distribute $60,000 of the Jesuit money among the Protestant schools; a proposition which was

UNANIMOUSLY REJECTED

by all true Protestants. He would oppose giving it to any Protestant institution, for there would be woe to the institution that takes one cent of the $60 000. They say if Protestants took the $60,000 it would be only taking it back into trust for educational purposes. But if that was the case, and the Jesuit's Estates were put back into trust, why should they give the $60,000, except that they look upon it as trust money, while the iniquity of taking $400,000 out of the public funds and giving it to one particular organization per se rated, and there was another reason against it; the fundamental principle of the constitution provides that there shall be no connection between the church and the state. He would not resist giving the estates to any denomination. He then passed on to the broader question of the position of the Equal Right's Association to-day. They were often asked what they were agitating about, when the Jesuit Estates Act was now law? Why, this Act was never the whole bone of contention in this matter; it is only one of the incidents which mark the growth of a tremendous power, which in 1867 got a recognition from the Quebec government, in a British country, that they never would have received in a Roman Catholic country. The Association was fighting Ultramontane tendencies and principles, not simply the Jesuit Estates Act. Their fight was not with Church of Rome, but with the interference of the church with affairs of the state. This was shown in the Council of Public Instruction in Quebec, composed of two committees, Protestant and Catholic, on the latter of which all bishops and some inferior orders were ex-officio members, while Protestants have no distinct representation. And when the Protestants wanted a change in the system of public instruction, they were told the whole council, including the bishops, must decide. And thus was the Legislature subordinated to the church, and thus did the Protestants of Quebec get their equal rights. He believed the time had come when, if Canada was to remain a part of the British Empire and our civil and religious liberty preserved, Protestants should be united hand-in-hand and resist the attempts to establish separate nationalities. Until the free-will of the Protestant people of the Dominion moved them to

they are in from this power, and leave minor political differences, their rights would continue to be infringed upon. That was the necessity of the Equal Rights' Association. On the questions of a dual language and Separate Schools alone it was absolutely essential that Protestants should unite and wield the balance of power. Protestants should not only organize and adopt the platform, but there should be perfect faith in this great matter. All political differences must be laid aside in the face of this common danger, and let Protestants support no man who does not adopt this platform. But, supposing there are two candidates, Liberal and Conservative, both of whom pledge themselves to support the Equal Rights' Association principles; in that case the voter should follow his political leanings, only be very careful for whom he voted. Dr. Davidson then declined his own position. He give and believed Sir John Macdonald a great statesman and a man for whom he had great respect, nevertheless in this thing he failed, and, recognizing nothing but party, had committed an irreparable fault. Therefore, he had taken this position, as had all others of the Association, that none of the 199 should go back; not even Sir John Macdonald would get his vote again. The result of this movement was, if they believed a wrong had been done, which injured the foundation stone of their liberty, they could only say, "You have all sinned, we have no confidence in you, and you must all go." That might seem broad, but it was only justice. The Doctor concluded with an earnest appeal to Protestants to be faithful to their trust and perform the duties resting upon them.

THE MOTION ADOPTED.

The motion introduced earlier in the evening was then put to the meeting and of course carried.

At this juncture it was announced that a membership roll was at the door, on which all eligable persons could inscribe their names as members of the association. A considerable number enrolled themselves at the close of the meeting.

Rev. Alex. Bell made a few remarks, commenting favorably on Dr. Davidson's address, and moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. Rev. P. C. Parker in seconding the motion, added a few remarks concerning the necessity of the complete separation of the church and state.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

SERPENT RIVER, ONT., LAID WASTE BY FIRE SATURDAY.

Two Hundred Persons Homeless — Talmage's Tabernacle Goes Up in Smoke Early Sunday Morning.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 14.—Fire broke out in Cook's lumber yard at Serpent River, Ont., 90 miles from here, Saturday afternoon. A heavy northwest wind extended the flames to the extensive docks and warehouses, and at 6 p.m. the whole town was afire. There are forty buildings in the town, general stores and dwellings. A special train with fire engines and a brigade of the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., firemen left for the scene. The fire was extinguished early yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at $200,000. The vicinity is strewn with household goods and homeless families for acres. Two hundred persons are homeless. The steamer Africa and schooner Marquis, which were loading at the docks, pulled out into the lake and are safe.

TALMAGE'S TABERNACLE.

The Great Brooklyn Church Goes up in Smoke—Loss 250,000.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 14. The famous Brooklyn tabernacle of which Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage, D.D., is pastor, was burned early yesterday for the second time in its history. At 2.15 a.m. a policeman discovered flames issuing from the small windows over the main entrance. The officer sent out an alarm. The firemen on arriving found the fire had assumed large proportions and additional alarms calling all available apparatus were at once sent out. It became evident that the edifice was doomed. It burned like tinder and the firemen despairing of saving it directed their efforts to the adjoining property. Many occupants of neighboring dwellings were already awake and the police aroused those who were sleeping. The three-story frame structure adjoining the church on the east side was the first to take fire and, with other buildings, was considerably damaged. Frightened residents of the neighborhood rushed out half dressed or in their night clothes and the police had great difficulty in reassuring those not in absolute danger. Fortunately there was no loss of life or limb. The church building was rapidly consumed and in an hour's time only tottering walls remained.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The sexton denies the rumor that fires had been lighted in the furnaces. Edison's men were in the building until 5.30 p. m. yesterday arranging a new electric plant and it is thought that during the thunder shower last night lightning was carried into the building by the wires they introduced.

The Tabernacle trustees were in session at Mr. Talmage's house last evening. They state that the insurance on the church amounted to $229,450. The building and furniture cost about $236,000, and the organ $20,000 more.

AMBITIOUS CITY NEWS.

The Hawkins Case—The Projectorate's Papers Asked For—Personal Notes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 14.—A meeting of the Police Commissioners has been called for 12 o'clock to-morrow for the specific purpose of considering "the Hawkins case." Hawkins is still suspended and the commissioners would have to take action on that at any rate, but Mayor Doran says his desire is to go further than that, and go into all the facts in connection with the case.

The Herald of Saturday evening says the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo projectorate will lay before the council to-night their intentions in regard to Hamilton and it is said that they will make exactly the same demand as the C.P.R. has made, viz.: a right of way through the city. Before the council listen to any proposition they may put forward, the projectors will have to show their hand and satisfy the public that they have the money to go with the railway, or that the New York Central is behind them. As Mayor Doran says they will have to produce the Vanderbilt papers about which the projectorate have had so much to say. A meeting of the projectors, including the Chicago capitalists, together with Mayor Doran, Mr. George Roach, Mr. Hector Cameron and certain Toronto men, will be held in Toronto this morning, when it is expected their plans for approaching Hamilton will be matured.

The St. Nicholas Hotel has again changed hands. A. S. Smith has sold out his interest in the hotel to J. Pitman, of Toronto, the price paid being $8000. Mr. Pitman will make improvements in the hotel just as soon as the transfer is made on Nov. 1.

Anglish McIsaacs, a young Scotchman from Brantford, was badly injured by a landslide while working on the Ancaster road where the stone bridge over the ravine opposite Dundas is being rebuilt. His foot was so badly crushed that amputation will probably be necessary.

Prof. J. C. Fields, Ph. D., Fellow of John Hopkins University, Baltimore, formerly a student of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute in this city, and subsequently a gold medalist in the mathematical class of 1884 at Toronto University, has just been appointed to the chair of mathematics in the Alleghany College, Meadville, Penn. The chair was formerly filled by Bishop Simpson.

One of the oldest of Hamilton's residents passed away Saturday morning. This was David Young, 90 years old. He was a native of Caithness, Scotland; a member of the Central Presbyterian Church. Up to the last he enjoyed good health and attended church. He leaves a son and two daughters. His heirs will have about $4000 to divide between them.

Senator Turner has had a change for the better. The doctors are hopeful of his recovery.

A Pennsylvania Murder.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Walbet, aged 55, of Weatherly was shot and killed Saturday morning by Wm. Stangley. Stangley and Mrs. Walbert had quarrelled frequently and Friday night had another quarrel. Stangley apparently brooded over it all night. As an excuse for not working he told the woman's husband he had a severe headache. When the husband went to work Stangley locked a little child, the only other occupant of the house, in a room to prevent her making any outcry. He then shot Mrs. Walbet and escaped.

A BOLD CONSPIRACY.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CRONIN CASE.

Audacious Attempt to "Fix" the Jury—Six of the Plotters Indicted and Under Arrest—County Officials Implicated.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—One of the boldest and most corrupt plots ever brought to the notice of the public was outlined by State's Attorney Longenecker's right hand man, Mr. Mills, Saturday afternoon. The conspiracy not only includes county officials, but outsiders of high standing. Several arrests have already been made and more will follow.

"State's Attorney Longenecker desires me to say," said Mr. Mills, who was commissioned by the State's Attorney to talk to reporters, "that this plot has not been disclosed because it would have defeated justice had the information we possessed been made public. We cannot now give any names or the details, but an outline of this conspiracy can now be given to the public.

"It will be remembered," continued the attorney, "that on last Wednesday afternoon an honest young man who is employed as a foreman in a large establishment in this city was examined and excused for cause.

"On Thursday afternoon," said Mr. Mills, "a very prominent citizen of Chicago entered the court room and very privately communicated to the counsel for the state that his foreman, the venireman in question, before being called to the jury box had been approached by a bailiff of the court with an offer of $1000 to vote for the acquittal of the defendants. He said: 'This is not a "cock and bull" story, and I bring it before you in the interest of public justice.' He then went away and the next morning one of the counsel for the State went down to the factory of the man whose foreman had been offered a bribe, and the moment he saw the foreman he recognized him as a man whose honesty and independence had impressed itself upon the counsel for the State while he was sitting in the jury box. The man made a full statement and was requested by the counsel for the State to come to the State's Attorney's office and repeat his statement in full. The man, with tears in his eyes, said: 'It involves a friend, but if it involved myself I would uphold the law and honor.

"Pursuant to appointment the veniremen attended at the State's Attorney's office, and having made a full statement of everything that took place was requested to step into an ante-room and the bailiff was summoned. He proved to be one of the bailiffs of the Criminal Court, who, during the trial or attempt to procure a jury, has been in charge of one of the five prisoners—Coughlin. The bailiff was questioned closely by the State's Attorney and his associates, but he professed profound ignorance until the venireman was called from the anteroom. The venireman was requested to repeat the statement he had made, which he did, whereupon the bailiff made a complete confession, in which he implicated several prominent persons, also another bailiff. The attorney for the prosecution, together with Chief Hubbard and others, at once went to work on the case and have disclosed one of the most deliberate attempts to corrupt a jury and to defeat the law of Illinois which has yet come to the public attention."

Mr. Mills subsequently said: "These confessions reveal a most damnable organization against the law of the land, a conspiracy against the jurisprudence of this country that will startle the continent when it is thoroughly known—a conspiracy of ramifications, of audacity, a conspiracy involving men whose names will be a surprise to the country. It is not exaggeration when I say that you cannot magnify the damnable outrage of this conspiracy. In the taking off of Dr. Cronin and the manner in which it was done the whole world was startled. This second conspiracy will alike startle the whole world. It is an assault on the very integrity of our institutions."

SIX INDICTMENTS.

True Bills Returned Against Half-a-Dozen of the Jury Fixers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Judge Horton issued a venire for a special grand jury to investigate the attempt at jury fixing in connection with the Cronin case. Ex-Mayor Roche was foreman. Indictments were found against Alexander J. Hanks, Mark Solomon, Fred W. Smith, Tom Kavanagh, Tom Sennott and Jeremiah O'Donnell. The grand jury adjourned at midnight. Their report was short and formal except for an intimation that the jurors believed the plot to be more widespread than was indicated by the six indictments returned. All the indicted persons spent the night in jail.

Hanks has been a bailiff for eight or nine years, having been appointed in Sheriff Matson's time. Tom Sennott, who was for many years Clerk of the Probate Court, advised his retention. Mark Solomon was appointed bailiff in May, 1888. Little is known about him. Tom Kavanagh was engineer at the insane asylum during the "Boodlers'" regime, and was mixed up in that transaction. He is now in business on Franklin-street and, strange to say, his partner was summoned as a juror. When the examination of the State's Attorney revealed his connection with Kavanagh he was peremptorily challenged. Jeremiah O'Donnell was recently appointed a gauger at South Chicago.

A new arrest was made at 11 o'clock last night and the prisoner taken for concealment to an outlying police station. Hoaglan1, who confessed and implicated Kavanagh and O'Donnell, is not under arrest, but is obliged to report to the State's Attorney every half hour by telephone.

Death-Dealing Wires Cut Down.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Attaches of the Board of Electrical Control Saturday afternoon appeared at the corner of Chambers and Centre-streets and commenced to cut down two improperly insulated wires belonging to the Daft Electric Motor Company. The wires were cut all the way up Centre-street.

They Missed the Flag.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—When the American flag was brought out by the janitor at the hall where a Socialist mass meeting was held here yesterday, it was greeted with hisses. There were probably a thousand men and women present. The red flag was then unfurled and was greeted by a burst of applause. Sergius E. Shevitch, of New York, spoke. He declared the hanging of the anarchists the greatest crime ever perpetrated in America. This and every utterance of the sort was loudly applauded. Shevitch said he was proud of the city in which the execution occurred, because he felt that one day it would be the Paris, the City of Revolution, of America. An awful discontent was smouldering in the hearts of the laborers and would soon burst forth in fiery revolution. It was useless and idle to think this revolution would be peaceful. Several other speakers took a milder tone.

Had Both Legs Broken.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—Saturday morning at Pierce's & Co's. lumber dock at the Chaudiere a barge hand named Joseph Gervais of Hull had both legs broken below the knee.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

THE RESULT OF THE BY-ELECTIONS IN BRITAIN.

An Anti-Landlord Spirit Manifesting Itself—Michael Davitt's Confident Prediction.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A London special to The Mail and Express says: The very decided increase in the Liberal's vote which has been revealed by the polls at the bye-elections to striking the Tories with dismay. They regard it as due to the anti-landlord spirit which seems to prevail throughout the kingdom, and which takes this most practical and sensible method of making a demand for reform in the relations of landlords and tenants. Every election now, instead of being fought under the former warcries of Gladstone and Home Rule, appears to be turning upon the capitalist and land questions.

In other words, the people now understand better what they are fighting for, and are taking up such watchwords as these intelligently, in the full recognition of what Mr. Gladstone is really striving for. The result of their growing realization of his purposes is that the votes on his side are increasing everywhere.

During the Elgin and Nairn fight which were won by the Liberals through the votes of the farmers and the farm laborers, the name of Gladstone was scarcely heard. The cause of the laborers, pitted against the landlords, won the seat; and the teachings and leadership of Mr. Gladstone bore the fruit of intelligent voting for which he has been so strongly and patiently working.

The same is true of Peterborough, while at North Bucks, the Liberal candidate, Mr. Verney, gave prominence to what the Conservatives call socialistic legislation. He promised to endeavor to secure cottages of proper sanitary arrangements for the people, enlarged allotments of land, and generally a more equal distribution of the benefits of the earth and its products, which now are largely concentrated to make the wealth of the landlords.

Mr. Michael Davitt is a keen watcher of the movement which is assuming so important proportions, and writes of it with a thorough knowledge of its meaning and probable results. He predicts that at an early date there will be a concurrent triumph of land nationalization and home rule. He says that it will be but a brief time before the industrial classes will demand the abolition of indirect taxation, and will insist that the government shall raise the necessary national revenue upon land values alone in country and city.

The importance of this view of the situation is manifest, and the Tories feel it very keenly. The general indication points to Gladstone as the great political reformer of the time.

School Children Strike.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The strike movement among the school children, which is one of the most peculiar outgrowths of the labor agitation, is become general in all the towns about here and is extending in all directions. In London, Glasgow, Edinburgh and Dundee the children march through the streets in processions, and establish pickets everywhere to prevent the children going to school, imitating the methods of the great dock strike. They even resort to violence, and break the windows of the schoolhouse and attack the masters. They demand that caning shall be abolished, that they shall have no home lessons to learn, and that they shall be given more playtime. It is a most curious development of the strike business, and is a good deal of a social problem.

A Russian Oracle.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 14.—The Novoe Vremya says:—"The situation can remain unchanged if the German government will accept Russia's resolution to await events. Russia will regard with satisfaction any improvement in her relations with Germany but the Czar will never purchase conciliation at the expense of the interests of the Russian nation."

A Pretext for Russia.

SOFIA, Oct. 14.—Prince Dolgorouki attempted to hold a Russian demonstration Saturday in the guise of a requiem for Russians killed in war. The Government prohibited the ceremony and Prince Dolgorouki protested. It is feared the matter will be made a pretext for Russian interference.

Floods in the Tyrol.

VIENNA, Oct. 14.—Serious floods are reported in the Tyrol. Several dams in the Adige River have given way and the surrounding country is flooded. A number of bridges have been carried away and railway traffic is greatly interrupted. The lower part of Trient is inundated.

The Poisoned Candy Case.

ST. JOHN, Oct. 14.—At the inquest Saturday night R. A. Christie, clerk in Barker's store; C. D. Nelson, paper manufacturer; D. C. Clinch, banker; William J. Heans, J. T. Dougherty and Howard, clerks in Barker's store, and Detective Ring gave testimony which showed that McDonald had been in the shop after hours on the night the poisoned candy was mailed and that two more boxes had been found in Barker's store with blue in the bottom of them similar to the one sent to Rev. Mr. Shaw. Clinch swore that McDonald on the morning of the day he was arrested drew out $450, the amount of cash the prisoner had on deposit with him. These were the only important points brought out. The enquiry will be continued to-night.

THE PAN AMERICANS.

Dined at the Clifton House on the Canadian Side of the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 14.—The delegates of the International America Conference were yesterday entertained by Erastus Wiman here. The afternoon was spent in driving through the park, viewing the Falls and other sights, in the evening a banquet was tendered them by Mr. Wiman at the Clifton House here. A sumptuous repast was provided, and during the evening Mr. Wiman, Mr. Goldwin Smith and others made brief speeches drawing attention to the objects of the Conference, and welcoming the delegates to Canadian soil.

In Mr. Wiman's speech he pointed out the rare gifts Canada had at her disposal and the advantages the obliteration of the Custom's barrier would be both to her and to the United States. Said he, "Commercial Union on the North American Continent, as between Canada and the United States, is within the possibilities of the next five or ten years and that purely by concurrent legislation at Ottawa and Washington. It might take longer to create a customs union so as to include all the nations represented by the delegates but a movement on the north would gradually stimulate the movement toward the South by showing its practicability and enormous advantage."

Mayor Clarke, H. W. Darling, W. D. Matthews and Col. Gzowski of Toronto all sent letters expressing their regret at unavoidable absence but wished every success to the banquet and a pleasant time to the visitors. The party broke up shortly after 9 o'clock having grown very enthusiastic over their visit.

BLOODY WORK IN GEORGIA.

A Man Named Cody Shot Down in the Streets of Warrenton.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 14.—The second bloody chapter in the terrible history which began with the shooting of C. E. McGregor in his own yard, Friday night, Dec. 23, 1887, was enacted upon the streets of Warrenton, Ga., fifty miles from here, Saturday in the killing of J. M. W. Cody by C. E. McGregor. There were many witnesses to the killing. Cody had just ridden in from the country in a buggy with James M. English and alighted at the crossing in front of C. W. Pitcher & Co.'s store. From there he walked only a few steps to where T. N. Pool and D. W. Rogers were sitting on a table in front of English's store. McGregor was standing in front of Capt. Thompson's store on the opposite side of the street, when Cody drove by. He watched Cody get out of the buggy, and in a minute or two after Cody alighted McGregor walked rapidly across the street with his hand in his pocket and marched squarely up to Cody. Drawing his pistol he presented it to Cody's breast and fired, the ball penetrating the right breast. Cody dropped his head and shoulders, and McGregor fired again, the ball striking him and passing through the head, Cody falling immediately. As he fell McGregor fired again, the third ball striking him below the left ear.

Cody was indicted by the grand jury at the April term of the Superior Court for assault with intent to murder McGregor, and the case was set for trial at the October court, which was held in Warrenton last week. Cody was placed under bond of $2500 to be present at this court, but when the court convened Cody was not present, and although a bench warrent was issued for his arrest, he could not be found. Saturday, after court adjourned, he rode into town.

Maj. McGregor was seen after the killing by an Associated Press reporter and said: "When Cody deliberately evaded the law and flaunted his impudent defiance in my face it was more than human nature could stand. If the courts would not punish this man for trying to assassinate me, I determined to do it myself. I tried to put my bullet just where Cody put his in me on Dec. 23, 1887, and I don't think I missed it one inch. As he fell I tried to put my second bullet in his forehead and I think I got it there. Then as he was on the ground I tried to put the third in the burr of his left ear and don't think I missed far."

McGregor is railroad agent at Warrenton and has represented his county in the Legislature. Cody was a prominent citizen of the place, worth $40,000, and was widely connected throughout the country. Intense feeling prevails and the citizens fear there will be further trouble.

AT LAST!

A Wonderful Vegetable Discovery That Removes the Terrible Results of Overwork.

A True Invigorator.

Weakness and prostration of the nervous system surely follow that overwork and worry which brings sorrow and suffering to so many Canadian homes. The terrible results of nervous weakness, are seen on every hand. Pains in the back, poor and unrefreshing sleep, lack of appetite dyspepsia, and lost energy and strength, are the first symptoms of more serious and dangerous trouble. This is the way that Paralysis, Paresis and Insanity begin. Do not delay a moment longer, for some time it will be too late to regain your lost health and vitality. Use Paine's Celery Compound now, and the dull eyes will regain their brilliancy, the cheeks will grow rosy, the brain become clear, the nerves strong and steady, your sleep restful and refreshing, appetite good, and health and happiness will take the place of misery and suffering.

A. Sabiston, the well known lithographer of Montreal, writes: "In the summer of 1888 I had to work very hard, and was troubled considerably with insomnia (sleeplessness). I resolved to try your Paine's Celery Compound, and after taking the contents of two bottles, felt like a new man. A good night's rest gave me strength for the duties of the day, and instead of starting out to business in the morning feeling as if I had completed a day's work instead of being about to commence one I started out in good spirits, feeling fresh and strong. My wife and various friends, to whom I recommended the medicine, have been benefited greatly, and in fact 'Paine's Celery Compound is a household word in our family."

The Lord's Prayer.

An Eloquent Appeal for Home Mission Funds by Rev. Alex. Grant. Two Sermons.

Rev. Alex. Grant, of Winnipeg, late Superintendent of Home Missions, preached in the Murray street Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Large congregations attended both services, and a deep interest was manifested in the addresses and the subject. Rev. Mr. Grant is one of the rising divines in the Baptist ministry. His sermon was marked by a force of expression, originality of thought and earnest manner, which enabled him to hold the rapt attention of the audience and enlist their sympathies in the cause for which he was working. The large collections taken up during the day were devoted to the Home Mission fund.

The subject of his morning's discourse was the Lord's Prayer (Matt. vi, 9.) Prayer, said the revered speaker, was one of the principal means of grace. He could not understand the philosophy of it, but knew only that it was a gracious and precious thing. The many promises made by God regarding the answering of prayer, he said, appeared as if carte blanche was given the supplicant, as if all restrictions were swept away. But the fact was, prayer was hedged about. A petition in order to reach the ear of God must be asked in Jesus Christ's name. "If a man abide in Christ and Christ in him", he will ask only what God will give him; he will not ask foolishly. John says: "This is the confidence we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will He heareth us; and if we know he heareth whatsoever we ask we know we have the petitions we desire of Him." That is, if we have our prayer answered, we know God put that prayer into our hearts. Therefore, it was necessary to challenge every prayer we uttered, and say, Hold! Do you come of God? Are you born in me of the Holy Ghost? Therefore, also, it was necessary to go to the throne of God and say, Teach me to pray. Generally the most important part of a prayer is tacked on the end as a post-script, as a sort of "Oh, by the bye" after-thought. Look at this prayer in the text. First of all, "Our Father which art in heaven"—here the relationship of the Father is established. Then reverence is shown—"Hallowed be thy name"—and in these days there was a danger of too little reverence for the Holy One. So here you are before God, the preacher said, and now

WHAT WILL YOU PRAY FOR?

Take your prayers for twenty years back, or ever since you first began to pray, and size them up, shake them together and take the one that comes out first. Will you be honest with yourself? What will that prayer be? "Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, give us this day our daily bread"—isn't that it? You have made some personal matter the chief consideration. It may be, "Give us this day our daily bread, or forgive us our sins, or lead us not into temptation," etc. You have, of course, prayed for the kingdom of God, in a general way, but matters concerning your own soul have been the chief burden of your petitions. The first petition in the prayer of the text was, "Thy kingdom come." Did Jesus pray, "Father, save me from this hour?" No. "Father, glorify thy name." An operation was being performed upon the left breast of a French soldier who had been wounded, and he whispered to the physician operating with the knife, "Surgeon, cut an inch deeper and you'll find the Emperor." What, asked the preacher, would the great Surgeon find nearest your heart? Boil down your prayers for the last six days, boil the vapor out of them till there is an essence left, and then let God label the residuum. What will it be? My wife, my family, my farm, my business—but not "Thy kingdom come". Some people think the ministers prompt them to ask for impossible things. But listen to Christ. He says, immediately after "Thy kingdom come," all these things will be done—"Thy will be done on earth." Put the kingdom of God in the right place, leave the prayer in the order Christ gave it, and all will be well. What was the kingdom of God? Righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. This world, the preacher said, didn't look anything as much as righteousness. Oh, the crookedness, and cunningness, and deviltishness, and crankiness that seems to get into the affairs of this world! The righteousness you talk of in prayer meeting is not righteousness. It is at your counter and when you are dealing with your washerwoman that you show it. There are societies, such as the Knights of Labor and others, and men like Henry George who say they are going to set these matters right; but it could never be done until men's hearts were cleansed of unrighteousness, that baneful upas tree that will ever bear its big crop of curses for men. The kingdom of God says peace, but there was none of it in this world. The kingdom of God was righteousness and joy, but the only way to be sure of this was in "Thy kingdom come."

But what had all this to do with the congregation would ask. Just this, would they like to know whether you could pray "Thy kingdom come?" Well, you will soon find out. Boys at school do their sums first up and then down to make sure they are right. Reckon up your prayers the same way. Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come—can you go on to the next, be asked? "Thy will be done"—that was, the will of God in man. When you go down into your pockets for funds for this mission work, whose will is to determine the amount you give. Pray to God to over-rule your will. Pray "Thy kingdom come"—but if your will settles this matter, how is His Kingdom to come? Pray to God to make His will rule in you, and then you will give what is right. The speaker then went on to give some facts concerning the Home Mission work in connection with the Baptist Church. The program during the past year had been such that it surprised him, but still the work was only begun. They had a cordon of missions along the dark frontier between Quebec and Ontario, and at Sault Ste. Marie and other places missionaries had been established. They had now 100 men in the field, but more must be done. The speaker appealed to friends in and of the work, and urged them, if they thought of giving one dollar to make it two, or, if $10, double it to $20.

EVENING SERMON.

The subject of the evening address by Rev. Alex. Grant was "Faith." It was an excellent sermon also, but the lack of space at our command forbids the publication of even a condensed report.

The offerings of the day were $102.56.

All the World's a Stage, and to enable everyone to act his part well, needs that he shall be in perfect health. The very best of actors require prompting occasionally, and so it is with the functional parts of our bodies, they sometimes require prompting. A sluggish liver, impaired digestion or weak stomach, if taken in time, only need a little prompting to set them right, but, if neglected, may lead to complications that will necessitate a physician's care. An article that has, comparatively speaking, been but recently introduced in America, is by far the best little prompter in all the aforementioned cases. We refer to Beecham's Pills, a staple article in England, having been before the British public for over fifty years, and already in great demand in every other English speaking country throughout the world. These pills are really a wonderful medicine, arousing and strengthening the system and prompting every organ to the proper performance of its part. It has recently been shown that they are nine times more used in England than any other patent medicine and have the largest sale of any in the world. In fact, they are the World's Medicine. No home in America need be without this famous and inexpensive remedy, for although they are proverbially pronounced to be "Worth a guinea a box," they can be obtained of any druggist for 25 cents or from the Sole Agents for the United States, B. F. Allen & Co., 365 Canal street, N.Y. City, who will forward them to any address upon receipt of price.

A Prize of $100,000

is a good thing to get, and the man who wins it by superior skill, or by an unexpected turn of Fortune's wheel, is to be congratulated. But he who escapes from the clutches of the dread monster, Consumption, and wins back health and happiness, is far more fortunate. The chances of winning $100 000 are small, but every consumptive may be absolutely sure of recovery, if he takes Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in time. For all scorfulous diseases (consumption is one of them), it is unfailing remedy. It is guaranteed to cure in all cases of diseases for which it is recommended, or money refunded. s

CAPSIZED IN A SQUALL.

Five Persons from Inverhuron Supposed to Have Been Drowned.

TIVERTON, Oct. 12.—On Saturday morning last Dan McLeod with his wife, son and two hired men named Malcolm McKay and McLeod all of Inverhuron, left there with their two fishing boats Sweepstakes and Hailstorm for Golden Valley. The night was calm when they started but before morning it turned stormy and it is feared a squall struck them and capsized their boats, as both boats have been found badly damaged on the shore, the Sweepstakes at Kincardine and the Hailstorm below Inverhuron. None of the bodies have as yet been found.

A Jury Rebuked.

KINGSTON, Oct. 12.—Yesterday Charles Milsap, convicted of assault, was sentenced to one year in the Central Prison. The Judge in passing sentence said: "You see to what straits indulgence in intoxicating liquors has brought you. You might have been convicted for attempt to commit rape and for some reason which to me appears unaccountable the jury thought proper, notwithstanding the clear and positive evidence of your guilt, to ignore that evidence and return a verdict in your case of common assault. If the jurors had, in your case, done their duty, which they did not do, I might have inflicted a heavy sentence upon you. Let this be a warning to you, for if you are caught under the same circumstances as the present another jury may not be as lenient with you."

Destitution and Death.

QUEBEC, Oct. 13.—By a despatch received through the Signal Service Office from Points aux Esquimaux, it is learned that all the fishing schooners have arrived there and report the catch a complete failure, with the prospect of great misery and privation for the inhabitants the coming winter.

News was received yesterday from Frampton West that Mr. Hugh Hurley, J. P., had the misfortune to have his house completely destroyed by fire during the night and that Mrs. Hurley was so badly burned while trying to escape that she died from the effects.

Without Significance.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—An official of the Militia Department admitted the correctness of the report that the intelligence corps of the Imperial Army periodically asks for information regarding the military strength of the Dominion as well as the facilities enjoyed for transporting troops from one province to the other. He denied that an order has been issued recently to the Deputy Adjutant General seeking further information on the subject. The enquiries he added do not possess any significance.

An Alleged Burglar Captured.

HALIFAX, Oct. 12.—James Campbell, the supposed burglar of McLeod's jewelry store in Amherst, was captured at East Mines yesterday by Detective Power. He was found in the woods and had a revolver with which he fought desperately, but nobody was injured. He had several watches and some money on him. About $2000 worth of goods were stolen from McLeod's. The prisoner was lodged in jail at Truro.

Simcoe Millers' Conference.

ALLISTON, Oct. 12.—At a meeting of the Millers' Association of Simcoe it was resolved to ask the farmers of this and surrounding counties to assemble in their different localities to discuss the grievances under which the flour millers profess to be suffering and to join the millers in petitioning the government to remedy the different duties on flour and wheat at the next session of Parliament.

Collision on the Canada Atlantic.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Early yesterday morning a mixed train on the Canada Atlantic Railway line running from Coteau Junction to this city collided with a train near St. Polycarpe Junction. The front of the engine belonging to the mixed train was somewhat damaged. The pilot was broken badly.

A Massachusetts Tragedy.

STONEHAM, Mass., Oct. 14.—The dead body of George Martin, jr., was found just inside the entrance of a cemetery here yesterday morning. Martin had been stabbed through the heart. William E. Maguire and Patrick Bishop have been arrested on suspicion of murder. The three men were together last night and Bishop says Maguire and Martin quarrelled and fought. Bishop claims that he left the two men fighting and went home. Maguire denies the story. The crime was committed in a thickly settled part of the town.

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 383 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Voters' List Appeals.

One hundred and thirty eight appeals against the town voters' list have been entered at the town clerk's office. Of these Mr. R. R. Hall, for the Reform party, entered 68—68 names to be added and 30 struck off. Mr. Barnham, for the Conservatives, appealed to have 35 new names added. The remaining 15 appeals were entered by private individuals.

Canadian Samples.

Mr. Walter Stocker, the city bill poster, is interested in horticulture, and will ship next Wednesday, by steamer Vancouver, a dozen apples of the Ripstone Pippin variety, grown in Mr. G. W. Hatton's orchard. The fruit will be sent to a nursery firm in York, England, for exhibition there. The parent tree of this apple is still thriving within five miles of where the samples of Canadian growth will be shown.

A False Alarm.

Considerable excitement was created Saturday night over a small matter. Mr. R. F. Morrow, dentist, left some chemicals heating in his rooms, over China Hall, while he went to tea, and, in his absence, they took fire. When he returned the rooms were filled with smoke, and on opening the windows the smoke poured out in clouds. An excitable individual on the street below gave the alarm of fire, the town bell was rung and the brigade were ready to start out when they were stopped. No damage whatever was done.

Dreadful Destitution.

In the very heart of the town there lives, or rather exists, a family in a shocking state of destitution. The father is away in the shanties, and the mother hasn't tasted a decent cup of tea for months, for the reason that she had no money to go to Hawley Bros., where the highest quality of tea is kept. A large variety of the finest, freshest kinds of tea at low prices, bought well and, therefore, sold cheaply. Also fragrant coffees, and the finest stock of glassware. No trouble to show goods, or to sell them, when once the customer has tried them. dw

Those who wish to partake of something very fine in the shape of a cup of tea should try W. J. Morrow's direct importations. Why is it farmers are giving up buying from pedlars and tea men? Simply because they can buy tea from ten to fifteen cents per lb. cheaper from us, as it does not pass through so many hands, owing to us importing direct. We are offering an extra Japan at 25c, a beautiful blend of Black at 40c., and all other lines away down to 5 lbs and 6 lbs for $1.00. W. J. MORROW, 240 Opera House Block, George street. dw

Notes on the Accident.

In connection with the accident on Friday, by which one of the little girls belonging to Hazel Bros was drowned in the river, it was omitted to mention that Conductor Steene, of the Lakefield branch, seeing the accident, stopped his train and, with the brakesman, assisted in saving the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mead, who were attempting to rescue the little one.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon. Rev. G. H. Davis kindly conducted the service.

Captain and Mrs. Annesley desire gratefully to acknowledge gifts of flowers from Mrs. Steene, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. Deane and Miss Stewart.

An "Over" or Two at Cricket.

The last number of the Dominion Illustrated contains group portraits of the "I Zingari" and "Quebec and Visitors" and the "Vics" cricket teams. In the former are seen the familiar faces of Messrs. W. A. Stratton, John Stirling and W. D. Parker. The Dominion Illustrated, in referring to the tour of the "Vics" says of their visit to Peterborough:—"The visitors were most hospitably entertained wherever they went and they have especial reason to remember their visit to Peterborough, where they stayed four days. The privileges of the club were granted to them, and then they heard some really first-rate part singing, and on Tuesday evening they were entertained at "Auburn," the country seat of Hon. R. Hamilton, where a most enjoyable time was spent, including dancing and roaming through the beautiful grounds, which were everywhere illuminated."

This issue of this fine journal for October 12 is a fine one. The farming scenes in Western Manitoba are admirable and reveal more of the life and resources of the Prairie Provinces than volumes of description. The tennis tournament at Charlottetown, P.E.I., and the tennis club at New Westminster, B. C., will be of interest to all lovers of a game which has of late been making its home in Canada. The portrait of Mayor Grenier will please many Montrealers and visitors to Montreal who have shared in the Mayor's courteous hospitalities. The rest of the number comprises some fine reproductions of noted pictures—one of these the Judgment of Paris being double-page. We cordially commend the Dominion Illustrated to our readers. The Dominion Illustrated is published by the Dominion Illustrated Publishing Company, Mr. G. E. Desbarats, managing-director. Subscription, $4. Address: 73 St. James street, Montreal. The Hamilton Herald in Saturday's impression publishes a two column history of the half century of St. Mary's Cathedral, Hamilton. The sketch is illustrated with portraits of Bishop Dowling and Rector McEvay. Referring to Rev. He is very popular with the members of the congregation. It is a pleasure to talk to him. He has a rare fund of humour is keenly observant and a most delightful conversationalist." The rev. gentlemen's many friends in town will readily recognize this pen-and-ink sketch as readily as they would the engraving of his genial features printed in Saturday's Herald.

The third one, who seemed inveterate at the weed, all the while soothing them by repeating, "Never mind, boys, ye'e will be all right the next time." They went home wiser, and, no doubt, lighter by all they had eaten for the past day or two.

Staples' Horses to the Front.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In looking over prize lists of the many fairs held in this vicinity for the fall of 1889, we think there are few horses in Ontario that can show a record among the prize winners equal to those of "Cheviot" and "Lord Sudley." We find "Lord Sudley's" colts among the winners at Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterborough, Bethany, Centreville, Omemee and Millbrook, taking 1st and 2nd as yearlings, and 1st and 2nd as foals of 1888, at Peterborough, and 1st and 2nd as colts of 1889 at Bethany, with a strong class of competitors. "Cheviot's" record is even brighter, though not quite so far-reaching. We find his colts prominent among the winners at Keene, where they were 1st as yearling colt, and 1st as mare and foal, and at Peterborough 1st as two year-olds, and at Bethany 1st and 2nd as two-year-olds, and 1st and 2nd as colts of 1889, and at East Durham County Fair at Millbrook he was represented by seventeen of his colts, amongst them gaining sixteen prizes, including the prize for the five best two-year-olds from any draught horse. And just here let me say that I think it would puzzle any draught horse in Canada to show five better colts of any age than were exhibited here. With these facts before us, and, I have no doubt, many others equally as creditable, of which I have not heard, I am fully convinced that Mr. Staples is the owner of two of the best stock horses for their respective class-s that stand in Ontario.

Now, Mr Editor, I am one of those fellows that, on seeing a good thing, I can't help but tell my neighbours about it.

Thanking you for your valuable space,

A SPECTATOR.

AN EPISCOPAL JOURNEY.

Bishop O'Connor tells his people of his Two Month's Tour.

He Finds Prosperity and Progress—He is "Baptised" into the Ojibway Tribe of Indians—He Travels 2000 Miles—He Confirms Nearly 900 Persons.

On Sunday morning, His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, delighted the congregation of St. Peter's by his appearance in his sacred functions, after an absence from the town of over two months. He said early mass, and preached the sermon at the 10 o'clock service. At vespers, his Lordship gave a very interesting sketch of his visit to the northern portions of his diocese. He left Peterboro' on his first episcopal tour to the outlying portions of his diocese, taking train to Midland. He continued to Parry Sound and visited the mission here, and administered confirmation to between 50 and 60, of whom 9 were Indians from Parry Island.

The next points taken were Byng Inlet, French River and Killarney, lumbering centres on the northeast cost of Georgian Bay the latter however a fishing station. At all these places confirmation services were held.

The next point visited was Wickwemikong on Manitoulin Island of about 800 people. Here was a kind of college of Jesuits who attended, from this point as a centre, to the spiritual wants of the Georgian Bay district. The Indians were found much advanced than would be supposed. They live in houses instead of wigwams and huts. Here the Jesuit fathers conduct an industrial school where in addition to mental culture the Indian boys are taught useful trades. A convent in charge of the sisters, supplies the education of the Indian girls, sewing and domestic arts being taught. The schools are assisted by grants from the Dominion government. The Indians pursue agriculture with much success. While here his Lordship, underwent the imposing ceremony of being "baptised into the tribe," the Ojibways. The 800 members of the tribe formed a circle; inside of this the Bishop in charge of the chief men went the round bowing to the people, the beating of a drum and a war whoop now and then, being resonant features of the ceremony. The name bestowed on His Lordship was "Sagaki, the bringer of the Gospel of peace," the same title bestowed upon Bishop Jamot.

The next places visited were Little Current, La Cloche and other smaller places, and further on Sagamog, an Indian village. At all these places confirmation was administered to large classes for the situation. Spanish River, Mississaga, Thessalon, Garden River Sault Ste Marie, Point au Pines were visited and confirmation was administered. From here the tour extended to

THE LAKE SUPERIOR DISTRICT.

Port Arthur is an important point being more advanced than the other places visited. A church and hospital presided over by the Sisters, where the ill and wounded without regard to creed are received and treated, and a convent.

At Fort William mission there is a church with an industrial school and an orphan asylum conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph. It is also the headquarters of the Jesuit mission for the Lake Superior district, which extends 150 miles west and 380 miles east of this point.

From here His Lordship went north to Lake Nipigon, taking a perilous trip of 40 miles across this lake to Nipigon House, a Hudson Bay post, a seven day's trip altogether. Nipigon House is 400 miles north and 500 miles west of Peterborough. The missionaries only reach this place twice a year, and it is nine years since a bishop (Jamot) visited them before. The occasion of Bishop O'Connor's visit was a jubilee; he was greeted with joy and parted from with tears. As a sample of the prices prevailing, the bishop stated that flour was $8 per bag, tea $1 and pork 25 cents per pound. Faye Plat, Heron Bay and Pic River were also visited, and after that a sixty miles canoe trip to Michipicoten a trip abounding in exciting rapids running and other perils of flood. The scenery on this route is magnificent.

His Lordship then came east along the C. P. R. line to Chapleau, Chelmsford, Sudburry. Near the latter are the Copper Cliff mines where getting out copper, and here is also the Dobie mine, employing 300 men. Search for gold is being prosecuted. The 500 miles from Sudbury to Port Arthur is too rocky for agriculture but rich in minerals. In succession, Whitefish river settlement, Veuve river, Verner and Stargeon Falls, were visited. In the vicinity of these, some fine agricultural land is found—in the the townships of Rayside and Balfour.

Next the Muskoka district was entered and Trout Creek, Powassan Barret's settlement, Commanda, South River and Burk's Falls were visited. At this point his Lordship's official tour terminated.

At all the places mentioned the rite of confirmation was administered, the spiritual and temporal condition investigated, and the result was very satisfactory. The people were found pious and both spiritually and temporally progressive.

Confirmation was held at 34 different places, and nearly 800—772 persons—confirmed. His Lordship was loyally received everywhere. He was greatly pleased with the conditions his visit revealed. He was presented with numerous addresses, and churches and school-houses were decorated in his honor. During his tour he travelled 2600 miles, and spent 12 nights under canvas. His Lordship feels much improved in health by his journey, which was not always comfortable, and not without peril. His address, which occupied three quarters of an hour, was listened to with great interest.

A Note of Thanks.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Would you be kind enough to allow me space to publicly thank the Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church for their very generous and highly appreciated gift. The gift was so unexpected, and I cannot find words to express my feelings of gratitude. And here I may be allowed to refer to the cordial and harmonious relations existing between the several members of the choir. I always look forward to our practice with pleasure—for it is indeed a pleasure to belong to such a choir. There seems to be an utter absence of the jealous feeling so often found in church choirs. Of course our leader has a great deal to do with that; he is very highly esteemed by every member of the choir. Mr. Davis and Mr. Schneider do their utmost to make the singing and music generally as attractive as possible, and in this I am sure that every member of the choir heartily co-operates with them. For my own part I only wish that I was able to do better, but I do the best I can. I regret that illness has prevented my appearance in the choir, but I hope to be able to be in my place next Sunday.

Yours very faithfully,

LIZZIE LOGAN.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The young men's meeting on Saturday evening was a delightful one and well attended. Mr. R. C. Hunter gave an earnest talk. Singing was led by orchestra. The gospel and song service last evening was addressed by Rev. Alexander Grant, of Winnipeg. It was a powerful appeal, and cannot fail of results. The hall was filled by an attentive audience. We are so glad our meetings are growing in numbers and interest. To God be the glory.

THE CLUBS' AVERAGES.

Record of the Season's Sport.

A Successful Year With the Cricket and Baseball Clubs—Ten Wins out of Thirteen for the Cricket Club—Fourteen, out of Seventeen for the Baseball Club.

The following able review of the past season of the Cricket Club is furnished by the Secretary, Mr. John Stirling:—The past season of 1889 has been one of the most successful in the history of the club; as out of a total of 13 matches played, no fewer than 10 have been won, while the first match of the season was played with so poor an eleven that success was out of the question. As will be seen from the subjoined averages W. A. Stratton leads the list with a fine average of 23, Hamilton, who pulled up very finely towards the end of the season being second with 14. In spite of want of practice, Rogers kept up a good average, and McDonell did so well in the few matches in which his services were available, as to make us wish to see a great deal more of him. Sam Ray was not so successful this season as in '88, being handicapped by a bad finger for a great part of the season; and Attewell was decidedly unlucky, as he has on several occasions proved himself to be a fine bat. The veteran Rutherford, who never sees bat or ball except in a match, showed by his fine innings against the Vics., that his hitting would be, with more practice, as hard as ever, while several others had quite respectable averages. The home match with Toronto was not played, though the date was twice fixed; while East Toronto, Staten Island, and Hamilton were obliged to call off the matches arranged. Toronto will probably play here twice next season to make up for this year, and Hamilton will also give us a match here.

In addition to the first eleven matches, the "Maple Leaf" eleven played three matches, all of which were won. Particulars of these will be given hereafter. The Colts and Vets played 5 matches, the "odd trick" falling to the Colts.

Charlie Attewell, the pro. has given perfect satisfaction, the improvements in the play of the juniors being especially noticeable under his coaching. His bowling analysis is very fine, his batting average good, while his steadiness and attention to his duties leave nothing to be desired. We are glad to learn, that in all probability he will be here again next season.

Following is the summary of the season's play:—

Total runs scored by club, 2110 for 227 wickets. Average 9.29.

Total sums scored by opponents, 1437 for 229 wickets. Average 6.26.

Highest innings played by club, 200; against club 130.

Highest individual score for club 85 (not out); against club 37.

The half century was reached three times by Stratton and twice by Attewell.

The Baseball Record.

The Association baseball club has had a prosperous season. With a large quantity of raw material at the beginning, the team has been practised into a creditable amateur organization. The record of the season's sport is a most satisfactory one. Of seventeen match games, fourteen have been won, two lost and one drawn. The most notable victories were over Campbellford, Markham, Cobourg, the Chemong Indians, and the Athletics for a $25 silver cup. The two lost games were played on July 12th, when a scratch team went to Campbellford and Hastings and were defeated at both places. A large number of the matches were with the Athletics, of Peterborough, between whom and the Association team a strong rivalry existed. The Athletics, though beaten every time, refused to be cor querel, and played against fate manfully. The Association team have not been beaten on their own grounds this year, the only semblance of a defeat being the game with the Athletics, Sept. 2nd, when the umpire awarded them the game. The actual score was 16 to 15 in favour of the Athletics, but they refused to play after the sixth innings. Some of the games were not played out, five, six or seven innings only being played.

Nine members of the Association club, about the strongest team, perhaps, they could get together, though Pearson is missed from the group, had their photographs taken by Mr. Green on Saturday. The photo and cup won by the club will be exhibited at Schofield's drug store in a few days.

Following is the record:—

May 17.	vs Athletics	won by 16 to 9
" 24.	vs Campbellford	" 14 to 12
June 15.	vs Ashburnhams	" 14 to 3
" 21.	vs Ashburnhams	a tie 5 to 5
" 24.	vs Athletics	won by 16 to 10
" 28.	vs Athletics	" 9 to 7
July 4.	vs Athletics	" 22 to 17
" 12.	vs Hastings	lost by 11 to 10
" 13.	vs Campbellford	" 9 to 3
" 18.	vs Athletics	won by 9 to 5
Aug 25	vs Athletics	" 19 to 15
" 26.	vs Chemong	" 30 to 9
*Sept 2.	vs Athletics	" 9 to 6
" 7.	vs Markham	" 16 to 9
" 23.	vs Athletics	" 13 to 9
" 27.	vs Athletics	" 23 to 16
Oct 1.	vs Cobourg	" 13 to 11

RUN GETTING AVERAGES.

The batting averages cannot be accurately made out as no complete scores were kept. If run getting is any criterion of batting ability, the following averages will show who did the batting. But even this is incomplete, as no individual scores were kept of the first four games played. So far as can be made out, however, the run-getting averages are as below:

	Games played	Runs made.	Ave
Malcolmson	5	12	2.4
Turnbull	9	19	2.1
Brennan	14	28	2.0
Allison	14	27	1.9
Mackay	10	17	1.7
Dunble	13	22	1.7
Cameron	6	11	1.7
Pearson	5	8	1.6
Hay	8	12	1.5
Graham	7	8	1.1
McCabe	2	2	1.0
Ray	6	6	1.0

This list includes, with one exception, only those who played five or more games with the club.

HOW THE ESTATE OF A WAKEFIELD MAN LOSES $1500.

Census of Church Attendance—The Anderson Contract—Vacancies on the Nova Scotia Supreme Bench.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—An unusual case has just come under the notice of the Postmaster-General. A citizen of Wakefield was a depositor in the Postoffice Savings Bank at Newboro, on Little Rideau Lake. The depositor placed as much to his own name as he was legally entitled to, namely $1000, and having reached the limit was notified of the fact. Then he paid in $1000 in his wife's name and having reached the limit there paid $500 more to his sister's credit. The man died leaving a will dealing with these two last sums. The will being proven the lawyer went to enquire and found that the two women had realised. He then came on to Ottawa but could obtain no redress from the Postmaster-General as the ladies had only drawn money deposited in their own names.

A census of the attendance at the Protestant churches of Ottawa was taken Tuesday evening. The figures are given as 7328, the sittings of the churches in question being 15,600.

Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, has received the resignation of Judge Smith, of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Judge Smith was on leave of absence for six months for the benefit of his health. The time of his vacation is now about up, and Mr. Smith not having recovered has felt it necessary to resign.

Judge McDonald of Antigonish, also a Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, has been incapacitated from duty for some time past, and it is understood he will also resign in a short time. This will leave two vacancies on the Bench of that Province. Cape Breton is advancing claims for one of the positions, and Mr. S. McDonald's name is mentioned in that connection.

Hon. G. E. Foster says he has no confirmation as to the truth of the report received here yesterday by cable that the Andersons have given up preparations for carrying out their contract with the Government for a fast line of steamers between Plymouth and Halifax and Quebec, owing to some disagreement with the Canadian Pacific respecting the desired port facilities at Halifax. Mr. Foster said he had received a cable from the Andersons stating that they find difficulties in their path and that full particulars will follow by letter.

To-day was the day set apart by the Government for hearing counsel for the Province of Quebec petitioners, who asked that the Jesuit Bill be disallowed on the ground that it involved a violation of an educational trust which the Quebec Government were obliged to maintain intact, and because it infringed upon certain rights of the Protestant minority. The petitioners engaged Dr. L. Davidson and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy to appear before the Cabinet and show cause why the bill ought to be referred to the courts, but these gentlemen have been notified by the Dominion Government that there is no longer any cause for their appearance, as the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction have accepted the $60,000 voted by the bill for Protestant education and as Mr. Mercier has agreed to amend the act in accordance with the suggestions of the Protestant Committee. Under the circumstances Sir John Thompson thinks that there is nothing to argue about.

A despatch has been received by the Dominion Government from the Colonial Office concerning a prize competition, to be held in celebration of the fourth century of the discovery of America, in Madrid, Spain, under the vice-presidency of the Duke of Vergica who is a lineal descendant of Christopher Columbus. The work, which may be written in Spanish, Portuguese, English, German, Italian or French, is a historical study in prose recording the great event which it is intended to commemorate. The essay should not exceed two volumes of 500 pages of ordinary type. A third volume containing documents, maps, etc., may be added. There will be two prizes, one of $8000 and one of $3000 and the winning authors will be presented with 500 copies of their book. Competing works are to be sent to the Secretary of the Royal Academy of History, Madrid, before Jan. 1, 1892.

A Millers' Meeting.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A meeting of the millers' local association for the counties of Middlesex, Elgin, Essex, Kent and Lambton was held in St. Thomas in the City Hall yesterday. A large number of millers and farmers were present, also Dr. J. H. Wilson, M.P. for East Elgin, and D. Plewes, secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association. Favorable reports were received in regard to buying wheat by tester. At one point was any difficulty reported. The present tariff was discussed at some length and this motion was passed: "That this meeting will endeavor to get meetings of farmers together during the winter to be addressed by the secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association and any others the farmers may desire, to discuss the differential duties on wheat and flour and their influence on the farmers and millers of Ontario." The meeting adjourned to meet in Sarnia on the second Monday in November.

TOPICS FROM TORONTO.

MANY DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST THE GRAND TRUNK.

Attempts to Change the Place of Trial of the Cases Arising out of the St. George Disaster.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—Litigation has commenced in earnest in connection with the fatal accident of last February at St. George. The Grand Trunk Railway have refused to pay any of the claims made on account of the victims. Writs have been issued in some twelve actions amounting in all about $200,000. All these actions are down for trial at the coming Assizes at Woodstock on Oct. 22 before Mr. Justice Rose. At 1 o'clock yesterday Mr. A. B. Aylesworth made an application to the Master in Chambers to change the venue of the trial of these actions from Woodstock to Goderich or some other county town on the ground that the entire population of the town and the county were prejudiced against the G.T.R. and a fair trial could not be obtained. The motion was most vigorously opposed by C. J. Holman, J. F. Fullerton, Walter Reid, Dugald MacMurchy and G. Masten on behalf of the various plaintiffs. The argument was not concluded at 6 o'clock when the court was adjourned till Wednesday morning for the purpose of examining Mr. Wallace Nesbitt. Mr. Aylesworth was assisted by Mr. Douglas Armour and Mr. J. Pope of Belleville on behalf of the Grand Trunk.

In the Haldimand election case yesterday Justice Falconbridge disposed of the matter of costs as follows: "The petitioner will have the general costs of the petition and trial. The respondent will be entitled to the costs occasioned by the charges of corrupt acts by agents on which he has succeeded. There will be no costs to either party of the charges on which evidence was taken and no judgment given. There will be no costs to either party on the personal charges. I would give Mr. Coulter his costs on those charges, but that in both instances, namely intreating on the afternoon of the polling day and in writing the letter of July 28, 1887, to Henry Kinsley, he acted most indiscreetly, though not, I think, corruptly.

The big mills of Cook Bros.' of Toronto at Serpent River which suffered from fire on Saturday, are among the finest on the continent. Saxe & Co. of Albany offered $1,000,000 for the mills and limits this past summer. The Cooks valued them at $1,200,000. The docks and 50,000,000 feet of cut lumber were burnt.

A case of smallpox is reported at Pelee Island, Lake Erie. Measures have been taken by the board in conjunction with the health officer of Windsor, for supplying necessary aid to the local board, there being at present no medical man stationed on the Island.

At the Toronto varnish works on Eastern avenue yesterday a lad upset a pot of varnish, which ignited, and in the space of a brief half hour about $10,000 worth of damage had been done. The insurance is light.

The trial of Mrs. Sarah White and Arthur Hicks for the murder of James W. Hicks, the woman's brother, is in progress in the Criminal Assize Court. Hicks, it will be recollected, died from drinking tea, in which Rough on Rats had been placed.

Birtle, who was shot by Louis Dess and subsequently carved by the doctors at the Hospital, is dying. Dess was remanded until Friday, bail being refused.

A Handsome Bequest to McGill.

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.—McGill University is in luck. It is announced that the late Mr. Thomas Workman has bequeathed to its funds the sum of $126,000. This money will in part be expended in the science faculty in erecting a new building and for other important items. A professor of mechanical engineering will be appointed, a mechanical laboratory erected and a course in electrical science added to the curriculum. Some time ago Mr. J. R. Burland, a graduate to whom the university is already indebted, donated $5000 to the purchase of testing machinery if a suitable building were provided for its care. The new building will probably be made to suit Mr. Burland's terms and the machinery will form a valuable addition to the appliances of the faculty. It is rumored that another gift is in store but the details of it have not been divulged.

The Marine Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The American delegates to the International Marine Conference met yesterday morning at the office of Secretary Codman in the State Department. Their consultation related to the subjects to be discussed. The delegates to the conference will assemble at the diplomatic reception room in the State Department Wednesday morning and be formally received by Secretary Blaine. After that there will be a reception at the White House by President and Mrs. Harrison, and then the conference will probably organize. It is expected that Admiral Franklin will preside. There will be fifty delegates in all. The conference will be one of the most distinguished in the personnel of its members that ever assembled, every country having sent the best of its talent. The sessions will be held for the present at least in the Wallace House, fitted up for the meeting of the International American Congress. That body will not reassemble for a month.

There Were Millions in It—For Treacy.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—A bill was filed in court yesterday to close up the affairs of the Treacy Carbon Lamp Company. The company is said to be a tremendous swindle. The company was organized, with James A. Treacy as the principal incorporator and president, for the purpose of making a carbon lamp and a calcium lamp from a peculiar kind of gas. There was said to be millions in the scheme and Treacy disposed of stock to poor Germans and Bohemians at $20 a share. He represented that each share was worth $100 and would soon bring $500. He refused to explain his wonderful process for manufacturing the materials but exhibited alleged samples in bottles. These samples it is now alleged were purchased by Treacy at drug stores. The factory is located in an out-of-the-way place. The bill applied for an injunction restraining Treacy from further interference with the concerns of the company and asked for a receiver. Judge Jamieson granted both requests.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 15.—A private despatch from President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway says that he expects to have the plan's for the road's entrance into the city ready to submit to-day or to-morrow.

The 13th band arrived home yesterday morning. One of the successes of the trip is the probable engagement of the 13th next year by the Chicago Shriners to go to San Francisco. Another pleasing event that follows the trip is the acceptance by the St. Bernard Commandery of an invitation by the 13th to visit this city next summer.

Death of a Former Torontonian.

BUFFALO, Oct. 15.—A compositor named Edward Beckwold was asphyxiated during a fire in the office of The Tonawanda Press yesterday morning. He was an Englishman about 30 years old and came here from Toronto several years ago.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

FRANCE THINKS 100,000 MEN MAY BE NEEDED SUDDENLY.

A Council of War at Paris—Chakir Pasha Preparing to Crush the Cretan Rebels—Nuptial Festivities at Berlin.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The swells who were regular patrons of the Aquarium very philosophically swallowed their resentment when that famous resort was ordered closed by the purity-loving County Council's committee, and as their fear of ridicule was evidently stronger than their devotion to principle, they carefully avoided all public demonstrations which might place them in the position of champions of the fallen women against whom the crusade of the council was directed. Such protests as were publicly made came almost entirely from men of strong convictions and pure lives, who, in most cases, had never set foot in the tabooed temple of pleasure, while its frequenters contented themselves with grinding their teeth and exchanging privately among themselves such views of the actions of the council as they happened to hold. But the purity crusade did not stop at the Aquarium. During the past week over a dozen music halls and similar resorts have been closed either because the entertainment was not on the high plane of virture and morality to which the members of the committee themselves aspired, or because the women who came to be entertained were of a class whose very existence they refused to sanction. The resorts thus placed under the ban were in most cases such as are patronized by workingmen, and these held an enormous meeting in the east end to protest against the action of the council. They passed a series of resolutions severely condemning the narrow and illogical spirit displayed by the council, and denouncing their action as an infringement upon the rights of the people. A mass meeting has been called for to-morrow to memorialize the council with a view to induce them to reconsider the subject.

In Case of an Emergency.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—A council of war at which Minister De Freycinet presided was held here yesterday to discuss the increase of the German frontier corps. It was decided to double the sixth army corps in order that 100,000 men may be sent quickly to the frontier in case of an emergency. The council also resolved to increase eastern railway facilities.

Shakir Pasha Will Make a Sedan of Sphakia.

ATHENS, Oct. 15.—Despatches from Crete say Shakir Pasha is preparing to attack Sphakia from four different directions. Skirmishes between the Turks and Cretans continue.

Nuptial Festivities at Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—A banquet was given last night in honor of Princess Sophie who is soon to be married to the Crown Prince of Greece. A State reception followed the banquet. Princess Sophie wore a dress of white tulle and a parure of brilliants. The Emperor and Empress have given her a splendid parure of diamonds representing the national colors of Greece. Queen Victoria and the Prince of Wales have sent a complete set of similar stones consisting of a tiara, necklace, bracelets and agraffe.

Peace Assured.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Political circles here are highly satisfied with the exchange of views between Emperor William and the Czar. It is believed that peace is assured on the basis that Bulgaria belongs to Russian, and Servia to Austrian spheres of interest.

The Bismarcks Will Now Emerge.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The Czar has presented Prince Bismarck with a valuable snuff box on the lid of which is a portrait of His Majesty. A similar present was given to Count Herbert Bismarck by the Czar.

Satisfied to be Vice-King.

AUCKLAND, Oct. 15.—Despatches from Samoa say that a public meeting was held there for the election of a King. All the foreign representatives attended. Malietoa made an address in which he praised Mataafa and advised the people to elect him their king. As for himself he was content to be vice-king. It is understood that Germany will refuse to recognize Mataafa.

THE ANGRY ATLANTIC.

A Severe Storm Raging on the New England Coast—Many Disasters.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Oct. 15.—A violent gale prevailed here yesterday. The schooners Richard S, Nellie Clark and Benjamin English have gone ashore.

NANTUCKET, Oct. 15.—A severe storm is raging here attended by some serious disasters. The body of a man has been washed ashore on the south side of the island. The Cockaday life saving station reports seeing two vessels, in collision Saturday in Nantucket Sound. One sank. The vessels are unknown.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—Captain Whalen of the fishing schooner William Emerson and Patrick Jennings, one of the crew, were washed overboard and drowned in the bay yesterday afternoon by a sudden squall.

CHATHAM, Mass., Oct. 15.—The terrific northeast gale continues with increasing force. The weather is very thick and rain is falling. The sea outside is terribly rough. Telegraphic communication is interrupted.

A Big Storm on the Hudson.

NYACK, Oct. 15.—There was a terrible storm along the lower Hudson yesterday afternoon. The valuable steam yacht belonging to Commodore Voorhis was driven on the rocks. Other small craft were swamped.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 15.—William McKinney of Thurlow was yesterday charged with firing a pistol at Lewis Marsh, a neighbor. The prisoner claimed that he was acting in self-defense as Marsh had used threats towards him. The case was adjourned till Thursday.

A horse belonging to William N. Ponton was stolen Sunday by Fremantle, his hired man, and a tramp.

A Ghastly Find.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Mary A. Barrett, the deserted wife of "Flory" Barrett, the boxer, and Daniel Murphy were found dead in bed at a Harlem Hotel this afternoon, having been asphyxiated by gas. Barrett left his wife three years ago on account of her faithlessness. Mrs. Barrett and Murphy were intoxicated when they retired last night.

Saved by a Woodcut.

ATCHISON, Kan., Oct. 15.—Several cases of hydrophobia exist at Meridan, Jefferson County, the result of the attacks of a mad dog. Maud Barrs, one of the victims, has been brought here to be treated by a mad stone. She was suffering terrible agony from convulsions but after the stone had been applied she became better and the physicians hope to save her life. Three children named Peebles were bitten but none have developed the disease. Of the ten children of Farmer Cook seven were bitten. One has developed symptoms of hydrophobia. The father will have no medical assistance. He says if it is the will of God that his children shall die no human power can save their lives.

DARKNESS IN GOTHAM.

Electric Light Companies Shut off Their Currents.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—District Attorney Fellows had yesterday with Mayor Grant and the electric wires in general and the lineman Feeks in particular. He assured the Mayor that if the line which killed Feeks were discovered indictments would follow. The argument on the injunctions obtained Saturday went over until today owing to the crowded condition of the calendar. Joseph H. Choate, representing the United States and Brush companies, said his clients had shut off their current, and would keep it off until the matter was disposed of.

The sudden determination of the Brush and United States Companies to shut off their city circuits plunged a large section into darkness last night. In Madison-square and Union-square parks, around which the life of the city clusters at night, almost impenetrable gloom reigned.

AT LAST!

A Wonderful Vegetable Discovery That Removes the Terrible Results of Overwork.

A True Invigorator.

Weakness and prostration of the nervous system surely follow that overwork and worry which brings sorrow and suffering to so many Canadian homes. The terrible results of nervous weakness, are seen on every hand. Pains in the back, poor and unrefreshing sleep, lack of appetite dyspepsia, and lost energy and strength, are the first symptoms of more serious and danger. ous trouble. This is the way that Paralysis, Paresis and Insanity begin. Do not delay a moment longer, for some time it will be too late to regain your lost health and vitality. Use Paine's Celery Compound now, and the dull eyes will regain their brilliancy, the cheeks will grow rosy, the brain become clear, the nerves strong and steady, your sleep restful and refreshing, appetite good, and health and happiness will take the place of misery and suffering.

A. Sabiston, the well known lithographer of Montreal, writes: "In the summer of 1888 I had to work very hard, and was troubled considerably with insomnia (sleeplessness). I resolved to try your Paine's Celery Compound, and after taking the contents of two bottles, felt like a new man. A good night's rest gave me strength for the duties of the day, and instead of starting out to business in the morning feeling as if I had completed a day's work instead of being about to commence one I started out in good spirits, feeling fresh and strong. My wife and various friends, to whom I recommended the medicine, have been benefited greatly, and it is not 'Paine's Celery Compound' is a household word in our family."

THE DAILY EXAMINER is delivered every lawful evening to any part of the Town for 10c. a week; 35c. a month; $2.00 for six months; $4.00 per annum.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1889.

SIR Henry A. Isaacs will be the third Jewish Lord Mayor of London. The first was Sir David Solomons, who was elected in 1854; the second Sir Benjamin Phillips, who was elected in 1865. There are now four Jewish aldermen in the city. The inauguration of the new Lord Mayor will take place on the 9th of November.

THE recent official return on the condition of the London cemeteries is unsavory reading enough. In Brompton cemetery, with an area of 23½ acres, there have been buried within less than 50 years 155,064 bodies, while in the Tower Hamlets cemetery, with 12 acres less, in about the same time the number is 247,000. These graveyards are all in the midst of a teeming population and must seriously affect the health of the world's metropolis.

THE Hebrews of New York City are preparing to erect a mission building to cost $200,000 in the lower part of the city. The object is to care for needy Jews landing in that city, and to offer educational facilities to their children. It is stated that about 25,000 Jews arrive in New York City every year, and that about 20,000 remain in the city. The new building will contain libraries, an industrial school, a kindergarten, and rooms for regular common school instruction.

IN illustrating "the supposed boots of Jack the Ripper," in the possession of Dr. Forbes Winslow, a London weekly says:—"The boots are evidently of the Canadian type; and he asserts, moreover, that they are one of three pairs which Jack the Ripper used to wear at night, so as to deaden the sound of his footsteps. How did they fall into the doctor's hands? That's his secret Suffice it to add that he feels certain he is on the murderer's track, and that his arrest may be effected at any moment."

THE Montreal Witness thus bears testimony to the merits of Hon. Mr. Mowat premier of Ontario: "If there is any one man in the Dominion or out of it whose opinion as to the legality of the Jesuits' Estates Act would be more valued than all others, that man is Mr. Oliver Mowat, Premier of the Province of Ontario, who has had greater experience in regard to such questions than any other lawyer or statesman and whose opinions have almost invariably been justified after he has pled in favor of them before the final court of appeal."

THERE are some seventy hospitals in London. In them they cared for 71,000 patients within their walls and medical advice was given to 2,600,000 outdoor patients, or at least half the population of the great city. Of the 71,000 treated in the hospital 6,200 died, 28,000 were cured, 31,000 were discharged improved, and 5,000 remained in hospital. St. Bartholomew's is the only rich hospital, St. Thomas' and Guy's are not on so sure a basis. The governors of Guy's made a call on the public in 1887 which netted them $400,000. All the other hospitals are chronically short of funds, and the hospital Sunday collections, does not by any means square accounts.

THE Hamilton Times points out that the Minister of Education has acted promptly on the recommendation of the School Commissioners appointed to investigate the French schools in the counties of Prescott and Russell. A teachers' institute has just been concluded at the village of Plantagenet, where sixty French teachers were present. At the opening session Mr. Tilley, Provincial Inspector of Model Schools, announced that the convention was the result of a desire on the part of the Minister of Education to elevate the status of the Public Schools of that district, and intimated that the Government, in pursuance of that desire, was at present considering the establishment of a model training school for the use of the united counties of Prescott and Russell. The teachers appeared to be deeply interested in the proceedings, and excellent results are expected from the meeting.

A Prize of $200,000

is a good thing to get, and the man who wins it by superior skill, or by an unexpected turn of Fortune's wheel, is to be congratulated. But he who escapes from the clutches of the dread shoemaker, Consumption, and wins back health and happiness, is far more fortunate. The chances of winning $100,000 are small, but every consumptive may be absolutely sure of recovery, if he takes Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in time. For all scrofulous diseases (consumption is one of them), it is unfailing remedy. It is guaranteed to cure in all cases of diseases for which it is recommended, or money refunded. s

A Strong Following.

MANY diseases result from neglected constipation, such as sick headache, bad blood, foul humors, heartburn, dizziness and general ill health. From one to three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters is guaranteed to cure constipation and all diseases caused by irregularity of the bowels. 2w41d

THE JURY FIXERS.

The Clerk of a Prominent Chicago Lawyer Among the Indicted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The grand jury yesterday afternoon returned an indictment against John Graham, a clerk in A. S. Trude's law office, for connection with the Cronin jury bribery, also true bills against the six men arrested Saturday. One of the State's Attorney's assistants said yesterday: Bailiffs Solomon and Hanks and Tom Kavanagh have agreed to tell all they know about the plot. We are sure, therefore, of reaching the head and front of the conspiracy.

The excitement about the Criminal Court building was so intense yesterday afternoon that it was necessary to lock and bar the outside doors. John Graham the indicted clerk in A. S. Trude's office, was arrested Sunday night and has been locked up ever since. He was the man who was to put up the money with which to bribe the juror; and it is asserted by Judge Longenecker that the evidence against him is very conclusive. After presenting the indictments the grand jury adjourned for the afternoon.

The State's Attorney says the case by no means ends with the present indictments but will be very much more far-reaching than the most sanguine can suppose. Other indictments may be expected to follow in short order. When the matter is ripe the State's Attorney or one of his associates will give a detailed account of another branch of jury bribing conspiracy.

The indictment returned by the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon is a joint bill against John Graham, Mark Salomon, Alexander L. Hanks, and Fred W. Smith. Last evening it was learned from the State's Attorney that Graham is the supposed "prominent citizen" whose mysterious confinement gave rise to so many surmises. Graham gave $10,000 bonds last evening and was released. But little information about Graham could be secured at the office of Lawyer Trude. He had been there for twelve or fourteen years. Lawyer Jenks (Trude's partner) said Graham had never been admitted to the bar.

Lynched.

HERANDO, Miss., Oct. 14.—Robert Biggs, colored, was lynched here early Saturday morning by several hundred men from Lakeview. Biggs was in jail on a charge of having assaulted Mrs. J. N. Raines, wife of a farmer living near Lakeview, last August.

Will Rebuild the Wall.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—It is said that the Dominion government will likely re-build the retaining wall at the scene of the recent Quebec disaster.

Catarrh is in the blood. No cure for this loathsome and dangerous disease is possible until the poison is thoroughly eradicated from the system. For this purpose, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best and most economical medicine. Price $1. Six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

Cannot Fail.

MRS. JOHN E. THOMPSON, of Shelburne, P. O., writes: My two children received great benefit from Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for Diarrhœa and summer complaint. I gave it according to direction and they soon recovered. Be sure and get the genuine. 2w4

In Many Forms.

DYSPEPSIA assumes many phases, all disagreeable to the sufferer, yet it takes no form which from two to four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters will not cure. B.B.B. cures dyspepsia, tones the weak stomach, aids digestion, sharpens the appetite, and renovates the system. 2w41d

MUNCASTER'S.

THE GREATEST MAN.

The Sure Sign by Which the "Mover" Recognized a Superior Being.

A man riding along a road came upon an old fellow who, loud in voice and violent in action, was endeavoring to start a balky team. The horseback traveler, amused at the old fellow's productive resource of strong adjectives, stopped, threw one leg over the horn of his saddle, and without saying anything sat watching the performance. The covered wagon to which the team was attached was the "mover's" typical vehicle, with two chairs tied behind. A woman, three children, a mule colt and a dog belonged to the outfit.

"If I just had enough money to take us fifty miles I'd cut your infernal throats!" the old fellow shouted, as he leaned for a moment's rest on a piece of rail with which he had been belaboring the horses. "You can pull out of here easy enough, you infernal scoundrels. Why, a jack rabbit and a sick cat hitched up together could pull out of here."

"Anderson," said the woman, "why don't you hold some fodder befo' them?"

"Confound it, didn't you see me do that jest awhile ago?"

"Well, why don't you stick a pin in their flanks?"

"Haven't you got any sense at all? Didn't you see me stick 'em with a darnin' needle jest now? You better go off somewhere an' run with the sucklin' calves."

"Thar's one thing I know you ain't tried."

"What's that?"

"Twistin' their under jaws."

"I'll twist your under jaw if you don't hush."

The old fellow, turning about, addressed the man on horseback. "How long have you been here watchin' me?" he asked.

"Don't know exactly."

"Putty good while?"

"Yes."

"Servin' your second term, ain't you?"

"Second term at what?"

"Bein' governor of this state."

"I'm not the governor."

"No. Well, you must be secretary of state."

"I am not, however."

"But you must be a great man of some sort."

"No, I am simply a country merchant."

"It's mighty strange, then."

"How strange? I don't in the least understand you. Why do you take me to be a great man?"

"Because a fellow that can set an' watch a balked team and not offer any suggestions must be great—in fact, you are the first man of that sort I ever did see. You deserve greatness anyhow, I'll tell you that, and I feel it my duty to do somethin' for you. I've got a fine rifle and a good dog and they are yourn if you'll take them."

"No, I thank you."

"Here's a five dollar bill, all the money I've got, but you may have it."

"I won't take it."

"Well, I feel like givin' you somethin'. Say, you wouldn't mind me namin' a boy after you, would you?"

"No."

"All right, what's your name?"

"Worthington P. Billingsham."

"Good enough. Becky!" he called. "Yes," a woman answered.

"Where's the baby?"

"In the wagon asleep."

"Well, wake him up an' name him after this man. Good day if you are gone, mister. Don't care if you don't hold no office, you are the greatest man I ever saw."—Arkansaw Traveler.

How to Be Eloquent.

It is only when a minister preaches out of his own heart that he reaches the hearts of others. A purely intellectual sermon stops with the intellect; a doctrinal sermon is nothing more than a spiritual opiate. But let a man utter what he has felt and known, let him touch the harpstring that has vibrated in his own soul, and there comes that hush and spell over an audience, that chained attention, that lifting of faces which seems like a white tablet for God's finger to write on. Who has not felt the irresistible power of a hidden experience interpreted by another soul? This is the secret of all oratory, of all sympathetic power of man over man. The greatest preachers are not those who may lay claim to the highest scholarship, who are profound philosophical thinkers or doctrinal giants, but whose large hearts have throbbed with the deepest spiritual experience. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." These are men who can lay hold on vast audiences and sway them as the wind sways a forest. Their language may be plain, their style unpolished, their manner awkward, but they know the stops and keys of the human heart as the organist knows his instrument, and all the solemn and sweet music of life answers to their touch.—Zion's Herald.

Smell.

The lines from an old ballad, quoted by Shakespeare in King Lear:

Fie, foh and fum,
I smell the blood of an Englishman, are founded upon a physiological fact. For by the sense of smell the blind frequently detect the habits, occupation and social standing of a person.

Mr. Levy, a blind man, records that he said one morning to a workman, "You have had a red herring for breakfast, you have smoked a pipe of tobacco and you have just lighted a fire."

As the man had carefully washed himself after lighting the fire and breakfasting, the blind man's sense of smell must have been acute to detect all three odors in succession.

"You have had fish here," said this same blind man to a clerk on entering a London store.

The clerk said that they had not, but on the blind man insisting that there was the smell of fish in the store, the clerk remembered that a lady had been in to pay a bill, who lived in a house next door to a fish dealer's stand.—Youth's Companion.

AND still the price keeps going down in tea and sugar, at KIDD'S grocery.

The Loss of the Hair

Is a great misfortune and the sight of a bald head should be a warning to you to take the best possible care of your hair. A little of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" used occasionally will prevent all chances of its falling out or turning gray, and will remove all traces of dandruff. Every druggist has it in stock. Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stoveall, M. D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. —M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. P. Henderson, Saulsburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured. —Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

Sudden Death.

The Port Hope Guide says:—On Friday last Mr. Charles Deyell went out to Millbrook to visit an old friend in that burg; the same evening he was seized with apoplexy and brought home to his mother's residence, Bedford street, on Saturday, but did not rally again, and died at nine o'clock on Sunday morning. Deceased was thirty-five years of age, unmarried, son of the late Dr. John Deyell, Baillieboro', and brother of Mr. Robert Deyell, druggist, of Port Hope.

A Literary T.

Whatever shape an honest statement of fact may take it is entitled to command respect and attention. And we fearlessly make the assertion that the prudent housekeeper can get the best value in the way of choice teas of the finest brands at the great emporium for tip top teas, fragrant coffees and elegant glassware, the tea store of Hawley Bros., 370 George street, Peterborough.

Bad Boys.

One crying evil of the age, which emphasizes the ineffectiveness of home school and religious teaching, is irreverence in children. In the majority of cases children seem to have an utter lack of reverence for their elders and superiors. As reverence is the chief fundamental of religion, the moral condition present and prospective of the average child is not promising. A case in point. A day or two ago while an old and infirm man was tottering along the street, he was set on by several boys who struck his walking stick out of his feeble hand and otherwise abused him. About the same time a blind ——— was pelted with stones by the same boys, and his person severely bruised. These villianous boys are known and if there are any indications of a repetition of their offence, mercy will not be an ingredient of the dose administered to them—and as Grand father Smallweed would say, it will be "such a dose."

A Decided Improvement.

Mr. John McClelland, being a dealer in time is bound to keep up with the times. He has made a decided improvement in the internal appearance of his previously elegant jewelry shop by making a thorough renovation. The chief item of the improvements made is the papering, which was done by the veteran Watson, and a most artistic result has been arrived at. The papers and decorations were selected from the extensive and varied stock of the Peterborough Bookstore. The ceiling of the shop is divided into two panels. The field of each panel is a beautiful Japanese design in Jersey cream and gold with a darker border with floral corners. The style is of tessalated design in flitter brocade and gold. The frieze is of a running scroll design in gold and dark olive while the walls are covered with a lighter harmonizing tint of olive and gold. The effect is very fine and harmonious. The whole interior has felt the touch of improvement. The woodwork has been done in walnut grain with the carving of the counter pilasters picked out in gold. Mr. McClelland can now boast of having one of the neatest and prettiest jewelry shops in town.

A Brilliant Affair.

The engagement of Miss Victoria Vokes here next Friday evening promises to be a brilliant affair. Those who can recall the old Vokes family of London will remember Miss Victoria as being the most sprightly and versatile of the lot. She has been meeting with great success wherever she has appeared this season and the press seem to have only words of praise for the little lady: The Philadelphia Press of Sept. 19th, took occasion to say:—"Miss Victoria Vokes' performances at the Arch Street Theatre last night in her farcical piece "Hubby" had a vivacity, variety and abandon which aroused the large and fashionable audience to a degree of smiling enthusiasm. Miss Vokes' singing voice was as powerful and fluent last night as when she was in this country some years ago. Her acting and singing in the rehearsal scene, which culminates in the animated climax of the first act, evoked shouts of laughter and long applause from the audience, whose enthusiasm was honestly awakened by Miss Vokes and Mr. Vernon at this point. The two were called before the curtain with fervor. This rehearsal scene is a gem of burlesque in its way, and the farcical incidents that crowd after it to the effective climax are exceedingly humorous. Miss Vokes' company contains four pretty women, who are clever in degree.

New Grocery Establishment.

Mr. M. J. Tierney, having purchased the grocery business of Thomas Thompson, 163 Hunter street, is now in possession. He is making marked improvements to the premises, which are the largest, most complete and convenient for the business in Peterborough. The wood-work of the shop is being finished in cherry, while the elegant pressed ceiling of wood is painted in harmonizing colours, and two incandescent electric lights placed. A complete new stock has been purchased and placed, including the choicest and freshest groceries, of first-class character, bought on the most favourable terms, which will give customers the opportunity of selecting from the choicest, largest and most varied stock in the district, at the most moderate prices. Besides, Mr. Tierney intends running off the old stock at immense reductions. This stock must be cleared out to make room for the new importations. Though offered at low prices, these goods are good value, even at current prices. Mr. Tierney has also laid in a choice stock of wines and liquors of the most select brands. In fine he has a most complete establishment in every department, and, with a large and well selected stock, thorough knowledge of the business, acquired by years of experience, and a wide personal popularity, he will, no doubt, conduct a flourishing business by commanding the respect and confidence of the public. Housekeepers and hotel managers will consult their interests by giving Mr. Tierney a call at the Oriental Grocery, No. 163 Hunter street.

Flying Visit to Peterborough.

The following letter from a well-known Toronto lawyer to the Empire will be read with interest. There are a few slight inaccuracies, but the general tone of the letter is flattering to Peterborough:—

(To the Editor of the Empire.)

SIR,—Many of your readers know not what a beautiful country town is Peterborough—within two and a half hours' ride of Toronto on the Canadian Pacific railroad. Having business there the other day, I left the North Toronto station at 9.25 a.m. on a lovely, sunny day, and sped over this well-equipped railroad, which runs at an amazing speed, and with very little jar passed over the numerous high bridges over the valley of the Don, and was almost (before I knew it) at Peterborough. The Don valley bridges are high above the ground, and have a very dangerous appearance, but are no doubt very strong and safe. The country is an agricultural country through which we pass entirely, with here and there little villages. It is high and rolling, and some parts, such as Whitby, Pickering and in Durham, well cultivated. Almost before you know it (so swift is the train) you are at Peterborough station. The train stops only a few minutes—hardly that at many stations. Suddenly we arrive at this beautiful and healthy county town, Peterborough. Were the inhabitants desirous to call it a city, it might be one, for it has, I am told, quite 10,000 people, not counting Ashburnham, which has nearly 3,000, and is, in fact, part and parcel of Peterborough, being connected by a fine bridge. This town is situated on a fine hilly situation. The hills are low and the soil dry and gravelly. Beautiful views are seen from many of these hills, especially from that ridge on which the English stone church and the court house are situated. From this position a beautiful country is seen all around for many miles—hills all covered with fine groves, and valleys lying below, whilst meandering in gentleness is seen the noble river Otonabee. This town site and river were once the abode, many centuries ago, and even within a century, of Indian tribes. The redmen are still seen in the streets, with their game and fish for sale, coming from Mud lake and Rice lake. I took a run to Norwood also, and returning spent the night and next day (the 26th) at Peterborough. The County Division Court sat at Norwood. The lawyers here have an excellent county judge, Mr. Weller. He is not only painstaking and civil to the bar, but ready and learned in his decisions, I should say just such a man as every county wants. Well, at night I stopped at Peterborough, went for an hour to the beautiful Presbyterian church (St. Paul's) in the north part of the town to the Wednesday prayer meeting. Here let me say that Peterborough has several fine churches. This one is a fine brick edifice, exceedingly commodious inside as to rooms—all new and convenient. Rev. Mr. Torrance, a young man, who is its pastor, presided at the meeting and descanted on the various chapters of Isaiah, which speak of the coming of Christ. The room was filled with ladies, members of the church, and very few gentlemen attended—a thing too frequent in all churches. The town has also many excellent hotels. I stopped at one opened a year ago, the Snowden House, not far from the station, C.P.R. I also visited, situated on a high hill to the west of the English church, the large stone church belonging to the Roman Catholics. As usual with such churches, the doors were all open, and I had a good look at its inside. On all sides of the church hung pictures of the crucifixion and sufferings of Christ immediately before and on the Cross. Immediately over the pulpit a large (life-size) figure of Christ on the Cross is raised up, and candles are burning on the altar. In a rear room there is a similar but smaller altar and two confessional stands. The church is very large, built of stone, and has a conspicuous appearance. Immediately opposite is a convent, where 400 girls are taught. The stores of various kinds on George street—the chief one—are large and showy. The town at night is lit by five electric lamps, and has a business-like appearance.

Mr. Cluxton then bid 10½c. for Warminster, and Mr. Bird offered the same for selections, naming Keene, Central and North Smith, and Pine and Cherry Groves. No sales were made.

Hanlan Will Row Ross

Over the Thames Championship Course for £1,000, Providing the Black Brunswicker is Willing.

The World says:—Ned Hanlan arrived home from his recent race in Louisville, after a few days' stay in Detroit and Windsor, on Saturday evening. He says he had a great time there and was treated right royally by the people of the blue grass country. Hanlan weighed 190 pounds when he defeated Hamm, and believes, with proper training and good care, that he will again come to his old-time form and win laurels new.

"Will you row Ross for £100 on the Thames course, as the Black Brunswicker suggests?" asked the World.

"No," replied the genial ex-champion, "that sum is simply sufficient for my expenses should I visit England; but you may tell him that I will make a race for £500 a side and £100 expenses, the contest to take place about three months hence, and I am willing to give Ross the choice of positions of which there has been so much talk lately."

Hanlan declares that he will put in a careful winter, and should Ross take up the gauntlet he will cross the herring pond and start careful training for the event at once.

Parenthetically Hanlan remarked that he believed O'Connor to be the only living oarsman able to hold Searle for ten lengths, and that, bar accidents, no man could beat him in a three or four mile race.

Preventing Typhoid Fever.

The following letter which appeared in the Detroit News a few days ago, will be of interest to readers of the EXAMINER:—

To the Editor:—On this subject, presented by "Health" in your paper Oct. 7, it should be generally known that the water in a well within 50 or 100 feet of a privy, especially in sandy or gravelly soil, is likely to be contaminated by leachings from the privy, and to contain the specific cause of typhoid fever whenever the privy has been used as a depository for the discharges of a typhoid patient. Under such circumstances no chemical or other test is needed; the water should not be drank, except after it has been boiled. This is true of the water in most wells in villages. Throughout this part of the world it is especially true in the autumn months, and more especially in times of drouth. If, in such a time as this, one will take the chances of drinking well-water that has not been recently boiled and will rely upon a chemical or other test made by a druggist, physician, or by himself, but the supposed cause of typhoid fever cannot be found by any such test, and none of the substances thus tested for are in themselves necessarily injurious to health. For instance, if a few drops of nitric acid and a small crystal of nitrate of silver be dropped into a small bottle of the water to be tested, and immediately a dense white precipitate forms, which, on being shaken, makes the water white like milk, it may, in most parts of Michigan, except near salt works, be inferred that the salts from the privy or from slop water have filtered through the earth into the well, and that the cause of typhoid fever might do the same.

In order to find in any sample of drinking water the typhoid bacillus, the microscopic plant which is found in the intestines of one sick with typhoid fever, and which is supposed to cause the disease, no ordinary test by a physician or druggist is of any use, and no chemical test is yet known for it.

Probably four-fifth of the typhoid fever in Michigan can be stopped if the people will stop drinking such water as contains the cause of typhoid fever. If they will do this probably the lives of 800 persons, most of them in the prime of life, can be saved each year.

Just at this time whoever is in doubt about the purity of his water supply should see that it is boiled before it is drank; and in cooling it the ice should not be put into it, but in a receptacle separate from, but surrounded by the water to be drank, because the typhoid bacillus is not killed by freezing.

Very respectfully,
HENRY B. BAKER,
Secretary of the State Board of Health.
Lansing, Oct. 10.

Words of Comfort.

Before Mrs. H. Rossiter's departure for England she received the following letter from the W. C. T. U., of which she was a member:—

DEAR MRS. ROSSITER,—Your sisters of the W. C. T. U. wish to convey to you an expression of their heartfelt sympathy in this time of sore trial. You have lost a loving husband, we miss a brave and zealous co-worker in the cause so dear to our hearts, one whose place we may not hope soon to fill. How comforting in the hour of bereavement and disappointment to know that our Father never makes a mistake, and although His workmen fall the work still goes on. We would give you these beautiful lines from the pen of Miss Havergal that have so often cheered the disappointed ones among God's children.

We cannot see before us,
But our all-seeing Friend
Is always watching o'er us,
And knows the very end.

And when amid our blindness,
His disappointments fall,
We trust His loving kindness
Whose wisdom sends them all.

They are the purple fringes
That hide His glorious feet,
They are the fire-wrought hinges,
Where truth and mercy meet,

By them the golden portal
Of Providence shall ope,
And lift to praise immortal
The songs of faith and hope.

Dear Sister, as you leave us for your home across the ocean, our earnest prayer is that God may comfort you as He alone can, and make you useful in His service until we meet above where farewells are unknown.

Signed on behalf of the W.C.T.U.,
MRS. A. M. PRICE,
Secretary.

Apropos of the Season.

I wish you'd print this now,
For it made me quite a row,
When I read it to my better half to day.
I been at it all the summer—
You can see it is a bummer—
But, for heaven's sake, don't dare to gimme way:

How dear to my heart
Are the scenes of my boyhood,
When house-cleaning time
Presents them to view.
Right gladly I'd hie me
Away to the wild wood,
Till the dirt and the din
Of cleaning are through.

I go home for dinner
And find the house empty;
The stoves in the woodshed;
Wife looks like a fright.
In my anger I come
Almighty near swearing,
As blandly my wife says,
"To day, take a bite."

We Go One Better.

Other grocers are greatly excited about the prices of some of their goods. But Geo. Carton keeps quite cool, and goes one better every time. See the crushing value he is offering:—8½ lbs. Rice, for 25c. 8 bars of Electric Soap, for 25c. 8 lbs. of Tea, for $1. Push right through to Geo. Carton's red tea store, where you can carry away more goods for a $2 bill than you can get for $3 in other stores. Corner George and Charlotte streets. dw Shot His Faithless Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Maggie Mendosa, who deserted her husband, Antonio Mendosa, some time ago to live with another man, was shot and killed by her husband in a lodging house yesterday. Mendosa had gone to the house to induce his wife to return to him, but she refused. He was about to blow out his own brains when an officer arrested him. He said it was also his intention to drill his wife's paramour.
